

R. S. MCGREGOR

---

OUTLINE OF HINDI GRAMMAR
WITH EXERCISES

CLARENDON PRESS

OXFORD

Oxford University Press, Walton Street, Oxford OX2 6DP

Oxford New York Toronto

Delhi Bombay Calcutta Madras Karachi

Petaling Jaya Singapore Hong Kong Tokyo

Nairobi Dar es Salaam Cape Town

Melbourne Auckland

and associated companies in

Beirut Berlin Ibadan Nicosia

Oxford is a trade mark of Oxford University Press

Published in the United States

by Oxford University Press, New York

© Oxford University Press 1972

Reprinted (with corrections) 1986

Reprinted 1987

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior permission of Oxford University Press

This book is sold subject to the condition that it shall not, by way of trade or otherwise, be lent, re-sold, hired out or otherwise circulated without the publisher's prior consent in any form of binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without a similar condition including this condition being imposed on the subsequent purchaser

Printed in Great Britain by Billings & Son, Worcester

PREFACE

THIS book is a revision of an Outline of Hindi Grammar which has been used in mimeographed form by my students over the past ten years. Many of these students, at London and Cambridge Universities, have been taking degrees in which the study of Hindi and its literature forms a major part; they required an adequate but concise presentation of the essential grammar of the language, with exercises, which would bring them as quickly as possible to the point where they could start the reading of modern Hindi prose texts with profit. Others had already worked through Hindi courses in which the chief emphasis was on conversation, but had done relatively little work with the written language. For different reasons both these types of student have found the Outline useful, and I have been asked for copies of it by a number of teachers at other universities. It therefore seemed desirable to publish it, keeping as close to the original, tried version as possible, and adding whatever extra material appeared necessary.

The book presupposes no knowledge of the language. The student should read through the introductory section before proceeding to the Lessons and Exercises. He should try to master the script as soon as possible. The transliteration used will allow him to work through the Lessons without being impeded by script problems, however, and will probably assist him throughout the entire period he is using the book. It is assumed that he will usually have the help of a Hindi speaker with pronunciation and the provision of phrase and sentence drills and suitable conversation material as he progresses; he should spend several hours a week if possible working with a native speaker or in the language laboratory. (It should be possible to use the book without access to a native speaker, but an effort should be made to obtain suitable tapes or records as quickly as possible.) On completing the Lessons and Exercises, the student should work through the Supplement and, as a revision of this, attempt the Reading Passages. With a good grasp of all this material he should be able to start reading modern Hindi literary prose very largely on his own, and to write the language correctly at a simple level. The Composition Passages have been added as a further exercise in control of grammar and idiom. The student could well delay attempting these until he has read two or three short stories on his own and begun to consolidate his grasp of grammar and command of simple spoken language.

It will be clear from the above that my aim has been to include most of what the student needs to know in the early stages of his study of Hindi and of what he needs to have accessible for easy reference while consolidating his grasp of the language. I hope that I shall be found to have struck a fair balance between inclusions and omissions of material. It should hardly be necessary to add that the material has been organized with the requirements of students in mind, and that its presentation inevitably differs, in varying degrees in different sections of the book, from that which might be expected in a reference grammar. I have added as an appendix a short list of some recent works on aspects of Hindi grammar which the student interested in grammatical questions may eventually wish to consult, and in which he will find references to other books and articles on the subject.

Acknowledgements

It is a pleasure to acknowledge my indebtedness in preparing this book to Dr. Yamuna Kachru, who commented on the text and examples of the original Outline in 1961 and on a draft of the third section of the Introduction in 1969, and wrote draft translations of four of the Composition Passages; to Dr. Lakshmisagar Varshneya, Professor of Hindi in the University of Allahabad, who commented on the Exercises, Key, Composition Passages, and many examples of the revised version in 1967; to Mr. A. S. Kalsi and Mr. J. N. Tiwari for comments on many points during the final revision; to Shri Upendranath Ashk for permission to use extracts from his novel Barī barī ānkhen; to my students; and finally to my wife, for her great but unseen contribution to the production of the book.

PREFACE TO SECOND EDITION

COLLECTED Hindi-English and English-Hindi Vocabularies have been added for the student's convenience, and some corrections made. Otherwise the first edition is reprinted unchanged.

June 1976

R. S. M.

CONTENTS

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS . . . . .	ix
---------------------------------	----

INTRODUCTION

Modern standard Hindi, and its loanwords . . . . .	xi
The sound system of Hindi . . . . .	xii
The script . . . . .	xxii
Script exercise . . . . .	xxxii

LESSONS AND EXERCISES

I Nouns; postpositions; simple sentences; order of words . . . . .	i
II Adjectives; demonstrative pronouns; the postposition का kā . . . . .	7
III Personal pronouns; honorific usages . . . . .	11
IV Verb structure and concord; present, past, and future tense forms of होना honā ; regular conjugational patterns; verbal concord with composite subjects; the post- position से se ; some expressions of motion . . . . .	16
V Regular conjugational patterns (contd.); the emphatic enclitics ही hī , भी bhī . . . . .	23
VI Further uses of से se , में meṁ , पर par ; the postposition तक tak ; some adverbial expressions; compound post- positions; some expressions of wishing . . . . .	30
VII Absolutes; imperative forms . . . . .	38
VIII The indefinite pronouns and adjectives कुछ kuch and कोई koī ; the interrogative pronouns and adjectives कौन kaun and क्या kyā ; the relative pronoun and adjective जो jo . . . . .	43
IX The postposition को ko ; the postposition के पास ke pās ; the postposition का kā (contd.) . . . . .	49
X The possessive adjective अपना apnā ; verbal expressions with करना karnā and होना honā . . . . .	55
XI Numerals; time . . . . .	61
XII Constructions with the postposition ने ne . . . . .	71
XIII The form चाहिए cāhiē ; the verbs पढ़ना paṛnā and होना honā expressive of obligation . . . . .	77

XIV	Relative-correlative constructions . . . . .	82
XV	The verbs सकना sahnā ; चुकना cuknā ; मिलना milnā . . . . .	88
XVI	Comparison; comparative and other expressions with ज्यादा zyādā and अधिक adhik ; reports of statements and questions; indirect commands . . . . .	92
XVII	Compound verbs . . . . .	99
XVIII	Groups of verbs of related stem; causative verbs . . . . .	107
XIX	Passive forms; conjunct verbs not involving करना karnā , होना honā ; some uses of infinitives . . . . .	116
XX	Subordinate conjunctions and clauses . . . . .	123
XXI	Uses of the subjunctive; the verb लगना lagnā ; the verbs देना denā and पाना pānā with preceding oblique case infinitives . . . . .	130
XXII	Composite verbal expressions with रहना rahnā , जाना jānā (contd.), करना karnā , चाहना cāhnā . . . . .	136
XXIII	Reduplicative expressions; the conjunction तो to ; the emphatic enclitic ही hī (contd.) . . . . .	139
XXIV	The adjectival particle सा sā ; inverted compound post-positions . . . . .	147
XXV	Reflexive pronouns; the formative element -वाला -vālā . . . . .	151
XXVI	Non-finite participial constructions . . . . .	156

SUPPLEMENT

I	Further aspects of the grammar of nominal forms . . . . .	163
II	Further aspects of the grammar of verbs . . . . .	170
III	Further aspects of the grammar of postpositions, adverbs, and conjunctions . . . . .	178
IV	Sandhi . . . . .	185
V	Formation of words . . . . .	190
VI	Compounding of words . . . . .	199
READING PASSAGES . . . . .		202
COMPOSITION PASSAGES . . . . .		209
KEY TO EXERCISES . . . . .		216
FAIR VERSIONS OF COMPOSITION PASSAGES . . . . .		227
APPENDIX . . . . .		230
Vocabularies . . . . .		231

ABBREVIATIONS

adj.	adjective	m.	masculine
adv.	adverb	n.	note
Ar.	Arabic	obl.	oblique
conj.	conjunction	P.	Persian
dir.	direct	pl.	plural
f.	feminine	pron.	pronoun
H.	Hindi	sg.	singular
interj.	interjection	Skt.	Sanskrit
intr.	intransitive	trans.	transitive

Square brackets are used to indicate a few common alternative forms or spellings given in vocabularies.

INTRODUCTION

MODERN STANDARD HINDI, AND ITS LOANWORDS

WRITTEN Hindi, based on the Khari Boli dialect spoken to the north and east of Delhi, is relatively standardized over the whole of the Hindi language area (the area within which Hindi is the predominant language of administration and public life). One may thus speak of a written 'modern standard Hindi'. Furthermore, educated persons throughout the Hindi language area are able to conform to a large degree in their speech to the norm of Khari Boli grammatical usage and pronunciation, which can to this extent be called a spoken 'modern standard Hindi' usage and pronunciation. However, considerable variations can occur, especially if the speakers' native dialects are related only rather distantly to Khari Boli. This is particularly true of pronunciation, and as a result there cannot really be said to be any one 'standard' pronunciation of the standard language. Uneducated persons outside the Khari Boli area normally have little knowledge of Khari Boli. The forms used in this book are all of the Khari Boli dialect as used by educated persons very largely throughout the Hindi language area, but especially by those brought up in the western part of it.

During the Muslim period many Arabic and Persian loanwords found their way into Hindi dialects, especially into Khari Boli. Those that denote common objects or ideas are usually fully acclimatized in modern standard Hindi. More formal, literary Arabic and Persian loanwords (corresponding in style roughly to the higher range of Latinate vocabulary in English) are usually restricted to that form of Persianized Khari Boli known as Urdū, which is used chiefly in Muslim society or by persons familiar to some extent with that society. Almost no words of the latter kind are used in this book.

In addition to its Persian and Arabic loanwords, modern Hindi has loanwords of Sanskrit origin, either borrowings direct from Sanskrit or new formations on Sanskrit words. The more literary of these are restricted very largely to the written language, but increasing use is being made of simpler loanwords of Sanskrit origin in the spoken language.

Modern Hindi usage does not generally favour the use of Persian and Arabic loanwords in more formal contexts if equivalent words of Hindi origin, or loanwords of Sanskrit origin, are also generally current and can be used instead of them. As a result, Persian and Arabic loanwords for which such equivalents are current are more closely restricted to informal use than other Persian and Arabic loanwords. Persian and Arabic loanwords whose use is restricted in this way have been marked for the student's convenience with † in the vocabularies and notes, and in some cases in the text of Lessons.<sup>1</sup> Loanwords of Sanskrit origin that are predominantly restricted to the written language or to more formal spoken use are similarly marked with *.

English loanwords are, of course, also frequent in Hindi, often competing with Sanskrit, Persian and Arabic loanwords, or words of Hindi origin.

THE SOUND SYSTEM OF HINDI *

The following outline description of the sounds of Hindi will assist the student to articulate and to distinguish them. Continuous practice and attention to the pronunciation of a native speaker are essential.

1. Vowels

a

A low-mid or mid central unrounded vowel, similar to the first, de-stressed vowel in the English verb subject, or to the vowel in English but, articulated with the lips somewhat closer together than in southern standard English.

ā

A low central unrounded vowel, similar to the first vowel in English father (but in southern standard English pronunciation the vowel ā is articulated further back in the mouth than is the case with Hindi ā).

i

A quite high front unrounded vowel, rather like the vowel in English

<sup>1</sup> For instance, the word †aurat 'woman', of Arabic origin, which co-exists in Hindi with the common Sanskrit loanword stri and belongs characteristically to informal usage. A word such as imārat 'building', although also of Arabic origin, has no very commonly used equivalent of Sanskrit or Hindi origin and as a result is not restricted as specifically as †aurat to informal use, and so goes unmarked in the vocabulary.

The question of how definitely a given Persian or Arabic loanword is restricted to informal use is of course one of opinion. The mark † has been used fairly sparingly, i.e. only with words about whose restriction to informal use there can be no real question. Some users of Hindi would restrict a greater proportion of Persian and Arabic loanwords to informal use than that indicated in this book.

<sup>2</sup> A number of sounds of relatively rare occurrence are not mentioned in this section. Those which will concern the student particularly are mentioned at suitable places elsewhere.

sit in southern standard English pronunciation. (In some pronunciations of English the vowel i is articulated rather lower in the mouth than is the case with Hindi i.)

Many speakers of Hindi often employ a higher, tenser, somewhat longer pronunciation of this vowel than that indicated here (in which it is less distinct from the following vowel, ī).

ī

A high front unrounded vowel, similar to the vowel in English seat in southern standard English pronunciation. (In some pronunciations of English the vowel ī is articulated lower in the mouth and more laxly than is the case with Hindi ī.)

u

A quite high back rounded vowel, rather like the vowel in English put in southern standard English pronunciation, though tending to be slightly higher. (In some pronunciations of English the vowel u is articulated distinctly lower in the mouth than is the case with Hindi u.)

Many speakers of Hindi often employ a higher, tenser, somewhat longer pronunciation of this vowel than that indicated here (in which it is less distinct from the following vowel, ū).

ū

A high back rounded vowel, rather like the vowel in English food in southern standard English pronunciation, but with slightly less lip rounding than this vowel sometimes receives in that pronunciation. (In some pronunciations of English the vowel ū is articulated with much less lip rounding than is the case with Hindi ū.)

e

A high-mid front unrounded vowel, similar to the first vowel in German geben or French été. This sound does not occur as a single vowel in most pronunciations of English, but is similar to the first component of the diphthong heard in the southern standard English pronunciation of the word play. Most English speakers need to take special care not to pronounce a diphthong for e.

o

A high-mid back rounded vowel, similar to the vowel in German Sohn or French beau. This sound does not occur as a single vowel in most pronunciations of English, but is similar to the first component of the diphthong heard in Scottish or American pronunciations of the word go. Most English speakers need to take special care not to pronounce a diphthong for o.

ai

The sound represented by the digraph ai is frequently a low to low-mid front unrounded vowel, rather like the vowel in English had in southern standard English pronunciation, but tending often to be pronounced with a slightly higher point of articulation (as in many other pronunciations of the word had). The student is recommended to adopt this monophthongal type of pronunciation, which is fairly normal in the western part of the Hindi language area. Elsewhere a diphthongal pronunciation of the sound is common (Hindi a + short e usually; sometimes a + i).

au

The sound represented by the digraph au is frequently a low-mid to mid back rounded vowel, somewhat like the vowel in English nod in southern standard English pronunciation, but rather longer, and tending usually to be pronounced with a slightly higher point of articulation. The student is recommended to adopt this monophthongal type of pronunciation, which is fairly normal in the western part of the Hindi language area. Elsewhere a diphthongal pronunciation of the sound is common (Hindi a + short o usually; sometimes a + u).

Vowel nasality

All vowels may be pronounced with or without nasality. The articulation of a vowel generally does not change when it is nasalized; note particularly that nasalized ā does not have the value of French nasalized [ā] in enfant, which shows low back, not low central, vowels. The point of articulation of e and o, however, tends to be slightly lowered when these vowels are nasalized.

2. Consonants

(a) The voiceless unaspirated plosives k, t, ʈ, p; affricate c

k

Velar plosive, similar to unaspirated k in English skin (but not to k in most English speakers' pronunciation of kin, king, etc., which is aspirated).

ʈ

Retroflex plosive; the closest English equivalent is the unaspirated t in steam, stop, etc. The tongue tip is retroflexed so that its underside touches the roof of the mouth, usually further back than in the case of English t (in which the tip touches the alveolum or ridge behind the teeth). Note that ʈ in most English speakers' pronunciation of team, top, etc., is aspirated, and is not a good model for the articulation of Hindi ʈ.

t

Dental plosive, in which the tongue tip touches the teeth, not the ridge behind the teeth. This articulation of t is common in English before a word beginning with a dental fricative, e.g. in the sequence at the . . . It is most important that the student should master the pronunciation of t and other dental sounds in Hindi and distinguish them from the corresponding retroflexes.

p

Bilabial plosive, similar to unaspirated p in English spin (but not to p in most English speakers' pronunciation of pin, pat, etc., which is aspirated).

c

Pre-palatal affricate; the closest English equivalent is ch in church, etc., but Hindi c has minimum aspiration, and is more tense in articulation than English ch. The student will be helped to avoid aspiration by keeping the tongue tip down in the mouth, behind the bottom teeth, and trying to say ty rather than ch.

(b) The voiceless aspirated plosives kh, ʈh, th, ph; affricate ch

These aspirated consonants correspond to the above five unaspirated consonants. Their pronunciation will give no difficulty to most English speakers, except that ʈh and th must be carefully distinguished. The bilabial plosive ph is very frequently replaced by a bilabial fricative (in which the lips are very slightly parted from the beginning of articulation of the sound).

(c) The voiced unaspirated plosives g, ɖ, d, b; affricate j

g

Velar plosive; as English g in the word go.

ḍ, ḍ

Retroflex and dental plosives, distinguished like t and ṭ, above.

b

Bilabial plosive; as English b.

j

Pre-palatal affricate; similar to English j, but with a more tense articulation than that which is often shown by this sound. The student may produce a more Indian j by keeping the tongue tip down in the mouth and trying to say dy rather than j.

(d) The voiced aspirated plosives gh, ḍh, dh, bh; affricate jh

These sounds are difficult for non-Indian (and some Indian) learners of Hindi. The difficulty is to keep both plosive and aspiration voiced, (accompanied by vibration of the vocal chords), and at the same time to avoid allowing a vowel to intervene between them, i.e. to avoid saying either khar or gahar for ghar, etc. Constant practice of these sounds is necessary. It may be helpful at first to try repeating the sound-group hāg-hāg-hāg as quickly as possible, when h will probably coalesce with preceding g as voiced rather than voiceless aspiration (similarly with hāj, hād, etc.).

Voiced aspirates before consonants and at the end of words tend to show reduced aspiration; thus ghar has more aspiration than samajhnā, bāgh.

(e) The nasals ṇ, ñ, ṇ, n, m

ṇ

Velar nasal; as the final consonant in southern standard English sing. Occurs chiefly before velar k, g, kh, gh, and glottal h.

ñ

Pre-palatal nasal; rather like the consonant in French ignon. Occurs only before c, ch, j, jh, and ṣ.

ṇ

Retroflex nasal. Occurs before retroflex ṭ, ṭh, ḍ, ḍh, and in Sanskrit loanwords (where it is often replaced by dental n or, where an effort is made to distinguish it from n, by a nasalized retroflex flap ṇ̐; for the flap ṇ in Hindi see below).

ṇ

Dental nasal, distinguished from ṇ as ṭ from ṭh, etc., above.

m

Bilabial nasal; as English m.

Nasal consonants induce marked nasality in following vowels. There is thus a clear difference between the quality of the first and second vowels of such words as ānā, khānā, etc.

(f) The semivowels y, v and the voiced alveolars r, l

y

Palatal semivowel; somewhat like English y in the word yard, but more laxly articulated and vocalic in quality, especially when non-initial.

v

Labio-dental semivowel; upper teeth just touch lower lip, always with loose contact, and lips are unrounded. The effect is very different from that of English v, even when contact between teeth and lip is at its firmest (when the sound produced might be termed a fricative rather than a semivowel). Sometimes, especially following consonants, a bilabial rather than a labio-dental sound may be heard.

r

Voiced alveolar or post-dental with weak roll, or tap; usually like Scottish rolled r except that the roll is not so prolonged. In some pronunciations the tongue tip merely taps the alveolar ridge once.

l

Voiced alveolar or post-dental lateral, similar to 'clear' l in English lick (not l in English kill, which has a 'dark' or even vocalic quality).

(g) The sibilants ṣ, ś, s

ṣ

Voiceless pre-palatal fricative; similar to English sh, but often more tense in articulation.

§ Voiceless retroflex fricative. Can be practised by placing the tongue in the position to pronounce ṣ, then withdrawing it to allow the passage of breath. This sound only occurs in Sanskrit loanwords and is often replaced by ṣ.

ś Voiceless alveolar or post-dental fricative; similar to English s.

(h) Other sounds

ṛ Retroflex flap. The tongue is retroflexed as for pronouncing ṛ, but the tip, instead of making firm contact with the roof of the mouth, is flapped quickly forward, touching the roof of the mouth only lightly or not at all, and finishes behind the lower teeth. This sound does not occur initially in words. For nasalized ṛ see p. xvi, under ṛ̃.

ṛh Aspirated retroflex flap.

h Voiced glottal fricative. English h is not regularly voiced, and effort will usually be required by the student to make the vocal chords vibrate throughout the articulation of the Hindi sound. The expiration of air which accompanies the voice often gives an effect of breathiness in the pronunciation of a word containing h.

h is often followed by an unstressed vocalic sound not of full syllabic value, as an echo of a preceding vowel. This tends to happen wherever h is otherwise final in a word or precedes a consonant, e.g. in words which may be transcribed phonologically as /kah/, /śahr/, /bahn/, /mahl/, /sihr/, /pahntā/, etc. The prominence of such vocalic sounds varies in the speech of different individuals and is affected by their phonetic environment in words. For many speakers they are noticeably prominent before consonants, whether single consonants or consonant groups, in some cases sufficiently so to be analysed as having full syllabic value; this would produce phonological transcriptions such as /śahar/, /bahar/, /mahar/, /sihar/, /pahantā/, etc., instead of those given above. The student is recommended to adopt a pronunciation in which they are not given full syllabic value. In the transliteration of Devanāgarī script forms used in this book the sounds in question in this paragraph are not represented, except in a few cases where they occur with nasality.

h, if not followed by a vowel of full syllabic value, exercises a fronting effect on a preceding a, which is then pronounced as short [e], i.e. rather like e in English bet, by very many Hindi speakers, more particularly if it is stressed; e.g. in rahnā, kahtā, kah, śahr, etc., much less commonly in vajah, tarah, etc.

h where followed by u in a few words exercises a retracting effect on a preceding a, which is then pronounced as short [ɔ], i.e. rather like southern standard English o in nod, but shorter; e.g. in bahut, pahumcā.<sup>1</sup>

Where h is preceded by unstressed a and is final, its articulation often weakens. This is so especially in speech of normal to fast tempo. Hence words which for Hindi in general are best transcribed phonologically as /vajah/, /tarah/, etc., might be transcribed on the basis of many utterances as /vaja/, /tara/, etc. A further variant pronunciation of such words is common, however, in which the breathiness of h is retained and is audible before the a, so that for some pronunciations the above words might be transcribed as /vajha/, /tarha/, etc.<sup>2</sup>

f Voiceless labio-dental fricative; as English f. Occurs in loanwords from Persian, Arabic, and English, and chiefly in the speech of persons with some acquaintance with Urdu or English; but even in the speech of such persons ph tends to replace it.

ṣ Voiced alveolar or post-dental fricative; as English s. Occurs in the same circumstances as f; tends to be replaced with j.

kh Voiceless velar fricative; as ch in Scottish loch, German Bach. Only in Persian and Arabic loanwords; tends to be replaced with hh. Can be practised by placing the tongue in the position to pronounce k, then withdrawing it to allow passage of breath.

<sup>1</sup> ṃ in transliterated forms indicates nasality of a preceding vowel, as is explained in the following section.

<sup>2</sup> a is sometimes lengthened in these cases, giving /vajhā/, /tarhā/, etc. (A similar lengthening is common in variant pronunciations of some numerals, but here h is usually lost, see p. 61, n. 1.) The articulation of h described in the second part of the above paragraph is also sometimes found in a few words where h is not final, notably bahut (/bahut/, /bhaut/).

I

Voiced velar or post-velar fricative; similar to g in Dutch negen. The voiced correlate of kh, occurring in the same circumstances; more usually than not it is replaced with g. Can be practised in the same way as kh, but using g as starting-point.

q

Voiceless post-velar plosive, i.e. a k made as far back in the mouth as possible. Occurs in the same circumstances as kh, g; much more usually than not it is replaced with k.

Lengthening of consonants

Lengthened consonants, in which the articulation of a consonant is prolonged, are common, and must always be distinguished from unlengthened consonants; usse is pronounced very differently from use, patā from patā. (Cf. in English similar lengthened n, b, k in unknown, lab-book, book-case.)

3. Syllable division, stress, and intonation

Syllable boundaries in Hindi words fall as follows:

- (a) Between adjacent vowels, e.g. /pā-i/; /ā-i-e/; /ga-i/;
- (b) Between vowels and following single consonants, e.g. /ā-nā/; /sa-kā/; /a-pa-ri-cit/;
- (c) Between consonants, e.g. /sak-tā/; /vid-yā/; /hin-dū/; /gad-dī/; /abh-yās/; /kah-nā/; /niś-cay/; /sans-thā/; /tum-hā-rā/.

In general Hindi words have a more level syllabic stress than English. Certain tendencies to the stressing or de-stressing of syllables operate, however, and some brief general guidance on these may be useful for reference. Syllables may be classified as of one of three grades of weight, as follows<sup>1</sup>:

- (a) Light: syllables ending in a short vowel.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> In this classification I follow a recent detailed analysis of word stress by A. R. Kelkar (see Appendix). The apportionment of syllable types to the grades that is made here and the interpretation of stress placement tendencies in individual words differs from his in some particulars.

<sup>2</sup> a i u.

- (b) Medium: syllables ending in a long vowel,<sup>1</sup> or a short vowel followed by a single consonant (these latter may also rank as light, however, especially when not preceding a consonant).

- (c) Heavy: other syllables.

The tendency for syllables ending in short vowel + single consonant to rank as light is implied by certain variations in stress placement which occur, especially in disyllabic words.

Where one syllable in a word is of greater weight than any other, it bears the main stress. Where more than one syllable is of maximum weight in a word, the last but one bears the main stress, e.g.

/u'cit/ or /'ucit/; /sa'majh/ or /'samajh/; /sa'rak/ or /'sarak/; /ki'dhar/ or /'kidhar/; /'amal/ 'action'; /a'mal/ 'pure'; /'bartan/; /'bandar/; /'baccā/; /'hindī/; /san'dūq/; /pan'jāb/; /inti'zār/; /'muskārāḥat/ or /muska'rāḥat/.

Inflexional endings, some other final syllables with long vowels, and prefixes sometimes do not influence stress placement<sup>2</sup>; e.g.

/ba'rā/ or /'ba'rā/; /ṭa'kā/ or /'ṭakā/; /ni'kalnā/ or /'nikalnā/; /ka'hā/, but /'diyā/, /'liyā/; /pi'tā/ or /'pitā/; /sansthā/ or /san'sthā/ (sam + sthā); /'sankat/ or /san'kaṭ/ (sam + kaṭ); /niś'cay/; /a'mal/ 'pure'.

Words which can show more than one stress placement when pronounced in isolation tend, on the whole, to be stressed on an earlier rather than a later syllable in connected utterances. Some other words also show this tendency, e.g. /pari'cit/ or /'paricit/; /pra'gati/ or /'pragati/. In connected utterances word stress is also influenced by other factors than those discussed above, such as speech tempo, and the style and emphasis of a given utterance.

It is less important that the beginner should try to stress isolated Hindi words in a particular way than that he should acquire good habits of intonation and distribution of stress in complete Hindi sentences. The best way of doing this is by listening to native speakers, or recordings of Hindi, and trying carefully to copy the stresses and intonation which one hears. Note especially the characteristic rising-falling intonation of many sentences. Possible intonations for the following sentences, with chief sentence stresses, are:

<sup>1</sup> ā, ī, ū, e, ai, o, au.

<sup>2</sup> This is especially so of prefixes. Of inflexional endings, perfective verb endings attract stress more strongly than others.

aurtem apne baccom ko pyār se pālī haim

yah tasvīr ilāhābād kā ek bahut acchā nazārā

peś kartī hai

THE SCRIPT

Hindi is written in the Devanāgarī script as used for Sanskrit, with some minor modifications. The script is syllabic in that vowels are represented differently according as they comprise entire syllables or occur within syllables (i.e. immediately preceded by consonants). The script is written from left to right. The characters of the script are given below in their traditional order, accompanied by roman characters used to transliterate them in this book; these roman characters will be found on the whole to give a close indication of the sound values (phonemic values) which they represent.

1. Vowels

Syllabic forms.	Intra-syllabic forms.
अ अ <sup>1</sup>	a
आ आ <sup>1</sup>	ā
इ	i
ई	ī
	ɪ

<sup>1</sup> Alternative forms.

Syllabic forms.	Intra-syllabic forms.
उ	u
ऊ	ū
ऋ	r
ए	e
ऐ	ai
ओ ओ <sup>1</sup>	o
औ औ <sup>1</sup>	au

<sup>1</sup> Alternative forms.

(a) The character ऋ r does not represent a single vocalic sound in Hindi, but is vocalic in terms of the script, having separate syllabic and intra-syllabic forms. It is pronounced [ri], and found only in Sanskrit loanwords.

(b) For the combining of the intra-syllabic vowel forms with preceding consonant characters see below.

2. Consonants

	Voiceless unaspirated plosives. <sup>1</sup>	Voiceless aspirated plosives. <sup>1</sup>	Voiced unaspirated plosives. <sup>1</sup>	Voiced aspirated plosives. <sup>1</sup>	Nasals.
Velars	क ka	ख kha	ग ga	घ gha	ङ ṅa
Pre-palatals	च ca	छ cha	ज ja	झ ḡja	ञ ña
Retroflexes	ट ṭa	ठ ṭha	ड ḍa	ढ ḍha	ण ṇa
Dentals	त ta	थ tha	द da	ध dha	न na
Labials	प pa	फ pha	ब ba	भ bha	म ma
Semivowels, etc.	य ya	र ra	ल, ल <sup>2</sup> la	व va
Sibilants	श śa	ष ṣa	स sa
Glottal		ह ha
Flaps		ड़ ṛa<sup>3</sup>	ढ़ ṛha<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The consonants in the second horizontal row are affricates rather than plosives, but their behaviour as a class can be described in the same terms as that of plosives. Later references to plosives in this book apply equally to affricates unless the contrary is stated.

<sup>2</sup> Alternative forms.

<sup>3</sup> These characters are most conveniently placed last in setting out the syllabary, though in terms of dictionary order they follow ढ and ढ, of which they are modifications.

(a) Intra-syllabic vowel forms are combined with preceding consonant characters as follows:

ॠ ॡ ॢ ॣ follow the consonant character.

ॠ precedes it.

ॡ ॢ ॣ are subscripts.

ॠ ॡ ॢ ॣ are superscripts.

E.g.

का kā; की kī; को kō; कौ kau; कि kī;

कु ku; कू kū; कृ kṛ; के ke; कै kai.

(b) The vowel subscripts ॡ ॢ ॣ are written below the vertical stroke of a character if it has one running throughout its height, otherwise usually under the centre of the character. Thus बु bu; कू kū; तु tu; सु su; फु phu; गु gu; धू dhū, etc.

Note: रु ru; रू rū.

(c) Vowel superscripts ॠ ॡ ॢ ॣ are positioned in the same way as subscripts. Thus खे khe; से se; पे pe; टे te, etc.

(d) Note that there is no intra-syllabic form for the vowel a. The value of this vowel was taken to be inherent in a consonant character in the writing of Sanskrit, and this convention still obtains for the writing of Hindi (hence the characters are transliterated ka, kha, etc., not k, kh, etc., above). However, since a has become or tended to become mute finally, and in some phonetic contexts medially also in the modern language, the consonant characters have come to have not only syllabic but also purely consonantal values.

Finally:

अब ab; सब sab; तालाब tālāb; मिलन milan; अतुल atul; लगन lagan; कपट kaṭaṭ, etc.

Medially:

लगना lagnā; समझा samjhā; मतलब matlab, etc.

The transliteration indicates whether a given 'inherent' a in a script form represents a normally pronounced vowel or not. Note particularly that where a word is written as three, or four, script syllables, an a in the penultimate script syllable is not pronounced in non-poetic style, or is only minimally pronounced,<sup>1</sup> where the final script syllable contains a vowel other than a; thus चलना calnā; समझा samjhā; समझी samjhī; समझना samajhnā, etc. Where the final script syllable contains a this will not be realized in pronunciation; the penultimate a will then represent a pronounced vowel, and if the word is of four script syllables the antepenultimate a will normally not do so. Thus कमल kamal; सर्पत sarpat; मतलब matlab, etc. These general principles do not apply fully in the case of words containing medial h (see p. xviii), nor always in the case of loanwords, compounded and derivative words, and variant grammatical forms of words. Note especially that Sanskrit loanwords such as अपवाद apavād, अवकाश avakāś often retain medial a (though they need not do so), and that a medial a is represented in transliterated forms of such loanwords wherever it is frequently pronounced in normal usage.

<sup>1</sup> Minimal realization of many such a's will often occur, especially in more easterly parts of the Hindi language area.

Component parts of script syllables are best written, at least at first, in the following order: first, those parts beneath the horizontal headstroke, working from left to right; next, any subscripts or superscripts; finally, the headstroke to the entire syllable. On a ruled page headstrokes are written on the ruled lines.

3. Conjunct consonants

The device of conjoining consonant characters was used in writing Sanskrit to indicate the pronunciation of consonants without an intervening 'inherent' a. Conjunct consonant characters are accordingly very common in Sanskrit loanwords, and are also used commonly (though there is some variation in practice) in writing successive consonants in most Persian and Arabic loanwords, as well as in English loanwords. In words of Hindi origin they are used chiefly to indicate lengthened consonants, and sequences of nasal and plosive consonants.

The commonest conjuncts are listed below in dictionary order.<sup>1</sup>

क kka, ख khka, क्त kta, क्म kma, क्य kya, क् kra, क्ल kla, क्व kva, क्ष kṣa, क्स kṣa, क्य khya, ग्द gda, ग्ध gdha, ग्न gna,
ग्म gma, ग्य gya, ग्र gra, ग्ल gla, ग्व gva, घ्न ghna, घ्य ghya, घ्र ghra, ङ्क ṅka, ङ्ख ṅkha, ङ्ग ṅga, ङ्घ ṅgha.

ज्ज cca, ज्छ ccha, ज्य cya, ज्ञ jja, ज्ञ jña, ज्य jya, ज्ज jra, ज्व jva, ङ्ज ṅca, ङ्ज ṅja.

<sup>1</sup> For some, more than one form is current. Variant forms are not given in the table.

कृ॒tiā, कृ॒tiha, ट्य॒tiya, दृ॒tra, हु॒dda, द्य॒dya, इ॒dra, द्य॒dhyā, ए॒tā, ए॒tīha, ए॒dā, ए॒dīha, ए॒nā, ए॒nyā.

त्क tkā, त्त tta, त्व tva, त्थ ttha, त्त tna, त्प tpa, त्त tma, त्त tya, त्र tra, त्व tva, त्त tta, त्त tsa, त्त tsna, त्त tsya, त्त ttha, त्व tva, द dda, द dda, द dbha, द dya, द dra, द dva,
 द dhya, द dhva, त्त nta, त्व nta, त्त nda, त्त ndra, त्व ndha, त्त ndhya, त्त nta, त्त nta, त्त nta, त्व nva, त्त nfa, त्त nha.

त pta, प्त pna, प्प ppa, फ्फ ppha, प्य pya, प्र pra, प्ल pla, प्स psa, फ्र phra, ब्र bja, ब्त bta, ब्द bda, ब्य bdha, ब्व bbba, ब्भ bbha, ब्य bhya, ब्र bra, ब्य bhya, भ्र bhra, म्न mna, म्प mpa, म्ब mba, म्भ mbha, म्म mma, म्य mya, म्र mra, म्ल mla, म्ह mha.

यय yya, लक lka, लद lda, लप lpa, लम lma, ल्य lya, लल lla, लह lha, व्य vya, व्र vra, व्व vva.

क ka, ख ka, इय ya, श्र tra, हल la, हव va, क ka
 ष्ट sta, ष्ट्र stra, ष्ट sha, षण na, ष pa, षम ma, ष्य ya, ष्व va, स्क ka, स्व ka, स्ट sta, स्त ta, स्त्र tra, स्य tha, स्थ्य stha, स्न na, स्प pa, स्फ pha, स्म ma, स्य ya, स्र ra, स्व va, स्स sa.

ह hna, ह्य hma, ह्य hya, ह्र hra, ह्र hla, ह्र hva.

(a) The existence of conjunct characters in Devanāgarī script forms is not marked in the transliteration, since in this book transliterated forms are accompanied by the Devanāgarī forms themselves.

(b) Conjuncts involving initial r are written with a special superscript form for r: °. Thus कं rka; मं rma; षं rša, etc. ° is written at the end of its syllable, thus र्षिं rihi°; र्षिं rsi°, etc.

(c) The student will see that the learning of the conjuncts poses no new difficulty, the usual principle of composition being that where feasible the second character in the conjunct is combined with a truncated form of the first. The forms where this does not apply need special attention; note especially the form of conjuncts with r as final component.

Note also that the conjunct ञ, which represents a value /gy(ə)/ in Hindi but /jñə/ in Sanskrit, is transliterated jñā, to avoid any confusion with the conjunct ग्ग gya. Its original value is reflected in the fact that vowels following /gy(ə)/ of this origin are often somewhat nasalized.

(d) The use of conjuncts, especially clumsy ones, is sometimes avoided by the use with the first character, written complete, of a subscript sign called virāma, , whose function is to indicate absence of an 'inherent' vowel; e.g. चिद्वी = चिद्वी ciṭhī. (This sign is sometimes also written finally with single consonants in some Sanskrit and other loanwords.)

(e) Note that the degree to which a is pronounced after consonant groups varies according to the phonetic form of the group (and according to the speech of different individuals and to different styles of speech). After the group /nd/ finally in a word, for instance, a will not be heard, but after /ṣtr/ finally some trace of the vowel is often present. In the transliteration the 'inherent' vowel a is not represented after conjuncts where an a would normally not be pronounced, e.g. in बन्द band; दत्त datt, or where, if indeed pronounced, it would most usually be extremely attenuated, e.g. in पत्र patr; मित्र mitr. Elsewhere it is written, e.g. in राष्ट्र rāṣṭra; उत्तरदायित्व uttardāyitva; साहित्य sāhitya; but note that even in these cases an a is by no means always pronounced, and does not have full syllabic value. The student should generally pronounce final a after consonant groups as lightly as the phonetic form of the group will allow.<sup>1</sup>

4. Anusvāra

The superscript dot anusvāra is used:

(a) Preceding velar, pre-palatal, retroflex, dental or labial plosive consonant characters (see p. xxiii) to denote a preceding nasal consonant

<sup>1</sup> Many speakers simplify certain final consonant groups by introducing brief epenthetic vowels before the last consonant, and sometimes lengthen the preceding consonant, thus pronouncing पत्र patr as [patr<sup>h</sup>ɪr], [pɔtr<sup>h</sup>ɪr] rather than [patr<sup>h</sup>ɪ<sup>h</sup>], शुक्ल śukl as [juk<sup>u</sup>l] rather than [juk<sup>i</sup>ɪ<sup>h</sup>l], राष्ट्र rāṣṭra as [raṣṭ<sup>h</sup>ɪr] rather than [raṣṭr<sup>h</sup>ɪ<sup>h</sup>], etc. Pronunciations with epenthetic vowels are probably best avoided by the student. Words such as साहित्य śahitya, उत्तरदायित्व uttardāyitva show devoicing of y, v if the final vowel is completely lost. [saɦɪtɕ], etc. Similar devoicing sometimes occurs in words like पत्र patr.

sound of the class concerned, i.e. a 'homorganic' nasal. Thus

अंक	is an equivalent spelling to	अङ्क	ank
अञ्चल	" " " "	अञ्चल	añcal
अण्डा	" " " "	अण्डा	aṇḍā
हिन्दी	" " " "	हिन्दी	hindī
लंबा	" " " "	लम्बा	lambā

This use of anusvāra is, in other words, a shorthand device enabling the writing of a word containing nasal + plosive of similar articulation to be simplified, and is accordingly extremely common, even in Sanskrit loanwords. The student should familiarize himself with it from the outset, and use it freely. It is not expressed in the transliteration used in this book, however, in order to keep the latter as clear a guide to pronunciation as possible.

Where anusvāra is written over long vowels before plosive consonants in Sanskrit loanwords a degree of vowel nasality will usually be clearly heard preceding the homorganic nasal consonant, e.g. in एकांकी ekāṅkī; आंदोलन āndolan, etc.

(b) Preceding other consonant characters (chiefly in Sanskrit loanwords):

(i) Before ya and usually before va it denotes preceding vowel nasality<sup>1</sup>: e.g. संयम saṁyam; संवरण saṁvaraṇ.

(ii) Before ra, la, and sa it denotes a preceding dental or post-dental nasal consonant n according to the usage of most Hindi speakers<sup>2</sup>: e.g. संरक्षण saṁrakṣaṇ; सलग्न samlagn; ससार samsār.

(iii) Before śa it denotes a preceding pre-palatal nasal consonant according to the usage of many Hindi speakers<sup>3</sup>: e.g. अंश aṁś.

(iv) Before ha it denotes a preceding velar nasal consonant ṅ: e.g. सिंह siṁh.

In all these positions anusvāra, however realized in pronunciation, is

<sup>1</sup> Often with a semivocalic nasalized glide ṃ to y, and ṃ to v. For some speakers it denotes bilabial m before the character va.

<sup>2</sup> For some speakers it denotes preceding vowel nasality; and in a few loanwords it does so for almost all speakers (cases mentioned on p. 195).

<sup>3</sup> For some speakers it denotes preceding vowel nasality, sometimes with semivocalic nasalized glide ṃ to ś; and in a few loanwords it denotes preceding vowel nasality for almost all speakers (cases mentioned on p. 195).

transliterated m, and there are no alternative spellings with conjuncts available.

(c) For the sign candrabindu; see below.

5. Candrabindu

The superscript sign called candrabindu is used to denote vowel nasality in its syllable. (It is rarely if ever used in Sanskrit loanwords.) It is transliterated m̐: e.g.

हं	hām̐
बांधना	bāṁdhnā
रंगना	raṁgnā
हूं	hūm̐

(a) Where a syllable contains superscript vowel signs, however, anusvāra is almost always written instead of candrabindu. Anusvāra used in this way is transliterated m̐ like candrabindu: e.g.

खिचना	khimcnā
मं	maim̐
में	mem̐
सींग	siṁg
लोगों	logom̐

(b) In printed books especially, the use of anusvāra instead of candrabindu in conditions not covered by note (a) above is very common. e.g.

हं	for हं	hām̐
रंगना	for रंगना	raṁgnā
हूं	for हूं	hūm̐
बांधना	for बांधना	bāṁdhnā

The majority of careful users of Hindi do not follow this usage in writing, and the student is therefore recommended not to adopt it himself.

6. Visarga

The sign : called visarga, written lineally and transliterated ḥ, denotes voiced aspiration in Hindi (identical with the sound denoted by the character ह्). It occurs almost exclusively in Sanskrit loanwords: e.g.

प्रायः	prāyaḥ
स्वभावतः	svabhāvataḥ

7. Representation of some Persian, Arabic, and English sounds

A subscript dot is sometimes used with certain Devanāgarī characters to denote sounds of non-Indian origin in loanwords. This usage is common, but never obligatory, the more so since the great majority of Hindi speakers tend to replace these sounds (see pp. xix and xx) with sounds of Indian origin.

The sound f may be written फ़ (transliteration f)

"	"	ख़	"	"	"	ज़ <sup>1</sup>	(	"	z)
"	"	क़	"	"	"	ख	(	"	kh)
"	"	ग़	"	"	"	ग	(	"	g)
"	"	फ़	"	"	"	क	(	"	q)

In writing English words in Devanāgarī the vowel sound in the English word top is sometimes denoted by using the superscript sign ~ over intra-syllabic a; thus जॉन 'John'.

8. Punctuation

Sentences are concluded with the vertical mark । (danḍā). Other punctuation in prose is of Western origin, and apart from occasional minor deviations is used in the same way as in writing English.

9. Numerals

०	१	२	३	४	५	६	७	८	९
०	१	२	३	४	५	६	७	८	९, ९

10. Abbreviations

First syllables of words are used in abbreviations, punctuated with either ° or full-stop. Initials of names are usually given according to their English pronunciation: e.g.

उ० प्र०	Uttar Pradesh
म० प्र०	Madhya Pradesh
रा० कु०	Ram Kumar (e.g. in a signature)
टुंडला ज०	Tundla Junction
जी० पी० मेहरोत्रा	G. P. Mehrotra
डॉ० आर० जे० स्मिथ	Dr. R. J. Smith

<sup>1</sup> A humorganic nasal preceding the sound z in Persian loanwords is represented in the script by annasāra, in exactly the same way as the nasal ṣ preceding the sound j in words of Indian origin; e.g. मंज़िल manzil. (In English loanwords, however, it is more often represented by truncated z in a conjunct with ज़ (ज) or sometimes स; e.g. वर्मा ऐण्ड सन्स varmā aiṇḍ sanz 'Varma and Sons'; सिविल लाइन्स sivil lāins 'Civil Lines'.)

SCRIPT EXERCISE

1. खा गि घी चौ छो जु भू टे ठा डे ढी एी तु तै थे दो khā gi ghī cau cho ju bhū ṭe ṭhā ḍe ḍhī ṇi ṭṛ tai the do

धू ना पो फू बु भा भि ये रो ला वि शा बु सि है dhū nā pau phū bu bhā bhi ye ro lā vi śa bu si hai

2. कट काट खाट गत गात घट घाट घृत घात चप
kaṭ kāṭ khāṭ gaṭ gāṭ ghaṭ ghāṭ ghyṭ ghāt cap

चिप चिक जन जान भोल टोक ठान डाल ढाक बाण cip chik jan jān jhōl ṭok ṭhān ḍāl ḍhāk bāṇ

तुक थुक दिल दीन नीम पेट फोड़ बोझ भीख मेल tuk thuk dil dīn nīm peṭ phoḍ bojh bhikh mel

यार राय लिप वर शत षट साथ शठ हित yār rāy lip var śat ṣaṭ sāṭh śaṭh hit

3. अब आशा आना इस ईख उन उन ऋषि ओट ओर ab āśā ānā is ikh un ūn ṛṣi oṭ aur

एक ऐन
ek ain

4. कमल विमल अतुल ललित सुबोध राजा बेहद गोबर बूढ़ा
kamal vimal atul lalit subodh rājā behad gobar būṛhā

बड़ा बढ़ा चलता बोलता बोलती लगता लगती सपना सपने baṛā baḍhā caltā boltā boltī lagtā lagtī sapnā sapne

अपने असली खतरा कटरा पटरी समझा सकता मतलब समतल apne aslī khatrā kaṭrā paṭrī samjhā saktā matlab samtal

बरबस सरपट
barbas sarpaṭ

5. गी गई गे गए गाए नी नई नाई नए
gī gāi ge gae gāe nī nāi nāi nae

भी भाई भई कमाऊ उपजाऊ बोई सोई बढ़ाई बढ़ई
bhī bhāi bhāi kamaū upjāū boi soi baḍhāi baḍhāi

बुढ़ऊ मकई
būḍhāū makai

6. मक्का	मक्खन	रक्त	हुक्म	क्या	क्रम	क्लास
makkā	makkhan	rakt	hukm	kyā	kram	klās
क्षण	आख्यान	मुग्ध	अग्नि	ग्राम	ग्लानि	ग्वाला
kṣaṇ	ākhyān	mugdh	agni	grām	glāni	gvālā
अंक	अंग	संज्ञ	बच्चा	अच्छा	च्युत	सज्जा
ank	aṅg	saṅkh	baccā	acchā	cyut	lajjā
ज्ञान	ग्यारह	ज्वर	मिट्टी	मुट्ठा	ट्रेन	अट्टा
jñān	gyārah	jvar	miṭṭī	muṭṭhā	ṭren	aḍḍā
द्राविवर	घण्टा	कुण्ठा	अण्डा	सत्ताईस	उत्थान	रत्न
drāivara	ghaṇṭā	kunṭhā	aṇḍā	sattāis	utthān	ratn
उत्पादन	आत्मा	हत्या	पुत्र	पुरुषत्व	गद्दी	विद्या
utpādan	ātmā	hatyā	putr	puruṣatva	gaddi	vidyā
विद्वान्	ध्यान	अन्त	हिन्दी	गन्ना	जन्म	न्यून
vidvān	dhyān	ant	hindī	gannā	janm	nyūn
प्राप्त	प्राप्य	शब्द	लब्ध	दिब्बा	अभ्यास	सम्पादक
prāpt	prāpya	śabd	labdh	ḍibbā	abhyās	sampādak
लम्बा	तुम्हारा	उर्दू	अर्थ	सर्प	जल्दी	बिल्ली
lumbā	tumhārā	urdū	arth	sarp	jaldī	billī
अल्प	व्यय	निश्चय	श्याम	श्री	राष्ट्र	कृष्ण
alp	vyay	niścay	śyām	śrī	rāṣṭra	kṛṣṇ
स्थान	अस्त्र	स्नान	स्पीच	स्रव	ह्रास
sthān	astra	snān	spīc	sraṇ	hrās
7. अंग	पंखा	कंघी	संघ	पंकज	चंचल
aṅg	paṅkhā	kaṅghī	saṅgh	paṅkaj	caṅcal
पंछी	रंज	अंटी	कंठ	बंड़ी	अंत
pañchī	raṅj	aṅṭī	kaṅṭh	baṇḍī	ant
पथ	हिंदी	अंधा	संपादन	संबोधन	संभ्रांत
panth	hindī	andhā	sampādan	sambodhan	sambhrānt
संयुक्त	संवरण	अंश	वंश	बंसी
samyukt	saṃvaraṇ	aṁś	vaṁś	baṁsī

8. रेंगना	संकरा	खिड़कियाँ	लड़कियाँ	अंधेरा	आंधी
raṅgnā	saṅkrā	khirkiyāṁ	laṛkiyāṁ	aṁdherā	āmdhī
ऊँट	सिंचना	सींचना	सूँघना	रेंगना	है
ūṁṭ	simcna	simcna	sumghna	reṅgnā	hai
परसों	सौंफ	विद्यार्थियों
parson	saumph	vidyārthiyon
9. दुःख	स्वतः
duḥkh	svataḥ
10. अप्रसोस	हफ़ता	जखम	खबर	गम	चाकू
afsos	haftā	xakhm	khabar	gam	cāqū

LESSON I

NOUNS

Two cases only need be distinguished, a direct and an oblique. The direct case usually denotes sentence subjects or direct objects; the oblique occurs most commonly with postpositions, see below. Nouns are of singular or plural number, and masculine or feminine gender.

1. Masculine inflexional patterns

			ā -finals
Sg.	Dir.	कमरा	kaṃrā , room
	Obl.	कमरे	kaṃre
Pl.	Dir.	कमरे	kaṃre
	Obl.	कमरों	kaṃrom
			Others
Sg.	Dir.	दिन	din , day
	Obl.	दिन	din
Pl.	Dir.	दिन	din
	Obl.	दिनों	dinon

(a) The few masculines in final -ām are almost all inflected as कमरा kaṃrā, but with the endings nasalised, e.g. कुआँ kuām 'well'.

(b) Some masculines in final -ā follow the pattern of दिन din. These are chiefly terms of relationship showing a reduplicated syllable, e.g. चाचा cācā 'paternal uncle'; दादा dādā 'paternal grandfather' (obl. pl. चाचाओं cācāon, etc.); or loanwords from Sanskrit, e.g. पिता pitā 'father'; राजा rājā 'rajah'; देवता devatā 'deity'; दाता dātā 'giver'; also, frequently in many persons' usage, the oblique case of some common place-names, e.g. आगरा āgrā 'Agra'; कलकत्ता kalkattā 'Calcutta'.

(c) Masculines in final -ī and -ū shorten these vowels before the oblique plural ending, and masculines in final -ī show a semivocalic glide y before it. Thus आदमी ādmi 'man' has oblique plural आदमियों ādmiyon; हिंदू hindū 'Hindu' has oblique plural हिंदुओं hinduon.

(d) Vocatives (forms of address) are usually expressed by use of the oblique case in the singular, and in the plural by forms in -o, differing from oblique case forms only in that they are not nasalised: e.g.

लड़के	larke!	Boy!
लड़को	larho!	Boys!

2. Feminine inflexional patterns

i -finals
Sg. Dir.	लड़की	larḱī , girl
Obl.	लड़की	larḱī
Pl. Dir.	लड़कियाँ	larḱiyān
Obl.	लड़कियों	larḱiyom
iyā -finals
Sg. Dir.	चिड़िया	ciṛiyā , bird
Obl.	चिड़िया	ciṛiyā
Pl. Dir.	चिड़ियाँ	ciṛiyām
Obl.	चिड़ियों	ciṛiyom
Others
Sg. Dir.	मेज़	mez , table
Obl.	मेज़	mez
Pl. Dir.	मेज़ें	mezom
Obl.	मेज़ों	mezom

(a) A final -ī shows the same shortening and presence of glide y before an inflexional ending as was noted for masculines in -ī. Note that this occurs in both plural forms.

(b) Identical in inflexion with feminines in final -ī are feminine loanwords from Sanskrit in final -ī, almost all abstract nouns, e.g. स्थिति sthiti 'position'.

(c) Feminines in -iyā are frequently diminutives, e.g. डिब्बिया ḍibiyā '(small) box'. Cf. डिब्बा ḍibbā, m.

(d) To be particularly noted among the 'other feminines' are loanwords in final -ā from Sanskrit, almost all abstract nouns. (माता mātā 'mother') is the only common non-abstract.) A few common Arabic and Persian loanwords in final -ā may also be noted, e.g. हवा havā 'air, wind'; दुनिया duniyā 'world'; दफ़ा dafā 'time, occasion'.

(e) Feminine vocatives are formed in the same way as masculines.

There are no definite or indefinite articles in Hindi. A noun acting as subject or direct object in its sentence is definite rather than indefinite; but depending on its context the word मकान makān 'house' may have as its translation equivalent 'a house' or 'the house' or 'houses' or 'the houses'. The word एक ek 'one' can be used before nouns with the force of an indefinite article where explicitness is required.

In the case of nouns denoting animate beings, grammatical gender almost always agrees with natural gender. Thus चादमी ādmī 'man', दर्जी darjī 'tailor', डाकिया ḍākiyā 'postman' are masculines following दिन din and कमरा kamrā in inflexion, not लड़की larḱī and चिड़िया ciṛiyā.

The gender of other nouns is harder to predict from their form. Nouns in -ā denoting everyday objects are predominantly masculine; abstract nouns in -ā are almost all feminine; nouns in -ī, -iyā are feminine in most cases unless referring to males, as in the above examples. The student is advised to note the gender of each new word that he learns.

POSTPOSITIONS

Postpositions are expressions answering in function to prepositions or prepositional phrases in English. They may be simple (i.e. one-word units), e.g. में meṁ 'in, into'; पर par 'on', or compound in form (see in due course pp. 34 f.). Postpositions are characteristically immediately preceded by a noun or pronoun in oblique case. Thus मेज़ पर mez par 'on the table'; मेज़ों पर mezom par 'on the tables', etc.

SIMPLE SENTENCES

A simple sentence is a complete utterance consisting of a noun or pronoun (or a composite nominal phrase) and a verb (or a composite verbal phrase). Either component may be expressed or understood. The nominal component forms the subject of its sentence; the verbal component may include non-verbal elements, e.g. nouns or pronouns as direct objects or indirect objects of the verb, adverbs or adverbial phrases, or a negative.

ORDER OF WORDS

1. In simple sentences which are neutral in style and emphasis, rather than affective (emphatic or otherwise emotive) in character, the subject, where expressed, most usually comes first<sup>1</sup> and the verb last, in close association with any negative, while objects and adverbial expressions occupy an intervening position, in less fixed order. Expressions of time tend to precede those of place: e.g.

लड़का आज यहाँ नहीं है। larkā āj yahām nahīm hai, 'The boy isn't here today [the boy today here not is].

2. This general pattern can be widely varied according to any affective value a sentence may have (as well as according to its length and the balance of its parts). For instance, an adverb advanced to initial sentence position usually gains in emphasis at the cost of a subject which it displaces. Cf. with the sentence above

आज लड़का यहाँ नहीं है। āj larkā yahām nahīm hai, 'Today the boy isn't here.

'Note in this connection that the sense of introductory 'there is, are, were', etc., is expressed in Hindi by an inversion of the neutral (non-affective) order of subject and following adverbial locution (emphasis on the subject being thereby diminished).

पुस्तक मेज पर है। pustak mex par hai, 'The book is on the table.
मेज पर पुस्तक है। mex par pustak hai, 'There is a book on the table.

3. Questions: Interrogative pronouns and adverbs, e.g. क्या kyā 'what', कहाँ kahām 'where', do not usually introduce questions in sentences of neutral style and emphasis, but follow the subject in second position, or later.<sup>2</sup>

लड़की कहाँ है? larkī kahām hai? 'Where is the girl?
यह क्या है? yah kyā hai? 'What is this?

<sup>1</sup> One important type of sentence where this is not so is noted in Lesson IX, pp. 50 f., another in Lesson XIII; see also in due course Lesson XII, p. 71, n. 1.

<sup>2</sup> Where a subject is understood but not expressed, or where a sentence is affective in character, they can occur initially.

The pronoun क्या kyā in initial position in a sentence is usually a question marker, serving to introduce questions not containing an interrogative. In conversation the inflexion of the voice often makes its presence unnecessary.

(क्या) लड़कियाँ यहाँ हैं? (kyā) larkiyām yahām hain? 'Are the girls here?

VOCABULARY

मेज mex , f., table	यह yah , this <sup>1</sup>
पुस्तक pustak , f., book	वह vah , that <sup>1</sup>
कलम qalam , f.m., pen	एक ek , one; a, an
कमरा kamrā m., room	दो do , two
कुरसी kursī , f., chair	तीन tīn , three
घड़ा gharā , m., pot, jar	आज āj , today
पानी pānī , m., water	यहाँ yahām , here
कुआँ kuām , m., well	वहाँ vahām , there
लड़का larkā , m., boy	कहाँ kahām , where?
लड़की larkī , f., girl	क्या kyā , what?; and as question marker
आगरा āgrā , m., Agra	लेकिन lekin , but
कलकत्ता kalkattā , m., Calcutta	में men , in
आदमी ādmi , m., man	पर par , on
औरत aurat , f., woman	नहीं nahīm , no, not
पत्र patr , m., letter	है hai , is
चिड़िया ciṛiyā , f., bird	हैं hain , are
पिंजरा piṅjra , m., cage	और aur , and मकान makān , m., house
अखबार akhbār , m., newspaper

EXERCISE 1

यह मेज है। पुस्तक मेज पर है। मेज पर कलम है। कमरे में दो कुरसियाँ हैं। यह क्या है? यह घड़ा है। क्या घड़े में पानी है? नहीं, लेकिन कुएँ में पानी है। पुस्तकें मेज पर हैं। क्या पुस्तकें मेजों पर हैं? यहाँ एक कुरसी है। वहाँ दो कुरसियाँ हैं। क्या यह कुरसी है? नहीं, यह कुरसी नहीं है, मेज है। लड़के आगरे में हैं, लेकिन लड़कियाँ कलकत्ते में हैं। यहाँ तीन आदमी हैं। औरतें कहाँ हैं? मेजों पर पुस्तकें हैं।

<sup>1</sup> For pronunciation see p. 8.

EXERCISE 2

What is this? This is a book. The book is here. The books are there. Where is the letter? There are two boys here. The table is in the room. The jar is on the table, and there is water in the jar. What is that? That is a table. The bird is in the cage. There are three birds in the cage. There are three rooms in the house. In one room there are tables and chairs. The newspapers are on the tables.

LESSON II

ADJECTIVES

ADJECTIVES whose direct singular masculine form ends in -ā agree with nouns in gender, number, and case:

		m.	f.
Sg.	Dir.	अच्छा acchā , good	अच्छी acchī
	Obl.	अच्छे acche	अच्छी acchī
Pl.	Dir.	अच्छे acche	अच्छी acchī
	Obl.	अच्छे acche	अच्छी acchī

Adjectives ending in -ām follow the pattern of अच्छा acchā, with endings nasalised, e.g. बायाँ bāyāṁ 'left' (hand); and most ordinal numerals.

Other adjectives are invariable (except for a few loanwords, and some adjectival uses of pronouns).

अच्छा लड़का acchā laṛkā, a good boy
 बड़े भकान में baṛe makān meṁ, in the big house
 बड़ी दुकानों में baṛī dūkāṇōṁ meṁ, in the big shops
 दो लाल किताबें do lāl kitābēṁ, two red books

(a) Adjectives are used predicatively as well as attributively (i.e. following as well as preceding nouns which they qualify): e.g.

दीवार ऊँची है। divār ūncī hai, The wall is high.
 किताबें लाल हैं। kitābēṁ lāl haiṁ, The books are red.

(b) A few adjectives in -ā are invariable: some showing final -iyā, e.g. बढ़िया barhiyā 'good, nice'; some Persian and Arabic loanwords, e.g. ज़िंदा zindā 'alive', मादा mādā 'female'; also the numeral सवा savā (see p. 64).

(c) An adjective used predicatively with two or more nouns or pronouns of different genders, and not referring to persons, agrees with the nearest: e.g.

कागज़ और पेंसिलें सस्ती हैं। kāgax aur pensileṁ sastī haiṁ, Paper and pencils are cheap.

If the nouns or pronouns refer to persons the adjective usually takes masculine plural form: e.g.

मे और सीता बूढ़े हैं। main aur sītā būṛhe hain, Sītā and I are old.

But a composite pronoun subject, e.g. दोनों donom 'both', is very often added in these cases to minimise the awkwardness of the concord: e.g.

मे और सीता दोनों बूढ़े हैं। main aur sītā donom būṛhe hain.

DEMONSTRATIVE PRONOUNS

Sg.	Dir.	यह	yah , this	वह	vah , that
	Obl.	इस	is	उस	us
	Object	इसे	ise	उसे	use
Pl.	Dir.	ये	ye	वे	ve
	Obl.	इन	in	उन	un
	Object	इन्हें	inhen	उन्हें	unhen

(a) यह yah is usually pronounced with a fairly high front unrounded vowel close to that of English spin, and little or no final aspiration, वह vah most frequently with a mid back rounded vowel close to that of French beau, and no aspiration. Pronunciations as indicated on p. xix are also heard.

(b) वह vah and its plural वे ve, as well as acting as demonstratives, are the normal translation equivalents of the third person pronouns 'he, she, it, they'. See p. 11.

(c) The singular direct case forms यह yah, वह vah are often substituted for ये ye, वे ve in both the spoken and the written language.

(d) The demonstrative pronouns are also used as demonstrative adjectives, preceding and in concord with nouns: e.g.

यह लड़का yah larkā, this boy

इस कमरे में is kamre mein, in this room

उन मेजों पर un mezon par, on those tables

उन छोटी मेजों पर un choṭī mezon par, on those small tables

(e) The object forms given above function both as definite direct objects and as indirect objects; they are equivalents (which tend to be preferred by many speakers) of the forms इसको isko, उसको usko, इनको inko, उनको unko, showing the postposition को ko. The uses of these forms and other uses of को ko are discussed in due course in Lesson IX, and elsewhere.

THE POSTPOSITION का kā

This postposition indicates possession; it agrees in the same way as an adjective in -ā with nouns: e.g.

उस स्त्री का बेटा us strī kā beṭā, that woman's son

उस स्त्री के बेटे us strī ke beṭe, that woman's sons

उस स्त्री के बेटे का मकान us strī ke beṭe kā makān, that woman's son's house

उस आदमी की बहनों का मकान us ādmī kī bahnon kā makān, that man's sisters' house

उसका मकान uskā makān,<sup>1</sup> his, her house

Possessive forms and expressions can be used predicatively as well as attributively: e.g.

यह मकान उसका है। yah makān uskā hai, This house is his, hers.

यह मकान उस स्त्री का है। yah makān us strī kā hai, This house belongs to that woman.

VOCABULARY

दीवार divār, f., wall

कागज़ kāgaz, m., paper

पेंसिल pensil, f., pencil

स्त्री strī, f., woman<sup>2</sup>

बेटा beṭā, m., son

बेटी beṭī, f., daughter

भाई bhāī, m., brother; छोटा भाई

choṭā bhāī, younger brother

बहन bahn, f., sister; छोटी बहन choṭī

bahn, younger sister [बहिन bahin]<sup>3</sup>

घर ghar, m., house, home; घर पर

ghar par, at home

दरवाजा darvājā, m., door; दरवाजे पर

darvāze par, at the door

बच्चा baccā, m., child; baby

किताब kitāb, f., book

सब्बूत sandūq, m., box

देश deś, m., country

शहर shahr, m., city, town

गाँव gāmv, m., village

<sup>1</sup> Postpositions are usually written as one word with oblique case pronominal forms, especially monosyllabic forms; much less often so with nouns.

<sup>2</sup> Words such as this, in which initial s is followed by a plosive consonant, are pronounced by most Hindi speakers with a 'prosthetic' or introductory short i of varying clarity before the consonant group.

<sup>3</sup> Echoing vocalic sounds after h preceding consonants (p. xviii) are sometimes represented in alternative spellings of this kind in a few words. These alternative spellings are in general less preferred in present-day usage, and further examples will not be noted.

सीता sītā , Sita (girl's name)	साफ sāf , clean
क्लास klās , f. m., class (school)	काला kālā , black
किला gilā , m., fort	सफ़ेद safed , white
दिल्ली dillī , f., Delhi	सुंदर sundar , beautiful
इमारत imārat , f., building	चार cār , four
राजा rājā , m., rajah	पाँच pānc , five; पाँचवाँ pāncvām , fifth
महल mahl , m., palace	छह, छः, छै chah, chaḥ, chai , six
कपड़ा kapṛā , m., cloth; pl. clothes	लाल lāl , red
मंदिर mandir , m., temple	ऊँचा ūmcā , high
छोटा choṭā , small	बढ़िया baḥiyā , good, nice
बड़ा barā , large	सस्ता sastā , cheap
बहुत bahut , adj. and adv., much, many; very	बूढ़ा būṛhā , old (of persons); m., old man
मैला mailā , dirty	मैं main , I
खड़ा khaṛā , standing

EXERCISE 3

वह यहाँ नहीं है, लेकिन उसकी छोटी बहनें यहाँ हैं। वह घर पर नहीं है। दो छोटे बच्चे दरवाजे पर खड़े हैं। यह पानी बहुत मैला है। काले संदूक में पाँच किताबें हैं। क्या किताबें इस काले संदूक में हैं? उस देश में बहुत शहर और गाँव हैं। सीता पाँचवीं क्लास में है। लाल त्रिला दिल्ली में है। ये उन छोटी नड़कियों की किताबें हैं। उन इमारतों की दीवारें ऊँची हैं। राजा का महल इस शहर में है। वह बहुत सुंदर है।

EXERCISE 4

The book is on that table. The clothes are in this box. The books are on those tables. The clothes are in these boxes. They are here. Where is he? Where is she? Sita is her younger sister. His book is on the table. Her books are in that room. Their clothes are clean and white. What's that? That's a box. In it there are four big books. These books are his. There are two temples in that small village. Calcutta is a big city.

LESSON III

PERSONAL PRONOUNS

1. First person pronouns

Sg. Dir.	मैं	main , I
Obl.	मुझ	mujh
Object	मुझे	mujhe
Possessive	मेरा	merā
Pl. Dir.	हम	ham , we
Obl.	हम	ham
Object	हमें	hamen
Possessive	हमारा	hamārā

2. Second person pronouns

Sg. Dir.	तू	tū , you
Obl.	तुझ	tujh
Object	तुझे	tujhe
Possessive	तेरा	terā
Pl. Dir.	तुम	tum , you
Obl.	तुम	tum
Object	तुम्हें	tumhen
Possessive	तुम्हारा	tumhārā

3. Third person pronouns

Sg.	Dir.	वह	vah , he, she, it	यह	yah , he, she, it
	Obl.	उस	us	इस	is
	Object	उसे	use	इसे	ise
	Possessive	उसका	uskā	इसका	iskā
Pl.	Dir.	वे	ve , they	ये	ye , they	आप	āp , you; he, she, they
	Obl.	उन	un	इन	in	आप	āp
	Object	उन्हें	unhen	इन्हें	inhen
	Possessive	उनका	unkā	इनका	inkā	आपका	āpkā

(a) तुम tum may have singular or plural reference, but is a plural pronoun in respect of its concord with verbs. For the distinction between तुम tum with singular reference and तू tū (which has only singular reference) see below.

(b) यह yah and ये ye are used as third person pronouns with 'proximate' force; e.g. often in reference to a person actually present at the time of speaking, or to the latter of two possible referents in a preceding sentence or clause.

(c) Note that by far the commonest translation equivalent of the pronoun आप āp is 'you', and that it may have either singular or plural reference, but that it is a third person plural pronoun in respect of its concord with verbs; see below.

(d) The possessive forms of first and second person pronouns are inflected as adjectives, like third person possessive forms showing -का -kā (see p. 9): e.g.

मेरा भाई merā bhāī, my brother

तुम्हारी बहनें tumhārī bahen, your sisters

यह किताब मेरी है yah kitāb merī hai, This book is mine.

(e) The object forms of first and second person pronouns are used in the same way as the object forms of यह yah, वह vah (see pp. 8 f.). Note that आप āp has no specific object form.

(f) Pronouns are often not expressed where the sense of a sentence is clear without their presence, e.g.

वे आज कहाँ हैं? — दिल्ली में हैं। ve āj kahān hain? — dillī meṁ hain, Where are they today? — In Delhi.

HONORIFIC USAGES

1. Care must be exercised in using the pronouns आप āp, तुम tum and तू tū, which have different honorific values. In normal educated usage आप āp is the pronoun of address to one's seniors (though not usually to close female relatives), and also very generally to one's peers and others whom one addresses on equal terms. आप āp is used with a third person plural verb, whether the reference is to one person or more than one<sup>1</sup>: e.g.

आप कैसे हैं? āp kaise hain? How are you? (masculine reference)

आप कैसी हैं? āp kaisī hain? How are you? (feminine reference)

A person to whom one uses आप āp should usually be referred to, if absent, with the plural pronominal form वे ve, and a plural verb<sup>2</sup>; but if present, either with ये ye or आप āp.

(a) तुम tum expresses moderate divergence from high honorific reference. It is used by Hindi speakers in addressing many relatives (especially those not senior to the speaker), quite often in addressing close friends, and regularly in addressing persons of lower social status than the speaker, for example servants, or rickshaw-wallahs. Foreigners will most probably find that Indians with whom they are on friendly terms will address them with आप āp, and, if this is so, should reciprocate.

A person to whom one uses तुम tum can be referred to, if absent, with the singular pronominal form वह vah, and a singular verb; and if present, with यह yah.

(b) तू tū expresses feelings of great intimacy or informality, and also of contempt, disgust, etc. (extreme divergences in different directions from high honorific reference). It will rarely be used by foreigners. Indians often use it to invoke a deity, and when speaking to small children, and foreigners may of course follow suit.

2. Most educated Hindi speakers use the three-term honorific system outlined above, but for some the use of आप āp is not fully natural. These persons normally use तुम tum in the way in which आप āp is used within the three-term system; तू tū then covers the functions of both तुम tum and तू tū in the three-term system. This usage is best not imitated.

3. Plural concord in a sentence can, as seen above, be a mark of honorific

<sup>1</sup> There is a means of making explicit a reference to more than one person by आप āp or तुम tum. See Supplement I, p. 165, in due course.

<sup>2</sup> This convention is not observed systematically in referring to persons with whom one is not acquainted.

reference, but the only nouns used honorifically in plural number are the masculines in -ā when in direct case: e.g.

आपके बेटे कैसे हैं? āpkā beṭe kaise hain? How is your son?<sup>1</sup>

Cf. आपकी बेटी कैसी है? āpkī beṭī kaisī hain? How is your daughter?

4. Common uses of the honorific particle जी jī are as follows:

(a) In addressing a person (male or female) to whom one uses आप āp, जी jī may be added to the last name: e.g.

वाजपेयी जी, आप कैसे हैं? vājpeyī jī, āp kaise hain? How are you, Mr. Vājpeyī? Where added to a first name it denotes a certain familiarity: e.g. कैसी हैं, राधा जी? kaisī hain, rādhā jī? How are you, Rādhā?

(b) In referring to persons whom one would address with आप āp, जी jī precedes last names in this case: e.g.

उस समय राम प्रसाद जी बर्मा मंत्री थे। us samay rām prasād jī barmā mantri the,
At that time Mr. Rām Prasād Śarmā was secretary.

(c) With the words हाँ hām 'yes' and नहीं nahīm 'no'. These used alone sometimes seem rather crude to an Indian ear. जी हाँ jī hām and जी नहीं jī nahīm are best restricted to आप āp contexts. हाँ जी hām jī, नहीं जी nahīm jī are much less circumspect, and are usually best avoided in आप āp contexts. For 'yes', जी jī alone is often heard.

5. The forms श्री śrī, श्रीमती śrīmātī, and कुमारी kumārī or सुश्री sushrī are also used in the same way as the titles Mr., Mrs., and Miss. They may always be replaced, in addressing persons, by the more traditional जी jī. In referring to persons formally, they are sometimes used in conjunction with जी jī.

VOCABULARY

पिता pitā , m., father	पत्नी patnī , f., wife
माता, माँ mātā, mām , f., mother	माता-पिता mātā-pitā , m.pl., parents
स्कूल skūl , m., school; स्कूल में skūl men at school	भारत bhārat , m., India
पति patī , m., husband	राजधानी rājdhānī , f., capital
	मंत्री mantri , m., secretary

<sup>1</sup> Alongside this sentence the sentence आपका बेटा कैसा है? āpkā beṭā kaisā hai? is of course also possible (and would be a more common utterance).

ठीक thik , correct, all right, fine	हाँ hām , yes
सब sab , all; everything; सब किताबें sab kitāben , all the books	नहीं nahīm , no
काम kām , m., work	नमस्ते namaste , 'greetings' (common term of address; equivalent
बैठा baiṭhā , seated, sitting	नमस्कार namaskār )
कैसे kaise , what sort of?; used ad- jectivally in आप कैसे हैं? āp kaise hain? How are you? etc.	हम हैं ham hain , we are मैं हूँ māim hūm , I am उस समय us samay , at that time
अभी abhi , now

EXERCISE 5

मेरा बेटा अभी दिल्ली में है। मेरे बेटे का मकान बहुत बड़ा है। आपकी किताबें उस बड़ी मेज़ पर हैं। वे मेरे बड़े भाई हैं। नमस्ते, आप कैसे हैं? कैसी हैं, सीता जी? सब ठीक है? जी हाँ, सब ठीक है। श्री प्रसाद यहाँ हैं, उस कमरे में बैठे हैं। हमारा शहर छोटा है। उनके भाई यहाँ नहीं हैं। क्या यह किताब आपकी है? जी नहीं, मेरी नहीं है, मेरे पिता जी की है।

EXERCISE 6

Sitā is this boy's sister. The sisters of these boys are at school. Where is your mother? How is your wife? This work is unsatisfactory. That book is mine. All the books are mine. All these books<sup>1</sup> are my parents'. We are sitting in their room. How are you, Mr. Prasad? I am well. In India there are many villages. Delhi is the capital of India.

<sup>1</sup> ये सब किताबें ye sab kitāben; note word order.

LESSON IV

VERB STRUCTURE AND CONCORD

1. The basic structural units of the Hindi verb are:

- (a) The verb stem.
- (b) Formative suffixes, which are added to stems and of which the chief are:
  - (i) -ā, -ā, and their concord variants, which form imperfective and perfective participles respectively. These characterise verbal actions aspectually as not completed, or as completed. This distinction is fundamental to a large number of verbal forms.
  - (ii) -nā and its concord variants. These form verbal nouns or adjectives. Verbs are quoted in the form stem + -nā (infinitive form).
  - (iii) Certain modal suffixes which appear in subjunctive and imperative forms.
- (c) Certain forms of the verb होना honā, used with the participles as auxiliaries of tense and mood.

2. Verbal expressions based on stems, participles, and infinitives and containing further verbal forms other than (or additional to) those of the verb होना honā are very frequent. They may be described collectively as composite verbal expressions. Various types of composite verbal expression are introduced in due course, as well as types of verbal expression based on nominal forms (nouns and adjectives).

3. Finite verbs (i.e. main verbal forms of simple or complex<sup>1</sup> sentences) very frequently show concord of number, person, and gender (where applicable) with sentence subjects; otherwise (in cases to be defined in due course) they show concord with direct objects, or are used impersonally (not in any concord relationship).

PRESENT, PAST, AND FUTURE TENSE FORMS OF होना honā 'be, become'

Present: 'I am', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं	māim hūm
2	तू	tū hai
3	वह है	vah hai

<sup>1</sup> See p. 46, n. 1.

REGULAR CONJUGATIONAL PATTERNS

17

Pl. 1	हम हैं	ham haim
2	तुम हो	tum ho
3	वे, आप हैं	ve, āp haim

Past: 'I was', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं था	māim thā , m.	थी	thī , f.
2	तू था	tū thā	थी	thī
3	वह था	vah thā	थी	thī

Pl. 1	हम थे	ham the	थीं	thīm
2	तुम थे	tum the	थीं	thīm
3	वे, आप थे	ve, āp the	थीं	thīm

Future: 'I shall be, become', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं हूँगा	māim hūngā , m.	हूँगी	hūngī , f.
2	तू होगा	tū hogā	होगी	hogī
3	वह होगा	vah hogā	होगी	hogī

Pl. 1	हम होंगे	ham hongē	होंगी	hongī
2	तुम होंगे	tum hoge	होंगी	hogī
3	वे, आप होंगे	ve, āp hongē	होंगी	hongī

(a) Note that past tense forms show gender concord with subjects, and that feminine plural past tense forms show nasality; in this way a number distinction between feminine singulars and plurals, which would otherwise be lacking, is achieved.

(b) Future tense forms also show gender concord with subjects. Note that future forms of होना honā are often used to express presumptions: e.g.

वह आदमी दक्खिनी होगा vah ādmī dakkhinī hogā, That man is probably a southerner.

REGULAR CONJUGATIONAL PATTERNS

The main regular conjugational patterns of the verb are illustrated below and in the next lesson with forms of the verb चलना calnā 'go, move'. Irregularities of form in verbs other than होना honā are few; most are cited.

1. General present: 'I go', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चलता हूँ	maim caltā hūm , m.	चलती हूँ	caltī hūm , f.
2	तू चलता है	tū caltā hai	चलती है	caltī hai
3	वह चलता है	vah caltā hai	चलती है	caltī hai
Pl. 1	हम चलते हैं	ham calte haim	चलती हैं	caltī haim
2	तुम चलते हो	tum calte ho	चलती हो	caltī ho
3	वे, आप चलते हैं	ve, āp calte haim	चलती हैं	caltī haim

(a) General present forms express habitual action or general state, but are also used in other cases with a certain indefinite sense, for instance when there is no explicit need felt to use a continuous present form: e.g.

मैं भारत में रहता हूँ। maim bhārat meḥ rahtā hūm, I live in India.

मैं भारत में हिंदी बोलता हूँ। maim bhārat meḥ hindī bolā hūm, I speak Hindi in India.

मैं चलता हूँ। maim caltā hūm, I'm going.

(b) General present forms are negated with नहीं nahīm, preceding the participle; the auxiliary is usually dropped unless the negation is strongly stressed. In such cases the nasality of the auxiliary in feminine plural forms, which is the only feature distinguishing them from feminine singular forms, is transferred to the final syllable of the participle.

वे औरतें अक्सर हिंदी नहीं बोलतीं। ve aurteṁ aksar hindī nahīm bolitīṁ, Those women usually don't speak Hindi.

(c) होना honā has its own general present form होता है hotā hai 'is (in general)'. Note particularly the use of होता है hotā hai as opposed to है hai:

यह गाड़ी लाल है। yah gārī lāl hai, This car is red (particular case).

गाड़ियाँ महँगी होती हैं। gāriyāṁ mahāngī hotī haim, Cars are expensive (general case).

2. Imperfective past: 'I went, used to go', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चलता था	maim caltā thā , m.	चलती थी	caltī thī , f.
2	तू चलता था	tū caltā thā	चलती थी	"
3	वह चलता था	vah caltā thā	चलती थी	"
Pl. 1	हम चलते थे	ham calte the	चलती थीं	caltī thīm
2	तुम चलते थे	tum calte the	चलती थीं	"
3	वे, आप चलते थे	ve, āp calte the	चलती थीं	"

(a) These forms have the same usual reference to habitual action or general state as general present forms. They are also common in narration where there is no explicit need felt to use a past continuous form: e.g.

उस समय मैं दिल्ली में रहता था। us samay maim dillī meḥ rahtā thā, At that time I was living in Delhi.

They are negated with नहीं nahīm, preceding the participle: e.g. मैं नहीं चलता था maim nahīm caltā thā, I used not to go.

3. Continuous present: 'I am going', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चल रहा हूँ	maim cal rahā hūm , m.	चल रही हूँ	cal rahī hūm , f.
2	तू चल रहा है	tū cal rahā hai	चल रही है	" hai
3	वह चल रहा है	vah cal rahā hai	चल रही है	" hai
Pl. 1	हम चल रहे हैं	ham cal rahe haim	चल रही हैं	" haim
2	तुम चल रहे हो	tum cal rahe ho	चल रही हो	" ho
3	वे, आप चल रहे हैं	ve, āp cal rahe haim	चल रही हैं	" haim

(a) These forms, showing the perfective participle of the verb रहना rahnā 'remain' following the stem, stress the continuous nature of incompleted actions.<sup>1</sup> The verbal unit चल रहा हूँ cal rahā hūm is pronounced with a single stress on the verb stem, the following syllables being unstressed.

(b) Some English expressions of present participial form refer to present state as much as to continued action, e.g. to be sitting, lying, etc. These have as Hindi translation equivalents not continuous present forms but perfective participles of verbs denoting assumption of the given state, plus present tense forms of होना honā: e.g.

मैं कुर्सी पर बैठा हूँ। maim kursī par baiṭhā hūm, I am sitting on a chair.

किताब मेज़ पर पड़ी है। kitāb meḥ par paṛī hai, The book is lying on the table.

(c) The continuous present may be used, as in English, of future events which are thought of as already set in train: e.g.

मैं कल जा रहा हूँ। maim kal jā rahā hūm, I am going tomorrow.

(d) Continuous present forms can be negated with नहीं nahīm in the same way as general present forms. They are less common when negated than the latter, however, since it is not often necessary to describe a non-occurring action as specifically 'continuous'.

<sup>1</sup> The element चल रहा cal rahā has the general sense 'having remained in, being engaged in the action चल-cal'.

4. Continuous past: 'I was going', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चल रहा था	main cal rahā thā , m.	चल रही थी	cal rahī thī , f.
2	तू चल रहा था	tū cal rahā thā	चल रही थी	"
3	वह चल रहा था	vah cal rahā thā	चल रही थी	"

Pl. 1	हम चल रहे थे	ham cal rahe the	चल रही थीं	cal rahī thīm
2	तुम चल रहे थे	tum cal rahe the	चल रही थीं	"
3	वे, आप चल रहे थे	ve, āp cal rahe the	चल रही थीं	"

(a) The notes to subsection 3 above apply mutatis mutandis to the continuous past.

VERBAL CONCORD WITH COMPOSITE SUBJECTS

Where there are two or more subjects of different genders the verb usually agrees with the subject nearest to it, although if both subjects have personal reference it often shows a 'common' masculine gender. This is normal when first and second person subjects are involved. In these cases a composite subject pronoun (e.g. दोनों donon 'both') is often added.

कागज और स्याही सस्ती है। kāgaj aur syāhī sastī hai, Paper and ink are cheap.

मेरे भाई और उनकी पत्नी दिल्ली में रहते हैं। mere bhāī aur unki patnī dillī meṁ rahte hain, My brother and his wife live in Delhi.

मैं और मेरी बहन (दोनों) दिल्ली में रहते हैं। main aur merī bahn (donon) dillī meṁ rahte hain, My sister and I live in Delhi.

Where there are two or more subjects of the same gender the verb is plural and of that gender if they have personal reference; otherwise it most frequently agrees with the nearest subject: e.g.

लड़की और उसकी माँ कल दिल्ली जा रही हैं। laṛkī aur uskī mām kal dillī jā rahī hain, The girl and her mother are going to Delhi tomorrow.

किताब और पेनसिल मेज पर हैं। kitāb aur pensil meṁ par hai, The book and pencil are on the table.

THE POSTPOSITION से se

This postposition is used in construction with various verbs of speaking, telling, etc. (but not all such verbs); e.g. with बोलना bolnā 'to speak', कहना kahnā 'to say', and पूछना pūchnā 'to ask'.

मैं उससे हमेशा हिंदी बोलता हूँ। main usse hamēśā hindī boltā hūm, I always speak Hindi to him.

उससे यह सवाल पूछिए। usse yah savāl pūchie, Ask him this question.

SOME EXPRESSIONS OF MOTION

Expressions describing motion to a destination denoted by a place-name usually show the noun concerned without following postposition: e.g.

मैं भारत जा रहा हूँ। main bhārat jā rahā hūm, I'm going to India.

मैं कलकत्ते (कलकत्ता) जा रहा हूँ। main kalhatte (kalkattā) jā rahā hūm, I'm going to Calcutta.

The second example with its alternative forms (see p. 1) shows that oblique case usages are involved in this type of expression. Expressions of motion are discussed further in Lesson IX.

VOCABULARY

हिंदी hindī , f., Hindi	हरा harā , green
गाड़ी gāṛī , f., vehicle (cart, car, train)	लंबा lambā , long; tall
अंग्रेज angrez , m.f., Englishman, Englishwoman	महंगा mahaṅgā , expensive
अंग्रेजी angrezī , adj., English; the English language (f.)	अच्छा acchā , good; adv., well; interj., all right, I see, etc.
भाषा bhāṣā , f., language	भारतीय bhārtiy , adj. and noun, Indian
बारिश barīś , f., rain; बारिश होना barīś honā , rain (verb)	रहना rahnā , stay, remain, live
पेड़ per , m., tree	बोलना bolnā , speak, talk
पत्ता patṭā , m., leaf	बैठना baiṭhnā , sit
दोस्त dost , m., friend	जाना jānā , go
दफ्तर daftar , m., office	लिखना likhnā , write
विद्यार्थी vidyārthī , m., student	जानना jānnā , know
गरमियाँ garmiyān , f.pl., hot season	गाना gānā , sing; song (m.)
दिन din , m., day	सीखना sikhnā , learn
सिग्रेट sigret , f.m., cigarette	पढ़ना parhnā , read; study
स्याही syāhī , f., ink	पड़ना parnā , fall; be found
डाकिया ḍākiyā , m., postman	आना ānā , come
सवाल savāl , m., question	सोना sonā , sleep
पड़ा parā , lying, placed flat	अक्सर aksar , usually कल kal , yesterday, tomorrow

परसों parson, day before yesterday, कब kab, when?
 day after tomorrow क्योँ kyon, why?
 हमेशा hamesā, always

EXERCISE 7

आप कैसे हैं? मैं ठीक हूँ। हम अँग्रेज हैं। हमारी भाषा अँग्रेजी है। उसकी बहनें कल आगरे में थीं। मैं कल वहाँ था। क्या आज बारिश होगी? जी नहीं, आज बारिश नहीं होगी। मैं एक पत्र लिख रहा हूँ। वह मुझसे अँग्रेजी बोलता है। उस पेड़ के पत्ते हरे हैं। पेड़ों के पत्ते हरे होते हैं। मैं हिंदी नहीं जानता। वे भारत में हमसे अँग्रेजी बोलते थे। वह मेरी कुरसी पर बैठा है। हम परसों भारत जा रहे हैं। अच्छा, मैं चलता हूँ। लड़का गाना गा रहा है। आप हिंदी क्यों सीख रहे हैं?<sup>1</sup>

EXERCISE 8

My friend's brother was here yesterday. His sisters weren't in the room. Is he in the office? No, I expect he's at home. He always speaks Hindi to the Indian students, but doesn't speak it<sup>2</sup> to me. We live in the capital of India. I am learning Hindi. I don't read his books. In summer the days are long. Cigarettes aren't expensive in India. When does the postman come? The girls used to sleep in that room. We are reading a very good book.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Interrogative words such as क्योँ kyon, कब kab usually follow any object forms in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

<sup>2</sup> The pronoun may be omitted.

<sup>3</sup> In speech of normal to fast tempo the verb here is phonologically parh rāhe hām, r in the word rāhe being assimilated to the preceding flap rh. Assimilations of this kind are quite common.

LESSON V

REGULAR CONJUGATIONAL PATTERNS (contd.)

1. Perfective: 'I went', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चला	maim calā , m.	चली calī , f.
2	तू चला	tū calā	चली ,,
3	वह चला	vah calā	चली ,,
Pl. 1	हम चले	ham calē	चलीं calīm
2	तुम चले	tum calē	चलीं ,,
3	वे, आप चल	ve, āp calē	चलीं ,,

(a) Perfective forms denote completedness of action, without specific reference to time. They are used chiefly, but not only, of events occurring in past time.<sup>1</sup>

(b) Verbs whose stem ends in -ī or -ū shorten this vowel before perfective inflexional endings: but a shortened stem -ī coalesces with the feminine inflexional endings, restoring the long vowel in feminine forms. The perfective forms of छूना chūnā 'touch' and सीना sīnā 'sew' are thus

छुआ chuā	छुई chui	छुए chue	छुई chui , touched
सिया siyā <sup>2</sup>	सी sī	सिए sie	सी sīm , sewed

(c) Verbs whose stem ends in -ā, -ō, -e or -ī show a semi-vocalic glide y before masculine singular endings.<sup>3</sup> Verbs whose stem ends in -e show a similar glide before masculine plural endings also.

आया āyā	आई āī	आए āe	आई āim , came
सोया soyā	सोई soī	सोए soe	सोई soim , slept
खेया kheyā	खेई kheī	खेए kheye	खेई kheim , rowed
सिया siyā	सी sī	सिए sie	सी sīm , sewed

<sup>1</sup> Some usages of perfective forms with future time reference are noted in Lesson XX.

<sup>2</sup> y in this form is explained in the following paragraph.

<sup>3</sup> Before other endings, where the glide is either attenuated or not present in pronunciation, it need never be expressed in written forms but is often introduced by analogy. See in due course Supplement II, p. 175.

(d) The perfective forms of five verbs require special note:

	m.sg.	f.sg.	m.pl.	f.pl.
करना karnā 'do':	किया kiyā	की kī	किए kie	कीं kīm
लेना lenā 'take':	लिया liyā	ली lī	लिए lie	लीं līm
देना denā 'give':	दिया diyā	दी dī	दिए die	दीं dīm
जाना jānā 'go':	गया gayā	गई gai	गए gae	गईं gaim
होना honā 'be, become':	हुआ huā	हुई huī	हुए hus	हुईं huim

Note the difference between perfective हुआ huā 'became' and past tense था thā 'was':

मैं लड़ाई में जखमी हुआ। main laṛāī meṁ sakhmī huā, I was wounded in the war.
मैं लड़ाई में भारत में था। main laṛāī meṁ bhārat meṁ thā, I was in India during the war.

(e) In general, perfective forms of transitive verbs<sup>1</sup> are not used in subject concord constructions of the type so far considered. The types of construction into which they characteristically enter are introduced in due course in Lesson XII. Perfective forms of a few transitive verbs are, however, used in subject concord constructions: e.g.

बोलना bolnā, speak, talk
लाना lānā, bring
समझना samajhnā, understand

(f) With perfective forms the negative न na is common, as well as नहीं nahīn.

2. Perfective present: 'I have gone', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चला हूँ	main calā hūm , m.	चली हूँ	calī hūm , f.
2	तू चला है	tū calā hai	चली है	„ hai
3	वह चला है	vah calā hai	चली है	„ hai
Pl. 1	हम चले हैं	ham cale haim	चली हैं	calī haim
2	तुम चले हो	tum cale ho	चली हो	„ ho
3	वे, आप चले हैं	ve, āp cale haim	चली हैं	„ haim

(a) Perfective present forms define actions as completed and connected in some way with present time. They may describe not only actions occurring in the immediate past, but also actions occurring in the more distant past whose consequences are felt as continuing to the present.

<sup>1</sup> Verbs which can be used in construction with direct objects.

मैं अभी आया हूँ। main abhī āyā hūm, I've just come.

मैं एक बार दिल्ली गया हूँ। main ek bār dillī gayā hūm, I've been to Delhi once.<sup>1</sup>

मैं कुर्सी पर बैठा हूँ। main kursī par baiṭhā hūm, I'm sitting on a chair.<sup>2</sup>

3. Perfective past: 'I went, had gone', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चला था	main calā thā , m.	चली थी	calī thī , f.
2	तू चला था	tū calā thā	चली थी	„
3	वह चला था	vah calā thā	चली थी	„
Pl. 1	हम चले थे	ham cale the	चली थीं	calī thim
2	तुम चले थे	tum cale the	चली थीं	„
3	वे, आप चले थे	ve, āp cale the	चली थीं	„

(a) Perfective past forms define actions as completed specifically in past time, and disconnected in some way from the present. Because they have this force, they can answer not only to English pluperfects (verb forms such as 'had come', 'had gone', etc.), but also to past tenses: e.g.

मैं कल आया था main kal āyā thā, I came yesterday.

The implication here is that whatever the speaker is now doing is not a direct sequel to the action of his coming. Compare मैं कल आया हूँ। main kal āyā hūm, I got here yesterday (in order to attend today's meeting, for a much anticipated stay, etc.).

and मैं कल आया। main kal āyā, I came yesterday (matter-of-fact statement, neutral with regard to time and context of action).

4. Subjunctive: 'I may go', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चलूँ	main calūm , m., f.
2	तू चले	tū cale
3	वह चले	vah cale
Pl. 1	हम चलें	ham calem
2	तुम चलो	tum calo
3	वे, आप चलें	ve, āp calem

<sup>1</sup> एक बार ek bār 'on one occasion'.

<sup>2</sup> See p. 19.

(a) Verbs whose stem ends in -ī or -ū shorten this vowel before subjunctive inflexional endings, e.g. वह पिए vah pie 'he may drink'; हम छुएँ ham chueṁ 'we may touch'. Sometimes, however, long vowels appear, especially in first person singular written forms of verbs in -ī, e.g. मैं जिऊँ/जीऊँ maim jiūṁ/jiūṁ 'I may live'.

(b) Subjunctive forms characterize actions as possible, desired or desirable, hypothetical, subject to some doubt, etc., rather than as objectively realized or envisaged: e.g.

मैं चलेँ? maim calūṁ? May I go?

मैं कल शायद दिल्ली जाऊँ। maim kal śāyad dillī jāūṁ, I'll perhaps go to Delhi tomorrow.

(c) The negative used with subjunctive forms is regularly na: e.g.

मैं कल शायद दिल्ली न जाऊँ। maim kal śāyad dillī na jāūṁ, I perhaps won't go to Delhi tomorrow.

(d) The subjunctive forms of होना honā 'be', देना denā 'give', and लेना lenā 'take' are

होऊँ (हूँ) h(o)ūṁ	हो ho	हो ho	हों hom	हो(ओ) ho(o)	हों hom
दूँ dūṁ	दे de	दे de	दें dem	दो do	दें dem
लूँ lūṁ	ले le	ले le	लें lem	लो lo	लें lem

देना denā is used in construction with indirect as well as direct objects. The former are marked by the postposition को ko (except in the case of the equivalent pronominal object forms उसे use, etc., noted on pp. 8 f.). More frequently than not they precede direct objects in sentences: e.g.

मैं सीता को किताब दूँगा। maim sītā ko kitāb dūṁgā, I shall give Sītā the book.

मैं उसे किताब दूँगा। maim use kitāb dūṁgā, I shall give her the book.

(e) Note that subjunctives are often used with the force of polite imperatives<sup>1</sup> and in making suggestions: e.g.

आप मुझे पत्र लिखें āp mujhe patr likhēṁ, Please write me a letter.

चलेँ? calēṁ? Shall we go?

<sup>1</sup> Here they are close equivalents (tending to be more circumspect in force) of imperatives in -se, which are introduced in Lesson VII.

5. Future: 'I shall go', etc.

Sg. 1	मैं चलूँगा maim calūṁgā , m.	चलूँगी calūṁgī , f.
2	तु चलोगा tū calogā	चलेगी calegī
3	वह चलेगा vah calogā	चलेगी calegī
Pl. 1	हम चलेंगे ham calēṁge	चलेंगी calēṁgī
2	तुम चलोगे tum caloge	चलोगी calogī
3	वे, आप चलेंगे ve, āp calēṁge	चलेंगी calēṁgī

(a) Verbs whose stem ends in -ī or -ū shorten this vowel before future inflexional endings: e.g.

मैं पिऊँगा maim piūṁgā, I shall drink

हम सिएँगे ham siēṁge, We shall sew

वह छुएँगा vah chueṁgā, He will touch

(b) Note that future forms are derivable from subjunctives by suffixation of the adjectivally inflected element -gā.

(c) Both नहीं nahī and न na are used as negatives with future forms.

6. Imperfective, continuous, and perfective future

These forms consist of imperfective or perfective participles, or stems followed by रहँ rahā, etc., in conjunction with future forms of होना honā as auxiliaries. They express likelihood that a given action may be occurring, or may have occurred: e.g.

अभी आते होंगे। abhī āte homge, He's probably coming now, he'll be here directly.

अभी आ रहे होंगे। abhī ā rahe homge, He's probably on his way now.

आप जानते होंगे। āp jānte homge, I expect you know, you will know.

अभी आए होंगे। abhī āe homge, He must have just come.

THE EMPHATIC ENCLITICS ही hī, भी bhī

These forms are used freely in Hindi. Their function is to stress the importance of the word or syntactic group immediately preceding them in sentences.

(a) ही hī has restrictive force:

बनारस के लोग हिंदी ही बोलते हैं। banāras ke log hindī hī bolte hain, The people of Banaras speak Hindi (not another language).

LESSON VI

FURTHER USES OF से se

APART from its use with verbs of speaking, telling, etc., some other uses of से se are:

1. In the senses 'from, away from', and 'since, for' (referring to passage of past time): e.g.

दिल्ली कलकत्ते से दूर है। dillī kalkatte se dūr hai, Delhi is far from Calcutta.
आप कब से यहाँ हैं? āp kab se yahām haim? Since when have you been here?<sup>1</sup>
मैं एक हफ्ते से हिंदी सीख रहा हूँ। māim ek hafte se hindī sikh rahā hūm, I've been learning Hindi for a week.<sup>1</sup>

2. In expressions of manner derived from nouns: e.g.

आसानी से āsānī se, with ease, easily
आप हिंदी आसानी से सीख लेंगे। āp hindī āsānī se sikh leṅge, You will learn Hindi easily.<sup>2</sup>

Similarly

इस तरह से is tarah se, in this way
मुश्किल से muškīl se, with difficulty<sup>3</sup>
जल्दी से jaldī se, quickly

3. In expressions of instrumentality, means, and cause: e.g.

मैं कलम से पत्र लिखूँगा। māim qalam se patr likhūṅgā, I shall write the letter with a pen.
मैं मोटर से यहाँ आया। māim moṭar se yahām āyā, I came here by car.
वह दुख से मरा। vah dukh se marā, He died of grief.

4. In certain constructions expressing the idea of connection in general, either literally or figuratively: e.g.

किस्ती बल्ले से बँधी है। kistī ballē se baṁdhī hai, The boat is tied to the pole.

<sup>1</sup> Hindi uses the present tense verb है hai, to express the idea that the state still obtains or the action is still in progress.

<sup>2</sup> Compound verb forms such as सीख लेंगे sikh leṅge 'will (manage to) learn' are explained in Lesson XVII, pp. 99 f.

<sup>3</sup> This expression is also used in the sense 'scarcely', e.g. मैं मुश्किल से बचा māim muškīl se bacā 'I only just escaped'.

मैं उससे डरता हूँ। māim usse ḍartā hūm, I am afraid of him.
वह उससे प्यार करता है vah usse pyār kartā hai, He loves her.<sup>1</sup>

FURTHER USES OF में mem

Note that the use of में mem in the general sense 'in, into' includes its use:

1. To express location in time, in both the senses 'in the course of' and 'after the period of': e.g.

आप एक साल में हिंदी सीख लेंगे। āp ek sāl mem hindī sikh leṅge, You'll learn Hindi in (within) a year.
मैं एक घंटे में तैयार हूँगा। māim ek ghaṇṭe mem taiyār hūṅgā, I'll be ready in an hour.

2. In expressions of cost of purchase: e.g.

कितने में लेंगे? पाँच रुपए में। kitne mem leṅge? pānc rupae mem, How much will you get (take) it for? Five rupees.<sup>2</sup> यह घोड़ा कितने में बेचेंगे। yah ghoṛā kitne mem beceṅge? How much will you sell this horse for?

FURTHER USES OF पर par

Apart from its use in the sense 'on, on top of' पर par is also frequently used in the senses 'at', 'in', 'to', most often where a somewhat precise location is denoted: e.g.

वह कल घर पर था। vah kal ghar par thā, He was at home yesterday.
वह दुकान पर नहीं है। vah dūkān par nahīn hai, He's not in the shop.
वह दुकान पर लौटा। vah dūkān par lauṭā, He went back to the shop.
मैं कल पार्टी पर जा रहा हूँ। māim kal pāṛṭī par jā rahā hūm, I'm going to a party tomorrow.
वह ठीक समय पर आया। vah ṭhik samay par āyā, He arrived punctually, at the right time.
गरमियों में मैं पहाड़ पर जाऊँगा। garmiyon mem māim pahār par jāūṅgā, In the hot weather I shall go to the hills.<sup>3</sup>

In some cases पर par in these senses can be replaced by the postpositions में mem, or को ko.

<sup>1</sup> प्यार pyār, m. 'love', used with करना karṇā to form a transitive verbal expression; for these see in due course Lesson X.

<sup>2</sup> Note रुपए rupae; singular collective usages are common with numerals (see p. 63), and in some other cases.

<sup>3</sup> पहाड़ pahār: see preceding note.

THE POSTPOSITION तक tak 'up to, as far as; until; by'

तक tak is used with reference to both space and time: e.g.

मैं आपके गाँव तक गया, फिर वहाँ लौटा। main āpke gāmo tak gayā, phir yahām lautā, I went as far as your village, then came back.

मैं कल तक यहाँ रहूँगा। main kal tak yahām rahūngā, I shall remain here till tomorrow.

Note especially the use of तक tak to express the point of time before or by which an action occurs; e.g.

बच्चे अक्टूबर तक स्कूल में लौटेंगे। bacche ahtūbar tak skūl mem lautenge, The children will return to school by October.

SOME ADVERBIAL EXPRESSIONS

1. Oblique case nouns are frequently, as has been seen, the basis for adverbial expressions. Most of these are self-explanatory, given a knowledge of the uses of postpositions. Some adverbial expressions based on nouns which call for special comment are:

(a) Expressions whose oblique case is evident from their oblique form, or the form of associated adjectives or pronouns, and in which a postposition is usually superfluous: e.g.

सबरे savere, in the morning
 पिछले हफ्ते pichle hafte, last week
 अगले महीने agle mahine, next month
 अगले साल agle sāl, next year
 दाहिने हाथ dāhine hāth, on the right hand<sup>1</sup>
 बाएँ हाथ bāem hāth, on the left hand
 उस समय us samay, at that time
 उस दिन us din, on that day
 इन दिनों in dinom, these days
 इस तरफ is taraf, in this direction

(b) Some expressions which often involve postpositions, but may drop them in informal usage if their force in sentences is perfectly clear: e.g.

शाम (को) śām (ko), in the evening<sup>2</sup>
 रात (को) rāt (ko), at night

<sup>1</sup> An oblique form दाएँ dāem is common colloquially alongside दाहिने dāhine in this and other expressions.

<sup>2</sup> को ko in adverbial expressions is discussed further in Lesson IX.

दिन (को) din (ko), during the (middle part of the) day
 सुबह (को) subah (ko), in the morning
 आज सुबह (को) āj subah (ko), this morning
 कल रात (को) kal rāt (ko), last night
 जल्दी (से), जल्द (से) jaldī (se), jald (se), quickly
 इस तरह (से) is tarah (se), in this way

(c) Some expressions involving direct case forms, expressing duration of time: e.g.

सारा दिन sārā din, all day<sup>1</sup>
 एक घंटा ek ghaṇṭā, for an hour

2. Adverbial use of adjectives is quite common, and again usually self-explanatory: e.g.

आप साफ लिखें āp sāf likhen, Please write clearly.

(a) Adjectives in final -ā usually show oblique case when used as adverbs, but sometimes direct case:

कैसे kaise, how
 सीधे sidhe, straight, directly
 दाहिने, दाएँ dāhine, dāem, to, on the right
 बाएँ bāem, to, on the left
 नीचे nice, below, underneath; downstairs
 अच्छा acchā, well

मैं यह कैसे करूँ? main yah kaise karūm? How am I to do this?

वह सीधे चली, फिर दाहिने। vah sidhe calī, phir dāhine, She went straight ahead, then to the right.

मेरे भाई का कमरा नीचे है। mere bhāī kā kamrā nice hai, My brother's room is downstairs.

वह अच्छा गाती है। vah acchā gātī hai, She sings well.

(b) Note that Hindi has a frequent preference for adjectival construction, where this is possible. For instance the expressions

आप कैसे हैं? āp kaise hain? How are you? (m.)
 आप कैसी हैं? āp kaisī hain? (f.)

<sup>1</sup> Also सारे दिन sāre din.

are adjectival in construction, as the feminine concord of the second shows. Similarly note

आप अच्छी हिंदी बोलते हैं। āp acchī hindī bolte hain, You speak good Hindi, speak Hindi well, and compare with the second Hindi sentence given in paragraph (a) above the following equivalent sentence, with adjectival construction of the word सीधा sīdhā:

वह सीधी चली, फिर दाहिने। vah sīdhī calī, phir dāhine.

COMPOUND POSTPOSITIONS

1. As compound postpositions may conveniently be described certain types of adverbial expression, whose distinctive element is preceded by a simple postposition or an equivalent form. The first element of compound postpositions is usually the oblique case possessive form के/की ke/kī, as in के साथ ke sāth 'with', के पास ke pās 'near, beside', की तरफ kī taraf 'towards', etc. First and second person pronouns, whose possessive forms do not involve का kā, show their own possessives and not forms with का kā preceding the distinctive elements of compound postpositions of this type.

उसके साथ uske sāth, with him

मेरे साथ mere sāth, with me

गाँव के पास gāmv ke pās, near the village

आपके पास āpke pās, near you; in your possession

तुम्हारे पास tumhāre pās, near you; in your possession

आपकी तरफ āpki taraf, in your direction

हमारी तरफ hamārī taraf, in our direction

2. Apart from these and similar forms, a very small number of postpositions showing a first element से se will be found:

से बाहर se bāhar 'outside' and से पहले se pahle 'before' are common, alongside के बाहर ke bāhar and के पहले ke pahle. Members of these pairs are broadly speaking interchangeable, but careful speakers of Hindi may sometimes make a distinction between them. The following pairs of sentences exemplify a distinction which is quite commonly made between the use of से बाहर se bāhar and के बाहर ke bāhar, and a less common one between से पहले se pahle and के पहले ke pahle:

मैं कल लंदन से बाहर जा रहा हूँ। mairi kal landan se bāhar jā rahā hūm, I'm going out of London tomorrow. (motion involved)

वह घर के बाहर खड़ा था। vah ghar ke bāhar khayā thā, He was standing outside the house. (motion not involved)

वह उससे पहले वहाँ गया था। vah usse pahle vahām gayā thā, He had been there before that.

मैं उसके पहले वहाँ गया था। mairi uske pahle vahām gayā thā, I went there before him.

3. The second elements of many compound postpositions occur independently as adverbs: e.g.

गाँव पास है। gāmv pās hai, The village is near.

वह बाहर है। vah bāhar hai, He's outside; he's abroad.

वह साथ आया। vah sāth āyā, He accompanied (us, me, etc.)

मैं पहले वहाँ रहता था। mairi pahle vahām rahtā thā, I used to live there formerly.

Note the two forms बाद bād and बाद में bād me 'afterwards', connected with के बाद ke bād 'after'; the former is common in expressions of time containing nouns, e.g. एक महीने बाद ek mahine bād 'a month later'.

4. Certain compound postpositions based on feminine nouns, and therefore characteristically showing की kī as first element, are to be compared with expressions showing के ke as first element when an adjective is associated with the noun: e.g.

की तरफ kī taraf, towards but

के दाहिनी तरफ ke dāhīnī taraf, on the right-hand side of

SOME EXPRESSIONS OF WISHING

The verb चाहना cāhnā 'wish' is used with a preceding infinitive in constructions expressing a person's wish to carry out an action: e.g.

मैं दिल्ली में रहना चाहता हूँ। mairi dillī me rahnā cāhtā hūm, I want to live in Delhi.

VOCABULARY

हफ्ता ḥaftā, m., week

महीना mahinā, m., month

साल sāl, m., year

घंटा ghaṇṭā, m., hour

मिनट minat, m., minute

आसानी āsānī, f., ease

तरह †tarah, f., way, manner
 मुश्किल †mushkil, f., difficulty; adj., difficult
 जल्दी †jaldī, f., haste, speed; adv., जल्दी (से) jaldī (se), quickly; soon
 जल्द †jald, f., haste, speed; adv., जल्द (से) jald (se), quickly; soon
 मोटर moṭar, f., car (synonyms कार kār, f.; गाड़ी gārī, f.)
 दुःख dukh, m., grief
 किछ्ती †khiṭī, f., (small) boat [कछ्ती khiṭī]
 बल्ला ballā, m., pole
 घोड़ा ghoṛā, m., horse
 दूकान dūkān, f., shop [दुकान dukān]
 समय samay, m., time<sup>1</sup>
 पहाड़ pahār, m., mountain, hill
 तरफ †taraf, f., direction, side
 हाथ hāth, m., hand
 शाम śām, f., evening, late afternoon
 रात rāt, f., night
 सवेरा saverā, m., morning
 सुबह †subah, f., morning
 लंदन landan, m., London
 खिड़की khiṛkī, f., window
 सड़क saṛak, f., street, road
 खाना khānā, m., food
 काम kām, m., work
 रेल rel, f., railway train; रेल से rel se, by train
 जहाज jahāz, m., ship
 हवा †huvā, f., air; wind
 हवाई जहाज havāī jahāz, m., aeroplane
 हिंदुस्तान †hindustān, m., India
 दूर dūr, f., distance; adj., distant;
 कितनी दूर kitnī dūr, how far?
 साफ़ sāf, clean; clear

तैयार taiyār, ready
 दाहिना dāhinā, right (hand);
 के दाहिनी (दाईं) तरफ ke dāhinī (dāīm) taraf, on the right-hand side of बायाँ bāyān, left (hand); के बाईं तरफ ke bāīm taraf, on the left-hand side of सीधा sidhā, direct, straight
 नीचा nicā, low
 अगला aglā, next
 पिछला pichlā, last
 काफ़ी kāfī, adv., quite, fairly; adj., a fair amount of (invariable)
 मरना marnā, die
 बँधना bandhnā, be tied डरना ḍarnā, fear
 बचना bacnā, be safe, saved
 बेचना becnā, sell
 लौटना lauṭnā, return
 चाहना cāhnā, wish
 ठहरना ṭhaharnā, remain, stay, wait
 के साथ ke sāth, with, together with के पास ke pās, near, beside की तरफ kī †taraf, towards; to (in certain cases, see p. 50)
 के/से बाहर ke/se bāhar, outside के अंदर ke †andar, inside
 के/से पहले ke/se pahle, before (time)
 के बाद ke bād, after के सामने ke sāmne, in front of के पीछे ke piche, behind
 के नीचे ke nice, below, underneath
 के ऊपर ke ūpar, above, on top of के लिए ke lie, for के बारे में ke bāre meṁ, about, concerning फिर phir, again, then, next

<sup>1</sup> Final -ay of the script represents ai (pronounced either as a monophthong or a diphthong, see p. xiv).

EXERCISE 11

कागज़ पुस्तकों के नीचे है। खिड़की आपके पीछे है। वह बाहर बंटी है। मैं उसके पहले यहाँ पहुँचा। पहले मैं एक गाँव में रहता था। मैं उससे इसके बारे में पूछूँगा। दिल्ली आगरे से कितनी दूर है? क्या हम दस मिनट में चलें? एक लड़की खिड़की पर खड़ी थी। उस समय मैं एक पुस्तक पढ़ रहा था। मैं अगले साल तक हिंदी सीखना चाहता हूँ। सड़क के दाहिनी तरफ एक बड़ी इमारत है। इन दिनों खाना सस्ता नहीं है। मैं कल रात को मकान के अंदर ही सोया था।

EXERCISE 12

I came with him. He came with me. He is doing this work for us. I waited for her in Delhi until yesterday. My brothers are standing in front of the house. Previously I lived in Delhi. Delhi is quite near<sup>1</sup> our town. Your village is also nearby. I've been here since yesterday. You are learning Hindi very quickly. I shall go by train and return by car. I want to go to London by aeroplane.

<sup>1</sup> के काफ़ी पास ke kāfī pās; note word order.

LESSON VII

ABSOLUTIVES

By adding the suffixes कर kar or के ke to a verb stem a form answering functionally to such English expressions as 'having done', 'having slept', but also in various cases to present participial forms such as 'doing', 'sleeping' is obtained. This absolutive form is of very frequent use, and may feature in translation equivalents of a large variety of English expressions: e.g.

हम आगरे जाकर ताज महल देखें। ham āgre jākar tāj mahāl dekheṁ, Let's go to Agra and see the Taj Mahal.

मे हिंदी सीखकर ही भारत जाऊंगा। main hindī sikhkar hī bhārat jāūngā, I shall go to India only after I've learned Hindi.

वह बचकर भाग गए। vah bachkar bhāg gae, He escaped safely (he, being safe, fled).<sup>1</sup>

हाथी भूमकर चलता है। hāthī jhūmkar calatā hai, An elephant sways as it walks.

(a) Absolutes can be formed with either suffix for every verb except करना karnā, which makes only करके karke. The के ke forms are very common colloquially, but more formal Hindi (written and spoken) prefers those with कर kar. The suffix कर kar is often written and printed detached from its stem.

(b) In informal speech the unit करके karke is often found following a verb stem. Sometimes a slight difference of sense is expressed by this usage.

हम यहाँ आ करके बैठ गए। ham yahān ā karke baiṭh gae, We made our way here, got here, and sat down.<sup>2</sup>

(c) The subject implied in an absolutive form is generally the same as that of the main verb in its sentence, but not invariably. The following sentences are both good Hindi:

हम इस रेस्टोरेंट में जाकर कॉफी पिएँ। ham is restorant meṁ jākar kāfī piēṁ, Let's go into this restaurant and have coffee.

<sup>1</sup> Compound verb forms such as भाग गए bhāg gae 'fled' are explained in Lesson XVII.

<sup>2</sup> बैठ गए baiṭh gae 'sat down'; compound verb.

वहीं बैठकर बातें होंगी। vahīṁ baiṭhkar bātēṁ hōngī, We'll sit there and have a talk.<sup>1</sup>

Unrelated absolutes of this kind are not normal with personal sentence subjects. They are very common in passive constructions.<sup>2</sup>

(d) The verb stem itself is often used with the force of an absolutive, particularly in conjunction with following verbal forms. Note especially the collocations ले जाना le jānā and ले चलना le calnā 'take away (having taken, go)'; and ले आना le ānā 'bring (having taken, come)'.

वह उठकर दूसरी कुर्सी पर जा बैठा। vah uṭhkar dūsarī kursī par jā baiṭhā, He got up and went and sat on another chair.

हम ये सब चीजें ले जाएँगे। ham ye sab cheṛēṁ le jāēṁge, We shall take away all these things.

वह अमर का हाथ पकड़ कमरे में ले गया। vah amar kā hāth pakar kamre meṁ le gayā, Taking Amar by the hand he led (him) into the room.<sup>3</sup>

(e) Absolutes are negated with preceding न na: e.g.

आप बनारस न जाकर पहले इलाहाबाद जाएँ। āp banāras na jākar pahle ilāhābād jāēṁ, Go to Allahabad first rather than Banaras.

(f) Note the use of होकर hokar in the special sense 'via': e.g.

मैं बनारस होकर यहाँ आया। main banāras hokar yahān āyā, I came here via Banaras.

IMPERATIVE FORMS

Most of the different forms by means of which commands and requests are transmitted are listed here. It is convenient to call these collectively 'imperative forms', even though some of them express ideas very different from that of 'command', and can be more closely equated with subjunctives in force. The use of subjunctives in making requests and suggestions has already been noted in Lesson V.

<sup>1</sup> वहीं vahīṁ = वहाँ vahān + ही hī; see Lesson XXIII, p. 144. बात bāt, f., essentially 'something said', as here, but also used in the sense 'matter, concern'.

<sup>2</sup> See in due course Lesson XIX, p. 116, and Supplement II, p. 174.

<sup>3</sup> Use of the stem absolutive पकड़ pakar, rather than पकड़कर pakarkar, in this sentence is the subject of a note in Supplement II, p. 175.

1. The form used to make requests to persons whom one would address with the pronoun आप āp. It shows the suffix -ie added to the verb stem, and is usually negated with न na (sometimes colloquially with मत mat). Stems in -ā shorten this vowel to -u before -ie.

और खाइए! aur khāie! Please have some more!<sup>1</sup>

वहाँ न जाइए! vahān na jāie! Don't go there!

उसे न छुइए! use na chuie! Don't touch that!

(a) Irregular are the -ie forms of करना karnā: कीजिए kijie

लेना lenā: लीजिए lijie
देना denā: दीजिए dijie
पीना pīnā: पीजिए pījie

(b) There is no real lexical equivalent of the word 'please' in Hindi, though of course periphrases, such as मेहरबानी करके †mehrbānī karke 'by your kindness', are available for formal use and where a definite favour is involved. They need not be used otherwise.<sup>2</sup>

Similarly the expression 'thank you' is not fully answered to by any Hindi expression. If one is under a definite obligation, शुक्रिया shukriyā or the expression (आपकी) मेहरबानी (āpki) †mehrbānī can be used. Formal Hindi has the expression धन्यवाद dhanyavād.

2. The form used to give directions, make requests, etc., to persons whom one would address with the pronoun तुम tum. It shows the suffix -o added to the verb stem, and is usually negated by placing मत mat before or after the stem (the latter is a more affective usage than the former). Stems in -ā, -ī shorten the vowels before -o.

मत भूलो! mat bhūlo, Don't forget!

भूलो मत! bhūlo mat, Don't you forget!

यह पानी मत पियो। yah pānī mat pio, Don't drink this water.

3. The form associated with the pronoun तू tū, and used commonly in addressing young children; otherwise expressive of intimacy, or condescension, anger, contempt, etc. It consists of the verb stem alone, and is usually negated with मत mat.

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>2</sup> For another of these expressions see Supplement III, p. 179. The first vowel of the word मेहरबानी mehrbānī is usually short [e].

4. The infinitive, which used as an imperative implies less of a specific, immediate request than imperatives in -o, and is applicable more to impending events not directly visualized, generalized situations, and precepts, etc. It is frequent in giving general directions to persons whom one would address with तुम tum. It is negated with either न na or मत mat, preceding it.

तुम मुझे पत्र जल्दी लिखना। tum mujhe patr jaldī likhnā, Write me a letter soon (some time soon).

The infinitive is also used to express sudden or urgent command, in which honorific gradation is not considered: e.g.

बचना bacnā! Look out!

5. A form showing the extended suffix -iegā added to the verb stem. This is in frequent use in आप āp contexts, and also occurs in तुम tum contexts. Its chief functions are to emphasize that requests are not made with an air of authority, or to minimize the reality of such authority; it also often occurs where requests or commands do not require immediate compliance but relate to future time.

आप कुछ बोलिएगा? āp kuch boliegā? Would you (be so good as to) say something?<sup>1</sup>

बिल दीजिएगा। bil dijegā, Would you give me the bill, please?

आप उससे यह कल पूछिएगा। āp usse yah kal pūchiegā, Ask him this tomorrow.

Note that although these forms can be used in तुम tum contexts (as in the second example) the second person pronoun तुम tum itself cannot be expressed with them. This is because historically they are third person, not second person, forms.

VOCABULARY

हाथी hāthī, m., elephant
बात bāt, f., thing said; matter, concern
अलमारी almārī, f., cupboard
चीज chīz, f., thing
बाज़ार bāzār, m., bazaar
आम ām, m., mango
देखना dekhnā, see

भागना bhāgnā, run away, flee
झुमना jhūmnā, sway
ले जाना le jānā, take away
ले आना le ānā, bring पकड़ना pakṛnā, seize
खाना khānā, eat; food (m.); खाना खाना khānā khānā, have a meal

<sup>1</sup> कुछ kuch 'something, some'; this word is discussed in Lesson VIII.

रखना rakhnā , put, place; keep	दूसरा dūsra , second; other
सुनना sunnā , hear	आहिस्ता āhistā , आहिस्ते āhiste , adv., slowly
उठना uṭhnā , rise, get up
और aur , (when stressed) extra, additional; adv., additionally	बिल bil , m., bill (account)

EXERCISE 13

मैं खाना खाकर उसे पत्र लिखूंगा। आप भारत जाकर क्या करेंगे? वह सब चीजें मलमारी के अंदर रखकर कमरे से बाहर गया। रामाधीन, बाजार जाकर चार आम ले आओ। वह पुस्तक लेकर बाहर गया। सुनिए, यह दिल्ली की गाड़ी है? आहिस्ता बोलिए!

EXERCISE 14

You'll learn<sup>1</sup> Hindi quickly when you go to India. He brought this book from India. I went by plane, via Bombay. Please do this work now. Please sit in<sup>2</sup> this chair. Please give me some more!

<sup>1</sup> Use the compound verb form सीख लेंगे sikh lenge, not the simple form सीखेंगे sikhenge. This usage is explained in Lesson XVII.

<sup>2</sup> पर par.

LESSON VIII

THE INDEFINITE PRONOUN AND ADJECTIVE

कुछ kuch 'something, some'

THIS form is invariable.

उसके बारे में मुझे कुछ बताइए। uske बारे में मुझे कुछ बताइए, Please tell me something about it.

मैं कुछ हिंदी जानता हूँ। main kuch hindi jantā hūm, I know some Hindi.

मेज पर कुछ पुस्तकें पड़ी हैं। mez par kuch pustakē parī haiṁ, There are some books lying on the table.

तालाब में कुछ पानी नहीं है। tālāb meṁ kuch pānī nahīn hai, There is no water in the tank.

(a) Note especially, in comparison with the last example, the collocation कुछ नहीं kuch nahīn as translation equivalent of 'nothing': e.g.

मैं उसके बारे में कुछ नहीं जानता। main uske बारे में कुछ नहीं जानता, I know nothing, don't know anything about it.

(b) Some other common collocations of कुछ kuch are:

कुछ और kuch aur, something further, some more; something different.<sup>1</sup>

और कुछ aur kuch, something different; something further, some more.<sup>1</sup>

बहुत कुछ bahut kuch, a large amount.

सब कुछ sab kuch, everything.

और कुछ खाइएगा? aur kuch khāiega? Won't you have something else, some more?<sup>1</sup>

कुछ और लोग आते होंगे। kuch aur log āte hōnge, A few more people will probably be coming.

मैं रोज बहुत कुछ पढ़ता हूँ। main roz bahut kuch parhātā hūm, I read a lot every day.

(c) Note that कुछ kuch used adjectivally may sometimes be inserted in a sentence with little or no effect on an English translation equivalent. Cf. with the example above

तालाब में पानी नहीं है। tālāb meṁ pānī nahīn hai, There is no water in the tank.

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed in these as in all usages where it has the sense 'extra, additional(ly)', rather than the conjunctive sense 'and'.

THE INDEFINITE PRONOUN AND ADJECTIVE

कोई koī 'someone, some'Sg. Dir. कोई koī, m.f.Obl. किसी kisī

koī is not usually used as a plural<sup>1</sup>; note the related invariable form कई kai 'a few, several'. There also exists a somewhat uncommon oblique plural form किन्हीं kinhīn, of vaguer reference than कई kai.

दफ्तर में कोई है। daftar meṁ koī hai, There is someone in the office.

दफ्तर में कोई है? daftar meṁ koī hai? Is there anyone in the office?

किसी शहर में एक अमीर आदमी रहता था। kisī šahr meṁ ek amīr ādmī rahtā thā, There was a rich man living in a certain city.

गाँव में कोई तालाब नहीं है। gāmv meṁ koī tālāb nahīn hai, There's no tank, isn't any tank in the village.

दफ्तर में कोई नहीं है। daftar meṁ koī nahīn hai, There is no one in the office.

कई किताबें मेज पर पड़ी थीं। kai kitābēn meṁ par paṛī thīn, A few books were lying on the table.

(a) Note that कोई koī used adjectivally may sometimes be inserted in a sentence with little or no effect on an English translation equivalent. Cf. with the example above

गाँव में तालाब नहीं है। gāmv meṁ tālāb nahīn hai, There's no tank in the village.

(b) Note that the essential distinction between कोई koī and कुछ kuch is not that the former refers to animate beings and the latter to inanimates, but that the former particularizes, while the latter is general and partitive in force. Hence while कोई koī and कुछ kuch used pronominally do refer typically to animate beings or inanimates respectively, as adjectives they are both usable with either reference: e.g.

वह आदमी कोई साधु होगा। vah ādmī koī sādhu hogā, That man is probably some (kind of) holy man.

वहाँ कुछ ही आदमी थे। vahām kuch hi ādmī the, There were just a few men there.

गाँव में कोई तालाब नहीं है। gāmv meṁ koī tālāb nahīn hai, There's no tank in the village.

तालाब में कुछ पानी नहीं है। tālāb meṁ kuch pānī nahīn hai, There's no water in the tank.

<sup>1</sup> Except as indicated on p. 45, paragraph (c), and in Lesson XXIV, p. 148.

(c) Some other common collocations of कोई koī are:

कोई और koī aur, another, a different; someone else

और कोई aur koī, another, a different; someone else

Preceding numerals, in the sense 'approximately':

रास्ते में कोई दस ऊँट हैं। rāste meṁ koī das ūṁṭ hain, There are a dozen or so camels in the street.

THE INTERROGATIVE PRONOUN AND ADJECTIVE

कोन kaun 'who, which'Sg. Dir. कोन kaun, m.f.Obl. किस *kis*Object किसे *kise*Pl. Dir. कोन kaun, m.f.Obl. किन *kin*Object किन्हें kinhēn यह कोन है? yah kaun hai? Who is this?

वह किसका मकान है? vah kiskā makān hai? Whose house is that?

ये कोन किताबें हैं? किसे दे रहे हैं? ye kaun kitābēn hain? kise de rahe hain?

Which books are these? Whom are you giving them to?

(a) The form कोन-सा kaun-sā usually somewhat emphasizes the existence of various possibilities or choices, but a distinction between कोन-सा kaun-sā and कोन kaun is not regularly maintained, especially colloquially. कोन-सा kaun-sā shows inflexion of the suffixed particle सा sā as an adjective in -ā.

आज कोन-सा दिन है? āj kaun-sā din hai? What day is today?

आप कोन-सी किताब पढ़ रहे हैं? āp kaun-sī kitāb paṛh rahe hain? Which book are you reading? (of a syllabus, a certain author, etc.)

(b) कोन kaun and its oblique case forms are very frequently reduplicated, with a distributive connotation<sup>1</sup>: e.g.

आप किन किन से बोले? āp kin kin se bole? Who did you speak to? (with what different people—honorific)

वहाँ कोन कोन थे। vahām kaun kaun the? Who were there?

THE INTERROGATIVE PRONOUN AND ADJECTIVE

क्या kyā 'what'

The pronominal usage and question-marking force of क्या kyā were noted in Lesson I. Note further that क्या kyā occurs only in direct case, singular and plural. To express its sense in other cases the appropriate forms of कौन kaun are used.

<sup>1</sup> See further Lesson XXIII, p. 139.

यह क्या है? yah kyā hai? What is this?

वे किसके बारे में बोल रहे थे? ve kiske बारे में bol rahe the? What were they talking about?

(a) Adjectival क्या kyā contrasts with कौन kaun in the same way as कुछ kuch with कोई koī. Compare the sentences

ये कौन किताबें हैं? ye kaun kitābē hain? Which books are these?

यह क्या चीज़ है? yah kyā chīz hai? What (sort of) thing is this?

(b) क्या kyā is very frequently reduplicated: e.g.

आप उनसे क्या क्या कहेंगे? ap unse kyā kyā kahenge? What will you say to them? (what various things)

THE RELATIVE PRONOUN AND ADJECTIVE

जो jo '(the one) who, which'

Sg.	Dir.	जो jo , m.f.	Pl.	Dir.	जो jo , m.f.
	Obl.	जिस jis		Obl.	जिन jin
	Object	जिसे jise		Object	जिन्हें jinhēn

This pronoun and adjective occurs frequently in relative clauses of complex sentences,<sup>1</sup> linked syntactically with a demonstrative pronoun or other word (the 'correlative') in the principal clause. Note that where an equivalent English sentence shows the definite article 'the' with its subject, the जो jo clause commonly precedes in Hindi, and the correlative is a part of the pronoun वह vah; and where it shows the indefinite article 'a', 'an', the जो jo clause follows, its correlative in the first clause then being a noun.

जो कहता हूँ, वह सच है। jo kahtā hūn, vah sac hai, What I say is the truth.
जो लाल गाड़ी वहाँ खड़ी है, वह मेरी है। jo lāl gārī vahān khārī hai, vah merī hai, The red car standing there is mine.

<sup>1</sup> Complex sentences are expansions of simple sentences, consisting of one or more dependent, incomplete utterances of the form of simple sentences linked to one complete utterance of that form. These utterances may be termed subordinate and principal clauses respectively. Subordinate clauses containing relative जो jo may be termed relative clauses; other subordinate clauses frequently contain subordinate conjunctions identifying their function. See Lessons XVI and XX, in due course.

मैं एक आदमी से बात कर रहा था जो कल भारत जाएगा। maim ek ādmī se bāt kar rahā thā jo kal bhārat jāegā, I was talking to a man who is going to India tomorrow.

मैं जिस आदमी से बात कर रहा था, वह कल भारत जाएगा। maim jis ādmī se bāt kar rahā thā, vah kal bhārat jāegā, The man I was talking to is going to India tomorrow.

The relative often stands first in its clause, even where it is not the subject of its clause. An initial relative and any noun attached to it gains somewhat in emphasis at the expense of a non-initial clause subject. Compare with the last example above the following sentence, with slightly altered emphasis:

जिस आदमी से मैं बात कर रहा था, वह कल भारत जाएगा। jis ādmī se maim bāt kar rahā thā, vah kal bhārat jāegā, The man I was talking to is going to India tomorrow.

VOCABULARY

तालाब tālāb , m., tank	आरामदेह ārāmdēh , comfortable
साधु sādhu , m., holy man	हर har , each, every
रास्ता rāstā , m., road, street	मजबूत mazbūt , strong (of objects)
ऊँट ūnt , m., camel	सात sāt , seven
ओर or , f., direction, side; की ओर kī or , towards, to; की ओर देखना kī or dekhnā , look at, watch	आठ āṭh , eight
तबीयत tabiyat , f., state of health; disposition; तबीयत ठीक होना tabiyat ṭhīk honā , be well	नौ naū , nine
आराम ārām , m., comfort	दस das , ten
सच sac , m., truth	बताना batānā , tell, inform (used in construction with को ko ) <sup>1</sup>
अमीर āmīr , rich	बात करना bāt karnā , बातें करना bāteṁ karnā (se), talk (to)
गरीब garīb , poor	रोज़ rox , m., day; adv., daily
	सुनिए sunie , excuse me (in attracting a person's attention)

EXERCISE 15

कोई है? मैं उसके बारे में कुछ नहीं कहूँगा। कोई आठ आदमी उसके साथ पहुँचे। कई पुस्तकें मेज़ के नीचे पड़ी थीं। कुछ और किताबें मेज़ पर थी। मेरे कमरे में कोई कुरसी नहीं है। ये किताबें किस किस की हैं? आप इसके बारे में किससे कहेंगे? जो किताब मैं

<sup>1</sup> Bracketed forms following vocabulary entries will be used from this point onwards to indicate their construction, where this seems advisable.

पढ़ रहा हूँ, वह मेज़ पर है। मैं जिस आदमी की ओर देख रहा था, वह अभी बाहर गया है। मैं जिस कमरे में काम करूँगा, वह बहुत आरामदेह है। आप इस देश में कब से हैं और कब तक यहाँ रहेंगे? आप हिंदी क्यों नहीं बोलते?

EXERCISE 16

I shall live in some village. No one knows Hindi here. I shall ask him something about that. Several men came here yesterday. Some people go there every year. Who are these men? Whom are you going to give these books to? The men who came here yesterday are my friends. The chair I'm sitting on is quite sturdy. The boy whose book is on the table is my son. What town does he live in? Were you unwell yesterday? Excuse me, are you Rādhā's<sup>1</sup> sister?

<sup>1</sup> The name is unchanged in oblique case; see p. 2, paragraph (d).

LESSON IX

THE POSTPOSITION को

THE general function of this postposition may be described as that of a marker or specifier of oblique case in a preceding form. Four applications of this function are considered here.

1. को ko occurs in association with direct objects which are individualized to some extent, and to which a degree of contextual importance is thus attached; hence usually where direct objects refer to human beings, and certain animals, and quite frequently where they refer to inanimate objects. Such words may be called definite direct objects.

औरत बच्चे को बुला रही है। aurat bacche ko bulā rahī hai, The woman is calling the child, a child.

हिंदी में इसको क्या कहते हैं? hindī meṁ isko kyā kahte hain? What is this called in Hindi? (what do they say this to be)

उन पत्रों को पढ़िए। un patrō ko pāṛhiē, Please read those letters.

दर्जी को बुलाओ। darzī ko bulāo, Call the tailor.

(a) Note that the direct case is normally used to denote direct objects not of any individual importance in a given context, unless this might lead to ambiguity. These objects may be called indefinite direct objects.

ये चिट्ठियाँ पढ़िए। ye ciṭṭhiyāṁ pāṛhiē, Please read these letters.

हम हिंदी सीख रहे हैं। ham hindī sikh rahe hain, We're learning Hindi.

In practice words used in the direct case in this way usually have inanimate reference, but not invariably so. Occupational names, for instance, occur quite commonly as direct objects in direct case in sentences where the individuality of their referend is not emphasized.

दर्जी बुलाओ। darzī bulāo, Call a tailor.

Compare also with the first example in this section the following sentence, in which the direct object is felt as not at all individualized:

औरत बच्चा बुला रही है। aurat bacchā bulā rahī hai, The woman is calling a child.

2. को ko occurs in association with indirect objects: e.g.

उस आदमी को तीन पुस्तकें दीजिए। us ādmī ko tīn pusthakē dījiē, Please give that man three books.

मुझे पत्र लिखिए। mujhe patr lixhiē, Please write me a letter.

3. को ko occurs frequently as a marker of adverbial expressions. Additional examples to those noted in Lesson VI are बुधवार को आओ । budhvār ko āo, Come on Wednesday.
 वह अपने देश को लौट गया । vah apne deś ko lauṭ gayā, He went back to his country.<sup>1</sup>

(a) In connection with the last example, note that sometimes place to which motion occurs is best indicated by a noun in the oblique case without a following postposition: e.g.

वह हिंदुस्तान लौट गया । vah hindustān lauṭ gayā, He went back to India.
 वह अपने घर लौट गया । vah apne ghar lauṭ gayā, He returned to his home.

This is so chiefly when the place concerned is a geographical locality denoted by a place-name, or is otherwise felt as a specific destination. But it is rarely wrong to use को ko in such locutions, though in certain cases if a postposition is used में meṁ, पर par or की ओर kī or, की तरफ kī taraf may be preferred: e.g.

वह दफ्तर (में) गया । vah daftar (meṁ) gayā, He went to the office (if में meṁ is used this sentence may also mean 'he went into the office').

कमरे (में) जाएंगे? hamre (meṁ) jāenge? Are you going to your room?

वह दुकान पर लौट गया । vah dūkān par lauṭ gayā, He went back to the shop.

वह कार की ओर चला । vah kār kī or calā, He went (over) to the car (also 'he went towards the car').

4. को ko occurs in association with a noun or pronoun, to indicate a close connection in the sentence structure between it and another noun, or sometimes an adjective.<sup>2</sup> The sentence verb is often होना honā, and in this case the noun or adjective usually denotes an abstract quality or condition characterizing the referend of the word with which को ko occurs: e.g.

मुझे बहुत खुशी है । mujhe bahut khushī hai, I'm delighted, very pleased.

मुझे बड़ी प्रसन्नता है । mujhe barī prasannatā hai, I'm delighted, very pleased.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> For अपना apnā 'one's own' see Lesson X; for the compound verb form लौट गया lauṭ gayā 'returned' see Lesson XVII

<sup>2</sup> Only a few adjectives, none of which are in common use attributively (preceding nouns), are found in this construction; all are loanwords.

<sup>3</sup> बड़ा barā is often used (in concord) as an equivalent of adjectival or adverbial बहुत bahut. Note that the above sentence and the preceding one are often used in the sense 'I'm very pleased to meet you'.

मुझे बहुत बड़ी खुशी है । mujhe bahut barī khushī hai, I'm very pleased indeed.

मुझे आशा है कि . . . mujhe āśā hai ki . . ., I hope that . . .

मुझे अफसोस है कि . . . mujhe afsos hai ki . . ., I'm sorry that . . .

उसको मालूम है कि . . . usko mālūm hai ki . . ., He knows that . . .<sup>1</sup>

उसको मालूम होता है कि . . . usko mālūm hotā hai ki . . ., He thinks, it seems to him that . . .

हमें समय नहीं है । hamerh samay nahīn hai, We haven't time.

उसे एक बेटा हुआ है । use ek betā huā hai, A son has been born to him.

मुझे हिंदी आती है । mujhe hindī ātī hai, I can speak, know Hindi.

THE POSTPOSITION के पास ke pās

This compound postposition means basically 'beside'. Its use in the sense 'near' has been noted above<sup>2</sup>; by extension it is also used regularly to indicate possession of ordinary chattels which are in a sense 'with one', and also frequently in expressions which describe motion towards a person: e.g.

उसका मकान नदी के पास है । uskā makān nadī ke pās hai, His house is near the river.

उसके पास पैसा नहीं है । uske pās paisā nahīn hai, He has no money.

आपके पास कितनी पुस्तकें हैं? āpke pās kitnī pustakē hain? How many books have you got?

मेरे पास एक गाड़ी है । mere pās ek gārī hai, I own a car.

मैं डाक्टर के पास जाऊंगा । maim dāktar ke pās jāūngā, I shall go to the doctor.

(a) Sometimes colloquially this construction will occur where the construction with को ko noted above would be expected: e.g. in such an expression as

मेरे पास वक्त नहीं है । mere pās vaqt nahīn hai, I haven't time.

THE POSTPOSITION का kā (contd.)

Nouns and pronouns with the postposition का kā (and equivalent possessive personal pronouns) are common in possessive expressions which describe ownership of such things as houses, land, etc.; and also are found in expressions describing relationship to other people and one's 'possession' of parts of one's body. In all these types of expression what is denoted by the use of का kā is a permanent, characteristic or non-fortuitous type of relationship, by contrast with the more 'contingent' possession expressed by use of के पास ke pās: e.g.

<sup>1</sup> The form मालूम †mālūm is in origin an Arabic passive participle meaning 'known'. Note the sense distinction in the two examples given containing it.

<sup>2</sup> See Lesson VI, p. 34.

जमीनदार के दो गांव थे । zamindār ke do gāmv the, The zamindar owned two villages.

मेरी एक बड़ी जायदाद थी । merī ek baṛī jāyādād thī, I used to have a large estate.

मेरी एक बहन है, जो ... merī ek bahn hai, jo ..., I have a sister who ...
 उस आदमी की सिर्फ एक ही आँख है । us ādmī kī sirf ek hī ānkh hai, That man has only one eye.

(a) In the first two examples cited above, expressing ownership, के पास ke pās might occur rather than का kā, and the implication of the sentences would be slightly different accordingly.

(b) In English idiom possession is sometimes attributed to inanimate objects; sentences of this type often have Hindi translation equivalents showing का kā<sup>1</sup>: e.g.

उस सड़क का कोई ताला नहीं है । us sandūq kā koī tālā nahīn hai, That box has no lock.

(c) Note the use of का kā to form adjectival phrases in sentences such as the following:

मुझे हिंदी की एक पुस्तक दीजिए । mujhe hindī kī ek pustak dijiye, Please give me a Hindi book.

जून में आप यहाँ के मौसम से परेशान होंगे । jūn meṁ āp yahām ke mausam se pareśān homge, In June you'll find the weather here trying.

पहले कलकत्ता भारत का सबसे बड़ा शहर था । pahle kalkattā bhārat kā sabse baṛā šahr thā, Formerly Calcutta was the largest city in India.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> में meṁ is also common in such sentences, e.g.

आपके मकान में कितनी खिड़कियाँ हैं? āpke mahān meṁ kitnī khīṛkiyāṁ haiṁ? How many windows has your house?

मेरे सिर में दर्द है । mere sir meṁ dard hai, I've got a headache.

<sup>2</sup> The expression सबसे बड़ा sabse baṛā 'biggest' is explained in Lesson XVI.

मकान के पीछे का खेत मेरे भाई का है । makān ke pīche kā khet mere bhāī kā hai, The field behind the house belongs to my brother.

गाँव के लोग । gāmv ke log, village people

(d) Some usages of masculine singular oblique case possessive forms, not in concord, also occur colloquially. These are really adverbial usages. They are sometimes near equivalents to usages of का kā in concord, or equivalents to usages of को ko: e.g.

उसके एक बहन है । uske ek bahn hai, He's got a sister.

मेरे चोट लगी । mere coṭ lagī, I got hurt.<sup>1</sup>

Cf. the following sentences:

उसकी एक बहन है, जो ... uski ek bahn hai, jo ..., He has a sister, who ...

मुझे चोट लगी । mujhe coṭ lagī, I got hurt.

But adverbial usages of possessive forms often differ in sense from usages of का kā in concord. Cf. the following two sentences:

सिर पर उसके एक दुपट्टा है । sir par uske ek dupaṭṭā hai, Over (her) head she has a shawl.

सिर पर उसका एक दुपट्टा है । sir par uskā ek dupaṭṭā hai, Over (her) head she has one of her shawls.

In expressions of relationship, adverbial construction is usual if the relationship is not specified in some way; cf. the above examples, and

उसके एक बहन है, और दुनिया में कोई और नहीं । uske ek bahn hai, aur duniyā meṁ koī aur nahīn, He's got a sister, and no one else in the (whole) world.<sup>2</sup>

VOCABULARY

दर्जी darzī, m., tailor

चिट्ठी ciṭṭhī, f., letter

खुशी khushī, f., happiness, pleasure

प्रसन्नता prasannatā, f., pleasure

आशा āśā, f., hope

अफसोस aḥsas, m., regret

नदी nadī, f., river

पैसा paisā, m., pice (1/100 rupee); money (often pl.)

डाक्टर dāktar, m., doctor

बकन baqn, m., time

जमीनदार zamindār, m., zamindar

जायदाद jāyādād, f., estate (land)

आँख ānkh, f., eye

<sup>1</sup> The uses of लगना lagnā 'to be applied' are discussed in Lesson XXI.
 चोट coṭ (f.) means 'blow'.

<sup>2</sup> The second और aur is stressed; see p. 43, n. 1.

सिर sir , m., head	परेशान † pareśān ( se ), troubled (by)
ताला tālā , m., lock	मालूम † mālūm , known; मुझे मालूम है mujhe mālūm hai , I know;
दर्द dard , m., pain	मुझे मालूम होता है mujhe mālūm hotā hai , it seems to me
खेत khet , m., field
चोट coṭ , f., blow, knock	बुलाना bulānā , call
दुपट्टा dupaṭṭā , m., shawl	पहचानना pahcānnā , recognize
दुनिया † duniyā , f., world	ढूँढ़ना dhūṁṛhṇā , look for, search out (with direct object)
बुधवार budhvār , m., Wednesday	सिर्फ † sirf , only
शुक्रवार śukravār , m., Friday	कि ki , conj., that
मतलब matlab , m., intention, purpose	किसान kisān , m., farmer
भारतवर्ष bhāratavarṣ , m., India

EXERCISE 17

वह मुझे नहीं पहचानता । मैं उन पत्रों को लिखूँगा । मैं कल आपको किताबें दूँगा । मैं शुक्रवार को घर जा रहा हूँ । क्या आप उनको जानते हैं? उस दिन मैं किताब पढ़ रहा था । आपको उससे क्या मतलब है? क्या आपके पास कागज है? मुझे कुछ दीजिए । कलकत्ते में मेरे एक दोस्त हैं । उस कमरे की कितनी दीवारें हैं? मेरे पास पुरतकें नहीं हैं ।

EXERCISE 18

Please write us a letter. I shall tell<sup>1</sup> you something about this tomorrow. My friend will return to England next week. I'm very pleased about that. I hope you'll go to India. The farmer is looking for the horse. When are you going to your<sup>2</sup> room? He was standing beside the tree. Have you any children? I've got two sons and a daughter. My village is quite near Agra. Have you any Hindi books?

<sup>1</sup> कहना kahnā; or बताना batānā (with को ko).

<sup>2</sup> अपना apnā (see Lesson X); but the word need not be expressed here.

LESSON X

THE POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVE अपना apnā 'one's own'

1. The form अपना apnā, rather than any of the other pronominal possessive adjectives, is used in most cases where a second reference to a possessor is made within a simple sentence, or within one and the same clause of a complex sentence: e.g.

मैं आपको अपना पता दूँगा । maim āpko apnā patā dūngā, I'll give you my address.

आप मुझे अपना पता दीजिए । āp mujhe apnā patā dijie, Please give me your address.

आपको अपनी चीजें मिली होंगी? āpko apnī cizēn mili hōngī? You've found your things, I suppose?<sup>1</sup>

(a) Where the referend is in a different clause of a complex sentence अपना apnā is not used: e.g.

मैं उससे कहूँगा कि मेरे पिता जी कल आ रहे हैं । maim usse kahūngā ki mere pitā jī kal ā rahe haim, I shall tell him that my father is coming tomorrow.

(b) Where a subject pronoun is omitted as understood अपना apnā is the possessive used in reference to it: e.g.

मुझे अपना पता दीजिए । mujhe apnā patā dijie, Please give me your address.

(c) Where the second reference to the possessor is within the same syntactic unit of the sentence or clause (e.g. within a composite subject or object) अपना apnā is not used: e.g.

मैं और मेरी बहन घर पर होंगे । maim aur merī bahn ghar par hōngē, My sister and I will be at home.

मुझे और मेरी बहन को खुशी है कि . . . mujhe aur merī bahn ko khushī hai ki . . ., My sister and I are glad that . . .

(d) Note that अपना apnā refers to a subject noun or pronoun, if one is present or understood; only if a subject referend is not present or understood will it refer to an oblique case noun or pronoun. Hence the sense of such a sentence as the following is unambiguous:

<sup>1</sup> The verb मिलना milnā 'accrue' is introduced in Lesson XV. A word-for-word English rendering of the example is 'Your things will have accrued to you?'

आपको आपके पिता जी अपने देश का इतिहास बताएँगे। āpko āpke pitā jī apne deś kā itihās batāenge, Your father will tell you the history of his country. (not 'your country')<sup>1</sup>

2. अपना apnā is also used as follows:

(a) Impersonally, where there is no referend for it in a sentence: e.g.

अपना काम अच्छी तरह करना अच्छा है। apnā kām acchī tarah karnā acchā hai, To do one's work well is good.<sup>2</sup>

(b) Intensively, following a possessive pronoun: e.g.

मेरी अपनी कहानी बहुत लंबी है merī apnī kahānī bahut lambī hai, My own story is very long.

VERBAL EXPRESSIONS WITH करना karnā and होना honā

Many words associate with the verbs करना karnā and होना honā to form verbal expressions, transitive and intransitive respectively. Some examples of expressions based on an adjective, e.g. बंद band 'closed', are:

मैं नौ बजे दरवाजा बंद करता हूँ। māin nau baje darvājā band kartā hūm, I close the door at nine o'clock.

दरवाजा नौ बजे बंद होता है। darvājā nau baje band hotā hai, The door is closed at nine o'clock.

दरवाजा नौ बजे बंद होता था। darvājā nau baje band hotā thā, The door used to be closed at nine o'clock. (a general case)

कल दरवाजा नौ बजे बंद हुआ था। kal darvājā nau baje band huā thā, Yesterday the door was closed at nine o'clock. (a specific action)

(a) Compare with the above expressions usages of बंद band with the present and past tense forms of होना honā: e.g.

दरवाजा बंद है। darvājā band hai, The door is closed.

दरवाजा बंद था। darvājā band thā, The door was closed.

<sup>1</sup> There are, however, some cases, which need not be noted here, where ambiguities in the use of अपना apnā occur.

<sup>2</sup> For the use of the infinitive as a noun see Lesson XIX, pp. 119 ff.

<sup>3</sup> For expressions of time see Lesson XI, pp. 66 ff.

(b) Some similar pairs of complementary verbal expressions are given below. Note that members of some pairs have the same English translation equivalent (used transitively and intransitively).

इस्तेमाल होना †istemāl honā , be used	इस्तेमाल करना †istemāl karnā , use
शुरू होना †surū honā , begin	शुरू करना †surū karnā , begin
आरंभ होना ārambh honā , begin	आरंभ करना ārambh karnā , begin
खत्म होना †khatm honā , finish	खत्म करना †khatm karnā , finish
समाप्त होना samāpt honā , finish	समाप्त करना samāpt karnā , finish
प्राप्त होना prāpt honā , be available, obtained	प्राप्त करना prāpt karnā , obtain

पैदा होना †paidā<sup>1</sup> honā , be born, produced	पैदा करना †paidā<sup>1</sup> karnā , produce, give birth to
--------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------

बिदा होना bidā<sup>1</sup> honā , depart	बिदा करना bidā<sup>1</sup> karnā , dispatch; see off
-------------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------------------------

रवाना होना †ravānā<sup>1</sup> honā , depart	रवाना करना †ravānā<sup>1</sup> karnā , dispatch; see off
-----------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------

वापस होना †vāpas honā , be returned	वापस करना †vāpas karnā , give back
--------------------------------------------	-------------------------------------------

गरमियाँ अगले महीने में शुरू होंगी garmiyām agle mahīne meṁ surū honṅī, The hot weather will begin during next month.

छुट्टी कल खत्म हुई। chutti kal khatm hui, The vacation finished yesterday.

मेरी बेटी अप्रैल में पैदा हुई। merī betī aprail meṁ paidā hui, My daughter was born in April.

मेरी किताब जल्दी वापस कीजिए। merī kitāb jaldī vāpas kijie, Please return my book quickly.

(c) Some of the expressions (the first four pairs cited) noted in (b) above are based on nouns, and may be termed 'conjunct verbs' in that the nouns in these expressions have lost their syntactic identity, and are connected syntactically only with the following करना karnā or होना honā, with which they form enlarged verbal units. Note that these are different in their syntax from another, very large class of verbal expressions showing nouns in looser association with करना karnā and होना honā. The noun in these latter expressions can be directly associated with preceding expressions involving different postpositions (usually the possessive का kā). Some examples follow of verbal expressions showing nouns that can be preceded by this postposition, which of course shows normal concord:

<sup>1</sup> Final -ā in these words is invariable.

इंतजार करना †intazār<sup>1</sup> karnā, wait (for) प्रतीक्षा करना pratikṣā karnā, wait (for) प्रयोग होना, करना prayog honā, karnā, be used, use प्रशंसा होना, करना praśamsā honā, karnā, be praised, praise

मैं उसका इंतजार करूँगा। māim uskā intazār karūngā, I shall wait for him.
 मैं उसकी प्रतीक्षा करूँगा। māim uskī pratikṣā karūngā, I shall wait for him.
 मैं दस बजे तक इंतजार करूँगा। māim das baje tak intazār karūngā, I shall wait till ten o'clock.
 आजकल इस मशीन का प्रयोग होता है। ājkal is mašin kā prayog hotā hai
 Nowadays this machine is used.
 उसकी प्रशंसा सारे देश में हो रही है। uskī praśamsā sārē deś meṁ ho rahī hai
 He is being praised over the whole country.

(d) Some expressions based on nouns are used either with preceding का kā or as conjunct verbs. Examples are तलाश करना †talāś karnā 'look for', and इस्तेमाल करना †istemāl karnā 'use' (most commonly conjunct verbs).

मैं किताब (की) तलाश करूँगा। māim kitāb (kī) talāś karūngā, I shall look for the book.

(e) Note the adjectival use of the word खत्म khatm in the expression खत्म है khatm hai 'it's finished'. (This usage and the tendency noted in (d) above for expressions based on nouns to be used as conjunct verbs are due to influence of the adjectival type of syntax of expressions like बंद होना band honā on expressions based on nouns.)

(f) In sentences of neutral style and emphasis negatives usually precede verb components of conjunct verbs, but sometimes precede their noun components. Negatives used with the other types of verbal expression discussed in this section regularly precede their verb components in such sentences.

<sup>1</sup> Pronounced with unstressed i in second syllable in Urdu-influenced usage; less often so otherwise. Similar pronunciations are found in other Arabic loan-words originally containing the vowel sequence i — i — ā.

मैं नौ बजे काम शुरू नहीं करता। māim nau baje kām surū nahim kartā, I don't start work at nine o'clock.
 मैं नौ बजे दरवाज़ा बंद नहीं करूँगा। māim nau baje darvāzā band nahim karūngā, I shan't shut the door at nine o'clock.
 वह मेरा इंतजार नहीं करेगा। vah merā intazār nahim karegā, He won't wait for me.

VOCABULARY

पता patā, m., track, trace; address
 इतिहास itihās, m., history
 कहानी kahānī, f., story, short story
 नौ बजे nau baje, at nine o'clock
 अप्रैल april, m., April
 छुट्टी chutti, f., holiday, leave, vacation
 वर्ष varṣ, m., year
 हिंदू hindū, m., Hindu
 ज्ञान jñān, m., knowledge
 आना ānā, m., anna ( $\frac{1}{4}$  rupee, old style)
 ऋग्वेद ṛgved, m., Rigveda
 इंद्र indra, m., Indra
 अनाज anāj, m., grain
 लंबा lambā, long; tall
 बंद band, closed
 हर (एक) दिन har (ek) din, every day
 तलाश करना †talāś karnā, look for पसंद आना †pasand ānā, be pleasing to; मुझे ... पसंद आता है mujhe ... pasand ātā hai, I like ...

गिनना gimnā, count
 का उल्लेख होना kā ullekh honā, be mentioned का इंतजार करना kā †intazār karnā, wait for की प्रतीक्षा करना kī pratikṣā karnā, wait for का प्रयोग करना kā prayog karnā, use
 की प्रशंसा करना kī praśamsā karnā, praise
 अच्छी तरह, acchī tarah, अच्छी तरह से acchī tarah se, well
 आजकल ājkal, nowadays
 आम ām, ordinary
 आम तौर पर/से ām †taur par/se, in general, usually ठीक वक्त पर thik vaqt par, at the correct time, punctually क्योंकि kyonkī, because

EXERCISE 19

वह अपनी बहन से हिंदी बोलता है। आपको अपना कमरा पसंद आता है? वह और उसकी पत्नी दोनों हर एक दिन वहाँ जाते हैं। मेरी अपनी पुस्तकें सब हिंदी की हैं। वह आज अपने देश को लौट रहा है। काम आठ बजे शुरू होता है। मैं अब काम शुरू कर रहा हूँ। अब काम खत्म करें। आप इस पुस्तक से हिंदी का कुछ ज्ञान प्राप्त करेंगे। आजकल आने इस्तेमाल नहीं होते, लेकिन गाँव के लोग अभी तक आनों में गिनते हैं। क्या ऋग्वेद में इंद्र का उल्लेख है? आप कल तक मेरी किताब वापस कीजिए। मैं रोज यहाँ उसका इंतजार करता हूँ, लेकिन आम तौर से वह ठीक वक्त पर नहीं आता।

LESSON X

EXERCISE 20

He always puts his books on that table. I shall give you my book. I shall give you<sup>1</sup> back your book. He went to London yesterday because his brother was arriving from India. My wife and I hope that you will write us<sup>1</sup> a letter when you arrive home. Which month were you born in? Have you any mangoes? No, they're finished. I shall finish your book tomorrow. Why is the door shut? I was looking for<sup>2</sup> you yesterday. He set off yesterday. I shall see them off. Does your country produce a lot of grain?

<sup>1</sup> The pronoun need not be expressed here.

<sup>2</sup> Either ढूँढ़ना dhūṁṛhnā or तलाश करना talās karnā; with a personal object, as here, the former is perhaps slightly more natural.

LESSON XI

NUMERALS

1. Cardinals

1 एक	ek	33 तैंतीस	taiṁtīs
2 दो	do	34 चौतीस	caumtīs
3 तीन	tin	35 पैंतीस	paimtīs
4 चार	cār	36 छत्तीस	chattīs
5 पाँच	pāmc	37 सैंतीस	saimtīs
6 छह, छः, छे	chah, chah, chai	38 अड़तीस	artīs
7 सात	sāt	39 उनतालीस	untālīs
8 आठ	āṭh	40 चालीस	cālīs
9 नौ	nau	41 इक्तालीस	iktālīs
10 दस	das	42 बयालीस	bayālīs
11 ग्यारह	gyārah<sup>1</sup>	43 तैंतालीस	taimtālīs
12 बारह	bārah	44 चबालीस	cavālīs
13 तेरह	terah	45 पैंतालीस	paimtālīs
14 चौदह	caudah	46 छियालीस	chiyālīs
15 पंद्रह	pandrah	47 सैंतालीस	saimtālīs
16 सोलह	solah	48 अड़तालीस	artālīs
17 सत्रह, सत्तरह	satrah, sattrah	49 उनचास	uncās
18 अठारह	aṭhārah	50 पचास	pacās
19 उन्नीस	unnīs	51 इक्यावन	ikyāvan
20 बीस	bīs	52 बावन	bāvan
21 इक्कीस	ikkīs	53 तिरपन	tirpan
22 बाईस	bāīs	54 चौवन	cauvan
23 तेईस	teīs	55 पचपन	pacpan
24 चौबीस	caubīs	56 छप्पन	chappan
25 पच्चीस	paccīs	57 सत्तावन	sattāvan
26 छब्बीस	chabbīs	58 अट्ठावन	aṭhāvan
27 सत्ताईस	sattāīs	59 उनसठ	unsath
28 अट्ठाईस	aṭhāīs	60 साठ	sāṭh
29 उनतीस	untīs	61 इकसठ	iksath
30 तीस	tīs	62 बासठ	bāsath
31 इक्त्तीस	ikattīs	63 तिरसठ	tirsath
32 बत्तीस	battīs	64 चौंसठ	caumsath

<sup>1</sup> The numerals 11-18, ending in -ah, have common variant pronunciations with long ā and no aspiration in final syllable.

65 पैसठ	painsaṭh	87 सत्तासी, सतासी	sattāsī, satāsī
66 छियासठ	chiyāsāṭh	88 अठ्ठासी, अठासी	aṭṭhāsī, aṭhāsī
67 सरसठ	sarsaṭh	89 नवासी	navāsī
68 अड़सठ	arsaṭh	90 नव्वे, नब्वे	navve, nabbe
69 उनहत्तर	unhattar	91 इक्क्यानवे	ikyanve
70 सत्तर	sattar	92 बानवे	bānve
71 इकहत्तर	ik'hattar<sup>1</sup>	93 तिरानवे	tirānve
72 बहत्तर	bahattar	94 चौरानवे	caurānve
73 तिहत्तर	tihattar	95 पच्चानवे	pacānve
74 चौहत्तर	cauhattar	96 छियानवे	chiyanve
75 पचहत्तर	pac'hattar<sup>1</sup>	97 सत्तानवे	sattānve
76 छिहत्तर	chihattar	98 अठ्ठानवे	aṭṭhānve
77 सतहत्तर	sat'hattar<sup>1</sup>	99 निन्यानवे	ninyānve
78 अटहत्तर	aṭhhattar	100 सौ	sau
79 उन्यासी, उन्नासी	unyāsī, unnāsī	101 एक सौ एक	ek sau ek
80 अस्सी	assī	121 एक सौ इक्कीस	ek sau ikkīs
81 इक्यासी	ikyāsī	200 दो सौ	do sau
82 ब्यासी	bayāsī	1,000 (एक) हजार	(ek) hazār
83 तिरासी	tirāsī	(एक) सहस्र	(ek) *sahasra
84 चौरासी	caurāsī	2,000 दो हजार	do hazār
85 पचासी	pacāsī	100,000 एक लाख	ek lākh
86 छियासी	chiyāsī	10,000,000 एक करोड़	ek karor

(a) Divided into crores and lakhs the number 13,478,241 reads 1,34,78,241:

एक करोड़ चौतीस लाख अटहत्तर हजार दो सौ इकतालीस ek karor caumtis lākh aṭhhattar hazār do sau ikatālīs.

(b) There are variant pronunciations and spellings for a considerable number of the cardinal numerals; only a few are indicated above.

(c) हजार hazār and सहस्र sahasra are usually used as nouns, and prefixed by एक ek; लाख lākh and करोड़ karor as single terms are always prefixed by एक ek: e.g.

उस जिले में एक लाख आदमी रहते हैं। us zile meṁ ek lākh ādmī rahte hain,
A hundred thousand people live in that district.

<sup>1</sup> Note the pronunciation and transliteration of these forms. The apostrophe of the transliterations indicates that h is separate syllabically from the preceding consonant, and is voiced.

(d) Cardinal numbers (and other adjectives) are often followed by collective singular nouns, where the objects concerned are not of individual importance: e.g.

दो प्याला चाय do pyālā cāy, two cups of tea

तीन रुपया tīn rupayā, three rupees

छह महीने में chah mahīne meṁ, in six months

Compare the use of singular nouns possible, for instance, after reduplicated क्या kyā: e.g.

आप उनसे क्या क्या बात करेंगे? āp unse kyā kyā bāt karenge? What will you talk to him about?

(e) Cardinal numerals are often combined in pairs, usually hyphenated, expressive of an approximate number, e.g. दो-चार do-cār, दस-पाँच das-pānc. Note unhyphenated दो एक do ek 'about two', i.e. 'very few', and the analogous use of suffixed एक ek in the sense 'approximately' with other numerals.

2. Ordinals

1st	पहला	pahlā	6th	छठा	chaṭhā
2nd	दूसरा	dūsarā	7th	सातवाँ	sātvām
3rd	तीसरा	tīsarā	8th	आठवाँ	āṭhvām
4th	चौथा	cauthā	9th	नवाँ	navām
5th	पाँचवाँ	pāncvām

(a) In formal Hindi, especially the written language, Sanskrit ordinals are sometimes found, especially for the lower numbers, viz.

1st	प्रथम	pratham	3rd	तृतीय	trīṭhī
2nd	द्वितीय	dvīṭhī	4th	चतुर्थ	catuṛṭh

Others occur occasionally, e.g. in the names of certain Hindu festivals, chapter numbers of some books, etc. But use of the ordinals in -vām (regular from सातवाँ sātvām on) is rarely inappropriate.

(b) 101st is एक सौ एकवाँ ek sau ekvām

102nd is एक सौ दोवाँ ek sau dohvām

103rd is एक सौ तीसवाँ/तीसरा ek sau tīsavām/tīsarā

3. Fractions

- $\frac{1}{2}$  आधा ādhā
 $\frac{1}{3}$  एक तिहाई ek tihāi
 $\frac{1}{4}$  एक चौथाई ek cauthāi
 $\frac{1}{5}$  पाँचवाँ भाग, हिस्सा pāncvān bhāg, †hissā; एक बटे पाँच ek baṭe pānc
 $\frac{2}{5}$  दो बटे पाँचवाँ हिस्सा do baṭe pāncvān †hissā; दो बटे पाँच do baṭe pānc
 $\frac{3}{4}$  चार सात बटे आठवाँ हिस्सा cār sāt baṭe āṭhvān †hissā; चार सात बटे आठ cār sāt baṭe āṭh

आधी किताबें ādhi kitābēn, half the books

उसका आधा uskā ādhā, half of that

एक चौथाई किताबें ek cauthāi kitābēn, a quarter of the books

दुनिया की तीन चौथाई duniyā kī tīn cauthāi, three-quarters of the world

(a) As the examples show, आधा ādhā is used as an adjective and a noun, while the other fractions given are used as nouns only, often as 'measure nouns' (i.e. with an immediately following noun denoting a substance of which an amount is measured).<sup>1</sup>

(b) एक आध ek ādh (with singular noun) means 'about one, one or two': e.g. मैं भारत में एक आध महीना बिताऊँगा। māin bhārat meṁ ek ādh mahinā bitāūngā, I shall spend a month or so in India.

(c) Note particularly the following invariable expressions:

पोन paun, three-quarters of

पोने paune, less a quarter

सवा savā, plus a quarter;  $1\frac{1}{4}$  times<sup>2</sup>

डेढ़ deṛh, one and a half;  $1\frac{1}{2}$  times<sup>2</sup>

ढाई dhāi, two and a half;  $2\frac{1}{2}$  times<sup>2</sup>

साढ़े sāṛhe, plus a half (from  $3\frac{1}{2}$ )

पोन सेर दूध paun ser dūdh, three-quarters of a seer of milk

पोने पच्चीस paune paccīs,  $24\frac{3}{4}$

सवा रुपया savā rupayā,  $1\frac{1}{4}$  rupees

सवा सौ savā sau, 125

डेढ़ रुपया deṛh rupayā,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  rupees

<sup>1</sup> Other expressions of quantity are also used in this way, e.g. तीन सेर दूध tīn ser dūdh 'three seers of milk', दो प्याला चाय do pyālā cāy 'two cups of tea', कितने सेर दूध? kitne ser dūdh? 'how many seers of milk?'

<sup>2</sup> With the words सौ sau, हजार hazār, लाख lākh, करोड़ karor.

डेढ़ सौ deṛh sau, 150

ढाई चम्मच dhāi cammac,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  spoons(full)

ढाई हजार dhāi hazār, 2,500

साढ़े ग्यारह sāṛhe gyārah, 11 $\frac{1}{2}$

पोन paun is used as a measure noun; its sphere of usage is rather restricted. पोने paune and साढ़े sāṛhe are used with numerals only. The other forms given are used with both nouns and numerals.

4. Aggregatives

दोनों donon, both

तीनों tīnon, all three

चारों cāron, all four

बीसों bīsōn, all twenty

बीसियों bisiyōn, scores of सैकड़ों saiṅṛōn, hundreds of हजारों hazārōn, thousands of हम तीनों जाएँगे। ham tīnon jāēngē, The three of us will go.

शहर के चारों ओर देहात है। shahr ke cāron or dehāt hai, All around the village lies the countryside.

नदी में सैकड़ों आदमी नहीं, हजारों आदमी स्नान करते हैं। nadī meṁ saiṅṛōn ādmī nahīn, hazārōn ādmī snān karte hain, Not hundreds but thousands of men bathe in the river.

(a) Note that aggregatives are based both on cardinal numerals and on nouns expressing numerical quantity such as बीसी bisī 'a score', सैकड़ा saiṅṛā 'an amount of a hundred'; as well as occasionally on nouns which have no numerical connotation, e.g. महीना mahinā:

महीनों बीत गए। mahinon bit gae, Months passed.<sup>1</sup>

5. Multiplicatives

These are chiefly formed with the adjectival suffix -gunā. Often they are followed by adjectives. Some variant forms for lower multiplicatives are found, almost all based on unmodified cardinal numerals.

दुगुना, दूना dugunā, dūnā, twofold

तिगुना tigunā, threefold

<sup>1</sup> बीत गए bit gae 'passed': compound verb. See lesson XVII.

चौगुना caugunā, fourfold
 पंचगुना pacgunā, fivefold
 छेगुना, छगुना chaigunā, chagunā, sixfold
 सतगुना satgunā, sevenfold
 अठगुना aṭhgunā, eightfold
 नौगुना naugunā, ninefold
 दसगुना dasgunā, tenfold
 ग्यारहगुना gyārahgunā, elevenfold

दिल्ली इलाहाबाद से दुगुना बड़ा शहर है । dillī ilāhābād se dugunā bayā śahr hai, Delhi is twice as big a city as Allahabad.<sup>1</sup>

TIME

1. The word घंटा ghaṇṭā means a period of one hour. Hours of the clock are expressed by means of the perfective participle of the verb बजना bajānā 'to sound, resound', as follows:

एक बजा ek bajā, one o'clock
 एक बजा है । ek bajā hai, It is one o'clock.
 एक बजे ek baje, at one o'clock
 दो बजे do baje, two o'clock
 दो बजे हैं । do baje haiṁ, It is two o'clock.
 दो बजे do baje, at two o'clock

(a) The use of पौन paun, सवा savā, डेढ़ ḍeṛh, ड़ाई ḍhāi, and साढ़े sāṛhe in expressions of time is illustrated by the following examples:

पौन बजा paun bajā, 12.45
 पौन बजा है । paun bajā hai, It is 12.45.
 पौन बजे paun baje, at 12.45
 सवा बजा savā bajā, 1.15
 सवा बजा है । savā bajā hai, It is 1.15.
 सवा बजे savā baje, at 1.15

Similarly

डेढ़ बजा ḍeṛh bajā, 1.30
 पौने दो बजे paune do baje, 1.45
 पौने दो बजे हैं । paune do baje haiṁ, It is 1.45.
 पौने दो बजे paune do baje, at 1.45

<sup>1</sup> The use of से se in comparisons is explained in Lesson XVI.

Similarly

सवा दो बजे savā do baje, 2.15
 ड़ाई बजे ḍhāi baje, 2.30
 साढ़े तीन बजे sāṛhe tīn baje, 3.30

2. Minutes before and after the hour can be expressed as in the following examples:

पाँच बजने में दस मिनट pānc bajne meṁ das minaṭ, 4.50
 पाँच बजने में दस मिनट बाक़ी है । pānc bajne meṁ das minaṭ bāqī haiṁ, It is 4.50.
 पाँच बजने से दस मिनट पहले pānc bajne se das minaṭ pahle, at 4.50
 पाँच बजकर दस मिनट pānc bajkar das minaṭ, 5.10
 पाँच बजकर दस मिनट हुए हैं । pānc bajkar das minaṭ hue haiṁ, It is 5.10.
 पाँच बजकर दस मिनट पर pānc bajkar das minaṭ par, at 5.10

(a) The hours 4.50 and 5.10 may also be expressed as चार पचास cār pacās and पाँच दस pānc das. This is normal timetable usage but is also fairly common elsewhere.

3. Translation equivalents of the locutions 'a.m.', 'p.m.' are illustrated in the following examples:

पाँच बजे सुबह को pānc baje subah ko, 5 a.m.
 सुबह के पाँच बजे subah ke pānc baje, at 5 a.m.
 दो बजे दिन को do baje dīn ko, 2 p.m.
 दिन के दो बजे dīn ke do baje, at 2 p.m.
 पाँच बजे शाम को pānc baje śām ko, 5 p.m.
 शाम के पाँच बजे śām ke pānc baje, at 5 p.m.
 दो बजे रात को do baje rāt ko, 2 a.m.
 रात के दो बजे rāt ke do baje, at 2 a.m.

(a) सुबह subah runs from daybreak to about 11 a.m., दिन to about 3 or 4 p.m., शाम śām to about 9 p.m. Colloquially, the postpositions को ko and के ke in these usages are sometimes dropped.

(b) Note the form of expressions which refer to a day as well as a time of day:

आज सुबह (को) पाँच बजे āj subah (ko) pānc baje, at 5 a.m. today
 कल शाम (को) पाँच बजे kal śām (ko) pānc baje, at 5 p.m. yesterday, or tomorrow

परसों रात (को) तीन बजे parson rāt (ko) tīn baje, at 3 a.m. two days ago, or ahead

(c) The word पहर pahr, meaning a 'watch of the day or night', i.e. three hours, is in common use in a number of expressions. Some of these are:

(ठीक) दोपहर (thik dopahr, midday (i.e. the end of the second watch)
तीसरा पहर (tisra pahr, the early afternoon
दोपहर के बाद (dopahr ke bad, in the afternoon पहर रात (को) (pahr rat (ko), late at night आठों पहर (athon pahr, twenty-four hours long

DATES

1. Days of the week, and months of the year (Christian and Vikramāditya):

रविवार ravivār, इतवार itvār, Sunday
सोमवार somvār, Monday
मंगलवार maṅgalvār, Tuesday
बुधवार budhvār, Wednesday
बृहस्पतिवार byhaspativār, गुरुवार gurvār, Thursday
शुक्रवार shukravār, Friday
शनिवार sanivār, Saturday

जनवरी janvarī	चैत cait
फरवरी farvarī	वैशाख baisākh
मार्च mārc	जेठ jeṭh
अप्रैल aprail	असाढ़ asārh
मई maī	सावन sāvan
जून jūn	भादों bhādom
जुलाई julāī	क्वार kvār
अगस्त agast	कार्तिक kārttik
सितंबर sitambar	अगहन ag'han <sup>1</sup>
अक्तूबर aktūbar	पूस pūs
नवंबर navambar	माघ māgh
दिसंबर disambar	फागुन phāgun

(a) Expressions of time involving days of the week show को ko, those involving months में men: e.g.

सोमवार को somvār ko, on Monday
अक्तूबर में aktūbar men, in October

<sup>1</sup> See p. 62, n. 1.

(b) The dates of Hindu rites and festivals are determined according to the विक्रमादित्य vikramāditya calendar, which is based on lunar months, each with a 'bright phase' (शुक्ल पक्ष shukl pakṣ) and a 'dark phase' (कृष्ण पक्ष kṛṣṇ pakṣ). Months begin with the full moon, the कृष्ण पक्ष kṛṣṇ pakṣ following. A thirteenth intercalary month is added every thirty months to keep these months in step with the seasons. The month चैत cait begins in mid-March or earlier.

The Sanskrit forms and some variant Hindi forms of the names of the विक्रमादित्य vikramāditya lunar months are also found alongside the Hindi ones given above.

2. The word तारीख tārikh (f.) means 'date'. It is implied in expressions of date such as

पहली जनवरी pahlī janvarī, January 1st
पहली जनवरी को pahlī janvarī ko, on January 1st
दूसरी मार्च dūsarī mārc, March 2nd
दूसरी मार्च को dūsarī mārc ko, on March 2nd

(a) For dates other than the first or second of a month cardinals are generally used: e.g.

आठ सितंबर āṭh sitambar, September 8th
आठ सितंबर को āṭh sitambar ko, on September 8th

(b) The word तारीख tārikh can also be used in alternative forms of the above expressions: e.g.

जनवरी की पहली तारीख janvarī kī pahlī tārikh
सितंबर की आठ तारीख को sitambar kī āṭh tārikh ko

3. Years of the Christian era are usually denoted by the numeral preceded by the designation सन् san, derived from Arabic and meaning 'year': e.g. सन् चबीस सौ इकसठ को सत्रह मई को san umīs sau iksaṭh kī satrah maī ko, on 17th May 1961

(a) Years of the विक्रमादित्य vikramāditya era (57 or 58 years ahead of the Christian) are similarly prefixed by the noun सवत् samvat. Other systems of dating include the शक śak era (77 or 78 years behind the Christian), used officially by the Indian government in conjunction with the Christian era.

VOCABULARY

ज़िला zilā , m., administrative district	घड़ी gharī , f., watch; मेरी घड़ी में merī gharī merh , by my watch
प्याला pyālā , m., cup	भाषण bhāṣaṇ , f., speech, lecture
चाय cāy , f., tea	घटना ghatnā , f., incident, happening
भाग bhāg , m., part	नया nayā , new
हिस्सा hissā , m., part	खराब kharāb , bad; spoiled
सेर ser , m., seer (measure of weight, approximately 1 kg.)	बाक़ी bāqī , remaining, left over (invariable)
मन man , m., maund (measure of weight, = 40 seers)	स्नान करना snān karnā , bathe
चम्मच cammac , m., spoon	बीतना bītā , pass by (of time)
देहात dehāt , m., country(side)	बिताना bitānā , spend (time)
इलाहाबाद ilāhābād , m., Allahabad	के चारों ओर/तरफ ke cāroṃ or/taraf , on all four sides, all around
समुद्र samudr , m., sea, ocean

EXERCISE 21

मेरे पास पचहत्तर नए पैसे<sup>1</sup> हैं। बारह आने पचहत्तर नए पैसे होते हैं। तीन चौथाई दुनिया समुद्र है। बाई सौ। पाँच सौ इक्कीस। दो हजार दो सौ बाईस। तीन लाख चार हजार आठ सौ सेतालीस। तीन करोड़ इक्कीस लाख पैंसठ हजार तीन सौ सात। मैं उससे दुगुना काम करता हूँ। वह छठी क्लास में पढ़ती है। अगले साल सातवीं में पढ़ेगी। मनो अनाज खराब हुआ। पौने चार बजे हैं। जी नहीं, मेरी घड़ी में चार बजने में दस मिनट बाक़ी हैं। गाड़ी छह बजकर तीन मिनट पर पहुँचती है। आज शाम को साढ़े आठ बजे एक भाषण है। मैं तेईस जून को घर जा रहा हूँ। यह घटना सन् उन्नीस सौ उनतीस की चौबीस अक्टूबर को हुई।

EXERCISE 22

I've been learning Hindi for a month or so. 150. 754. 9,876. 15,378,492. 9,132,444. He does twice as much work as me. Thousands of people will come here next month. I arrived at 3.30. It's now twenty-five past seven. I'm going at twenty to eight. Come at 5.30 p.m. Come at 8.30 p.m. tomorrow. My son was born on April 1st. We shall begin work on Wednesday.

<sup>1</sup> नया पैसा nayā paisā, one-hundredth of a rupee in the reformed currency; with the disappearance of the old currency, the word पैसा paisā is increasingly used without the adjective.

LESSON XII

CONSTRUCTIONS WITH THE POSTPOSITION ने ne

1. THE sentence

वह किताब लिख रहा था vah kitāb likh rahā thā

means 'he was writing the book', but 'he wrote the book' is translated उसने किताब लिखी usne kitāb likhī.

In this sentence, in which the verb is transitive and perfective, we find, first, that in the initial position in the sentence, which we have seen is taken characteristically by sentence subjects in sentences of neutral style and emphasis, there occurs not the direct case form वह vah, but the oblique case form उस us, with the postposition ने ne. Secondly, the verb shows concord not with this form but with the word किताब kitāb, which, with regard to its non-initial position, may be classified as its direct object.

Constructions showing the postposition ने ne with positionally-determined oblique case sentence subjects, and the form of the verb determined with reference to sentence objects, not subjects, are regular in Hindi (with various qualifications which will be stated) where finite verbs are transitive and perfective.<sup>1</sup>

2. Note the importance of the form taken by the object in constructions involving ने ne. If an indefinite object<sup>2</sup> is present, or implied, the verb is in concord with it, as in the above example; but otherwise (i.e. if the object is definite,<sup>2</sup> or if no specific direct object is expressed or implied) the

<sup>1</sup> These constructions have evolved from constructions in the earlier language which showed inflected agentive forms in initial sentence position, and past participles in concord with non-initial grammatical subjects, in other words, constructions which expressed 'he wrote the book' as 'by him the book was written'. As the language evolved, however, the position of nouns and pronouns in sentences became a more important marker of their role as subject or object than their grammatical form, so that for modern Hindi it is advisable in general to consider initially occurring forms with ने ne as sentence subjects, and non-initial forms as direct objects determining the form of verbs in their sentences, although certain modern usages current in Delhi, western U.P., and the Panjab, which are not introduced in this book, may be interpreted as showing specifically agentive forms and verb concord with subjects, and thus still indicate the historical origins of the construction.

<sup>2</sup> See Lesson IX, p. 49.

verb always shows final -ā (and is better thought of as a 'neutral' or 'impersonal' form than as a 'third singular masculine'): e.g.

हमने अपने शत्रु को मारा । hamne apne śatru ko mārā, We killed our enemy.<sup>1</sup>
हमने अपने शत्रुओं को मारा । hamne apne śatruon ko mārā, We killed our enemies.<sup>1</sup>

उसने कहा कि . . . usne kahā ki . . ., He, she said that . . .

उसने मेरी ओर देखा । usne merī or dekhā, He, she looked in my direction.

The following examples illustrate the types of construction described above:

उमने पत्र लिखा । usne patr likhā, He, she wrote the letter, a letter.

उसने पत्र लिखे । usne patr likhe, He, she, wrote the letters, some letters.

इस लड़के ने पुस्तक कल पढ़ी थी । is laṛke ne pustak kal paṛhī thī, This boy read the book yesterday.

उन लड़कियों ने किताबें पढ़ी । un laṛkiyon ne kitāben paṛhīm, Those girls read the books.

उसने मकान बेचा होगा । usne mahān becā hogā, He, she will have sold the house.

उसने उन स्त्रियों को पहले देखा था । usne un striyon ko pahle dekhā thā, He, she had seen those women before.

इस लड़की ने उसे कल वहाँ देखा था । is laṛkī ne use kal vahām dekhā thā, This girl saw him, her there yesterday.

उसने कुछ समय सोचा । usne kuch samay socā, He, she thought for some time.

3. ने ne stands slightly apart from the other postpositions in the forms it requires of some personal and other pronouns, viz.

मैंने mainne

तूने tūne

उन्होंने unhone (plural of वह vah)

इन्होंने inhone (plural of यह yah)

किन्होंने kinhone (plural of कौन kaun)

जिन्होंने jinhone (plural of जो jo)

कड़ियों ने kaiyon ne

4. Almost all verbs which are transitive, i.e. can take direct objects, are used in construction with ने ne in perfective forms (except in certain cases when members of composite verbal expressions, noted in due course). The construction of a few verbs varies. Some notes on the construction of perfective forms of individual verbs and verbal expressions follow.

<sup>1</sup> The student can, if he wishes, visualize the impersonal nature of such constructions by bearing in mind their historical origins (see previous footnote) and mentally recasting 'we killed our enemy' as 'by us it was killed in respect of our enemy', etc.

(a) कहना kahnā 'say' and पूछना pūchnā 'ask, inquire' are always used in construction with ने ne; बोलना bolnā 'speak, talk' only rarely so. (The use of बोलना bolnā as a transitive verb is rather restricted.)

मैंने कहा कि मैं कल वहाँ था । mainne kahā ki main kal vahām thā, I said I was there yesterday.

उसने मुझसे कई प्रश्न पूछे । usne mujhse kai prāśn pūche, He, she asked me several questions.

वह मुझसे हिंदी में बोली । vah mujhse hindī meṁ bolīm, She, they spoke to me in Hindi.

उसने मुझसे सब कुछ कहा । usne mujhse sab kuch kahā, He, she told me everything.

उसने झूठ बोला । usne jhūṭh bolā, He lied (spoke falsehood).

(b) Conjunct verbs formed with करना karnā and a preceding noun, and other verbal expressions involving करना karnā<sup>1</sup> are all used in construction with ने ne. Note that English translation equivalents of these are usually but not invariably transitive.

मैंने काम शुरू किया । mainne kāṁ śurū kiyā, I started work.

मैंने दरवाजा बंद किया । mainne darvāzā band kiyā, I closed the door.

मैंने उसका इंतज़ार किया । mainne uskā intazār kiyā, I waited for him, her.

मैंने उसकी प्रतीक्षा की । mainne uskī pratikṣā kī, I waited for him, her.

उन्होंने शत्रु पर आक्रमण किया । unhone śatru par ākramaṇ kiyā, They attacked the enemy.

(c) The verb समझना samajhnā 'understand' is used in both constructions. Some Hindi speakers prefer to use it in construction with ने ne in most cases where a direct object is expressed, especially if this is of some prominence, or if it is implied that the act of understanding leads to a consequence. Where समझना samajhnā means 'understand something to be the case' it is regularly used in construction with ने ne.

(आप) समझे? (āp) samjhe? Do you understand? (masculine reference)<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> See Lesson X, pp. 56 ff.

<sup>2</sup> Literally 'have you understood, grasped (the question)'.

आप मेरी बात समझे? āp merī bāt samjhe? Do you understand what I said?
 आपने मेरी बात समझी? āpne merī bāt samjhi? Do you understand what I said?
 मैंने आपकी बातें समझी हैं, और उनपर अमल किया है। mainne āpki bātēn samjhi hain, aur unpar amal kiya hai, I understand what you told me and have acted on it.

मैंने आपको अपना भाई समझा। mainne āpko apnā bhāī samjhā, I thought of you as my own brother.

(d) लाना lānā 'bring' and भूलना bhūlnā 'forget' are not used in construction with ne.

वह दो पुस्तकें लाया। vah do pustakēn lāyā, He brought two books.

(e) The expressions ले आना le ānā 'bring' and ले जाना le jānā, ले चलना le chalnā 'take away' are collocations of absolutes with the intransitive verbs आना ānā, जाना jānā (see Lesson VII), and so of course are not used in construction with ne.

(f) The expressions दिखाई देना dikhāī denā 'be visible, appear', and सुनाई देना sunāī denā 'be audible' are not used in construction with ne, although based on transitive देना denā.

शहर दूर पर दिखाई दिया। shahr dūr par dikhāī diyā, The city came into view in the distance.

उसे तीन औरतें अचानक दिखाई दीं। use tin aurteṁ acānak dikhāī dīn, He, she suddenly saw three women.<sup>1</sup>

(g) पढ़ना pañnā 'read' is usually not used in construction with ne when it has the sense 'follow a course of study in a subject'.

वह इलाहाबाद में हिंदी पढ़े। vah ilāhābād meṁ hindī paṛhe, He studied Hindi in Allahabad.

(h) नहाना nahānā 'wash, bathe' is used in both constructions without difference of sense, but usually without ne.

मैं (ने) ठंडे पानी से नहाया। main(ne) ṭhaṇḍe pānī se nahāyā, I washed in cold water.

(i) Some verbs, such as मुसकराना muskarānā 'smile' and रोना ronā 'weep', which usually do not take direct objects or occur in construction with

<sup>1</sup> Literally 'three women suddenly appeared to him, her'.

ने ne, may occasionally take 'cognate objects', i.e. nouns meaning 'smile', 'tears', etc., and may then sometimes occur in construction with ne, especially if an object is of some prominence.

वह मुसकराया। vah muskarāyā, He smiled.

वह विजय की मुसकराहट मुसकराया। vah vijay kī muskarāhaṭ muskarāyā, He smiled a smile of triumph.

उसने विजय की मुसकराहट मुसकराई। usne vijay kī muskarāhaṭ muskarāī, He smiled a smile of triumph.

(j) Other verbs, such as सोना sonā 'sleep' and हँसना haṁsnā 'laugh, smile' are not used in construction with ne even if 'cognate objects' are expressed.

वह बेफिक्री की नींद सोया। vah befikrī kī nīnd soyā, He slept an untroubled sleep.

VOCABULARY

शत्रु śatru, m.f., enemy

प्रश्न praśn, m., question

आक्रमण ākramaṇ, m., attack

लाइब्रेरी lāibrerī, f., library

भगड़ा jhagrā, m., quarrel

कारण kāraṇ, m., cause

तस्वीर ṭasvīr, f., picture

सामान sāmān, m., belongings, goods, things

दिलचस्प ḍilcasp, interesting

मारना mārṇā, beat; kill

आक्रमण करना ākramaṇ karnā (par), attack

लाना lānā, bring

भूलना bhūlnā, forget

दिखाई देना dikhāī denā, be visible

सुनाई देना sunāī denā, be audible

खरीदना kharīdnā, buy

पाना pānā, get, obtain; find

सिखाना sikhānā, teach

सोचना sochnā, think

कुछ समय kuch samay, for some time

ठंडा ṭhaṇḍā, cold; cool [ठंडा ṭhaṇḍhā]

अचानक acānak, suddenly

अमल amal, m., act, action; अमल

करना amal karnā, act, take action

मुसकराना muskarānā, smile

[मुसकराना muskarānā]

मुसकराहट muskarāhaṭ, f., smile

[मुसकराहट muskarāhaṭ]

रोना ronā, cry, weep

हँसना haṁsnā, laugh; smile

विजय vijay, f., victory, triumph

नींद nīnd, f., sleep

बेफिक्री befikrī, f., carefreeness

भेजना bhejnā, send

EXERCISE 23

मैंने उसे कल देखा । वह एक किताब पढ़ रहा था । वह उसे लाइब्रेरी से ले आया था । उसने किताब पिछले हफ्ते पढ़ी थी । मैंने ग्यारह बजे खाया । आप समझीं? उसने मुझे मेरे दफ्तर में पाया । मैं उससे हिंदी बोला । उसने उसे हिंदी सिखाई । उसने उसे सिखाया । मैंने उसे भगड़े का कारण बताया । वह कल शाम को मेरे मकान के दरवाजे पर दिखाई दी ।

EXERCISE 24

Have you written those letters? We bought several things in<sup>1</sup> that shop. Then we brought them home. I finished work at 5 p.m. The men put the boxes on the table. The villagers worked all day in the fields. By evening they had brought maunds of grain into the village. They used to wait for me here. In the picture several interesting things are to be seen. They took all their things away.

<sup>1</sup> से se 'from'.

LESSON XIII

THE FORM चाहिए cāhie

THIS very common verbal form is historically an old passive meaning 'is wished, is necessary'. It usually appears in constructions involving oblique case nouns or pronouns + को ko (or equivalent pronominal object forms) and (a) further nouns or pronouns only; or (b) infinitive or subjunctive forms of verbs. The former express want, lack or need, the latter duty or advisability. There are also other ways of expressing these ideas, which are noted below, together with the usages of चाहिए cāhie.

1. चाहिए cāhie in association with nouns and pronouns only

Note that words answering to the subjects of English translation equivalents are, if expressed,<sup>1</sup> in the oblique case with को ko (or in the equivalent object form, if pronouns). The verbal form चाहिए cāhie is in concord with Hindi subjects, though this concord is normally only explicit in the imperfective past tense, see (b) below.

आपको क्या चाहिए? āpko kyā cāhie? What do you want?

क्या चाहिए? kyā cāhie? What do you want?

मुझे कुछ दूध चाहिए । mujhe kuch dūdh cāhie, I want some milk.

मुझे एक किताब चाहिए । mujhe ek kitāb cāhie, I want a book.

उस आदमी को दस अंडे चाहिए । us ādmī ko das aṇḍe cāhie, That man wants ten eggs.

हमें ये पुस्तकें नहीं चाहिए । hamen ye pustken nahī cāhie, We don't need these books.

(a) An alternative construction, perhaps somewhat less common than that with चाहिए cāhie, is with the feminine nouns जरूरत jarūrat and आवश्यकता āvāśyaktā, both meaning 'necessity'.

मुझे दूध की जरूरत है । mujhe dūdh kī jarūrat hai, I want, need, some milk.

मुझे दस पुस्तकों की आवश्यकता है । mujhe das pustkon kī āvāśyaktā hai, I require ten books.

(b) These constructions can be used in the imperfective past tense. The verbal forms are then चाहिए था cāhie thā, etc. (चाहिए cāhie functioning as an equivalent of an imperfective participle), and थी thī in the construction with जरूरत zarūrat, आवश्यकता āvaśyaktā. Negatives precede चाहिए in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

<sup>1</sup> See p. 12

मुझे पानी चाहिए था । mujhe pānī cāhie thā, I needed water, some water.
हमें पानी नहीं चाहिए था । hamēn pānī nahīm cāhie thā, We didn't need any water.

उनको एक किताब चाहिए थी । unko ek kitāb cāhie thī, They wanted a book.
आपको कितने अंडे चाहिए थे? āpko kitne aṇḍe cāhie the? How many eggs did you need?

मेरे भाई को दो कापियाँ चाहिए थीं । mere bhāī ko do kāpiyām cāhie thīm, My brother needed two exercise books.

उसे दूध की जरूरत थी । use dūdh kī zarūrat thī, He needed milk, some milk.

(c) Elsewhere only the construction with जरूरत zarūrat, आवश्यकता āvaśyaktā is used, with forms of the verbs होना honā or पड़ना paṛnā; those of the latter verb tend to convey slightly more emphasis.

आपको मच्छड़दानी की जरूरत होगी । āpko macchāḍdānī kī zarūrat hogī, You'll need a mosquito net.

मुझे सहायता की आवश्यकता पड़ेगी । mujhe sahāyātā kī āvaśyaktā paṛegī, I shall require assistance.

मुझे कलम और कागज की जरूरत पड़ी । mujhe qalam aur kāgaj kī zarūrat paṛī, I needed, found I needed, pen and paper.

2. चाहिए cāhie in association with infinitives or subjunctive forms

In the standard written language and for the most part in the spoken language, transitive infinitives show adjectival concord with a preceding noun or pronoun, unless this is a definite direct object, in which case they show final -nā. Intransitive infinitives show final -nā, except as indicated in note (a) below. Negatives precede infinitives in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

आपको यहाँ रहना चाहिए । āpko yahām rahnā cāhie, You ought to stay here.

उन्हें हिंदी सीखनी चाहिए । unhēm hindī sikhnī cāhie, They should learn Hindi.

मेरे पिता जी को समाचारपत्र पढ़ने चाहिए । mere pitā jī ko samācārpatr paṛhne cāhie, My father ought to read the papers.

आपको ये पुस्तकें नहीं पढ़नी चाहिए । āpko ye pustkēn nahīm paṛhnī cāhie, You shouldn't read these books.

आपको उन्हें पढ़ना चाहिए । āpko unhēm paṛhnā cāhie, You ought to read them.

(a) Nouns of non-personal reference, however, are not very often used with को ko in sentences containing intransitive infinitives. Such nouns are more usually used as subjects of चाहिए cāhie in sentences which do not contain any noun or pronoun + को ko, and infinitives are in adjectival concord with them.

क्या हिंदी राष्ट्रभाषा होनी चाहिए? kyā hindī rāṣṭrabhāṣā honī cāhie? Should Hindi be the national language?

यह किताब हमेशा मेज पर रहनी चाहिए । yah kitāb hamēśā mez par rahnī cāhie, This book should always stay on the table.

(b) An alternative construction shows चाहिए cāhie linked by the conjunction कि ki to a following subject noun or pronoun and a verb in the subjunctive.

आपको चाहिए कि आप यहाँ रहें । āpko cāhie ki āp yahām rahēm, You ought to stay here.

चाहिए कि वह हिंदी सीख ले । cāhie ki vah hindī sikh le, He ought to learn Hindi.<sup>1</sup>

(c) The verbal construction can, like the nominal, be used in the imperfective past tense. Note its special implication.

मुझे दिल्ली जाना चाहिए था । mujhe dillī jānā cāhie thā, I should have gone to Delhi.

उसको यह नहीं करना चाहिए था । usko yah nahīm karnā cāhie thā, He ought not to have done this.

उन्हें हिंदी सीखनी चाहिए थी । unhēm hindī sikhnī cāhie thī, They should have learned Hindi.

आपको दस अंडे खरीदने चाहिए थे । āpko das aṇḍe kharīdne cāhie the, You should have bought ten eggs.

आपको अपनी पुस्तकें लानी चाहिए थीं । āpko apnī pustkēn lānī cāhie thīm, You ought to have brought your books.

तुम्हें उनको देखना चाहिए था । tunhēm unko dekhnā cāhie thā, You should have looked at them.

The imperfective reference of था thā stresses the fact that obligation continued over a period, and implies rather that it was not met than that it kept recurring. Expression of recurring obligation is dealt with in the following section.

<sup>1</sup> सीख ले sikh le 'should learn'; compound verb. See Lesson XVII.

THE VERBS पड़ना paṛnā AND होना honā EXPRESSIVE OF OBLIGATION

The idea of compulsion or of positive obligation is expressed by association of the infinitive form of a verb with a following part of the verbs पड़ना paṛnā, meaning literally, 'fall' or 'be found', or होना honā. Use of पड़ना paṛnā may express a marginally stronger compulsion or obligation. Concord operates in the same way as in sentences showing चाहिए cāhie in association with infinitives. The form of पड़ना paṛnā or होना honā used determines the aspect, tense, and modal reference of the whole expression. Negatives precede infinitives in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

आपको यहाँ रहना पड़ेगा/होगा । āpko yahām rahnā paṛegā/hogā, You'll have to stay here, you must stay here.

आपको अपनी चाबी लानी पड़ेगी/होगी । āpko apnī cābī lānī paṛegī/hogī, You'll have to, must, bring your own key.

मुझे घर नहीं जाना पड़ा । mujhe ghar nahīm jānā paṛā, I didn't have to go home.

मुझे शाम छह बजे घर जाना पड़ता था । mujhe sām chah baje ghar jānā paṛtā thā, I used to have to go home at 6 p.m.

मुझे पाँच बजे तक काम करना पड़ता है । mujhe pānc baje tak kām karnā paṛtā hai, I have to work till five o'clock (daily).

मुझे पाँच बजे तक काम करना है । mujhe pānc baje tak kām karnā hai, I have to work till five o'clock (today).

(a) Note that constructions with the future tense of पड़ना paṛnā or होना honā are the normal means of rendering English sentences with 'must' (which anticipate future actions).

(b) Note the sense contrast in the last two examples, where पड़ता है paṛtā hai contrasts with है hai. The sense of the first of these two examples might have been expressed by use of होता है hotā hai if it had been desired to use होना honā instead of पड़ना paṛnā.

(c) The perfective forms of होना honā, viz. हुआ huā, हुआ था huā thā, etc., are not generally used in this construction.

VOCABULARY

अंडा andā, m., egg
कापी kāpī, f., exercise book
मच्छड़दानी macchardānī, f., mosquito net
सहायता sahāyā, f., help
मदद madad, f., help
राष्ट्र rāṣṭra, m., state
राष्ट्रभाषा rāṣṭrabhāṣā, f., state language
समाचार samācār, m., (sg. and pl.) news
समाचारपत्र samācārpātr, m., newspaper

चाबी cābī, f., key
टोपी ṭopī, f., hat
हवाई पत्र havāī paṭr, m., air letter
कमीज qamīz, f., shirt
बाज़ार जाना bāzār jānā, go to the bazaar, go shopping
फ़ोन fon, m., telephone;
मैं उसे फ़ोन करूँगा main use fon karūngā, I shall phone him
के करीब ke qarīb, about, approximately कान्ता kāntā, Kāntā (girl's name)

EXERCISE 25

मुझे एक नई टोपी चाहिए । आपको क्या चाहिए? मुझे पाँच हवाई पत्र चाहिए । उन्हें पानी चाहिए था । उसको आपकी मदद की जरूरत होगी । उस लड़के को क्या चाहिए? आपको ये पुस्तकें पढ़नी चाहिए थीं । मेरे भाई को भी उन्हें पढ़ना चाहिए था । मुझे उसे एक चिट्ठी लिखनी चाहिए । उनको अपना काम ख़त्म करना चाहिए । आपको इस गाँव के लोगों से हिंदी बोलनी पड़ेगी ।

EXERCISE 26

I need two shirts. Rādhā needed Kāntā's books. You ought to go to India. I ought to speak Hindi. You should have learned Hindi. I have to buy some newspapers. I'll have to go at about 11 o'clock. I must go at about 11 o'clock. I had to go at 11 o'clock. I used to have to go shopping every day. I have to phone him. I'll need ten rupees.

LESSON XIV

RELATIVE-CORRELATIVE CONSTRUCTIONS

RELATIVE-CORRELATIVE constructions have been mentioned above in connection with the relative pronoun and adjective जो jo. They are extremely common in Hindi, and are discussed more fully here. Note, first, that an English sentence made up of principal and relative clause will very often have as Hindi equivalent two clauses in the reverse order: the relative clause, containing the appropriate relative pronoun, adverb or adjective, followed by the principal clause containing a correlative to it, though this may be omitted in informal usage. The following examples of English relative sentences transposed to illustrate the structure of their Hindi equivalents should make this pattern quite clear.

I shall go when you tell me: When you tell me, then I shall go.

I didn't understand what he said: What he said, I didn't understand that. I am reading the book you suggested: The book which you suggested, I am reading it.

Read as many books as you can: As many books as you can, read as many as that.

1. Some of the commonest relatives are listed here, together with their correlatives:

जब jab , when	—	तब tab , then
जब भी jab bhī , whenever	—	तब tab , "
जब से jab se , since (of time), from the time when	—	तब से tab se , since then
जब तक jab tak , as long as	—	तब तक tab tak , until then
जैसा jaisā , of such a sort as; that which	—	वैसा (ही) vaisā (hī) , in that way; it
जैसे ही jaise hī , as soon as	—	वैसे ही vaise hī , then
जितना jitnā , as many, much as; however many, much	—	उतना (ही) utnā (hī) , so many, much
जहाँ jahām , where	—	वहाँ vahām , there
जहाँ भी jahām bhī , wherever	—	वहाँ vahām , "
जो jo , the one who, which	—	वह vah , he, it, etc.
जो कोई jo koī , whoever, whichever	—	वह vah , "
जो कुछ jo kuch , whatever	—	वह vah , "

2. Examples of their use follow, with further comment where necessary:

जब आप मुझसे कहेंगे, तब मैं जाऊँगा। jab āp mujhse kahenge, tab main jāūngā, I shall go when you tell me.

जब भी दिल्ली जाता हूँ, तब हिंदी ही बोलता हूँ। jab bhī dillī jātā hūm, tab hindī hī boltā hūm, Whenever I go to Delhi I speak Hindi, of course.

जब से आप चले गए थे, तब से मैं हिंदी नहीं बोला। jab se āp cale gae the, tab se main hindī nahīn bolā, I haven't spoken Hindi since you went away.<sup>1</sup>

जब तक मैं यहाँ रहूँगा, तब तक वे काम करेंगे। jab tak main yahām rahūngā, tab tak ve kām karenge, They will work as long as I stay here.

जैसा आप मुझसे कहेंगे, वैसा (ही) करूँगा। jaisā āp mujhse kahenge, vaisā (hī) karūngā, I shall do (just) as you tell me.

जैसे ही आप मुझसे कहेंगे, वैसे ही कर दूँगा। jaise hī āp mujhse kahenge, vaise hī kar dūngā, I'll do it as soon as you tell me.<sup>2</sup>

मेरे पास जितने पैसे हैं, उनके पास उतने ही हैं। mere pās jitne paise hain, unke pās utne hī hain, He has just as much money as I.

वह मकान जितना महँगा है, उतना (ही) महँगा यह भी है। vah makān jitnā mahāngā hai, utnā (hī) mahāngā yah bhī hai, This house is (just) as dear as that.

आप जितना काम करेंगे, उतना ही जानेंगे। āp jitnā kām karenge, utnā hī jānenge, The more you work the more you'll know.

जितनी बड़ी आबादी कलकत्ते की है, उतनी बड़ी दिल्ली की नहीं है। jitnī bārī ābādī kalkatte kī hai, utnī bārī dillī kī nahīn hai, The population of Delhi is not as great as that of Calcutta.

जहाँ हिंदी बोली जाती है, मैं वहाँ रहना चाहता हूँ। jahām hindī bolī jāti hai, main vahām rahnā cāhtā hūm, I want to live where Hindi is spoken.<sup>3</sup>

जहाँ भी जाता हूँ, वहाँ अंग्रेजी बोलता हूँ। jahām bhī jātā hūm, vahām āngrezī boltā hūm, Wherever I go I speak English.

आप जो कह रहे हैं, मैं उसपर विश्वास नहीं करता। āp jo kah rahe hain, main uspar vishvās nahīn kartā, I don't believe what you're saying.

जिस आदमी ने यह पत्र लिखा, वह भारतीय होगा। jis ādmī ne yah patr likhā, vah bhārtiy hogā, The man who wrote this letter is probably an Indian.

जो कोई आए, उसे यह खबर दीजिए। jo koī āe, use yah khabar dijie, Please tell this to whoever comes.

<sup>1</sup> For चले गए थे cale gae the 'went away' see Lesson XVII, p. 100.

<sup>2</sup> कर दूँगा kar dūngā 'shall do'; compound verb. See Lesson XVII.

<sup>3</sup> For बोली जाती है bolī jāti hai 'is spoken', see Lesson XIX, p. 116.

जिस किसी के पास यह पुस्तक नहीं है, उसे और किसी की पुस्तक पढ़नी पड़ेगी। jis kisi ke pās yah pustak nahīn hai, use aur kisi kī pustak parhni pāregī,<sup>1</sup> Whoever hasn't got this book will have to read someone else's.

जो कुछ करना चाहिए, उसे आप कीजिए। jo kuch karnā cāhie, use āp kijie, Please do whatever has to be done.

(a) Note that whereas जब तक jab tak means 'as long as', the sense 'until' is expressed by जब तक . . . न jab tak . . . na, followed by a subjunctive form if the reference is to a future action, and usually a perfective form if to a past action.<sup>2</sup>

जब तक राम न आएँ, तब तक मैं यहाँ रहूँगा। jab tak rām na āeñ, tab tak main yahām rahūngā, I shall stay here till Rām comes.

जब तक राम न आए, तब तक मैं वहाँ रहा। jab tak rām na āe, tab tak main vahām rahā, I stayed there until Rām came.

(b) Concerning जैसा jaisā and its use, one might have expected the oblique case pair जैसे . . . वैसे jaise . . . vaise to cover the adverbial idea of the English 'in such a way as', etc. But in fact the direct case forms are usually used to express this idea, as well as sometimes serving as near equivalents of the जो-वह jo . . . vah pair, and the use of जैसे jaise (usually with ही hī) and its correlative is specialized in the sense 'as soon as . . . then'.

(c) जैसे jaise alone is, however, used in the adverbial senses 'like, just as, as if'. With preceding nouns and pronouns it functions as either a simple postposition or the main component of a compound postposition: e.g.

उन जैसे लोग un jaise log,
उनके जैसे लोग unke jaise log, } people like them.

जैसे मैंने कहा, वह दूसरे ही दिन चला गया। jaise mainne kahā, vah dūse hī din calā gayā, As I said, he left on the very next day.

उनकी आँखें भीगी थी, जैसे वह रोनेवाली हो। unki āṁkhen bhīgī thī, jaise vah ronevālī ho, Her eyes were moist, as if she were about to cry.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed; see Lesson VIII, p. 43, n. 1.

<sup>2</sup> Sometimes नहीं nahīn is substituted for न na, in which case a future verb replaces a subjunctive.

<sup>3</sup> For रोनेवाली ronevālī 'about to cry' see Lesson XXV, pp. 152 ff.

(d) Note in the sentences showing the pairs जितना . . . उतना (ही) jitnā . . . utnā (hī), जैसा . . . वैसा (ही) jaisā . . . vaisā (hī), how equality is stressed by the use of ही hī with the correlative, or of भी bhī in the correlative clause; also in the last example showing जितना jitnā, how this form and उतना utnā can be used with adjectives.

(e) From the sentences showing the pair जो . . . वह jo . . . vah (additional to those given in Lesson VIII) note that the correlative as well as the relative may occur in either case.

3. Though the pattern described above is a basic one, the principal clause will not infrequently be found initially, followed by the relative clause. Some cases when this can occur are:

(a) In sentences where जो jo correlates with a noun preceded by a word of indefinite reference, such as एक ek, कोई koī; English translation equivalents contain an indefinite, rather than a definite, article. See Lesson VIII, p. 47, first example.

(b) In more complicated sentences, to simplify their presentation, especially those containing disyllabic relatives and correlatives. Thus with three of the examples listed in section 2 above compare the following:

यह मकान उतना ही महंगा है जितना (कि) वह मकान (है)। yah makān utnā hī mahāngā hai jitnā (ki) vah makān (hai).<sup>1</sup>

दिल्ली की आबादी उतनी बड़ी नहीं है जितनी (कि) कलकत्ते की (है)। dillī kī ābādī utnī barī nahīn hai jitnī (ki) kulkatte kī (hai).

मैं वहाँ रहना चाहता हूँ जहाँ हिंदी बोली जाती है। main vahām rahnā cāhtā hūm jahām hindī bolī jāti hai.

(c) Where prominence is given to a constituent of a principal clause, rather than of a subordinate clause; e.g. in the following sentence, in which the negated verb is the most prominent sentence constituent:

वह आदमी नहीं आया जिसके बारे में हम बात कर रहे थे। vah ādmī nahīn āyā jiske बारे में ham bāt kar rahe the, 'The man we were talking about didn't come.'

<sup>1</sup> A pleonastic ki is sometimes found in conjunction with relatives in colloquial usage. Further examples are given in Supplement III, p. 183.

Compare with this sentence

हम जिस आदमी के बारे में बात कर रहे थे, वह नहीं आया । ham jis ādmī ke बारे में बात कर रहे थे, वह नहीं आया । ham jis ādmī ke बारे में बात कर रहे थे, वह नहीं आया । ham jis ādmī ke बारे में बात कर रहे थे, वह नहीं आया । mem bāt kar rahe the, vah nahīn āyā, The man we were talking about didn't come,

where the identity of the man concerned is stressed, and the fact that there had been a conversation about him.

4. Sometimes there is no explicit correlation of relative with principal clause, as in English. Compare with the eleventh example on p. 83

हिंदुस्तान, जहाँ हिंदी बोली जाती है, बहुत बड़ा देश है । hindustān, jahām hindī bolī jāti hai, bahut barā deś hai, India, where Hindi is spoken, is a very large country.

5. Note particularly that in colloquial usage correlation is very often not expressed, though it is understood: e.g.

जिस किसी का जो जी चाहे, करे । jis kisī kā jo jī chāhe, kare, Everyone may do whatever he likes (whatever his soul [जी jī, m.] desires).

Many of the correlatives in the sentences given above could be omitted colloquially.

6. Note that frequently relative words and phrases, especially in initial clauses, may stand in first place in their clauses or may follow subjects, without the emphasis of the sentence being very greatly altered. Compare, for instance, with the fourth example listed in section 2 above the sentence of similar emphasis. Further illustrations will be found in the exercises to this Lesson.

मैं जब तक यहाँ रहूँगा, तब तक वे काम करेंगे । māin jab tak yahāin rahūnga, tab tak ve kām karenge

VOCABULARY

आबादी ābādī , f., population	भीगा bhīgā , wet
विश्वास viśvās , m., faith, confidence	विश्वास करना viśvās karnā (par), believe, believe to be true
खबर khabar , f., news, information	की कोशिश करना kī kōśiś karnā , try
तार tār , m., wire; telegram, cable

EXERCISE 27

आप जब भी आना चाहें, तब आइए । जब तक आप यहाँ रहना चाहें, तब तक रहिए । मैंने जब तक चाहा, तब तक यहाँ रहा । मैं जब तक भारत न गया था, तब तक मैंने हिंदी<sup>1</sup> पढ़ी । आप जैसे ही इलाहाबाद पहुँचें, वैसे ही मुझे तार भेजिए । कल जितने लोग यहाँ थे, आज उतने नहीं थे । आप जहाँ भी जाएँ, आपको वहाँ के लोगों की भाषा बोलने की कोशिश करनी चाहिए ।

EXERCISE 28

I wasn't at home when you came. I didn't understand what he said. I shall study Hindi until I go to India. As soon as I saw him I recognized him. I have as many English books as you have Hindi books. Do whatever he says. The men we saw here yesterday don't live in this village.

<sup>1</sup> The pronoun with ने ne is expressed, not understood, following the preceding subject concord construction. This usage is not obligatory, but is somewhat preferred by careful speakers.

LESSON XV

THE VERB सकना saknā 'to be able to . . .'

1. THIS verb is used as an auxiliary with verb stems. It is never used alone.

मैं हिंदी बोल सकता हूँ । māim hindī bol saktā hūm, I can speak Hindi.

मैं हिंदी नहीं बोल सकता । māim hindī nahīm bol saktā, I can't speak Hindi.

मैं अपना काम नहीं कर सका । māim apnā kām nahīm kar sakā, I couldn't do my work.

(a) In sentences of neutral style and emphasis negatives precede stems of simple verbs with auxiliary सकना saknā, rather than intervening between stem and auxiliary. A sentence such as मैं सो न(ही) सका māim so na(hīm) sakā 'I couldn't sleep' is somewhat affective in character.

(b) Stems of transitive verbs with perfective forms of auxiliary सकना saknā are not used in construction with ने ne (सकना saknā itself not being transitive).

2. Sentences showing an imperfective past tense form of सकना saknā may be ambiguous: e.g.

मैं भारत जा सकता था । māim bhārat jā saktā thā, I could have gone to India (but didn't).

I used to be able to go to India.

This ambiguity depends on the fact that the locution जा सकता था jā saktā thā expresses only continued ability to go, leaving open the question whether this ability was exercised or not. But in practice the majority of sentences of this kind refer to an ability not exercised.

3. सकना saknā may also occur in sentences expressing grant of permission, or possibility.

आप जा सकते हैं । āp jā sakte haim, You may go.

मैं कल बनारस जा सकता हूँ । māim kal banāras jā saktā hūm, I may go to Banaras tomorrow.

THE VERB चुकना cuknā

This is an intransitive verb meaning 'to finish'; its characteristic use, however, is as an auxiliary with verb stems to stress that the action described by a stem is completed, has already taken place.

मैं गरमियों में कश्मीर जा रहा हूँ । नैनीताल जा चुका हूँ । māim garmiyōm mēm kaśmīr jā rahā hūm; nainītal jā cukā hūm, In the summer I'm going to Kashmir; I've already been to Nainital.

मैं खा चुका हूँ । māim khā cukā hūm, I've already eaten, I've had my meal.
मैं हिंदुस्तान में रह चुका हूँ । māim hindustān mēm rah cukā hūm, I've lived in India.

मैं अगले हफ्ते तक यह पत्र लिख चुकूँगा । māim agle hafte tak yah patr likh cukūngā, I shall write, get this letter written, by next week.

(a) Note that frequently an English verb with the adverb 'already' has the force of a Hindi verb stem with auxiliary चुकना cuknā; but also that चुकना cuknā with verb stems has no one English translation equivalent.

(b) Stems of transitive verbs with perfective forms of auxiliary चुकना cuknā are not used in construction with ने ne (चुकना cuknā itself not being transitive).

THE VERB मिलना milnā

This intransitive verb means basically 'to accrue' or 'to be available', and is used in a variety of sentence types.

1. In conjunction with a subject and an expressed or implied noun or pronoun in the oblique case with को ko (or an equivalent pronominal object form), it answers frequently to the English verbs 'get', 'receive', 'meet', etc., although the syntax of these verbs is quite different, since they are transitive. The noun or pronoun with को ko, or equivalent object form, usually precedes the subject, except where मिलना milnā has the sense '(happen to) meet', where it normally follows it: e.g.

(मुझे) आपका पत्र मिला । (mujhe) āpkā patr milā, I got your letter (your letter accrued to me).

आपको उस दूकान में अच्छी मिठाइयाँ मिलेंगी । āpho us dūkān mēm acchī miṭhāiyāñ mileṅgī, You'll get excellent sweets in that shop.

उस काम के लिए उसे सौ रुपए मिले । us kām ke lie use sau rupae mile, He got 100 rupees for that work.

कल शहर में वह मुझे संयोग से मिला था । kal šahr meñ vah mujhe samyog se milā thā, Yesterday I ran across him in the city.<sup>1</sup>

2. It also answers to English intransitive expressions such as 'to be available', 'to be found'. Here, मिलना milnā likewise being intransitive, the syntax of Hindi and English equivalent sentences is very similar.

भारत में बहुत सस्ती सिग्रेटें मिलती हैं । bhārat meñ bahut sastī sigreṭeñi miltī hain, Very cheap cigarettes can be had in India.

कश्मीर के पहाड़ों में भालू मिलते हैं । kaśmīr ke pahāṛōñ meñ bhālū milte hain, Bears are found in the mountains of Kashmir.

3. मिलना milnā is generally used in construction with से se to refer to meeting other than by chance; also to express resemblance.

उससे मिलकर बातें होंगी । unse milkar bāteñ hoñgī, I'll meet him and we'll have a talk.

क्या मैं आपसे दस बजे मिल सकता हूँ? kyā main āpse das baje mil saktā hūñ? May I see you at 10 o'clock?

कल शहर में वह मुझसे मिला था । kal šahr meñ vah mujhse milā thā, Yesterday he met me, came to see me, in the city.

(Compare with this last example the last example given in section 1, showing मिलना milnā in construction with को ko.)

मैं शकल से अपने भाई से नहीं मिलता । main šakl se apne bhāī se nahīñ miltā, I don't look like my brother.

4. Sometimes the verb मिलना milnā is linked in a conventionalized way with an 'echoing verb', जुलना julnā<sup>2</sup>: e.g.

हमें पड़ोसियों से मिल-जुलकर रहना चाहिए । hamēñ paṛosiyoñ se mil-julkar rahnā cāhīe, We should live on good terms with our neighbours.

आप चेहरे से अपने भाई से बिल्कुल मिलते-जुलते हैं । āp cehre se apne bhāī se bilkul milte-julte hain, You look just like your brother.

<sup>1</sup> संयोग से samyog se 'by chance'.

<sup>2</sup> The linking of verbs in this way is common in Hindi. In some cases the second member of such a verb pair has an independent meaning of its own which reinforces that of the main verb, but frequently it is merely based on a rhyming or echoing syllable. Often use of a verb pair is slightly affective in character. Participles, infinitives, and absolutes are the most usual components of verb pairs; absolute pairs always show the first absolute in stem form (as in the first example).

VOCABULARY

मिठाई mithāī, f., sweet

संयोग samyog, m., chance; संयोग से samyog se, by chance

भालू bhālū, m., bear

पड़ोसी paṛosī, m., neighbour

चेहरा cehrā,<sup>1</sup> m., face, features

शकल šakl, f., face, features; form

कोश koś, m., dictionary

भूल bhūl, f., error

उत्तर uttar, m., answer;

पत्र का उत्तर देना patr kā uttar denā, answer a letter

सूचना sūcnā, f., information

पुरस्कार puraskār, m., reward

के अलावा ke alāwā, apart from

बिल्कुल bilkul, completely, quite

EXERCISE 29

आप जब भी आ सकें, तब आइए । जब तक मैं रह सका, तब तक रहा । मुझे बहुत अफसोस है कि मैं कल आपसे न मिल सका । हिंदी के अलावा हम भारत में कई और<sup>2</sup> भारतीय भाषाएँ सीख सकते थे । आप चाय पी चुके? वह हिंदी कोश आसानी से नहीं मिलता । हम कब मिल सकते हैं? यह कपड़ा उससे मिलता-जुलता है ।

EXERCISE 30

I can't write Hindi very easily. Whenever I write, I make mistakes. When I got there he had already left.<sup>3</sup> I answered his letter as soon as I got it. Anyone who can give<sup>4</sup> information about this will receive a reward. You can get Hindi books in that shop.

<sup>1</sup> First vowel usually short [ɛ].

<sup>2</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>3</sup> जाना jānā.

<sup>4</sup> Use future tense.

LESSON XVI

COMPARISON

SOME types of comparative expression involving relatives were noted in Lesson XIV. Most of the others are considered here.

1. Adjectives, when used in non-explicit comparisons, usually show the words और aur or और भी aur bhī preceding them. और aur is stressed in these usages: e.g.

वह बड़ा है, लेकिन आप और (भी) बड़े हैं। vah barā hai, lekin āp aur (bhī) barē hain, He is big, but you are bigger (even bigger).

और बड़ा संदूक ले आओ। aur barā sandūq le āo, Bring a bigger box.

2. When comparison is explicit (i.e. when an English translation equivalent makes use of the word 'than') the noun or pronoun with which the comparison is made is associated with the postposition से se, followed by the adjective in normal concord: e.g.

आप उससे बड़े हैं। āp usse barē hain, You are bigger than he.

3. Collocations of adjective with preceding सबसे subse (usually written as one unit) may be compared with superlatives in English. They are used both attributively and predicatively.

वह बड़ा है, मैं भी बड़ा हूँ, लेकिन आप सबसे बड़े हैं। vah barā hai, main bhī barā hūm, lekin āp subse barē hain, He is big and so am I, but you are the biggest (of us all).

कलकत्ता पहले भारत का सबसे बड़ा शहर था। kalkattā pahle bhārat kā sabse barā shahr thā, Calcutta used to be the biggest city in India (India's biggest city).

(a) Occasionally for the word सब sab in these locutions the adjective itself may occur. Such expressions are affective in tone, unlike those with सब sub, except in the case of a few standardized adverbial expressions.

उसके पास अच्छी से अच्छी किताबें हैं। uske pās acchī se acchī kitābēn hain, He's got excellent, really good books.

कम से कम kam se kam, at least

COMPARISON

93

4. Adjectives which are direct borrowings from Sanskrit may form comparatives with the suffix -tar and/or superlatives with the suffix -tam. Some such forms found are:

उच्च ucc, high (cf. ऊँचा ūncā, the common Hindi word) उच्चतर uccatar, higher

प्रिय priy, dear, beloved प्रियतम priyatam, dearest

अनन्य ananya, unique अनन्यतम ananyatam, quite unique, peerless

आधुनिक ādhunik, modern आधुनिकतम ādhuniktam, most modern

वह उच्चतर अध्ययन के लिए आक्सफर्ड चले गए। vah uccatar adhyayan ke lie āksfard chale gae, He went to Oxford for advanced study.

These forms are comparatively rare except in verse, and are elsewhere largely confined to the written language. To use the forms described in sections 1-3 above is never really incorrect.

5. Occasionally other Sanskrit superlative forms are met with in Hindi, not always preserving strict superlative sense, and again usually in the written language. The commonest are:

ज्येष्ठ jyēṣṭh, older, eldest कनिष्ठ kaniṣṭh, younger, youngest श्रेष्ठ śreṣṭh, very good, best बलिष्ठ balīṣṭh, very strong

सर्वश्रेष्ठ sarvaśreṣṭh, foremost, supreme

6. Much more common are a limited number of Persian comparatives and superlatives. The latter likewise have intensive force as much as superlative.

बेहतर behtar better<sup>1</sup>

बेहतरीन behtarīn best, choice<sup>1</sup>

बदतर badtar worse

ज्यादातर zyādātār most (of); most commonly, very much

आपको इस दूकान में हिंदुस्तान के बेहतरीन कपड़े मिलेंगे। āpho is dūkān meṁ hindustān ke behtarīn kapre milēnge, You'll find India's choicest fabrics (on sale) in this shop.

ज्यादातर विद्यार्थी हिंदी पढ़ते हैं। zyādātār vidyārthī hindī paṛhte hain, Most of the students study Hindi.

मैं ज्यादातर यहाँ बैठता हूँ। main zyādātār yahām baiṭhā hūm, I very often sit here.

<sup>1</sup> The first vowel of these words is usually short [e]

COMPARATIVE AND OTHER EXPRESSIONS WITH ज्यादा zyādā AND अधिक adhik

1. The invariable and equivalent words ज्यादा zyādā and अधिक adhik are common as adjectives, pronouns, and adverbs in locutions whose English equivalents contain expressions of quantity such as more; (very) many; too many;

much; very much; too much

इस साल अधिक विद्यार्थी हैं। is sāl adhik vidyārthī hain, There are more, very many students this year.

आप ज्यादा काम न कीजिए। āp zyādā kām na kijie, Please don't do any more work, too much work.

आप ज्यादा न खाइए। āp zyādā na khāie, Don't eat any more, too much.

मैं अब वहाँ ज्यादा जाता हूँ। main ab wahān zyādā jātā hūn, I go there a lot now.

Their emphasis can be increased by prefixing them with बहुत (ही) bahut (hī): e.g.

इस साल बहुत (ही) ज्यादा विद्यार्थी हैं। is sāl bahut (hī) zyādā vidyārthī hain, There are a very great number of students, too many students, this year.

मैं अब वहाँ बहुत ज्यादा जाता हूँ। main ab wahān bahut zyādā jātā hūn, I go there a great deal now.

The translation of expressions containing ज्यादा zyādā and अधिक adhik depends, of course, on the context. Since they can occur in a wide range of contexts, translation equivalents can vary considerably.

(a) Note that as adjectives and pronouns ज्यादा zyādā and अधिक adhik signify 'a large amount of' or 'a greater amount of than', and are not normally exact equivalents of और aur, which means 'additional'. Compare the sentences

और लीजिए। aur lijie, Please take some more.

ज्यादा लीजिए। zyādā lijie, Please take a larger helping, please take a lot.

(b) Note the frequent use of इतना itnā 'as many, as much, as this', with following pleonastic ज्यादा zyādā or अधिक adhik: e.g.

आपको इतना ज्यादा काम न करना चाहिए। āpko itnā zyādā kām na karnā chāhie, You shouldn't work as hard as this.

उतना utnā, the corresponding adjective of distant reference, is used in a similar way.

2. Preceding adjectives, ज्यादा zyādā and अधिक adhik have the senses 'rather', 'very', or 'too' (this last especially when emphasized by बहुत bahut): e.g.

भारत का जलवायु ज्यादा गरम है। bhārat kā jalvāyu zyādā garm hai, India's climate is very hot.

मेरे लिए भारत का जलवायु बहुत ज्यादा गरम है। mere lie bhārat hā jalvāyu bahut zyādā garm hai, India's climate is too hot for me.

REPORTS OF STATEMENTS AND QUESTIONS

Reports of statements made and questions asked are very frequently made by citing the exact words attributed to the speaker, linked by the conjunction कि ki to the principal clause of the sentence. Two English sentences are rephrased below to illustrate the structure of their Hindi equivalents.

I said (that) I would write the letter: I said that I shall write the letter.

I asked him when he had come: I asked him that when did you come.

1. Statements

उसने कहा कि मैं सच बोलूंगा। usne kahā ki main sac bolūngā, He said he would speak the truth.

मैंने उनसे कहा कि आप अच्छी हिंदी बोलते हैं। mainne unse kahā ki āp acchī hindī bolte hain, I told him he spoke Hindi well.

उसने मुझसे कहा कि आप अच्छी हिंदी बोलते हैं। usne mujhse kahā ki āp acchī hindī bolte hain, He told me that I spoke Hindi well.

(a) The construction can be ambiguous (as can the English construction, though the ambiguities are not the same). The sentence 'I told him you spoke Hindi well', for instance, is also a possible translation equivalent of the second example given. This is so because third person pronouns are not normally used in this construction to denote a speaker or a person actually addressed.

(b) As far as pronouns are concerned a thoroughly systematic use of this construction is not felt to be obligatory, especially in language that is at all removed from the colloquial, and notably in the Western-influenced, literary prose language. Where pronouns are not used in accordance with the logic of the construction, verb concord of course varies accordingly. An equivalent of the first example above could thus be उसने कहा कि वह सब बोलेंगा । usne kahā ki vah sac boleṅā.

(c) Sentences expressing a person's train of thought are usually cast in the same form as reports of statements and questions: e.g.

उसने सोचा कि मैं दिल्ली जाऊँगा । usne socā ki main dillī jāūṅgā, He thought he would go to Delhi.

(d) Linking ki is very frequently omitted in colloquial usage.

2. Questions

उसने मुझसे पूछा कि आप कैसे हैं? usne mujhse pūchā ki āp kaise hain? He asked me how I was.

मैं उनसे पूछूँगा कि क्या आप दिल्ली जा रहे हैं? main usse pūchūṅgā ki kyā āp dillī jā rahe hain? I shall ask him if he is going to Delhi.

क्या आप जानते हैं कि क्लास कब शुरू होती है? kyā āp jānte hain ki klās kab surū hotī hai? Do you know when the class begins?

(a) The notes to the preceding section also apply to this section. Note the alternative English equivalents of the first two examples: 'He asked how you were' and (assuming a suitable context) 'I shall ask him if you are going to Delhi'.

INDIRECT COMMANDS

A request or command which is to be passed on to another person may be expressed by a subordinate clause containing a third person subjunctive verb, linked to its principal clause by the conjunction ki. An English sentence is rephrased below to illustrate the structure of its Hindi equivalent.

Tell him to stop work: Tell him that he should stop work.

उनसे कहिए कि वे मुझे एक पत्र लिखें । unse kahie ki ve mujhe ek patr likhen, Please ask, tell, him to write me a letter.

मैंने उससे कहा कि वह काम खत्म करे । mainne usse kahā ki vah kām khatm kare, I asked, told, him to stop work.

(a) Alternatively an infinitive in oblique case may be used with either of the postpositions के लिए ke lie or को ko. The request or command is then rather more direct in tone: e.g.

मैंने उनसे यहाँ आने को कहा । mainne unse yahām āne ko kahā, I told, asked, him to come here.

मैंने उनसे यहाँ आने के लिए कहा । mainne unse yahām āne ke lie kahā, I told, asked, him to come here.

(b) कहना kahnā expressing indirect commands is normally used in construction with से se, as in other cases. Used in construction with को ko it implies a distinctly peremptory command: e.g.

उसको यहाँ आने को कहो । usko yahām āne ko kaho, Tell him to come here.

(c) The verb पूछना pūchnā means 'ask' in the sense 'inquire', not 'request', and is thus of course not used in expressing indirect commands.

VOCABULARY

अध्ययन adhyayan , m., study	गली galī , f., narrow street, alley
जलवायु javāyu , m., climate	गंगा gaṅgā , f., River Ganges
तमिल tamīl , f., Tamil	यमुना yamunā , f., River Jumna
जीवन jīvan , m., life	पुस्तकालय pustakālay , m., library
विषय viṣay , m., subject, matter,	मित्र mitr , m., friend topic	कम से कम ham se kam , at least पन्ना pannā , m., page

EXERCISE 31

हिंदी तमिल से आसान है । हिंदी तमिल से आसान भाषा है । क्या शहर का जीवन गाँव के जीवन से दिलचस्प होता है? उस विषय पर कम से कम तीन पन्ने लिखिए । जितने लोग हिंदी बोलते हैं, उतने कोई दूसरी भारतीय भाषा नहीं बोलते । भारत दुनिया के सबसे दिलचस्प देशों में से<sup>1</sup> एक है । उसे भारत के बारे में बहुत कुछ मालूम है । मैंने उनसे कहा कि आपको इससे बहुत ज्यादा काम करना पड़ेगा । उसने मुझसे पूछा कि क्या कपड़ा बाजार की उस गली में मिल सकता है । क्या आपने उनसे कहा कि मैं कल नहीं आ सकूँगा? मैंने उससे कहा कि वह काम कल तक खत्म करे ।

<sup>1</sup> में से mem se, literally 'from among'. This usage is discussed in Supplement III, p. 178.

EXERCISE 32

The Ganges is longer than the Jumna. Bombay is nowadays the biggest city in India. It seems that you do more work than he. You'll meet several Indian students there. I need more books. This library is too small. He told his friends that he had already eaten. He told his friends to come to<sup>1</sup> his house at 6.15 p.m. As soon as I got your letter I told him that you were coming to Delhi.

<sup>1</sup> पर par.

LESSON XVII

COMPOUND VERBS

COMPOUND verbs are composites of verb stems with one of a small number of auxiliary verbs; their basic meaning is that of the verb stem, modified or made specific in some sense by the particular auxiliary used. The independent meaning of an auxiliary is not present, or is only figuratively present, in compound verbs. The auxiliaries may thus be called 'dependent auxiliaries'. Compound verbs are used very freely in most styles of Hindi, and the student must learn to use them reasonably accurately if his Hindi is to seem at all convincing to a native speaker. This takes time and effort. The first difficulty is that the common auxiliaries do not always lend one and the same additional shade of meaning to all the stems with which they may be used; the force of the auxiliaries is conditioned by the sense and range of usage of individual stems. Furthermore, similar modifications of the sense of stems can sometimes be brought about by more than one auxiliary, though the student will rarely have a free choice of these in conjunction with any given verb. Finally the use or non-use of compound verbs is frequently a matter of style or taste. The student must train himself to observe just which collocations are used by native speakers or writers, and in which contexts.

The following discussion of the main dependent auxiliaries, with the attached general notes, should give sufficient guidance for most ordinary collocations to be intelligible.

1. जाना jānā

जाना jānā in general stresses the fact that an action is completed or carried through as a process. It stresses the element of action inherent in such intransitive verbs as होना honā, रहना rahnā, बैठना baiṭhnā, which may express both action and non-active state. It occurs with both intransitive and transitive verbs. It is particularly common with verbs of motion.

वह दो बजे यहाँ आ जाएगा । vah do baje yahūm ā jāgā, He will arrive, get here, at two.

वह मर गया । vah mar gayā, He died, he's dead.

मैं ठीक समय पर दिल्ली पहुँच गया । maim ṭhik samay par dillī pahūnc gayā.
I arrived punctually in Delhi.

बारिश में घास हरी हो जाती है । bāris meṁ ghās harī ho jātī hai, When it rains the grass turns green.

हो गया? ho gayā? Have you finished? (your work, meal, etc.).<sup>1</sup>

मैं सब रोटियाँ खा गया । main sah roṭiyāṁ khā gayā, I ate all the rotis (finished them, ate them up).

वह कुर्सी पर बैठ गया । vah kursī par baiṭh gayā, He sat down on a chair.

बैठ जाइए! baiṭh jāie! Take a seat, please.

बरसात में पानी यहाँ रह जाता है । barsāt meṁ pānī yahām rah jātā hai, During the rainy season water collects here.

आप मेरी बात समझ गए होंगे । āp merī bāt samajh gae hōnge, You will have understood, grasped, what I've been saying.

लड़का पूरा पन्ना पढ़ गया । laṛkā pūrā pannā paṛh gayā, The boy read through the entire page.

(a) जाना jānā is only rarely used with the stem of the verb चलना calnā 'move, go'; चल जाना cal jānā has the sense 'begin, get going'. The senses 'move along, go away' are expressed by चला जाना calā jānā: e.g.

तीन आदमी रास्ते में चले जा रहे थे । tin ādmī rāste meṁ cale jā rahe the, Three men were walking along the road.

See further Supplement II, pp. 172 f.

2. लेना lenā

लेना lenā has a general reflexive sense, suggesting that the given action is of particular interest to the doer, and often carrying an implication that it is carried out with difficulty, cleverly contrived, etc. It is often used with its own stem le. It is rare with intransitive verbs.

मैं ग्यारह बजे खा लेता हूँ । main gyārah baje khā letā hūṁ, I have my meal at 11 o'clock.

मैं एक मकान खरीद लूँगा । main ek makān kharīd lūngā, I'm going to buy, going to buy myself, a house.

मैंने यह निश्चय कर लिया कि वह यहाँ नहीं रह सकता । mainne yah niścay kar liyā ki vah yahām nahīn rah saktā, I decided that he couldn't stay here (after some thought).

आपने बहुत हिंदी सीख ली । āpne bahut hindī sikh lī, You've learned a lot of Hindi.

<sup>1</sup> Literally 'has (it) become (finished)'.

राम से ले लो, और श्याम को दे दो । rām se le lo, aur śyām ko de do, Take it from Rām and give it to Śyām.<sup>1</sup>

मैं उसके साथ हो लिया । main uske sāth ho liyā, I went (along) with him, accompanied him.

3. देना denā

देना denā is frequently complementary to लेना lenā, suggesting that the given action particularly concerns some other person than the doer. Sometimes it simply stresses that an action is complete and done with. Note the common दे देना de denā; cf. ले लेना le lenā above. देना denā is not very common with intransitive verbs.

जज ने यह निर्णय कर दिया कि वह निरपराध है । jaj ne yah nirṇay kar diyā ki vah niraparādh hai, The judge decided, determined, that he was innocent.

लड़के ने पूरा पन्ना पढ़ दिया । laṛke ne pūrā pannā paṛh diyā, The boy read out the entire page.

उसने अपने मित्र को छोड़ दिया । usne apne mitr ko chor diyā, He abandoned his friend.

चल दिए? cal diē? You're off?<sup>2</sup>

गाड़ी चल दी । gāri cal dī, The train left.

दरवाजा बंद कर दीजिए । darvāzā band kar dijie, Please close the door.

लड़की रो दी । laṛkī ro dī, The girl burst into tears (could not hold back her tears).

4. पड़ना paṛnā, उठना uṭhnā

These verbs, meaning literally 'fall' or 'be found', and 'rise', are often used with stems which themselves denote actions of falling and rising respectively (either literally or figuratively). They also often stress the idea of a change of circumstance, particularly a sudden one. The majority of relevant stems collocate with either one or the other, but with some stems both are used, and may express different degrees of the given action.

कागज फर्श पर गिर पड़ा । kāgaz farś par gir paṛā, The paper fell to the floor.

गाड़ी चल पड़ी । gāri cal paṛī, The train began to move.

लड़का पानी में कूद पड़ा । laṛkā pānī meṁ kūd paṛā, The boy jumped into the water.

<sup>1</sup> For दे दो de do 'give' see following section.

<sup>2</sup> For perfective forms used with reference to future time, as exemplified by दिए diē here, see Supplement II, pp. 170 f.

अंत में वह घर से बाहर निकल पड़ा । ant mein vah ghar se bahar nikal payā, Finally he emerged from the house.

कवि की आवाज़ कमरे में गूँज उठी । kavi kī āvāz kamre mein gūnj uṭhī, The poet's voice rang out in the room.

वह बोल उठा कि . . . vah bol uṭhā kī . . ., He (suddenly) said, blurted out, that . . .

लड़की रो पड़ी । larkī ro parī, The girl burst into tears.

लड़की रो उठी । larkī ro uṭhī, The girl began to sob bitterly.

मैं हँस पड़ा । main hans payā, I burst out laughing.

हम हँस उठे । ham hans uṭhe, We roared with laughter.

वह शोर से चौंक पड़ा । vah sor se chauṅk payā, He started at the noise.

वह शोर से चौंक उठा । vah sor se chauṅk uṭhā, He started violently at the noise.

5. डालना ḍālnā

डालना ḍālnā, meaning literally 'throw down', may suggest either that the given action is violent, decisive, or drastic, or that it is done in an off-hand, casual way.

उसने अपने भाई को मार डाला । usne apne bhāī ko mār ḍālā, He killed his brother.

उसने अपना सब माल बेच डाला । usne apnā sab māl bec ḍālā, He sold up, sold off, all his goods.

(a) मारना mārnā used alone often means 'beat, strike'; मार डालना mār ḍālnā regularly means 'kill'.

6. बैठना baiṭhnā

बैठना baiṭhnā, meaning literally 'sit', most often suggests something anticlimactic, a deterioration of some kind. Often it implies that an action is censurable, e.g. done foolishly, thoughtlessly, maliciously or with cunning.

वह रास्ते में अपना सारा माल खो बैठा । vah rāste mein apnā sārā māl kho baiṭhā, He lost all his belongings on the way.

अरे यह क्या कर बैठे हैं? are yah kyā kar baiṭhe hain? Oh, what have you done, gone and done, now?<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> यह yah is used in a vague demonstrative way here, referring to the whole unpleasant situation.

देशद्रोही एक षड्यंत्र रच बैठे थे । deśdrohī ek ṣaḍyantra rac baiṭhe the, The traitors laid a plot.

सहसा वह उठ बैठा । sahsā vah uṭh baiṭhā, Suddenly he started up (involuntarily).

वह अपनी माँ से लड़ बैठा । vah apnī mām se lar baiṭhā, He quarrelled with his mother.

7. आना ānā

आना ānā is complementary to जाना jānā (though not nearly as common), suggesting the completion or emphasizing the carrying through of actions directed towards a place, literal or figurative, from which they are considered. It is of course most common with verbs of motion.

मैं दो बजे पहुँच आया । main do baje pahunc āyā, I arrived at two o'clock.

बीस मिनट चलकर वह शहर से निकल आया । bīs minaṭ calkar vah shahr se nikal āyā, After walking twenty minutes he came out of the town.

दीवार पर लताएँ उग आई हैं । divār par lutāeṁ ug āī hain, Creepers have grown, grown up, over the wall.

(a) आना ānā is not used with the stem of the verb चलना calnā 'move, go'; note the collocation चलना आना calā ānā, parallel to चलना जाना calā jānā.

यह परंपरा हजारों बरस से चली आ रही है । yah paramparā hazāron baras se calī ā rahī hai, This tradition has been carried on for thousands of years.

See further Supplement II, pp. 172 f.

8. चलना calnā

This verb is sometimes used to stress the progressive element in an action.

शाम का समय था । अँधेरा हो चला था । śām kā samay thā. andherā ho calā thā, It was evening. Darkness was drawing on (it was getting dark).

9. निकलना nikalnā

निकलना nikalnā, meaning literally 'emerge', sometimes suggests suddenness or unexpectedness of the given action, much as पड़ना paṛnā, with verbs of motion.

वह अचानक मेरे घर के सामने आ निकला । vah acānak mere ghar ke sāmne ā niklā, He suddenly appeared in front of my house.

बैल रस्सी तुड़ाकर भाग निकला । bail rassī tuṛākar bhāg niklā, The ox broke the rope and escaped.

10. पहुँचना pahunchā

पहुँचना pahunchā, used with जाना ānā and also जाना jānā, stresses the implications of arrival rather than the performance of the given action.

वह दो बजे आगरे आ पहुँचा । vah do baje āgre ā pahunchā, He reached Agra at two o'clock (after a long journey, for an impending meeting, etc.).

11. पाना pānā

पाना pānā, meaning literally 'get, find', stresses not so much ability to perform an action (cf. सकना saknā) as possibility of performing it, ability to complete it. Compound verbs containing पाना pānā are very often negated.

मैं यह काम नहीं कर पाया । main yah kām nahīn kar pāyā, I wasn't able to do this work (couldn't manage it).

12. रखना rakhnā

रखना rakhnā underlines the fact that the action results in the achievement of a state of some duration.

मैं पाँच बजे तक सोच रखूँगा । main pāñc baje tak soch rakhūngā, I shall make my mind up, decide, by five o'clock.

मैंने एक जगह रोक रखी है । mainne ek jagah rok rakhī hai, I've reserved a place, seat.

लड़की ने साड़ी पहन रखी है । larkī ne sārī pahn rakhī hai, The girl has on, is wearing, a sari.

General notes

(a) Note particularly that although the force of compound verbs can often best be brought out by the use of English translation equivalents of colloquial character, compound verb usage in Hindi has nothing exclusively colloquial about it.

(b) Compound verbs (other than those with auxiliary पाना pānā) are relatively rarely negated in sentences of neutral style and emphasis. In so far as negatives occur in such sentences they precede stems; but in affective contexts they frequently occur between stem and auxiliary.

(c) Compound verbs are used in construction with ने ne when both the stem verb and the auxiliary are themselves used independently with ने ne, except that no compound verbs with auxiliary पाना pānā are used in construction with ने ne. Of these verbs which are used independently both with and without ने ne, at least one can be used in either construction with transitive auxiliaries, viz. रो देना ro denā (usually without, sometimes with ने ne). See the examples above for illustrations.

(d) In some cases questions of syllable economy and a feeling for the balance of a given sentence may be sufficient to decide whether a compound verb will or will not be used. Sometimes the position of a verb in non-final or final clause is a deciding factor. A Hindi speaker will often feel that an idea expressed by means of a simple verb is somehow incomplete and presupposes something following in the same sentence, whereas use of a compound verb rounds off a sentence more effectively.

(e) Compound verbs do not normally form absolutes in -kar/-ke. Compare the following sentences:

वह बैठ गया । vah baiṭh gayā, He sat down.

वह बैठकर बोला कि . . . vah baiṭhkar bolā ki . . ., He sat down and said that . . .

(f) Note that compound verbs are in form identical with collocations of unextended absolute with following finite verb (from which they derive historically). In some cases the same form of words can be interpreted in different ways, dependent on its context, and, usually, intonation: e.g.

वह खाना खा गया है । vah khānā khā gayā hai could mean 'He's finished his meal', or, possibly 'he's eaten and left'.

(g) Compound verbs may be formed on the stems of conjunct verbs (see pp. 57 ff.) just as on other verb stems: e.g.

मैंने काम शुरू कर दिया है mainne kām śurū kar diyā hai, I've started work (compound verb formed on शुरू करना śurū karnā).

VOCABULARY

घास ghās , f., grass	अंत ant , m., end
रोटी rotī , f., bread (chapatti)	कवि kavī , m., poet
निश्चय niscay , m., decision, resolve	आवाज़ āvāz , f., voice
निर्णय nirṇay , m., decision (between alternatives)	शोर śor , m., noise
फर्श farś , m., floor	माल māl , m., goods, belongings
	देशद्रोही deśdrohī , m., traitor

पड़यंत्र * ṣaḍyantra , m., plot	चौकना caukhnā , start, be startled
लता latā , f., creeper	रचना racnā , create, produce
परंपरा paramparā , f., tradition	उठना uṭhnā , rise
बरस baras , m., year	लड़ना laṛnā , fight; quarrel
अंधेरा andherā , m., darkness; adj., dark	उगना ugnā , grow (intransitive)
बैल bail , m., ox, bullock	रोकना rokhnā , stop, check
रस्सी rassī , f., rope; string	तुड़ना tuṛnā , break, cause to be broken
साड़ी sāṛī , f., sari	पहनना pahnnā , put on (clothes); पहन रखना pahn rakhnā , have on, be wearing
जगह ṭjagah , f., place	सोना khonā , lose
निरपराध niraparādh , innocent	सहसा sahsā , suddenly
छोड़ना choṛnā , leave, abandon	अरे are , oh! etc. (exclamation, often of surprise; also to attract attention)
गिरना girnā , fall
कूदना kūdnā , leap, jump
निकलना nikalnā , emerge
गूँजना gūmjnā , resound
हँसना hamsnā , laugh

LESSON XVIII

GROUPS OF VERBS OF RELATED STEM

MANY Hindi verbs may be classified in pairs or larger groups according to a similarity in the form of their stems, reflecting a loose semantic relationship. The larger groups may be built up from a consideration of related pairs, the characteristic types of which are discussed in sections 1 and 2 below. The most commonly contrasting pairs are of one intransitive and one transitive verb, or of two transitive verbs; members of a pair are distinguished from each other by one of a number of broadly regular vocalic alternations.

1. Intransitive and transitive verbs

A. The second member of the pair shows -ā- medially or finally in its stem; the corresponding stem syllable in the first member either shows -a-, or is normally non-realized,<sup>1</sup> with a preceding short vowel.

(i) Second member shows -ā- medially in the stem

मरना marnā , die	मारना mārṇā , beat; kill
निकलना nikalnā , emerge	निकालना nikālṇā , eject; extract
फटना phaṭnā , tear	फाड़ना phāṛnā , tear
लदना ladnā , be laden	लादना lādnā , load
उतरना utarnā , descend, get down	उतारना utārṇā , take down, off
छपना chapnā , be printed	छापना chāpnā , print

(ii) Second member shows -ā- finally in the stem

बनना bannā , be made, exist, become	बनाना banānā , make
जलना jalnā , burn	जलाना jalānā , burn
उठना uṭhnā , rise	उठाना uṭhānā , raise
खिलना khilnā , bloom	खिलाना khilānā , make bloom
मिलना milnā , accrue, be available	मिलाना milānā , bring together, cause to meet

(a) Note in the pair फटना phaṭnā — फाड़ना phāṛnā the extra distinctive feature of alternation between retroflex plosive ṣ and flapped r, and see other similar examples below.

<sup>1</sup> See p. xxiv.

B. The second member shows -ā- finally in the stem and a short vowel in the preceding syllable; the corresponding stem syllables in the first member show normally non-realized -a-<sup>1</sup>, and a long vowel. (The usual vowel alternations are: ā — a; ai or e — i; o — u; ū — u).

जागना jāgnā, be awake, waken

घुमना ghūmnā, wander, turn

बैठना baiṭhnā, sit

लेटना leṭnā, lie down

सोना sonā, sleep

रोना ronā, weep

जगना jagānā, waken

घुमाना ghumānā, convey about, drive round; turn

बिठाना biṭhānā, give a seat to<sup>2</sup>

लिटाना liṭānā, put lying down<sup>3</sup>

सुलाना sulānā, put, rock to sleep

रुलाना ruḷānā, make weep

(a) Where stems of first members end in long vowels second members show a glide consonant (l in two examples above).

(b) Occasional transitives in -o- exist alongside transitives in -ā-, and may be preferred: e.g.

भीगना bhignā, be wet

भिगोना bhigōnā (भिगाना bhigānā), make wet

C. The second member shows -ū- or (more commonly) -o- medially in the stem<sup>4</sup> where the first shows -u- or -ū-; or -e- where the first shows -i- or -ī-; or -ī- where the first shows -i-.

रुकना rukṇā, stop

खुलना khulnā, open

लूटना lūṭnā, be looted

टूटना ṭūṭnā, break

छूटना chūṭnā, leave

फूटना phūṭnā, burst

धुलना dhulnā, be, get washed

दिखना dikhṇā, दिखना dikhṇā, be visible

पिटना piṭnā, be beaten

खिंचना khimcnā, be drawn, pulled

घिरना ghirnā, be surrounded

बिकना biknā, be sold

रोकना rokṇā, stop

खोलना kholnā, open

लूटना lūṭnā, loot

तोड़ना toṛnā, break

छोड़ना chorṇā, leave, abandon

फोड़ना phorṇā, burst

धोना dhonā, wash

देखना dekhnā, see

पीटना piṭnā, beat

खींचना khimcnā, pull

घेरना ghernā, surround; besiege

बेचना becnā, sell

<sup>1</sup> See p. xxiv.

<sup>2</sup> Also बैठाना baiṭhānā.

<sup>3</sup> Also लेटाना leṭānā.

<sup>4</sup> Finally in धोना dhonā 'wash'.

(a) Note the consonantal alternations in the pairs टूटना ṭūṭnā — तोड़ना toṛnā; छूटना chūṭnā — छोड़ना chorṇā; फूटना phūṭnā — फोड़ना phorṇā; बिकना biknā — बेचना becnā; also l in धुलना dhulnā, with which cf. धुलाना dhulānā below.

(b) Occasional transitives in -e- pair with intransitives from Group A: e.g.

बिखरना bikharṇā, be scattered

सिमटना simatṇā, shrink, contract

बिखेरना bikherṇā, scatter

समेटना sametṇā, collect together

2. Pairs of transitive verbs

These are classified according to the same criteria used for the pairs of one intransitive and one transitive verb in section 1 above.

A (ii).

समझना samajhnā, understand

पढ़ना parṇā, read

सुनना sunṇā, hear

करना karnā, do

समझाना samjhanā, explain

पढ़ाना parḥānā, teach

सुनाना sunānā, relate, tell

कराना karānā, effect, bring about, cause to be done

B.

लादना lādṇā, load

देखना dekhnā, see

सीखना sikhṇā, learn

तोड़ना toṛnā, break

लदाना ladānā, cause to be laden

दिखाना dikhānā, show

सिखाना sikhānā, teach

तुड़ाना tuṛānā, break, cause to be broken

छोड़ना chorṇā, leave, abandon

पीना pīnā, drink

खेलना khelnā, play

खाना khānā, eat

लेना lenā, take

छुड़ाना churānā, cause to leave

पिलाना pilānā, give to drink

खिलाना khilānā, cause to play

खिलाना khilānā, feed

लिवाना livānā, cause to be taken, brought

देना denā, give

धोना dhonā, wash

बोलना bolnā, speak, say

दिलाना dilānā, cause to be given

धुलाना dhulānā, cause to be washed

बुलाना bulānā, call, summon; invite

(a) Where stems of first members end in long vowels second members show a glide consonant (usually l, but also v; note लिवाना livānā).

(b) Note the vowel alternation i -- ī in पीना pīnā — पिलाना pilānā, etc., of which no common example was adduced in section 1B above. The alternation in खाना khānā — खिलाता khilānā is exceptional.

(c) The verbs बताना batānā 'relate, inform' and कमाना kamānā 'earn' may be noted here. They do not pair formally with other verbs, but are relatable to the nouns बात bāt (and the verbal expression बात करना bāt karnā) and काम kām.

(d) The second member of a pair occasionally has an alternative form with -l- in final stem syllable, e.g. सिखलाना sikhlānā, दिखलाना dikhlānā, and बतलाना batlānā, equivalent in sense to the corresponding forms without -l-; and कहलाना kahlānā, common in the sense 'to be called, named'.

(e) Many second members of transitive pairs are used in construction with two sentence objects, a direct case object and an indirect (oblique case) object with को ko, which usually precedes it. Others are used with one object and agentive expressions containing the postposition से se. See the following examples, and the further discussion of these types of construction in the section on causative verbs, below.

वह घर से अभी नहीं निकला? तो निकाल दो! vah ghar se abhī nahīm niklā? to nikāl do!<sup>1</sup> He hasn't come out of the house yet? Then drive him out!

पुस्तक अगले हफ्ते छप जाएगी। pustak agle hafte chap jāegī, The book will be printed next week.

मैं उसे छापूंगा। maim use chāpūngā, I shall print it.

यह लकड़ी नहीं जलती। yah lakṛī nahīm jaltī, This wood doesn't burn.

उसने तरकारी जलाई। usne tarkārī jalāī, He burned the curry.

सूरज से फूल खिलते हैं। sūraj se phūl khilte hain, The sun brings the flowers out.<sup>2</sup>

मैं आपको अपनी गाड़ी में लंदन घुमाऊंगा। maim āpko apnī gārī meṁ landan ghumāūngā, I'll drive you round London in my car.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> For तो to see Lesson XXIII, pp. 140 f.

<sup>2</sup> Agentive expressions containing the postposition से se can be used with many intransitive verbs, as in this sentence.

<sup>3</sup> The word लंदन landan is here used adverbially, not as an object of the verb; see Supplement I, p. 168.

मां ने बच्चों को गेंद खिलाई। mam ne bacchō ko gēnd khilāī, The mother got her children to play ball.

मैं उससे बात करना चाहता हूँ। उसे बुलाइए। maim usse bāt karnā chāhtā hūm. use bulāiye, I want to speak to him. Please call him.

यह छड़ी आसानी से नहीं टूटती। yah chārī āsānī se nahīm ṭūṭtī, This stick doesn't break easily.

मैं उसे तोड़ूंगा। maim use ṭoṛūngā, I shall break it.

गाड़ी एक बजे छूटती है। gārī ek baje chūṭtī hai, The train leaves at one o'clock.

उसे छोड़ दो! use chor do! Leave that, him, alone!

हर सोमवार को कपड़े धुनते हैं। har somvār ko kapṛe dhulte hain, Monday, washday.

बहुत दिनों से आप दिखे नहीं। bahut dinōṁ se āp dikhe nahīm, I haven't seen you, you haven't been about, for a good while.

हमने चित्र देखे। hamne citṛ dekhe, We looked at the pictures.

मैं हिंदी पढ़ रहा हूँ। maim hindī paṛh rahā hūm, I am studying, reading, Hindi.

मैं अपने बेटे को हिंदी पढ़ा रहा हूँ। maim apne betē ko hindī paṛhā rahā hūm, I'm teaching my son Hindi.

मैंने उसे एक कहानी सुनाई। maimne use ek kahānī sunāī, I told him a story.

मैं आपसे यह काम कराऊंगा। maim āpse yah kām karāūngā, I'll get you to do this work, get this work done by you.

मैं आपका उससे परिचय कराऊंगा। maim āphā usse paricay karāūngā, I'll introduce you to him (cause your acquaintance with him to be brought about).<sup>1</sup>

उसने दो आदमियों से गाड़ी चारे से लदा दी। usne do ādmiyōṁ se gārī cāre se ladā dī, He got the wagon loaded up with fodder by two men.

मुझे अपनी पुस्तक दिखाइए। mujhe apnī pustak dikhāiye, Please show me your book.

बैल रस्सी को तुड़ाकर भाग निकला। bail rassi ko ṭuṛākar bhāg niklā, The ox broke the rope and escaped.

मैं इस दुकान पर दस रुपए का नोट तुड़ाऊंगा। maim is dūkān par das rupae kā noṭ ṭuṛāūngā, I shall change a 10 rupee note in this shop.

<sup>1</sup> Cf. the simpler मैं आपको उससे मिलाऊंगा maim āpko usse milāūngā.

राजा ने किले से शत्रु को छत्के छुड़ाए । rājā ne qile se śatru ke chakke churāe, The rajah drove off the enemy's detachments from the fort.

उसने मुझे एक गिलास पानी पिलाया । usne mujhe ek gilās pānī pilāyā, He gave me a glass of water (to drink).

उन्होंने आपको क्या खिलाया? unhonne āpko kyā khilāyā? What did they give you to eat?

मैंने दूकान से कुछ चीजें लीवाई । mainne dūkān se kuch cizē livāīm, I had some things brought from the shop.

भारत की राजधानी दिल्ली कहलाती है । bhārat kī rājdhānī dillī kahlātī hai, The capital of India is called Delhi.

Before leaving this section, note that not all verbs in -ānā are transitive. A considerable number are intransitive, including most of those based on nouns or adjectives: e.g.

लजाना lajānā, be ashamed, embarrassed, modest सुस्ताना sustānā, rest

Note also that some verbs are used intransitively and transitively without difference of form: e.g.

बदलना badalnā, change
भरना bharnā, be filled; fill घबराना ghabrānā, be perturbed; make anxious

3. Three-member groups

Certain verbs figure in the above tables as both the second member of an intransitive-transitive pair and the first of a transitive-transitive pair. Thus triads of associated verbs can be set up: e.g.

लदना ladnā	लड़ना lūdnā	लड़ाना ladānā
टूटना ṭūtnā	तोड़ना torṇā	टुड़ाना ṭurānā
छूटना chūtnā	छोड़ना choṛnā	छुड़ाना churānā
धुलना dhulnā	धोना dhonā	धुलाना dhulānā
दिखना dikhnā	देखना dekhnā	दिखाना dikhānā
दीखना dīkhnā

The student may find it helpful to think of the last verb of such a triad as a causative formed on the first, and of the second verb of transitive pairs as a causative referable either to a non-existent intransitive or passive verb or directly to the first transitive verb of the pair. But since both the construction of these verbs and the clarity with which they are seen to express 'causation' varies, only the verbs described in the following section, which show a distinctive marker syllable and uniform construction, are described as causatives here.

CAUSATIVE VERBS

Verbs showing final stem syllable -vā- are almost all used in construction with agentive expressions containing the postposition se. These verbs are conveniently described as causatives, and are all associated with two- or three-member groups of verbs of related stem. The following examples may be compared with forms given above.

मरवाना marvānā, have killed, arrange the killing of (by someone)

निकलवाना nikalvānā, to have put out, etc. ( " )

फड़वाना phaṛvānā, to have torn ( " )

लदवाना ladvānā, to have loaded ( " )

छपवाना chapvānā, to get printed ( " )

बनवाना banvānā, to get made ( " )

Similarly मुनवाना sunvānā; पिलवाना pilvānā; खिलवाना khilvānā; रुकवाना rukvānā; खुलवाना khulvānā; तुड़वाना ṭurvānā; करवाना karvānā; बुलवाना bulvānā; फुड़वाना phurvānā; छुड़वाना churvānā, etc.

मैं पुस्तक छपवाऊँगा । main pustak chapvāūngā, I shall have the book printed.

मैं अपने भाई से पुस्तक छपवाऊँगा । main apne bhāī se pustak chapvāūngā, I shall get my brother to print the book.

मैं अपने बेटे को अच्छे अध्यापक से हिंदी पढ़वा रहा हूँ । main apne betē ko acche adhyāpak se hindī paṛhvā rahā hūn, I'm having my son taught Hindi by a good teacher.

यह काम अच्छे मिस्त्री से करवाइए ! yah kām acche mistrī se karvāiē! Get a good workman to do this job!

मैं आपका उससे परिचय करवाऊँगा । main āpkā usse paricay karvāūngā, I'll get you introduced to him.

राम कुमार को बुलवाइए । rām kumār ko bulvāiē, Please send for Rām Kumār (have him sent for).

उसने अपने शत्रु का मकान जलवा दिया । usne apne śatru kā makān jalvā diyā, He had his enemy's house burnt down.

मैं मुल्जिम को पुलिस से छुड़वा दूँगा । main mulzim ko pulis se churvā dūngā, I shall get the police to set the accused free.

(a) Where a causative verb associates with a three-member group of verbs of related stem it will not be readily distinguishable in sense from the third member if the latter is also used in construction with se. Thus the verbs लदवाना ladvānā, धुलवाना dhulvānā are semantic and syntactical equivalents of लदाना ladānā and धुलाना dhulanā respectively, whereas दिखवाना dikhvānā is distinct in construction and sense from दिखाना dikhānā and दिखलाना dikhlanā.

मैं आपको पत्र दिख(ल)ाऊँगा । māim āpho patr dikh(l)āūmgā, I shall show you the letter.

मैं आपको मंत्री से पत्र दिखवाऊँगा । māim āpho mantrī se patr dikhvāūmgā, I shall get the secretary to show you the letter.

(b) Where a causative verb associates with a pair only of verbs of related stem, it is normally distinct in construction and sense from the second member of the pair, e.g. पढ़वाना parhvānā, सुनवाना sunvānā. But note that कराना karānā and करवाना karvānā show the same construction and, though they may be clearly distinguishable in sense in certain contexts (see examples above), are not necessarily so. The following two sentences, for example, may be interchangeable:

मैं आपसे यह काम कराऊँगा । māim āpse yah kām karāūmgā, I'll get you to do this work.

मैं आपसे यह काम करवाऊँगा । māim āpse yah kām karvāūmgā, I'll get you to do this work.

A semantic distinction is possible, however, between these sentences according to the attitude which they imply on the part of the speaker; the second could well be less circumspect, implying greater authority on the speaker's part, or power to get the work done.

(c) Where third and fourth members of a group of verbs are both used in construction with se, the -vā- form tends to be the more common.

VOCABULARY

लकड़ी lakṛī, f., wood
तरकारी tarkāri, f., curry
सूरज sūraj, m., sun
फूल phūl, m., flower
गेंद gēmd, f., ball
छड़ी chārī, f., stick, cane

चित्र citr, m., picture
चारा cārā, m., fodder
नोट not, m., note (money)
छक्का chakkā, m., squad, detachment (literally 'group of six')
गिलास gilās, m., glass (for drinking)

अध्यापक adhyāpak , m., teacher	वाक्य vākya , m., sentence
मिस्त्री mistrī , m., mechanic, (skilled) workman	लेख lekh , m., essay, article
मुल्जिम mulzim , m., accused person	तुड़ाना turānā , break, cause to be broken; get change for (money)
पुलिस pulis , f., police	बिछाना bichānā , spread
बिस्तर bistar , m., bedding	बहुत दिनों से bahut dinon se , for (i.e. since) a long time
सीट sīt , f., seat; नीचे की सीट nīce kī sīt , lower seat	परिचय paricay , m., acquaintance
गधा gadhā , m., donkey, ass	पीछे से pīche se , from behind, from the rear
धोबी dhobī , m., washerman

EXERCISE 33

जैसे ही गाड़ी छटी, वैसे ही मैंने नीचे की सीट पर अपना बिस्तर बिछा दिया । फिर कपड़े बदलकर मैं लेट गया । उस गधे पर किसी से सामान लदवाओ । उसने अखबार में जो लेख छपवाया था, उसे पढ़कर वे हैंस पड़े । उसे समझाइए कि वह अपना काम हमेशा समय पर खत्म करे । मैं उसे बुलाकर उसका आपसे परिचय कराऊँगा । अपने लड़के को किसी अच्छे स्कूल में पढ़वाइए । मैं आपको लंदन घुमाना चाहता हूँ । आप उस दूकान में अच्छे कपड़े बनवा सकते हैं ।

EXERCISE 34

I got off the train at Allahabad. Kindly collect your luggage from the rear (of the bus).<sup>1</sup> Show me what you've written. What have you gone and done? You've broken the chair! You've learned a lot of Hindi. Who taught you? We get our clothes washed by a dhobi. The train doesn't stop here. The train has just left. I get you to write a few sentences in Hindi every day.

<sup>1</sup> Luggage from the roof storage rack of buses is often handed down to passengers at the rear. Use the verb उतारना utārnā.

LESSON XIX

PASSIVE FORMS

COMPOSITE verbal expressions with passive force are used in the majority of aspectual, tense, and modal patterns and as infinitives. They consist of perfective participles collocating with appropriate following forms of the verb जाना jānā. Both parts of the composite show concord with subjects, except in impersonal constructions (see below). The action of an agent is expressed by use of the postposition से se. Negatives precede both parts of the composite in sentences of neutral style and emphasis. वे शत्रु से मारे जाएंगे । ve śatru se māre jāēnge, They will be killed by the enemy.

पत्र डाक से भेजा गया था । patr dāk se bhejā gayā thā, The letter was sent, had been sent by post.

हिंदी भारत में बोली जाती है । hindī bhārat meṁ bolī jāti hai, Hindi is spoken in India.

हिंदी इस देश में नहीं बोली जाती । hindī is deś meṁ nahīm bolī jāti, Hindi isn't spoken in this country.

1. Passives of compound verbs

These are very frequently met with. The stem of the given verb (simple or conjunct) is followed by a passive form of the dependent auxiliary verb.

पत्र डाक से भेज दिया जाएगा । patr dāk se bhej diyā jāegā, The letter will be forwarded by post (passive of भेज देना bhej denā).

हिंदी बहुत लोगों से राष्ट्रभाषा के रूप में स्वीकार कर ली गई थी hindī bahut logon se rāṣṭrabhāṣā ke rūp meṁ svīkār kar lī gāi thī, Hindi was accepted as the national language by many people<sup>1</sup> (passive of स्वीकार कर लेना svīkār kar lenā).

2. Impersonal passives

These are found for both transitive and intransitive verbs. They are 'neutral' in respect of concord (this 'neutrality' being expressed by the use of 3rd singular masculine concord forms in conjunction with absence of a sentence subject).

<sup>1</sup> के रूप में ke rūp meṁ 'in the form, capacity, of'; स्वीकार करना svīkār karnā 'accept' (conjunct verb).

PASSIVE FORMS

117

कहा जाता है कि प्रेम अंधा होता है । kahā jāta hai ki prem andhā hotā hai, It is said that love is blind.

चला जाए? calā jāe? Shall we go (should it be gone)?

मुझसे सोया नहीं गया । mujhse soyā nahīm gayā, I couldn't sleep, couldn't get to sleep (it was not slept by me).

मुझसे अभी बाज़ार नहीं जाया जाएगा । mujhse abhī bāzār nahīm jāyā jāegā, I shan't be able to go to the bazaar just now (it won't be gone by me).

मुझे हिंदुस्तान भेज दिया गया था । mujhe hindustān bhej diyā gayā thā, I was sent to India (it was sent to India with respect to me).

(a) Note from the fourth example above that passive forms of the verb जाना jānā show जाया jāyā, not गया gayā, as first element.

(b) Only a slight change in emphasis distinguishes the above impersonal sentences from corresponding sentences showing personal subjects, viz. कहते हैं कि प्रेम अंधा होता है । kahte hain ki prem andhā hotā hai, People say that love is blind.

चलें? calen? Shall we go?

मैं सो नहीं सका । main so nahīm sakā, I couldn't sleep.

मैं हिंदुस्तान भेज दिया गया था । main hindustān bhej diyā gayā thā, I was sent to India.

The second example here is slightly less circumspect, because personal in its reference, than the corresponding impersonal expression. The last example somewhat stresses the identity of the subject referend by comparison with the corresponding impersonal expression, in which attention is focused less on the referend of the object मुझे mujhe than on the performance of the action itself.

3. A limitation on the use of the passive

An English passive form frequently has as its most natural translation equivalent not a passive, but an intransitive verb. Thus the sentence 'only one man was saved' will generally be rendered सिर्फ एक ही आदमी बच गया । sirf ek hī ādmī bac gayā.

This states the fact of the man's escape, whereas the possible alternative

सिर्फ एक ही आदमी बचाया गया । sirf ek hī ādmī bacāyā gayā places more emphasis than the English might warrant on the actual action of his rescue.

CONJUNCT VERBS NOT INVOLVING करना karnā, होना honā

The use of pairs of conjunct verbs involving the verbal elements करना karnā, होना honā was noted in Lesson X. Other conjuncts, both transitive and intransitive, involve different verbal elements. Some examples follow.

1. याद रखना yād rakhnā 'bear in mind, remember'.

मैं यह बात हमेशा याद रखूँगा । main yah bāt hamēśā yād rakhūngā, I shall always remember this (never forget it).

2. याद आना yād ānā 'come to mind'. Note that this intransitive expression is common in sentences whose English translation equivalent contains the transitive verb 'remember'.

उस समय मुझे राम याद आया । us samay mujhe rām yād āyā, At that moment I remembered Rām.

3. याद रहना yād rahnā 'remain in mind, be remembered'.

आज का दिन मुझे हमेशा याद रहेगा । āj kā din mujhe hamēśā yād rahegā, I shall always remember today.

(a) Note that the noun याद yād, f., meaning 'memory, recollection' can be used in nominal-verbal constructs in which its grammatical identity is maintained, as well as in conjunct verbs proper; e.g. in conjunction with रहना rahnā:

उन दिनों की याद मेरे दिल में हमेशा के लिए साजी रहेगी । un dinon ki yād mere dil meṁ hamēśā ke lie tāsī rahegi, 'The memory of those days will remain fresh in my heart for ever.

(b) For convenience, and because their sphere of usage is delimited by the existence of the above forms, mention of याद होना yād honā and याद करना yād karnā is also made here.

याद होना yād honā 'be in mind; be, become remembered'.

आपको मेरा नाम याद होगा । āpkō merā nām yād hogā, You probably remember my name.

मुझे रामचरितमानस की सौ पंक्तियाँ याद हो गई हैं । mujhe rāmcārīt-mānas kī sau paṅktiyāṁ yād ho gai haiṁ, I've learned a hundred lines of the Rāmcārīt-mānas by heart.

याद करना yād karnā 'recollect; learn by heart'.

यह घटना मेरे शहर में अभी तक याद की जाती है । yah ghaṭnā mere šahr meṁ abhī tak yād kī jāti hai, This incident is still remembered in my town.

उसने रामचरितमानस की सौ पंक्तियाँ याद कीं । usne rāmcārīt-mānas kī sau paṅktiyāṁ yād kīṁ, He learned a hundred lines of the Rāmcārīt-mānas by heart.

4. दान देना dān denā 'give (as charity), donate'.

मैंने भिखारी को तीन पैसे दान दिए । mainne bhikkhārī ko tīn paise dān diē, I gave the beggar three pice.

5. मोल लेना mol lenā 'buy'.

उसने मकान मोल लेकर उसमें रहना शुरू किया । usne makān mol lekar usmeṁ rahnā šurū kiyā, He bought a house and moved into it (started to live in it).

6. दिखाई देना dikhāi denā 'be visible, come into sight'.

सुनाई देना sunāi denā 'be audible'.

(See Lesson XII, p. 74.)

SOME USES OF INFINITIVES

1. Infinitives characteristically have nominal function in Hindi. As nouns they may be equated formally with masculines in -ā (predominantly singular). They are negated with preceding न na.

आपका घर लौटना आवश्यक है । āpkā ghar lauṭnā āvśyak hai, Your return home is necessary.

ऐसा करना मना है । aisā karnā manā hai, To do this is forbidden.

ऐसा करने से आप सफल होंगे । aisā karne se āp saṭhal hōṅge, By doing this you'll be successful.

आपका यहाँ न रहना हमें बड़ी असुविधा का कारण होगा । āpkā yahāṁ na rahnā hamēṁ baṛī asuvidhā kā kāraṇ hogā, Your not staying here will be a cause of great inconvenience to us.

(a) Compare also the formal parallelism of the following locutions, of which one contains a noun in initial position, the other an infinitive.

नाले का पानी nālē kā pānī, stream water

पीने का पानी pīne kā pānī, drinking water

2. Some further examples of the very common sequence of oblique case infinitive with following postposition are given here.

उनके जाने के बाद मुझसे मिलिए । unke jāne ke bād mujhse milie, (Come and) see me after he goes.

ऐसा होने पर भी आप नहीं जा सकते । aisā hone par bhī āp nahīn jā sakte, Even so (in spite of this being so) you can't go.

मैं बाहर जाने को हूँ । main bahar jāne ko hūm, I am about to go out.

उसने हिंदी सीखने की कोशिश की । usne hindī sikhne kī kośiś kī, He tried to learn Hindi.

उसने हिंदी सीखने का प्रयत्न किया । usne hindī sikhne kā prayatn kiya, He tried to learn Hindi.

उसने मुझे सहायता देने से इनकार किया । usne mujhe sahāyātā dene se inkār kiya, He refused to help me.

मैंने उसे आने पर मजबूर किया । mainne use āne par majbūr kiya, I compelled him to come.

मैंने उसे आने पर बाध्य किया । mainne use āne par bādhyā kiya, I compelled him to come.

(a) Note particularly the force of को ko in the third example above; also the frequency of oblique infinitives in construction with nominal-verbal expressions based on nouns or adjectives (fourth example onwards).

(b) Note also from the above examples that infinitives are linked to nominal-verbal expressions in varying ways; most frequently, but not always, with का kā where nouns are involved (fourth, fifth, and sixth examples) and with other postpositions (never का kā) where adjectives are involved (last two examples).

3. In sentences expressive of purpose, oblique case infinitives may occur alone, or with following को ko, or with following के लिए ke lie.

मैं हिंदी सीखने भारत गया था । main hindī sikhne bhārat gayā thā, I went to India to learn Hindi.

मैं हिंदी सीखने को भारत गया था । main hindī sikhne ko bhārat gayā thā, I went to India to learn Hindi.

मैं हिंदी सीखने के लिए भारत गया था । main hindī sikhne ke lie bhārat gayā thā, I went to India to learn Hindi.

वह खाना खाने बैठा । vah khānā khāne baiṭhā, He sat down to eat his meal.

(a) The oblique infinitive alone is the most common of these means of expressing purpose in the spoken language (being the most concise), but broadly speaking they are interchangeable. Feeling for sentence rhythm may lead to preference for one type of expression over the others in any given sentence.

4. Occasionally को ko and के लिए ke lie following an oblique case infinitive and preceding an adjective are interchangeable.

क्या आप जाने के लिए तैयार हैं? kyā āp jāne ke lie taiyār hain? Are you ready to go?

क्या आप जाने को तैयार हैं? kyā āp jāne ko taiyār hain? Are you ready to go? मैं आपकी सेवा के लिए प्रस्तुत हूँ । main āpki sevā ke lie prastut hūm, I am at your service (ready for, to do your service).

मैं आपकी सेवा को प्रस्तुत हूँ । main āpki sevā ko prastut hūm, I am at your service.

VOCABULARY

डाक ḍāk, f., post, postal service

प्रेम prem, m., love, affection

नाम nām, m., name

पंक्ति pañkti, f., line; row

भिक्षारी bhikhārī, m., beggar

असुविधा asuvīdhā, f., inconvenience

नाला nālā, m., stream

सेवा sevā, f., service

आंदोलन āndolan, m., movement (social, political, etc.)

बुराई burāi, f., badness, wickedness; की बुराई करना kī burāi karnā, slander

बुरा burā, bad, wicked

दिल dil, m., heart

पैदावार paidāvār, f., produce

सावधानी sāvdhānī, f., care;

सावधानी से sāvdhānī se, carefully

सावधान sāvdhān, adj., careful

कविता kavitā, f., poem

फर्ज farz, m., duty

अभ्यास abhyās, m., practice;

का अभ्यास करना kā abhyās karnā, practise

प्रवेश praveś, m., entry, entrance;

प्रवेश करना praveś karnā (men), enter

प्रयत्न prayatn, m., attempt;

का प्रयत्न करना kā prayatn karnā, try

रामचरितमानस rāmaritmanas, m., name of a work by the medieval poet Tulsidās

इनकार inkār, m., refusal; इनकार करना inkār karnā (se), refuse

स्वीकार करना svikār karnā, accept

मोल लेना mol lenā, buy

मजबूर करना majbūr karnā (par, ke lie), compel

बाध्य करना bādhyā karnā (par, ke lie), compel

लेटना leṭnā, lie down

रूप rūp , m., form; के रूप में ke rūp	मना manā (invariable), forbidden
men , as, in the capacity of	प्रस्तुत *prastut , ready, prepared
भेजना bhejnā , send	स्वाभाविक svābhāvik , natural
बचाना bacānā , save, rescue	दूसरा dūsrā , second; other
आराम ārām , m., rest, comfort;	ऐसा aisā , adj. and pron., of this sort;
आराम करना ārām karnā , rest	this sort of thing
अंधा andhā , blind	सफल saphal , successful
ताजा tāzā , fresh

EXERCISE 35

मेरी पुस्तकें एक महीने बाद भेज दी गई थीं। मुझसे न रहा गया। मुझे याद नहीं है। रास्ते में गाड़ियों का शोर सुनाई दे रहा था। हिंदी के लिए इस आंदोलन का होना स्वाभाविक है। सच बोलने पर भी दूसरे लोग आपकी बुराई करेंगे। उन्होंने उसे सच बोलने पर मजबूर किया। आप बाहर जाने को हैं? इस तस्वीर में आपको एक बैलगाड़ी दिखाई देती है। किसान आम तौर से ऐसी गाड़ियों पर अपनी पैदावार बाजार ले जाते हैं।

EXERCISE 36

It can be said that Hindi will one day be accepted as India's national language. India, where Hindi and other languages also are spoken, is a most interesting country. I carefully remembered what you had said. When I saw him I remembered his face. You should learn some Hindi poems by heart. His books are being praised these days. I began work yesterday at nine o'clock. I shan't wait for you tomorrow. To speak the truth is a man's duty. By practising speaking you'll learn our language. The enemy tried to enter the fort. He went to the station to meet his friend. He lay down to rest.

LESSON XX

SUBORDINATE CONJUNCTIONS AND CLAUSES

SOME subordinate conjunctions (words identifying subordinate clauses) have been given and their use in complex sentences illustrated in Lessons XIV and XVI. The other chief subordinate conjunctions, whose use in sentences is discussed here, are found in broadly similar sentence patterns, i.e. they frequently introduce or occur in second position<sup>1</sup> in a subordinate clause, against which is balanced a following principal clause introduced by a linking word or phrase; but in certain cases a principal clause precedes a subordinate clause.

A. अगर agar, यदि yadi 'if'

These forms correlate with the conjunction तो to introducing the principal clause.

1. Future, subjunctive, and general present verbs are all commonly used in the subordinate clause when the verb in the principal clause is future (but see also section 3 below). Use of the subjunctive in these circumstances implies that the event in question is not envisaged as definitely as when a future or general present verb is used, but does not at all imply that it is unlikely to come about.

अगर मेहनत करोगे तो सफल होंगे। agar mehnat karoge to saphal hoge, If you work you'll succeed.

अगर आप हिंदुस्तान आ जाएँ तो मैं आपको ताज महल जरूर दिखाऊँगा। agar ap hindustan ā jāem to main apko tāj mahl zarūr dikhāūngā, If you come to India I shall certainly show you the Taj Mahal.

अगर आप चाहें तो मैं आपसे हिंदी बोलूँगा। agar ap cāhem to main āpse hindī bolūngā, If you like I'll speak Hindi to you.

अगर आप चाहते हैं तो मैं आपसे हिंदी बोलूँगा। agar ap cāhte hain to main āpse hindī bolūngā, If you want me to I'll speak Hindi to you.

2. The verb in the subordinate clause is fairly regularly subjunctive and sometimes general present when the verb in the principal clause is not future (but see also sections 3 and 4 below).

<sup>1</sup> As indicated above for relatives, see p. 86.

अगर विदेशी अच्छी हिंदी न बोलें तो हम उनको कभी कभी नहीं समझते । agar vidēśī acchī hindī na bolēn to ham unko kabhī kabhī nahīn samajhte, If foreigners don't speak good Hindi we sometimes don't understand them.

अगर वह आए तो मेरा उससे परिचय कराइए । agar vah āe to merā usse paricay karāiē, If he comes please introduce me to him.

अगर आपको दिल्ली जाना है तो जरूर जाइए । agar āpko dillī jānā hai to zarūr jāiē, If you must go to Delhi, do so by all means.

3. Very commonly, however, perfective forms are used rather than futures or subjunctives in the subordinate clauses of sentences of the types illustrated above. This usage is especially common colloquially, and is an interesting illustration of the importance of aspect in the Hindi verbal system. By describing the action of the subordinate clause with a perfective verb and so stressing its completion, while that of the main clause is described with a non-perfective verb, one very adequately expresses the semantic relationship of the clauses in this type of sentence, in which the first clause describes a condition of action, and the second an action which ensues if the condition is met.

Perfective forms are not used in subordinate clauses referring to relatively unlikely happenings (whose completion is hardly envisaged) or to continuing events (specifically non-completed).

अगर मेहनत की तो सफल होंगे । agar mehnat kī to saphal hōgē, If you work you'll succeed.

अगर वह आया तो मेरा उससे परिचय कराइए । agar vah āyā to merā usse paricay karāiē, If he comes please introduce me to him.

अगर उससे मुलाकात हुई तो मैं आपको बताऊंगा । agar usse mulāqāt huī to main āpko batāūngā, If I meet him I'll tell you.

4. To express an unrealised condition in the past, or a distinctly improbable one in the future, a special construction is used, the verb form in both clauses being an imperfective participle, or alternatively, if the reference is to past time, a perfective participle followed by the imperfective participle of होना honā.

अगर मैं भारत जाता तो ज्यादा हिंदी जरूर सीखता । agar main bhārat jātā to zyādā hindī zarūr sīkhtā, Had I gone to India I should certainly have learned more Hindi.

or, If I (should happen to) go to India I would certainly learn more Hindi.

अगर मैं भारत गया होता तो मैंने ज्यादा हिंदी जरूर सीखी होती । agar main bhārat gayā hotā to mainne zyādā hindī zarūr sīkhī hotī, Had I gone to India I should certainly have learned more Hindi.

5. (a) Introductory अगर agar, यदि yadi is very frequently omitted in informal usage. The presence of the linking तो to serves to establish the sentence type in such cases (though not entirely unambiguously, there being some possibility of confusion with sentences in which जब jab 'when' has been similarly omitted).

(b) In English the word 'if' may introduce an indirect question as well as a clause expressing a condition. In such cases its translation equivalent is of course always कि ki; see Lesson XVI.

उससे पूछो कि समझते हो या नहीं । usse pūcho ki samajhte ho yā nahīn, Ask him if he understands or not.

B. ज्योंही jyomhī 'as soon as'

This form correlates with त्योंही tyomhī introducing the principal clause.

ज्योंही jyomhī, like its equivalent जैसे ही jaisē hī, is used with a following future or subjunctive verb in the same way as अगर agar, यदि yadi. It is also used with perfective and general present forms in reference to past and present time.

ज्योंही आप वहाँ पहुँचें, त्योंही पत्र लिखिए । jyomhī āp vahān pahunchēn, tyomhī patr likhiē, Please write as soon as you get there.

ज्योंही वहाँ पहुँचूँगा, त्योंही पत्र लिखूँगा । jyomhī vahān pahuncūngā, tyomhī patr likhūngā, I'll write as soon as I get there.

ज्योंही मैं वहाँ पहुँचा, त्योंही काम शुरू किया । jyomhī main vahān pahuncā, tyomhī kām surū kiyā, I started work as soon as I got there.

C. जब jab 'when'; जब तक jab tak 'as long as' (contd.)

Note that जब jab may correlate with तो to as well as with तब tab. जब jab and जब तक jab tak introducing references to future events are followed by subjunctive or future verbs in much the same way as अगर agar, यदि yadi; use of future verbs is somewhat more frequent.

जब वह आएगा तो मैं जाऊँगा । jab vah āegā to main jāūngā, When he comes I'll go.

जब वह आए तो मुझे खबर दीजिए । jab vah āe to mujhe khabar dijiē, When he comes please let me know.

जब तक मैं यहाँ रहूँगा तब तक वे चुप रहेंगे । jab tak main yahān rahūngā tab tak ve cup rahenge, As long as I'm here they'll keep quiet.

(a) Introductory जब jab is quite often omitted in informal usage. See discussion of the similar and more frequent omission of अगर agar, यदि yadi above, par. A 5 (a).

D. अगरचे †agarce, यद्यपि **yadyapi* 'although'

The first of these conjunctions usually correlates with फिर भी phir bhī, पर par or लेकिन lekin, the second usually, but not exclusively, with the form तथापि **tathāpi*.

The subjunctive is not used in the subordinate clause unless doubt is implied in the concession (e.g. by the introduction of some such word as शायद śāyad 'perhaps', संभव sambhav 'possible'. For the use of the subjunctive in sentences containing these words see Lesson XXI, pp. 130 f.).

अगरचे मैं कम हिंदी जानता हूँ, फिर भी बोलने की कोशिश करता हूँ । agarce main kam hindi jāntā hūm, phir bhī bolne kī kośiś kartā hūm, Although I don't know much Hindi I still try to speak it.

यद्यपि पंचवर्षीय योजना सफल होगी, तथापि और प्रयत्न आवश्यक होंगे । yadyapi pañcvarṣīy yojnā saphal hogī, tathāpi aur prayatn āvaśyak honge, Although the five-year plan will be successful, further efforts will be needed.<sup>1</sup>

यद्यपि पंचवर्षीय योजना कदाचित् पूर्णतः सफल हो, तथापि और अधिक प्रयत्न आवश्यक होंगे । yadyapi pañcvarṣīy yojanā kadācit pūrṇataḥ saphal ho, tathāpi aur adhik prayatn āvaśyak honge, Although the five-year plan will perhaps be completely successful, even further efforts will be needed.<sup>1</sup>

अगरचे इस क्लास के लड़के कभी चुप नहीं रहते, फिर भी अच्छे लड़के हैं । agarce is klās ke laṛke kabhī cup nahīn rahte, phir bhī acche laṛke hain, Although the boys in this class are never quiet they're a good lot.<sup>2</sup>

(a) अगरचे agarce is very frequently omitted, its correlative supplying the idea of the concession. Omission of यद्यपि yadyapi before its natural correlative तथापि tathāpi is less common.

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>2</sup> कभी... नहीं kabhī... nahīn 'never'.

(b) The form हालाँकि †hālāmkī is very common in informal usage for अगरचे agarce.

E. चूँकि †cūmkī, क्योंकि kyonkī 'because, since'

चूँकि cūmkī correlates chiefly with इसलिए islie 'for this reason', or an expression of equivalent sense.

चूँकि आप हिंदी जानते हैं, इसलिए आप उत्तर भारत में हर जगह जा सकेंगे । cūmkī āp hindī jānte hain, islie āp uttar bhārat meṁ har jagah jā sakeṁge, Since you know Hindi you'll be able to go everywhere in northern India.

(a) The initial conjunction may be omitted; and the locutions इस वजह से is †vajah se 'for this cause', or the equivalent इस कारण (से) is kāraṇ (se), may be substituted for इसलिए islie.

आप हिंदी जानते हैं, इस कारण से आप उत्तर भारत में हर जगह जा सकेंगे । āp hindī jānte hain, is kāraṇ se āp uttar bhārat meṁ har jagah jā sakeṁge, You know Hindi, and therefore you'll be able to go everywhere in northern India.

(b) An alternative construction to that with चूँकि cūmkī shows the clause-order inverted, with the subordinate clause introduced in midsentence by the conjunction क्योंकि kyonkī.

आप उत्तर भारत में हर जगह जा सकेंगे, क्योंकि हिंदी जानते हैं । āp uttar bhārat meṁ har jagah jā sakeṁge, kyonkī hindī jānte hain, You'll be able to go everywhere in northern India because you know Hindi.

Occasionally clauses introduced by क्योंकि kyonkī occur initially in their sentences, with following principal clauses.

(c) Also very common is the use of an inflected infinitive followed by the locutions की वजह से kī vajah se or के कारण ke kāraṇ.

आप हिंदी जानने के कारण उत्तर भारत में हर जगह जा सकेंगे । āp hindī jānne ke kāraṇ uttar bhārat meṁ har jagah jā sakeṁge, Because you know Hindi you'll be able to go everywhere in northern India.

F. जिससे jisse, ताकि †tāki, 'so that'

These forms introduce clauses expressing purpose and containing subjunctive verbs; in sentences of neutral style and emphasis they follow principal clauses. For ताकि tāki कि ki alone is sometimes found.

वह बैठ गया, जिससे वह और आसानी से पढ़ सके । vah baiṭh gayā, jisse vah aur āsānī se parh sake, He sat down so that he could read more easily.<sup>1</sup>

मैं पीछे हट गया कि वह पहले हाथ धो ले । maim piche hat gayā ki vah pahle hāth dho le, I stepped back so that she could wash her hands first.<sup>2</sup>

VOCABULARY

मेहनत †mehnat <sup>3</sup> , f., labour, effort	चुप cup , silent
विदेशी videśī , m.f., foreigner; adj., foreign	आवश्यक āvaśyak , necessary
मुलाकात †mulāqāt , f., meeting, encounter; मुलाकात होना mulāqāt honā (se), meet	जरूरी †zarūrī , necessary
योजना yojanā , f., scheme, plan; पंचवर्षीय योजना pañcvarṣīy yojnā , five-year plan	हटना haṭnā , move away, withdraw
उत्तर uttar , m., north	पकना pahnā , ripen
दक्षिण dakṣiṇ , m., south	काटना kāṭnā , cut; harvest; bite (of animals)
फोन fon , m., telephone; मेरा फोन आया merā fon āyā , someone telephoned me; मैं उसको फोन करूँगा maim usko fon karūngā , I shall telephone him.	का काम देखना kā kām dekhnā , see to, take care of (someone's) work
फसल fasl , f., crop	कभी कभी kabhī kabhī , sometimes
जेब jeb , f., pocket	जरूर †zarūr , indeed, certainly, by all means
जवाब †javāb , m., answer; चिट्ठी का जवाब देना, ciṭhī kā javāb denā , answer a letter	कदाचित् *kadācit , perhaps
सवाल †savāl , m., question	पूर्णतः *pūrṇataḥ <sup>4</sup> , fully
स्टेशन ṣṭeṣan , m., station	देर der , f., delay, lapse of time; पाँच मिनट देरे से आना pāñc minaṭ der se ānā , come five minutes late
विचार vicār , m., thought; opinion	कम kam , adj., little (of quantity), few; adv. little
	गरम garm , hot; warm
	हर जगह har jagah , everywhere
	दूसरी बार dūsri bār , a second time, again या yā , or

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>2</sup> From the novel बड़ी बड़ी भाँखें Baṛī baṛī ānkheṣ by Upendranath Ashk.

<sup>3</sup> First vowel usually short [ɛ].

<sup>4</sup> See Supplement III, p. 179.

EXERCISE 37

अगर आप आ सकें, तो आइए । अगर मेरा फोन आए तो यह<sup>1</sup> कह दीजिए कि मैं फिर फोन करूँगा । अगर वह मुझे उस दिन मिलता तो मैं उसे पहचान लेता । जब आप दिल्ली पहुँचेंगे तो मैं आपको अपने कई मित्रों से मिलाऊँगा । ज्योंही किसानों की फसलें पक जाती हैं, त्योंही वे उन्हें काट लेते हैं । अगरचे गाड़ी ठीक समय पर छूटी, फिर भी पाँच मिनट देर से पहुँची । चूँकि उस समय उसे कुछ काम नहीं करना था, इसलिए उसने पत्र जेब से निकालकर दूसरी बार पढ़ना शुरू किया । वह आज मेरा काम देखेगा ताकि आपको दिल्ली धुमा सकूँ ।

EXERCISE 38

If he writes to me I shall certainly answer his letter. If he had written to me before coming I'd have met him at<sup>2</sup> the station. Ask him if this is the right road or not. If I were to meet him I should certainly ask his opinion about this matter. Tell me when you're ready to go. Although I tried very hard I couldn't learn your language. I left Delhi in May because the weather was growing very hot then. I haven't seen you since you went to Delhi.

<sup>1</sup> यह yah here anticipates the following clause introduced with कि ki. This use of यह yah is very common, especially where following clauses are lengthy, or where their sense is emphasized.

<sup>2</sup> पर par.

LESSON XXI

USES OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE

THE main uses of the subjunctive, apart from those in subordinate clauses, are noted or recapitulated here. The general consideration governing the use of the subjunctive is that it presents actions as in some way contingent or uncertain, rather than as objectively realised or envisaged.

1. In asking questions or making suggestions:

मैं जाऊँ? māim jāūm? May I go?

चलें? calēm? Shall we go?

चला जाए? calā jāe? Shall we go?<sup>1</sup>

अपना हाल लिखें। apnā hāl likhēm, Please write (saying) how you are (please write your state).

2. In indirect commands and elsewhere where a wish is expressed about the activity of another person or thing:

नेहरू जी की जय हो! nehru jī kī jay ho! Long live Nehru Ji!

उनसे कहिए कि यहाँ आएं। unse kahie ki yahān āēm, Tell him to come here.

उसे चाहिए कि यह किताब पढ़े। use cāhie ki yah kitāb parhe, He ought to read this book.

संदूक गिर न जाए, इसलिए उसे रस्से से बैलगाड़ी पर बाँधा गया। sandūq gir na jāe, islie use rasse se bailgārī par bāndhā gayā, So that the box would not fall it was tied on to the ox-cart with a rope.

मैं चाहता हूँ कि वह हिंदी सीख ले। māim cāhtā hūm ki vah hindī sikh le, I want him to learn Hindi.

(a) Cf. with the last example the construction of चाहना cāhnā with an infinitive noted in Lesson VI, and used in simple sentences (i.e. where a person's wish to carry out an action himself is expressed).

मैं हिंदी सीखना चाहता हूँ। māim hindī sikhnā cāhtā hūm, I want to learn Hindi.

3. In many locutions expressive of uncertainty; often in sentences containing the words शायद śāyad 'perhaps', संभव sambhav 'possible':

वह शायद आए, पता नहीं। vah śāyad āe, patā nahīn, Perhaps he'll come, I don't know.

<sup>1</sup> See Lesson XIX, p. 117.

संभव है कि वह फेल हो गया हो। sambhav hai ki vah fel ho gayā ho, It's possible that he may have failed.<sup>1</sup>

जो हो, सो हो। jo ho, so ho, What is to be, will be.<sup>2</sup>

मैं क्या कहूँ? māim kyā kahūm? What am I to say?

एक सवारी और ले लूँ, फिर चलता हूँ। ek savārī aur le lūm, phir caltā hūm, I shall (just) collect one more fare, then I'm going.

(a) Note that शायद śāyad, संभव sambhav, and the adverb संभवतः sambhavataḥ<sup>4</sup> are also used to express probability, and in this case are not followed by a subjunctive.

संभव है कि वह फेल हो गया है। sambhav hai ki vah fel ho gayā hai, He's probably failed.

यह किताब शायद आपके पास है। yah kitāb śāyad āpke pās hai, I expect you've got this book.

4. Often where an object is presented generically, as typical of a class, rather than as an individual entity:

मुझे एक ऐसी किताब चाहिए जो बच्चों के लिए उपयुक्त हो। mujhe ek aisi kitāb cāhie jo baccon ke lie upayukt ho, I want a book suitable for children.

5. Often in hypothetical comparisons involving such expressions as जैसे jaise, मानों mānoḥ 'as if':

बच्चा दरवाजे पर खड़ा था जैसे किसी के इंतज़ार में हो। baccā darvāze par khaṛā thā jaise kisi ke intazār meḥ ho, The boy was standing at the door as if waiting for someone.

6. With the expressions आवश्यक है āvāśyak hai, जरूरी है zarūrī hai 'it is necessary', उचित है ucit hai, मुनासिब है munāsib hai 'it is appropriate', and others which in greater or less degree partake of the nature of directives:

आवश्यक है कि हम आज पूर्व के बारे में कुछ जानें। āvāśyak hai ki ham āj pūrv ke bāre meḥ kuch jānēm, It is necessary for us to know something about the East today.

<sup>1</sup> For perfective subjunctive forms such as हो गया हो ho gayā ho see Supplement II, p. 172.

<sup>2</sup> सो so is an old demonstrative, little used in the standard language except in proverbial and gnomic expressions.

<sup>3</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>4</sup> See Supplement III, p. 179.

और उचित है कि इस उद्देश्य से एक भारतीय भाषा सीख लें। aur ucit hai ki is uddēśya se ek bhārtīy bhāṣā sikh lēn, And it is appropriate that with this purpose we should learn an Indian language.

THE VERB लगना lagnā

The basic meaning of this intransitive verb can be generalized as 'to be applied'. It occurs in a very wide range of expressions, a selection of which is given below. The common collocation of लगना lagnā with a preceding oblique case infinitive is noted separately.

1. The following sentences exemplify very common usages of लगना lagnā. Subjects of equivalent English expressions showing transitive verbs usually correspond to oblique case nouns or pronouns with को ko (or equivalent pronominal object forms), in initial sentence position in sentences of neutral style and emphasis. Such oblique case forms are often not expressed if the sense of a sentence is clear.

आपको हिंदुस्तान कैसा लगता है? āpko hindustān kaisā lagtā hai? How do you like India?

अच्छा लगता है। acchā lagtā hai, I like it.

यहाँ मन लगता है। yahām man lagtā hai, I feel at home here (my heart is engaged, attached, here).

लगता है (कि) यह मकान खाली है। lagtā hai (ki) yah makān khālī hai, It seems as if this house is empty.<sup>1</sup>

बच्चा माँ जैसा लगता है। baccā mām jaisā lagtā hai, The child looks like his mother.<sup>2</sup>

डाकखाने जाने में कितनी देर लगेगी? ḍākhāne jāne mē kitnī der lagegī? How long will it take to get to the post office?

कोई पाँच मिनट लगेंगे। koī pānc minaṭ lagēnge, It'll take about five minutes.

उसको चोट लगी। usko coṭ lagi, He got hurt.

उसे ठंड लगी है। use thaṇḍ lagi hai, He's got a cold.

मुझे ठंड लग रही है। mujhe thaṇḍ lag rahī hai, I'm cold; I'm getting cold.

पत्थर के मकानों में भी आग लग सकती है। paṭthar ke makānoṃ mē bhī āg lag saktī hai, Even stone houses can catch fire.

<sup>1</sup> Linking कि ki, जैसे jaisē introducing clauses dependent on लगना lagnā, मालूम होना mālūm honā, etc., are frequently dropped in colloquial usage; see p. 96.

<sup>2</sup> जैसा jaisā is used postpositionally with माँ mām here; see p. 84.

मुझे भूख लगी है। mujhe bhūkh lagi hai, I am hungry.

मुझे प्यास लगी है। mujhe pyās lagi hai, I am thirsty.

(a) Note the use of the perfective participle in the last two sentences. Cf. the following sentences:

मुझे ग्यारह बजे के करीब भूख लगती है। mujhe gyārah baje ke qarīb bhūkh lagti hai, I get hungry about eleven o'clock.

मुझे प्यास लग रही है। mujhe pyās lag rahī hai, I'm getting thirsty.

2. Collocating with a preceding oblique case infinitive, लगना lagnā has the sense 'begin'. This type of collocation is extremely frequent.

कुछ क्षण चुप रहने के बाद वह बोलने लगा। kuch kṣaṇ cup rahne ke bād vah bolne lagā, After a few moments' silence he began to speak.

उसको प्यास लगने लगी। usko pyās lagne lagi, He began to feel thirsty.

दिन लंबे होने लगे। din lambe hone lage, The days started getting long, longer.

(a) Where personal subjects are involved collocations of oblique case infinitive with following लगना lagnā are equivalent in sense to, and usually interchangeable with, those of infinitive with following शुरू, प्रारंभ करना śurū, ārambh karnā, e.g. in the first example above. Where non-personal subjects are involved, e.g. in the last two examples, use of लगना lagnā is normal.

(b) Collocations of oblique case infinitive with following लगना lagnā are negatived only rather rarely; any negative precedes the infinitive in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

(c) लगना lagnā, being intransitive, is of course not used in construction with ने ne.

THE VERBS देना denā AND पाना pānā WITH PRECEDING OBLIQUE CASE INFINITIVES

1. देना denā often collocates with preceding oblique case infinitives in locations expressing the granting of permission, and containing pronouns or nouns in oblique case with को ko (or equivalent pronominal object forms). It occurs in both active and passive (impersonal) constructions.

मैंने उसे जाने दिया । mainne use jāne diyā, I let him go, allowed him to go.
 उसको जाने दिया गया था । usko jāne diyā gayā thā, He was allowed to go
 (it was granted to him to go).

मेरे पिता जी मुझे सिग्रेट नहीं पीने देते थे । mere pitā jī mujhe sigret nahīn pīne dete the, My father used not to let me smoke cigarettes.

मैंने उसे जाने नहीं दिया । mainne use jāne nahīn diyā, I didn't let him go.

(a) In sentences of neutral style and emphasis, negatives tend on the whole to precede infinitives, but some speakers feel that they can often also be placed between infinitives and the verb देना denā without acquiring particular affective value.

(b) Collocations of perfective forms of देना denā with oblique case infinitives are used in construction with ने ne.

2. पाना pānā collocating with preceding oblique case infinitives expresses possibility of performing an action; these collocations are equivalent to compound verbs with पाना pānā as dependent auxiliary, and are giving ground to the latter in the modern language.

मैं बनारस नहीं जाने पाया, क्योंकि मुझे इलाहाबाद में ही काम था । main banāras nahīn jāne pāyā, kyōnkī mujhe ilāhābād meṁ hī kām thā, It was impossible for me to go to Banaras, because I had work in Allahabad.

(a) Note that collocations of पाना pānā with oblique case infinitives are, like compound verbs showing पाना pānā, not used in construction with ने ne, and that they are very often negated, the negative most commonly preceding the infinitive in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

VOCABULARY

हाल hāl, m., state, condition
 जय jay, f., victory; . . . की जय हो
 . . . ki jay ho, long live . . .
 रस्सा rassā, m., rope
 मुझे पता नहीं (है) mujhe patā nahīn (hai), I don't know, have no idea
 सवारी savārī, f., passenger; vehicle
 पूर्व pūrv, m., east
 पश्चिम paścim, m., west

उद्देश्य **uddēśya*, m., aim, intention
 मन man, m., mind; heart
 डाकखाना †dākḥānā, m., post office
 डाकघर dākghar, m., post office
 पत्थर patthar, m., stone
 आग āg, f., fire
 भूख bhūkh, f., hunger
 प्यास pyās, f., thirst
 ठंड thand, f., cold; a cold

क्षण kṣaṇ, m., moment, instant मदद †madad, f., help; मदद देना
madad denā (ko), help
 प्रगति pragati, f., progress
 धूप dhūp, f., sun's heat or light लू lū, f., hot, dusty wind which blows in north India in May and June; लू लगना lū lagnā (ko), get sunstroke.
 संस्कृति samskr̥ti, f., culture
 बर्फ barf, f., ice, snow
 उपयुक्त upayukt, suitable उचित ucit, appropriate

मुनासिब †munāsib, appropriate
 खाली khālī (invariable), empty; free
 (not engaged)
 बांधना bāndhnā, tie, bind
 फेल होना fel honā, fail (examination)
 पिघलना pighalnā, intr., melt संभवतः sambhavataḥ, probably, perhaps
 आसान āsān, easy, simple बुनियादी buniyādī (invariable), basic;
 elementary
 का अध्ययन करना kā adhyayan karnā, study

EXERCISE 39

मैं चाहता हूँ कि आप उसे वह पत्र दिखाएँ । मैं उसको मदद देना चाहता था । वह शायद कल आए । वह शायद कल आएगा । उचित ही है कि आप भारत जाने से पहले एक भारतीय भाषा बोल सकें । मुझे वहाँ जाने में भाषा बंटा लगा । लौटने में कितना समय लगेगा? अगर मैं सीधा जाऊँ तो इससे कम समय लगेगा । मालूम होता है, आप हिंदी लिखने में प्रगति कर रहे हैं । मुझे प्यास लगी है । चूँकि उसने मुझ से कुछ नहीं खाया था, इसलिए उसे भूख लगने लगी । सारा दिन धूप में रहने से उसे लू लग गई ।

EXERCISE 40

I want to study Indian culture. I want my son to study Indian culture. Would you like me to show him that letter? Shall I ask<sup>1</sup> him to write you a letter? It will probably take you at least a month to learn to read and write<sup>2</sup> elementary Hindi. The snow began to melt in February. We're cold. His mother didn't let him go until his father had returned.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> कहना kahnā.

<sup>2</sup> Use सीखना sikhnā with preceding direct case infinitives.

<sup>3</sup> Perfective verb, rather than perfective past.

LESSON XXII

COMPOSITE VERBAL EXPRESSIONS WITH रहना rahnā, जाना jānā (contd.), करना karnā, चाहना cāhnā

1. With रहना rahnā

COLLOCATIONS of participles (almost always imperfective) with following forms of the verb रहना rahnā stress the element of continuity in an action extending over a period of time. They are extremely common. Tense and aspectual and modal reference are determined by the form of रहना rahnā used.

वह दिन भर काम करता रहा । vah din bhar kām kartā rahā, He kept working, worked, all day long.<sup>1</sup>

वह दिन भर काम करती रहती थी । vah din bhar kām kartī rahī thī, She used to work all day long.

वे दिन भर काम करते रहते हैं । ve din bhar kām karte rahte hain, They work all day long.

जागते रहो! jāgte raho! Keep alert! (the night watchman's cry)

(a) Only those few perfective participles which express present state (see p. 19) are used in this way.

लड़की एक घंटा वहाँ बैठी रही । larkī ek ghaṇṭā vahām baiṭhī rahī, The girl stayed sitting there for an hour.

वहाँ किसी के न मिलने के बावजूद वे ठहरे रहे । vahām kisi ke na milne ke bāvajūd ve thahre rahe, They went on waiting in spite of not finding anyone there.

वह दिन भर बिस्तर पर पड़ा रहेगा । vah din bhar bistar par paṛā rahegā, He'll lie on his bed (bedding) all day.

2. With जाना jānā (contd.)

Similar collocations of imperfective participles with forms of the verb जाना jānā stress rather the progressive nature of an action extending over a period of time, the way in which it advances from stage to stage. They too are extremely common.

वह काम करता गया, और मैं देखता गया । vah kām hartā gayā, aur main dekhtā gayā, He carried on with his work, and I kept on watching.

<sup>1</sup> For दिन भर din bhar see Supplement III, p. 179.

(a) The same English sentence may often serve as translation equivalent of Hindi sentences containing composite verbal expressions with either रहना rahnā or जाना jānā, but there is a difference in the implication of such Hindi sentences.

3. With करना karnā

Collocations of perfective participles showing invariable final -ā with following forms of the verb करना karnā stress the habitual nature of a given action. These also are very common.

हम हिंदी ही बोला करते हैं, इसलिए अब अच्छी तरह बोलने लगे हैं । ham hindī hī bolā karte hain, islie ab acchī tarah bolne lage hain, We normally talk in Hindi, so now we're beginning to speak well.

पहले मेरे यहाँ आया करती थी, अब नहीं आती । pahle mere yahām āyā kartī thī, ab nahīm ātī, She used to visit me frequently but doesn't any more.<sup>1</sup>

अपना काम अच्छी तरह किया करो । apnā kām acchī tarah kiya karo, Always do your work well.

(a) Collocations of this type based on the verb जाना jānā show जाया jāyā (not गया gayā) as first element.

दिल्ली में रहता हूँ, लेकिन कलकत्ते जाया करता हूँ । dillī meṁ rahtā hūm, lekin kalkatte jāyā kartā hūm, I live in Delhi, but I'm always going to Calcutta.

(b) Perfective forms of these collocations are relatively rare, and where they occur are not used in construction with ने ne (their sense being fundamentally the expression of habitual action).

तुम्हारे पूर्वज घास छीला किए! tumhāre pūrvaj ghās chilā kie! Your forefathers scraped grass! (did menial work)

4. With चाहना cāhnā

Collocations of perfective participles showing invariable final -ā with following forms of the verb चाहना cāhnā express the idea that a given action is about to occur. There are other, more common ways of expressing this idea,<sup>1</sup> and these collocations are much less frequent than any of the above three types.

<sup>1</sup> मेरे यहाँ mere yahām, adverbial phrase meaning 'at, to, my place, house'. Similarly आपके यहाँ āpke yahām, उसके यहाँ uske yahām, etc.

दो बजा चाहते हैं । do bajā cāhte hain, It's about to strike two, two is about to strike.

(a) Collocations of this type based on the verb जाना jānā show जाया jāyā as first element.

मैं बाहर जाया चाहता हूँ । main bāhar jāyā cāhtā hūm, I'm about to go out.

VOCABULARY

पूर्वज pūrvaj , m., ancestor	ज्यों-ज्यों . . . त्यों-त्यों jyom-jyom . . .
घास ghās , f., grass	tyom-tyom , in proportion as . . .
राजपूत rājput , m., and adj., Rajput	so
छीलना chilnā , scrape, pare	के बावजूद ke bāvajūd , in spite of
दिन भर din bhar , all day	हर कोई har koī , everyone

EXERCISE 41

बारिश दो दिन होती रही । जब तक हम भारत न गए तब तक हिंदी पढ़ते रहे । हिंदी पढ़ते रहिए! ज्यों-ज्यों दिन लंबे होते जाते हैं, त्यों-त्यों रातें छोटी होती जाती हैं । जब मैं उत्तर भारत में रहता हूँ तो हिंदी बोला करता हूँ ।

EXERCISE 42

I lie in bed till eight o'clock each day. At that time war was always going on between the Rajput rajahs. We began to speak in Hindi and went on in Hindi until the end of the hour.* Please make a habit of learning ten new words every day. I keep asking everyone this question. What is the answer to it?†

<sup>1</sup> See Lessons XIX, p. 120; XXV, p. 154.

* घटे के खत्म होने तक ghaṭe ke khatm hone tak 'until the hour's ending'.

† To it: use इसका iskā

LESSON XXIII

REDUPLICATIVE EXPRESSIONS

REDUPLICATION is a frequent syntactic device in Hindi sentences, and generally has a distributive connotation. Words belonging to a wide range of grammatical categories may be reduplicated, and types of translation equivalent vary greatly. Reduplicative expressions will often be found hyphenated. Careful users of Hindi will in general hyphenate those which they feel refer to a collective unity more readily than those which they feel refer to an aggregate of individual items.

आपने उनसे क्या क्या बातें की? āpne unse kyā kyā bātēn kī? What (various things) did you talk about with them?

वहाँ कौन कौन लोग थे? vahān kaun kaun log the? Who were there?

गाड़ियाँ किस किस वक़्त चलती हैं? gāriyām kis kis vaqt caltī hain? When do the trains leave?

उनमें कोई कोई हँसता था, कोई कोई रोता था । unmēn koī koī haṁstā thā, koī koī rotā thā, Some of them were laughing, some were weeping.

किन्हीं किन्हीं गाँवों में तालाब नहीं है । kinhīm kinhīm gāmvom mēn tālāb nahīn hai, In some (few, or unimportant) villages there's no tank.<sup>1</sup>

भारत में कहाँ कहाँ घूमे? bhārat mēn kahām kahām ghūme? Where have you been in India? (to what different places)

लड़कों को पचास पचास पैसे मिले । laṛkōn ko pacās pacās paise milē, The boys got fifty pice each.

एक एक लड़के को पचास पचास पैसे मिले । ek ek laṛke ko pacās pacās paise milē, Each boy got fifty pice.

आपको लंदन में तरह तरह के मुहल्ले मिलेंगे । āpko landan mēn tarah tarah ke muhalle milēnge, You'll find various types of suburb in London.

मैं रास्ते के किनारे किनारे चला । main rāste ke kināre kināre calā, I kept to the edge of the road (all the way).

वे अपने अपने कामों में व्यस्त हैं । ve āpne āpne kāmōn mēn vyast hain, They're busy with their (respective) tasks.

उसके बड़े बड़े कान हैं । uske bāṛe bāṛe kān hain, He has big ears.

आप धीरे धीरे बोलेंगे तो मैं समझूँगा । āp dhīre dhīre boleṅge to main samjhūṅgā, If you speak slowly I'll understand.

<sup>1</sup> For किन्हीं kinhīm see p. 44.

लड़की ने सिसक सिसकर अपनी कहानी सुनाई । larkī ne sisak sisakkar apnī kahānī sunāī, Sobbing continuously, the girl told her story.<sup>1</sup>

हम धूप में चलते चलते थक गए । ham dhūp meṁ calte calte thak gae, We got tired walking in the sun (walking so long, continuously, etc.).

(a) In some cases reduplication does have intensive force: e.g.

गरम गरम चाय ले आओ! garm garm cāy le āo! Bring some tea, really hot!

But in most such cases a distributive idea is already present in the sentence: e.g.

उस खेत में बहुत-से बड़े बड़े पेड़ हैं । us khet meṁ bahut-se bade bade ped hain, There are a lot of very big trees in that field.<sup>2</sup>

(b) A few expressions of reduplicative structure are based on oblique case forms: e.g.

दिनो-दिन dinon-din, day by day

के बीचों-बीच ke bicom-bic, in the very middle of

(c) One or two common expressions contain the Persian preposition ba or a corrupted form of it: e.g.

दिनबदिन †dinbadin, day by day

रंगबिरंगा †rangbiraṅgā, many-coloured

हफ्ते बहफ्ते †hafte bahafte, week by week

THE CONJUNCTION तो to

Correlative usages of this conjunction have been noted above.<sup>3</sup> It is also often used in non-correlative constructions, as a link between loosely connected sentences or parts of one sentence. Two general types of usage of तो to can be distinguished.

1. In initial sentence or clause position, तो to furnishes a semantically colourless link with what precedes. (Its correlative usages fall under this heading.) English translation equivalents depend on the sentence context.

अगर वह आए, तो मुझे खबर दीजिए । agar vah aye, to mujhe khabar dijie, If he comes, please let me know.

<sup>1</sup> Reduplicated absolutes show the first absolute in stem form; cf. p. 90, n. 2.

<sup>2</sup> The form बहुत-से bahut-se 'many' is explained in Lesson XXIV, pp. 147 f.

<sup>3</sup> Lesson XX, pp. 123 ff.

वे चलने लगे, तो मुझे उनसे बात करने का अवसर मिला । ve calne lage, to mujhe unse bat karne ka avasar mila, He was going off when I got the chance to have a few words with him.

सभ्यता मनुष्यों को सब प्रकार से आराम देती है, तो भी वे असंतुष्ट रहते हैं । sabhyatā manuṣyom ko sab prakār se āram detī hai, to bhī ve asantust rahate hain, Civilisation gives men all kinds of comforts, but still they are unsatisfied.<sup>1</sup>

(a) Note the very common expression नहीं तो nahin to 'otherwise', representing (अगर) नहीं, तो . . . (agar nahin, to . . . 'if not, then . . .'). Colloquially this expression is often contracted to the single word नहीं nahin in initial position in its clause.

अपना काम देखो, नहीं (तो) अच्छा न होगा! apnā kām dekho, nahin (to) acchā na hogā! Pay attention to your work, or there'll be trouble!

2. In non-initial sentence or clause position, तो to usually suggests that the given sentence or clause expresses an idea at variance in some way with what precedes (whether the content of a locution, an unexpressed thought or an action), or modifying it in some way.

बात तो यह है कि . . . bāt to yah hai ki . . . The fact is that . . . (contrary to what has been supposed)

नहीं, नहीं, मैं तो वैसे ही मजाक कर रहा था! nahin, nahin, main to vaise hi masāq kar rahā thā! No, no, I was just joking!<sup>2</sup>

(a) तो to may occur both initially and non-initially in a phrase or sentence. हमिद के लिए कुछ नहीं है, तो दो पैसे का दूध तो चाहिए ही । hamid ke lie kuch nahin hai, to do paise kā dūdh to cāhie hī, There is nothing (available) for Hamid, but he does certainly need two pice worth of milk.<sup>3</sup>

(b) तो to may occur in non-initial position in a sentence not connected with any preceding utterance or action.

आप अच्छे तो हैं? ap acche to hain? Are you getting on all right? (I expect you are, but please confirm it)

Here the force of तो to is to reduce the content of the inquiry, which is quite conventionalised and hardly a request for information.

<sup>1</sup> For तो भी to bhī 'but even so' see further Supplement III, p. 180.

<sup>2</sup> For वैसे ही vaise hī see Supplement III, p. 167.

<sup>3</sup> From the short story ईदगाह Idgāh, by Premchand (1880-1936).

THE EMPHATIC ENCLITIC hī (contd.)

The general function of hī as an enclitic of restrictive force, stressing the importance of the word or syntactic group immediately preceding it in a sentence, has been indicated above.<sup>1</sup>

1. Some examples illustrating its use with different grammatical forms, and its wide range of possible translation equivalents, are given in this section.

बनारस के लोग हिंदी ही बोलते हैं । banāras ke log hindī hī bolte hain, The people of Banaras of course speak Hindi.

शहर पास हो है । shahr pās hī hai, The city is quite near, very near.

आपने जो इंतजाम किया है, वह बहुत ही अच्छा है । āpne jo intazām kiya hai, vah bahut hī acchā hai, The arrangements you've made are excellent.

वह अपनी ही किताब लाया । vah apnī hī kitāb lāyā, He brought his own book.

वह अच्छे आदमी नहीं थे, लेकिन वकील तो अच्छे थे ही । vah acche ādmī nahīn the, lekin vakīl tō acche the hī,<sup>2</sup> He wasn't a good man, but certainly was a good lawyer.

वह मन ही मन सोचने लगा कि . . . vah man hī man socne lagā ki . . ., The thought occurred to him that . . . (he started to think in his heart that . . .)

उस काम के लिए तीन ही आदमी कम होंगे । us kām ke lie tin hī ādmī kam hōnge, Three men, only three men, will be too few for that job.

उसे उस काम के लिए एक ही रुपया मिला । use us kām ke lie ek hī rupayā milā, He only got one rupee for that work.

मैं आपसे जो कह रहा हूँ, उसे समझ ही गए होंगे । māim āpse jo kah rahā hūm, use samajh hī gae hōnge, You'll certainly have understood what I'm saying to you.

2. hī coalesces with some personal and demonstrative pronominal forms. The emphatic forms of the personal and demonstrative pronouns are as follows:

Sg. Dir.	मैं ही	māim hī	तू ही	tū hī	वही	vahī
Obl.	मुझी	mujhī	तुझी	tujhī	उसी	usī
Obj.	मुझे ही	mujhe hī	तुझे ही	tujhe hī	उसे ही	use hī
Poss.	मेरा ही	merā hī	तेरा ही	terā hī	उसी का	usī kā

<sup>1</sup> Lesson V, pp. 27 f.

<sup>2</sup> Affective word-order.

Pl. Dir.	हम ही	ham hī	तुम ही	tum hī	वे ही	ve hī
Obl.	हमों	hamīm	तुम्हीं	tumhīm	उन्हीं	unhīm
Obj.	हमें ही	hamēm hī	तुम्हें ही	tumhēm hī	उन्हें ही	unhēm hī
Poss.	हमारा ही	hamārā hī	तुम्हारा ही	tumhārā hī	उन्हीं का	unhīm kā

Sg. Dir.	यही	yahī	आप ही	āp hī
Obl.	इसी	isī	आप ही	āp hī
Object	इसे ही	ise hī	आपको ही	āpko hī
Possessive	इसी का	isī kā	आपका ही	āpkā hī

Pl. Dir.	ये ही	ye hī	आप ही	āp hī
Obl.	इन्हीं	inhīm	आप ही	āp hī
Object	इन्हें ही	inhēm hī	आपको ही	āpko hī
Possessive	इन्हीं का	inhīm kā	आपका ही	āpkā hī

आप उन्हीं पुस्तकों को पढ़िए । āp unhīm pustkōm ko parhīe, Please read those same books, those very books.

यही कारण है कि हम आपका प्रस्ताव नहीं स्वीकार कर सकते । yahī kāraṇ hai ki ham āpkā prastāv nahīm svīkār kar sakte, This is the reason we can't accept your suggestion.

हम आपका प्रस्ताव इसीलिए नहीं स्वीकार कर सकते । ham āpkā prastāv isīlie nahīm svīkār kar sakte, We can't accept your suggestion for this reason.

उसी समय मेरे पिता जी आगरे में थे । usī samay mere pitā jī āgre meṁ the, At that very time, that particular time, my father was in Agra.

उन्हीं दिनों में उनके शत्रु लड़ाई की तैयारियाँ कर रहे थे । unhīm dīnoṁ meṁ unke śatru laṛāi kī taiyāriyāṁ kar rahē the, During that very period their enemies were making preparations for war.

मैं लाल मिर्च खा ही नहीं सकता । māim lāl mirc khā hī nahīm saktā, I can't eat red pepper at all.

3. Note that while emphatic hī may separate parts of composite and other verbal expressions (see last example above) it does not normally separate a word that it stresses from any post-position associated with it.

कवि के ही शब्दों में kavī ke hī śabdōṁ meṁ, in the poet's own words, the words of the poet himself

हम लड़ाई के पहले से ही यहाँ आया करते हैं । ham laṛāi ke pahle se hī yahāṁ āyā kartē hain, We've been coming here since even before the war.

But while this is the most general usage, it is not invariably followed.

4. Notice particularly the frequent collocation of oblique case imperfective participles in -e with following hī, in sentences whose most direct English translation equivalent usually contains the phrase 'as soon as'. Its use is straightforward in sentences which refer throughout to activity on the part of the same persons or things. Whatever the gender and number of the sentence subject, the participle is always in the -e form (these being adverbial, not adjectival expressions).

मैं आते ही काम करने लगा । māim āte hī kām karne lagā, I started work as soon as I arrived.

आते ही मैं काम करने लगा । āte hī māim kām karne lagā, As soon as I arrived I started work.

मैं आते ही काम करने लगी । māim āte hī kām karne lagī, I started work as soon as I arrived (f. sg. subject).

हम आते ही काम करने लगे । ham āte hī kām karne lagī, We started work as soon as we arrived (f. pl. subject).

(a) Where a sentence of this sort describes the activity of different persons or things we usually find not a direct case noun or pronoun associated with the participle, but the corresponding possessive form. Again the participle is always in the -e form.

वह मेरे आते ही काम करने लगा । vah mere āte hī kām karne lagā, He started work as soon as I arrived.

मेरी बहन के आते ही मैंने आपका हाल पूछा । merī bahn ke āte hī māimne āpkā hāl pūchā, As soon as my sister came I asked how you were.

There are exceptions to this, however, especially where non-personal subjects and participles of intransitive verbs are involved: e.g.

नज़र मिलते ही उसने आँखें झुका लीं । nazar milte hī usne ānkheṁ jhukā lī, As soon as (my) glance met (hers) she lowered her eyes.

5. Some common adverbs formed with hī are:

अभी abhi, now, at this particular time (see Lesson V)

तभी tabhi, then, at that particular time

कभी kabhi, sometimes; at some time

यहीं yahin, here, at this particular place (यहाँ yahām + ही hī)

वहीं vahin, there, at that particular place (वहाँ vahām + ही hī)

मैं कभी वहाँ गया था । māim kabhi vahām gayā thā, I went there once (on one occasion).

मैं कभी कभी वहाँ जाता था । māim kabhi kabhi vahām jātā thā, I used to go there sometimes.

वह इन दिनों कभी वहाँ नहीं जाता । vah in dinon kabhi vahām nahin jātā, He never goes there these days.

मैं इलाहाबाद में विद्यार्थी था । वहीं हिंदी सीखी । māim ilāhābād meṁ vidyārthī thā. vahin hindī sikhī, I was a student at Allahabad. It was there that I learned Hindi.

(a) Note from the third example the use of कभी kabhi in negated sentences whose translation equivalent usually contains the word 'never'.

VOCABULARY

मुहल्ला muhallā, m., suburb

किनारा kinārā, m., bank, edge

नज़र †nazar, f., sight; glance

कान kān, m., ear

नाक nāk, f., nose

अवसर avasār, m., opportunity, occasion

सभ्यता sabhyatā, f., civilisation

प्रकार prakār, m., type, kind;

सब प्रकार से sab prakār se, in every way

मजाक mazāq, m., joke; मजाक करना mazāq karnā, joke

इंतजाम †intazām, m., arrangement, arrangements

वकील vakil, m., lawyer

प्रस्ताव prastāv, m., suggestion

तैयारियाँ †aiyāriyām, f. pl., preparations; की तैयारियाँ करना kī taiyāriyām karnā, prepare for

शब्द śabd, m., word

सिपाही sipāhī, m., soldier

तरक्की †taraqqī, f., progress

विश्वविद्यालय viśvavidyālay, m., university

माँग māṅg, f., request

ब्यस्त byast, busy

संतुष्ट santust, satisfied

असंतुष्ट asantust, dissatisfied

मिर्च mirch, f., pepper; chilli

सिसकना sisaknā, sob

मुकाना jhukānā, lower

धीरे, धीरे धीरे dhire, dhire dhire, slowly

(के) लायक (ke) †lāyaq, suitable for; देखने लायक dekhne lāyaq, worth seeing (के ke is very often omitted in construction with infinitives)

मनुष्य manuṣya, m., man, human being

EXERCISE 43

आप लोग<sup>1</sup> रोज़ दस दस नए शब्द सीखा लीजिए। हर एक राजपूत ने शत्रु के कई कई लिपाहियों को मार डाला। लोग दूर दूर से गंगा में स्नान करने के लिए इलाहाबाद आते हैं। आप तो हिंदी समझते हैं? गाड़ी छुटी तो ठीक वक्त पर, लेकिन वह पाँच मिनट देर से पहुँची। आप रोज़ दस ही शब्द सीखने पर भी तरक्की करेंगे। मैंने उस रेस्टरेट में कभी खाना नहीं खाया। मैं देखते ही आपको पहचान गया। उसके बैठते ही हम उससे तरह तरह के प्रश्न पूछने लगे।

EXERCISE 44

What did you do in the vacation? What people did you meet at the University yesterday? You'll find small villages in the countryside around the city which are worth seeing. He usually spoke slowly, but even then<sup>2</sup> I didn't always<sup>3</sup> understand. Speak slowly, otherwise I shan't understand. If you want to learn Hindi you should speak Hindi. On that very day my father arrived from Delhi. On hearing his request they burst out laughing. As soon as the train left I started reading my paper.

<sup>1</sup> For आप लोग āp log, pl., see Supplement I, p. 165.

<sup>2</sup> तब भी tab bhī.

<sup>3</sup> कभी कभी kabhi kabhi.

LESSON XXIV

THE ADJECTIVAL PARTICLE सा sā

THIS particle, which shows normal adjectival flexion, is found suffixed to various parts of speech, most commonly adjectives. It is used in a variety of ways, to express the notion of 'general resemblance'. It is usually written hyphenated to the word to which it is suffixed.

1. Suffixed to most adjectives it denotes, broadly speaking, a reduced degree of a quality.

यमुना नदी का नीला-सा पानी। yamunā nadi kā nīlā-sā pānī, the bluish water of the river Jumna

मैं एक अच्छी-सी किताब पढ़ रहा हूँ। main ek acchī-sī kitāb paṛh rahā hūm, I'm reading a rather good book, quite a good book.

मुझे दोनों मकान एक-से दिखाई देते हैं। mujhe donon mukān ek-se dikhāī dete hain, Both houses look similar, much the same, to me.

2. Suffixed to quantitative adjectives (e.g. बहुत bahut, थोड़ा thoṛā 'a little') and sometimes other adjectives expressing bulk or size (especially बड़ा barā, छोटा choṭā), it introduces an element of vagueness to the interpretation of the quantity or size.

उसने मुझे बहुत रुपया दिया था। usne mujhe bahut rupayā diyā thā, He gave me a lot of money.

उसने मुझे बहुत-सा रुपया दिया था। usne mujhe bahut-sā rupayā diyā thā, He gave me a lot of money (it doesn't matter how much, more than sufficient, etc.).

माघ मेले में बहुत-से लोग आते हैं। māgh mele mein bahut-se log āte hain, Many people come to the Māgh Melā.

उसने दो हिरण और एक बड़ा-सा शेर मारा। usne do hiran aur ek barā-sā śer mārā, He killed two deer and a big tiger.

पहले उसकी एक छोटी-सी दुकान थी। pahle uskī ek choṭī-sī dūkān thī, Formerly he used to have a little shop.

(a) Note particularly that the form बहुत-से/सी bahut-se/sī, pl., 'many' is an adjective only, whereas unsuffixed बहुत bahut may be either an adjective or an adverb, and before an adjective is always interpreted as an adverb.

Compare the following sentences:

उस खेत में बहुत बड़े पेड़ हैं । us khet mein bahut bade per hain, There are some very big trees in that field.

उस खेत में बहुत-से बड़े पेड़ हैं । us khet mein bahut-se bade per hain, There are many big trees in that field.

(b) A sentence such as

मैं एक बहुत अच्छी-सी किताब पढ़ रहा हूँ । main ek bahut acchi-si kitab parh rahā hūm

means 'I am reading a very good book', not 'I am reading quite a good book'. Here so sī is associated with the entire locution बहुत अच्छी bahut acchī, rather than with अच्छी acchī alone.

(c) Note the use of कोई-सा koī-sā 'any out of a number of possibilities or choices':

विद्यार्थी कोई-से तीन विषय पढ़ सकते हैं । vidyārthī koī-se tīn viṣay parh sakte hain, Students can read any three subjects (of a syllabus, etc.).

(d) Similarly कौन-सा kaun-sā means 'which out of a number of possibilities or choices'.<sup>1</sup>

मैं श्रीवास्तव बोल रहा हूँ । — कौन-सा? main śrīvāstav bol rahā hūm. — kaun-sā?
This is Śrīvāstav speaking. — Which Śrīvāstav?

3. Suffixed to other forms it expresses likeness.

उसका धेर-सा दिल है । uskā ṣer-sā dil hai, He has a heart like a lion.

उसका धेर का-सा दिल है । uskā ṣer kā-sā dil hai, He has a heart like a lion's.

मुझ-सा गरीब आदमी यह कैसे कर सकता है? mujh-sā garīb ādmī yah kaise kar saktā hai? How can a poor man like me do this?

कुत्ते-से जीवन जीने से मर जाना बेहतर है । kutte-se jīvan jīne se mar jānā behtar hai, It is better to die than live one's life like a dog.<sup>2</sup>

बंदर दीवार पर नाच-सा उठा । bandar dīvār par nāc-sā uṭhā, The monkey started a kind of dance on the wall.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> See p. 45.

<sup>2</sup> कुत्ते-से kutte-se 'like a dog'; se in concord with कुत्ते kutte. Where सा sā suffixed to a noun has no other referend in its sentence than that noun, it regularly shows concord with it.

<sup>3</sup> नाच उठना nāc uṭhnā compound verb. सा sā shows the same concord as the verb.

(a) Note from the third and fourth examples above that सा sā is suffixed to oblique case forms of pronouns and nouns.

(b) In this type of expression the form जैसा jaisā is usually interchangeable with सा sā; also the rather less common सरीखा sarikhā (with nouns and pronouns).

INVERTED COMPOUND POSTPOSITIONS

The distinctive elements of certain compound postpositions whose first element is के ke will often be found dissociated from के ke, and preceding the word with which the compound postposition as a whole is syntactically related. This inversion is common colloquially, but is also not unknown in the more formal language. It is most frequent with the postpositions के बिना ke binā 'without', के मारे ke māre 'because of', के सिवा(य) ke ṣivā(y) 'except for', के अलावा ke alāwā 'apart from', के बगैर ke bagair 'without', and के बजाय ke bajāy 'instead of'.

1. Some examples of both constructions with nouns follow.

बिना आपकी सहायता के हम सफल न हो सके । binā āpkī sahāyātā ke ham saṃphal na ho sake, We couldn't have been successful without your help.

आपकी सहायता के बिना हम सफल न हो सके । āpkī sahāyātā ke binā ham saṃphal na ho sake, We couldn't have been successful without your help.

वह मारे खुशी के नाचने लगा । vah māre khusī ke nācne lagā, He began to dance for joy.

सिवा आपके मेरा कोई मित्र नहीं है । ivā āpke merā koī mitr nahīn hai, I have no friend but you.

आपके सिवा मेरा कोई मित्र नहीं है । āpke ivā merā koī mitr nahīn hai, I have no friend but you.

2. In the case of such postpositions associated with verbs there are further variations in the construction. The distinctive element of the postposition usually precedes an oblique case perfective participle (-e form) without following के ke (i.e. functions as a preposition). Most of the postpositions concerned may also be used according to the normal postpositional pattern, with preceding के ke and an oblique case infinitive (-e form).

सिवा यह कष्ट उठाए और क्या चारा है? ivā yah kaṣṭ uṭhāe aur kyā cārā hai?
What can be done, what recourse is there, except to go to this trouble?<sup>1</sup> (there is no way of avoiding it)

<sup>1</sup> और aur is stressed in this and the following example.

यह कष्ट उठाने के सिवा और क्या चारा है? yah kaṣṭ uṭhāne ke sivā aur kyā cārā hai? What can be done except to go to this trouble?

(a) Note that with preceding verbs the compound forms के बिना ke binā, के बगैर ke bagair are normally replaced by बिना binā, बगैर bagair alone, and that the verb forms in question are oblique case perfective participles (-e form), not infinitives.

बिना तकलीफ़ उठाए हम तरक्की नहीं करेंगे। binā taklif uṭhāe ham taraqqī nahīm karenge, Without making an effort we won't progress.

तकलीफ़ उठाए बिना हम तरक्की नहीं करेंगे। taklif uṭhāe binā ham taraqqī nahīm karenge, Without making an effort we won't progress.

VOCABULARY

मेला melā , m., festival; fair; माघ मेला māgh melā , bathing festival held at the confluence of the Ganges and Jumna at Allahabad in the month of Māgh	चारा cārā , m., recourse, course of action
हिरण hiraṇ , m., deer	डर dar , m., fear
घोर ghor , m., tiger; lion	पाँव pānv , m., foot, leg
दिल dil , m., heart	संकोच sankhac , m., shyness, embarrassment
कुत्ता kuttā , m., dog	दाढ़ी dāṛhī , f., beard
बंदर bandar , m., monkey	कोट koṭ , m., coat
कष्ट kaṣṭ , m., difficulty, inconvenience	नीला nīlā , blue; dark blue or green
तकलीफ़ taklif , f., difficulty, inconvenience	थोड़ा thoṛā , a little; थोड़ी-सी हिंदी thoṛī-sī hindī , a little Hindi
	नाचना nācnā , dance
	बँधना bandhnā , be tied, bound नहाना nahānā , bathe

EXERCISE 45

उन्होंने कई लंबी-सी कहानियाँ लिखी हैं। बहुत-से लोग हर एक दिन नदी में नहाते हैं। मैं थोड़ी-सी हिंदी जानता हूँ। उसके पाँव डर के कारण बँध-से गए। उसके अलावा वहाँ कोई और नहीं था। बिना काम किए किसी को तरक्की करने की आशा नहीं हो सकती। संकोच के मारे वह अक्सर हिंदी नहीं बोलता।

EXERCISE 46

He has quite a long beard. Many important people<sup>1</sup> work in that building. Apart from myself there was no one else there. Don't go out without putting on a coat.

<sup>1</sup> बड़े लोग bare log.

LESSON XXV

REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS

THE common reflexive pronouns are आप āp and its equivalents: the Persian loanword खुद khud, and the Sanskrit loanword स्वयं **svayam*. These refer to nouns and pronouns in their sentences, in the same way as the possessive अपना apnā, and all have various translation equivalents: 'myself', 'yourself', 'himself', etc. Note that स्वयं svayam is pronounced with final [m].<sup>1</sup>

1. All the above forms are used in direct case, often with following ही hī.

मैं यह काम आप (ही) करूँगा। main yah kām āp (hī) karūṅgā, I shall do this work myself.

हमने यह खाना खुद ही बनाया। hamne yah khānā khud (hī) banāyā, We made this food ourselves, all on our own.

मैं कल आप दिल्ली जाऊँगी। main kal āp dillī jāūṅgī, I shall go to Delhi myself tomorrow. (f. subject)

तब वह स्वयं परलोक सिधारे। tab vah svayam parloh sidhāre, Then he himself passed away (departed to the other world).

2. As oblique case forms of आप āp both अपने apne and अपने आप apne āp are found, the latter most commonly in conjunction with को ko. खुद khud and स्वयं svayam, which are invariable, are less freely used than these forms in oblique case.

मैं अपने को सहनशील आदमी समझता हूँ। main apne ko sahnshīl ādmī samajhtā hūm, I consider myself a tolerant man.

चोर ने अपने आप को छत पर छिपा लिया। cor ne apne āp ko chat par chipā liyā, The thief hid himself on the roof.

अपने लिए ऐसा करेंगे, दूसरों के लिए नहीं। apne lie aisā karenge, dūsroṁ ke lie nahīm, He'll do it for himself, but not for others.

(a) Since अपना apnā is itself a possessive, it and अपने आप apne āp combine differently with compound postpositions whose first element is के ke; see the last example above, and cf. Lesson VI, p. 34.

<sup>1</sup> Use of anuvāra to indicate final [m] is a Sanskrit spelling device.

(b) अपने आप apne āp is also used adverbially without following post-position, in the sense 'of one's own accord'.

मैं हिंदी अपने आप सीखने लगा । māin hindī apne āp sikhne lagā, I started learning Hindi of my own accord.

(c) Note that अपने आप apne āp is also used to some extent as a direct case form of the same force as आप āp, खुद khud, स्वयं swayam. The sentence

मैंने यह काम अपने आप किया था । māinne yah kām apne āp kiya thā can mean either 'I did this work of my own accord' or (less commonly) 'I did this work myself'.

3. The collective noun आपस āpas 'kindred, fraternity' is used in locutions expressing mutuality or reciprocity of action, often with the postpositions में meṁ, का kā. An invariable adjectival derivative आपसी āpsī 'mutual, one another's' is also found.

भाइयों के लिए आपस में लड़ना-झगड़ना अच्छा नहीं है । bhāiyoṁ ke lie āpas meṁ laṛnā-jhagarnā acchā nahīn hai, It's not good for brothers to be fighting and quarrelling among themselves.

उनके आपसी संबंध अच्छे थे । unke āpsī sambandh acche the, They were on good terms with one another.

(a) Note the adverb and adjective परस्पर **paraspar*, a Sanskrit loanword synonymous with आपस में āpas meṁ, आपसी āpsī which is common in the written language.

4. An oblique case form आपे āpe is used as a noun meaning 'oneself' in some expressions with postpositions.

वह छोटी छोटी बात पर आपे से बाहर हो जाता है । vah choṭī choṭī bāt par āpe se bahar ho jātā hai, He gets beside himself over trifles.

THE FORMATIVE ELEMENT -वाला -vālā

This formative element makes derivatives used as both adjectives and nouns; it is particularly common colloquially, in association chiefly with nouns, the oblique form of infinitives, and adverbs. Some examples of its use follow:

1. With nouns and adverbs it indicates that these are in a general adjectival relationship to a following noun, expressed or understood.

टोपीवाला लड़का सबसे पीछे बैठा है । ṭopīvālā larṅkā sabse pīche baiṭhā hai, The boy with the hat is sitting right at the back.

मुझे एक पंद्रह पैसेवाला टिकट चाहिए । mujhe ek pandrah paisevālā ṭikaṭ chāhiē, I want a 15 pice stamp, please.

लाल साड़ीवाली औरत कुएँ के पास बैठी थी । lāl sāṛīvālī aurat kuēṁ ke pās baiṭhī thī, A woman wearing a red sari was sitting by the well.

वह ऊपरवाले कमरे में काम कर रहा है । vah ūparvāle kamre meṁ kām kar rahā hai, He is working in the room upstairs.

गाँववाले कभी शहर आ जाते हैं । gāmvvāle kabhī šahr ā jāte haiṁ, The villagers sometimes come to the city.

स्टेशन के बाहर एक ही रिक्शेवाला इंतज़ार कर रहा था । ṣṭetan ke bahar ek hī rikṣevālā intazār kar rahā thā, There was just one rickshaw-wallah waiting outside the station.

(a) Note that use of -वाला -vālā is often the simplest and concisest way of expressing what would be adjective phrases, or relative clauses involving expressions such as 'the one who', etc. in English.

(b) Nouns on which -वाला -vālā derivatives are formed show oblique case frequently. This usage is regular in the plural: e.g.

यह मकान चारा काटने की मशीनोंवाले सरदार लहना सिंह का है । yah makān cārā kāṭne kī mašinomvāle sardār lahnā siṁh kā hai (Ashk), This house belongs to Sardār Lahnā Singh, the fodder-cutting-machine man.

In the singular the only nouns whose case is apparent are the masculines in final -ā; these sometimes, but not always, show oblique -e in conjunction with -वाला -vālā. Thus alongside रिक्शेवाला rikṣevālā the form रिक्शावाला rikṣāvālā exists, and is quite acceptable.

(c) Note that -वाला -vālā, being of adjectival force, is usually superfluous with adjectives themselves, but that it is sometimes used in informal language with adjectives.

उसकी दाढ़ी पहलेवाले साधु की तरह लंबी है । uski dāṛhī pahlevāle sādhu kī tarah lambī hai, His beard is long, like (that of) the first sādhu.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> पहलेवाले साधु की तरह pahlevāle sādhu kī tarah: the syntax of this phrase is explained in Supplement III, p. 178, paragraph (b).

(d) Quite frequently the two parts of -वाला -vālā derivatives are written or printed as separate words.

2. With verbs it has agentive force.

मैं इलाहाबाद का रहनेवाला हूँ। main ilāhābād kā rahnevālā hūm, I'm a resident of Allahabad.

हम भारत के रहनेवाले हैं। ham bhārat ke rahnevāle haim, We are citizens of India.

हिंदी सीखनेवाले विद्यार्थियों को मेरी ओर से बधाई दीजिएगा। hindī sikhnevāle vidyārthiyom ko merī ōr se badhāī dijiegā, Please give my congratulations (congratulations from my side) to the students who are learning Hindi.

स्त्रियों और बच्चों पर तोड़े जानेवाले अत्याचारों की खबरों ने इस आग पर तेल का काम किया। striyom aur bacchom par torē jānevāle atyācārom kī khabarom ne is āg par tel kā kām kiya (Ashk), The news of the excesses being committed against the women and children added fuel to this fire.<sup>1</sup>

मैं यूनिवर्सिटी जानेवाला हूँ। main yūniversitī jānevālā hūm, I am about to go to the University; I am on my way to the University.

राधा भारत जानेवाली थी कि बीमार पड़ गई। rādhā bhārat jānevālī thī ki bimār paṛ gai, Rādhā was about to go to India when she fell ill.<sup>2</sup>

(a) Note the syntactic convenience of the use of -वाला -vālā with verbs, as with nouns and adverbs, in forming equivalent expressions to adjective phrases and relative clauses.

(b) Note from the second last example above that -वाला -vālā verbal derivatives followed by a form of the verb होना honā have the sense either 'to be about to . . .' or 'to be engaged in . . .', depending on context.

(c) The two parts of -वाला -vālā verbal derivatives can be separated by the enclitic ही hī (though some users of Hindi may prefer always to place ही hī after -वाला -vālā): e.g.

राधा भारत जाने ही वाली थी कि बीमार पड़ गई। Rādhā bhārat jāne hī vālī thī ki bimār paṛ gai, Rādhā was on the very point of leaving for India when she fell ill.

<sup>1</sup> तोड़े जानेवाले torē jānevāle, literally 'being broken'; तोड़ा जाना torā jānā, passive infinitive of तोड़ना torṇā.

<sup>2</sup> For the use of कि ki here see Supplement III, p. 183.

But even where no ही hī intervenes they are, like -वाला -vālā derivatives based on nouns and adverbs, quite often written or printed as separate words.

VOCABULARY

परलोक parlok , m., the other world,	तेल tel , m., oil
next world; परलोक सिधारना parlok sidhārnā , depart for the next world	यूनिवर्सिटी yūniversitī , f., university
चोर cor , m., thief	अत्याचार atyācār , m., excess, harsh action
छत chat , f., roof	सहनशील sahnśil , tolerant
संबंध sambandh , m., connection, relationship	बीमार bimār , ill
टिकट ṭikaṭ , m.f., stamp	बनाना banānā , make, construct
साड़ी sāṛī , f., sari	छिपाना chipānā , trans., hide
रिक्शा rikṣā , m., rickshaw	भगड़ना bhagaṛnā , quarrel
तांगा tāngā , m., tonga (two-wheeled horse-drawn vehicle) [टांगा tāngā ]	मिलाना milānā (se), introduce (to), cause to meet with
मशीन mašin , f., machine	पार करना pār karnā , trans., cross
बधाई badhāī , f., congratulations	पैदल paidal , adv., on foot
	पैदल चलनेवाला paidal calnevālā , pedestrian

EXERCISE 47

हम आपको अपने मित्रों से मिलाने के लिए स्वयं ले चलेंगे। तांगावाले, मुझे कितने पैसे में स्टेशन ले चलेंगे? उस लाल फूलवाले पेड़ का क्या नाम है? राजाओं में परस्पर लड़ाई होती रहती थी।

EXERCISE 48

He did this work himself, without anyone's help. Pedestrians must cross the street here.<sup>1</sup> Although the lower rooms are small, they are more comfortable than the upper ones. I'm going out. Give me five fifteen paise stamps, please.

<sup>1</sup> यहीं yahin if 'here' is stressed; otherwise यहाँ yahām (with different sense).

LESSON XXVI

NON-FINITE PARTICIPIAL CONSTRUCTIONS

IMPERFECTIVE and perfective participles frequently occur otherwise than as bases for members of the conjugational patterns of finite verbs noted in Lessons IV and V. They function then as independent (non-finite) units in sentences, and their syntax shows adjectival, substantival, and adverbial characteristics. The form हुआ huā may occur following and in the same concord as non-finite participles, in most cases where there is a clear implication that the participles denote a certain condition or a continued state of activity. If such an implication is strong, हुआ huā is more likely than not to occur.

The chief types of non-finite participial construction are illustrated below under separate headings according as they show (either wholly or predominantly) adjectival, substantival, or adverbial characteristics.

1. Adjectival constructions

The great majority of these are quite straightforward. Imperfective and perfective participles may be used attributively (preceding and forming syntactic units with nouns) or predicatively (otherwise).

चलती (हुई) गाड़ी से कूद पड़ना बेवकूफी है । calī (hui) gārī se kūd paṛnā bevaqūfī hai, To jump from a moving train is stupid, stupidity.

अच्छी तरह पढ़ी (हुई) किताब कभी भूली नहीं जाती । acchī tarah paṛhī (hui) kitāb kabhī bhūlī nahī jāī, A book well read is never forgotten.

ओरत गाती (हुई) आई । aurat gātī (hui) āī, The woman came singing, was singing as she came.

लड़का दौड़ा (हुआ) आया । laṛkā dauṛā (huā) āyā, The boy came running, at a run.

एक साधु जमीन पर बैठा (हुआ) दिखाई दे रहा था । दूसरा खड़ा (हुआ) था । ek sādhū xamīn par baiṭhā (huā) dikhāī de ruhā thā, dūsra khayā (huā) thā. One holy man could be seen sitting on the ground. The other was standing.<sup>1</sup>

यह किताब मेरी पढ़ी (हुई) है । yah kitāb merī paṛhī (hui) hai, I've read this book, this book is one I've read.

<sup>1</sup> The word खड़ा khayā 'standing' is an adjective, not a participle, but can be followed by हुआ huā.

(a) In the last example note the possessive form preceding the participle and denoting the activity of an agent other than the referend of the sentence subject.

(b) Note that some expressions showing adjectival concord of participles are adverbial in force, and that in these हुआ huā does not appear.

लौटते समय हम बात करने लगे । lauṭte samay ham bāt karne lage, On the way back we began to talk (at returning-time).

मे जाती दफा आपको अपनी पुस्तक दे दूँगा । main jāī dafā āpho apnī pustak de dūngā, I shall give you my book when I go (at going-time).

वह नाश्ता करते समय समाचारपत्र पढ़ता था । vah nāštā karte samay samācārpatr paṛhī thā, He used to read the paper while he was having his breakfast.

चोर दबे पाँव मकान में घुस गया । cor dabe pānv makān meṁ ghūs gayā, The thief crept stealthily into the house (with 'suppressed footsteps').

(c) Note particularly that participles qualifying oblique case nouns or pronouns are for the most part used only attributively. Predicative usages of participles with oblique case nouns or pronouns are adverbial, and are discussed below.

(d) Reduplicated participles are sometimes used adjectivally: e.g.

मैं दिल्ली में पड़ा पड़ा बेजार हो गया । main dillī meṁ paṛā paṛā bezār ho gayā, I got fed up with staying all the time in Delhi.

Adverbial construction of reduplicated participles, especially imperfective participles, is more common, however, as these tend to express states of activity engaged in, rather than to describe attributes of a person or object adjectivally. Examples are given below. Reduplicated participles are never extended with हुआ huā.<sup>1</sup>

2. Substantival constructions

The following sentences show participles functioning syntactically as nouns in that they are preceded by possessive forms or by the possessive postposition, or are followed by other postpositions, or function as sentence subject or object. The implication of the participles is frequently such that they are extendable with हुआ huā, while like other nouns they may serve also as the basis for oblique case adverbial constructions. Both direct and oblique case participles are found; of the latter, note particularly those preceded by a possessive form or expression, which characteristically denotes the activity of an agent other than the referend of the sentence subject.

<sup>1</sup> No doubt because the reduplication itself already emphasizes the continuing nature of a condition or action.

Direct case

मरता क्या न करता? martā kyā na kartā? What wouldn't a dying man do?<sup>1</sup>
आप मेरा कहा (हुआ) मानिए। āp merā kahā (huā) mānie, Please accept what I say (what I have said).<sup>2</sup>

Oblique case

हम तकलीफ़ उठाए बिना आगे नहीं बढ़ेंगे। ham taklif ūthāe bind āge nahīm barhemge, Without making an effort, taking trouble, we won't advance.<sup>3</sup>

गिरों को (गिरे हुए को) उठाओ, सोतों को (सोते हुए को) जगाओ! giron ko (gire huon ko) ūthāo, soton ko (sote huon ko) jagāo! Raise up the fallen, awaken the sleeping!

उसके आते ही मैं काम करने लगा। uske āte hī main kām karne lagā, As soon as he came I started work.<sup>4</sup>

वह मेरे रोके (हुए) न रुका। vah mere roke (hue) na rukā, I didn't succeed in stopping him (he didn't stop despite my trying to stop him).

सीता के जीते (हुए) घर में कोई कमी नहीं होती थी। sītā ke jīte (hue) ghar men koi kamī nahīm hotī thī, While Sītā lived no want was felt in the home.

3. Adverbial constructions

It has been convenient to mention certain adverbial constructions above, but the majority can be most clearly presented in a separate section. In these constructions participles show final -e irrespective of the gender of the word to which they refer. Their function is to indicate that in conjunction with the action denoted by the finite verb a certain further condition or state of activity obtains. This function is usually not clearly

<sup>1</sup> For the use of करता kartā in this expression see Supplement II, p. 170.

<sup>2</sup> But आप मेरा कहना मानिए āp merā kahnā mānie would be a more common expression. मानना mānnā 'consider, accept as; believe; obey'.

<sup>3</sup> See Lesson XXIV, pp. 149 f.

<sup>4</sup> See Lesson XXIII, p. 144.

distinguishable from that of हुआ huā, and as a result most adverbial usages of participles may show following हुए hue.

In the case of adverbial constructions of participles it is useful to distinguish those based on imperfective from those based on perfective participles.

Based on imperfective participles

(i) In conjunction with direct case forms.

मैं आते ही काम करने लगा। main āte hī kām karne lagā, As soon as I arrived I started work.<sup>1</sup>

मैं यह कहते (हुए) डरता हूँ। main yah kahte (hue) darta hūm, I'm afraid to say this.

औरत गाते (हुए) आ रही थी। aurat gāte (hue) ā rahī thī, The woman was coming along singing.

दोनों लड़कियाँ काम करते करते थक गईं। donon ladhīyām kām karte karte thak gāin, The two girls grew tired as they worked on.

लड़की दौड़ते दौड़ते आई। ladkī daurte daurte āī, The girl came running up.

(a) Reduplicated participles are never extended with हुआ huā; see above.

(ii) In conjunction with oblique case forms.

राम ने किताबें मेज़ पर रखते (हुए) कहा कि... rām ne kitābēh meṣ par rakhte (hue) kahā hī..., (As he was) putting the books down on the table Rām said...

आप उसे आते (हुए) देखेंगे। āp use āte (hue) dekheṅge, You will see him, her, coming.

(a) Adverbial construction of predicatively used participles is normal in these cases, except that where definite direct objects are involved some Hindi speakers may optionally use participles in 'neutral' or 'impersonal' -ā, and might accordingly replace the second example above with the sentence

आप उसे आता (हुआ) देखेंगे। āp use ātā (huā) dekheṅge.

(b) Note especially the construction of participles with noun and pronoun forms followed by को ko (or equivalent pronominal object forms) which are not definite direct objects (cf. second example in subsection (ii) above); this construction typically expresses passage of time.

<sup>1</sup> See Lesson XXIII, p. 144.

उसको विश्वविद्यालय में पढ़ते (हुए) दो वर्ष हो चुके हैं। usko viśvavidyālay meṁ parhīe (hue) do varṣ ho cuke haiṁ, He has been studying at the university for two years now (two years have already passed while he has been studying at the university).

There are parallel usages of perfective participles; see below.

Based on perfective participles

Adverbial construction of perfective participles of transitive verbs is extremely common to denote states arising from the carrying out of actions.

(i) In conjunction with direct case forms.

लड़की साड़ी पहने (हुए) है। laṛkī sārī pahne (hue) hai, The girl is wearing a sari (in the state of having put on a sari).

लड़का टोपी पहने (हुए), चादर ओढ़े (हुए) था। laṛkā ṭopī pahne (hue), cādar oṛhe (hue) thā, The boy was wearing a hat and had a shawl wrapped round himself.

एक आदमी पाँव पर पाँव रखे (हुए) फर्श पर बैठा (हुआ) था। ek ādmī pāṁv par pāṁv rakhe (hue) farṣ par baiṭhā (huā) thā, A man was sitting on the floor with his legs crossed.

साधु हाथ उठाए (हुए) मंत्र जप रहा था। sādhū hāth uṭhāe (hue) mantra jap rahā thā, The holy man, hand held in the air, was reciting incantations.

मैं समझे (हुए) था कि ... mair samjhe (hue) thā ki ... , I thought, had thought that ...

(a) Note that in very many cases where participles in this construction are followed by other verbs than होना honā they are replaceable with absolutes: e.g.

एक आदमी पाँव पर पाँव रखकर फर्श पर बैठा (हुआ) था। ek ādmī pāṁv par pāṁv rakhkar farṣ par baiṭhā (huā) thā.

(b) Compare with the first example in subsection (i) above the following sentences, showing ने ne and participles used as parts of finite verbs in concord with sentence objects:

लड़की ने साड़ी पहनी है। laṛkī ne sārī pahnī hai, The girl has put on a sari.

लड़की ने साड़ी पहन रखी है। laṛkī ne sārī pahn rakhī hai, The girl is wearing, has on a sari.<sup>1</sup>

(ii) In conjunction with oblique case forms.

उसने किताब हाथ में लिए (हुए) कहा कि ... usne kitāb hāth meṁ lie (hue) kahā ki ... , While holding the book in his hand he said ...

उसने उसे सोए (हुए) देखा। usne use soe (hue) dekhā, He saw him, her, asleep.

(a) Adverbial construction is normal here, as with imperfective participles.

(b) Note the common adverbial construction of perfective participles (transitive or intransitive) with noun or pronoun forms followed by को ko (or equivalent pronominal object forms) which are not definite direct objects; this typically expresses passage of time. Cf. the parallel usage of imperfective participles illustrated above.

उसको विश्वविद्यालय में पढ़े (हुए) दो वर्ष हो चुके हैं। usko viśvavidyālay meṁ parhe (hue) do varṣ ho cuke haiṁ, Two years have (already) passed since he finished studying at the university.

मुझे यहाँ आए (हुए) एक महीना हो गया है। mujhe yahāṁ āe (hue) ek mahinā ho gayā hai, It's a month since I came, I've been here a month.

आपको बनारस गए (हुए) कितने दिन हुए हैं? āpko banāras gae (hue) kitne din hue haiṁ? How long is it since you went to, have been in Banaras?

VOCABULARY

बेवकूफ †bevaqūf, stupid

बेवकूफी †bevaqūfī, f., stupidity

जमीन †jamīn, f., land

दफा †dafā, f., time, occasion

नाश्ता nāstā, m., breakfast, first light meal of the day

कमी kamī, f., want, shortage, deficiency

चादर cadar, f., shawl; sheet

मंत्र mantra, m., incantation, verse or utterance of religious significance

पुल pul, m., bridge

कुरता kurtā, m., collarless shirt

पाजामा pajāmā, m., light cotton trousers

गाय gāy, f., cow

लाठी lāṭhī, f., staff

बेज़ार bezār, displeased, bored

<sup>1</sup> For रखना rakhnā as dependent auxiliary see Lesson XVII, p. 104. (Note that this sentence is an equivalent of the first sentence given in subsection (i) above, but not of the sentence immediately preceding it in note (b).)

यूरोपीय yūropīy , noun (m.f.) and adj., European	दौड़ना daurnā , run
तीखा tikhā , sharp, piercing	बढ़ना barhnā , advance; rise
नीचा nīcā , low; नीचा करना nīcā karnā , lower	ओढ़ना oṛhnā , wrap round, wrap about one
दबना dabnā , be suppressed, res- trained; दबे पाँव dabe pāñv , stealthily	जपना japnā , repeat mechanically (a god's name, an incantation)
घुसना ghusnā , creep, slink	कटना kaṭnā , be cut, cut off
	चरना carṇā , graze
	देर से आना der se ānā , arrive late

EXERCISE 49

बनारस से गाड़ियाँ गंगा का पुल पार करती हुई<sup>1</sup> देखी जा सकती हैं। एक कटा हुआ पेड़ मकान के सामने जमीन पर पड़ा था। लड़की रोती हुई मेरे पास आई। मैं यह कहते डरता हूँ। जब मैं उससे कल मिला, तब वह कुरता और पाजामा पहने था। आज तो वह संभवतः यूरोपीय कपड़े पहने होगा। मैंने उसे कभी दफ़्तर में देर से आते नहीं देखा। आपको भारत आए कितने दिन हो गए हैं? हमें मिले बहुत दिन हो गए हैं। मेरी ओर तीखी नज़र से देखते हुए उन्होंने कहा "मैं इसीलिए आपको वहाँ भेज रहा हूँ"। वह किताब हाथ में लिए कमरे के बाहर चला गया।

EXERCISE 50

I saw a cow grazing. The women were singing as they worked. A holy man was sitting in front of the temple door with head bowed. The old man stood up, and walked off in the direction of the village with his staff in his hand. I've been studying Hindi for a month. It's two days since she finished the work.

<sup>1</sup> Or करते हुए harte hue.

SUPPLEMENT

I

FURTHER ASPECTS OF THE GRAMMAR OF NOMINAL FORMS

1. Feminine forms of nouns

Words referring to animate beings often show variation in form to denote male and female sex. The most common feminine endings are:

(a) -ī

लड़का laṛkā , boy	लड़की laṛkī , girl
बेटा beṭā , son	बेटी beṭī , daughter
पुत्र putr , son	पुत्री putrī , daughter
बंदर bandar , monkey	बंदरी bandarī , female monkey

Sanskrit loanwords may show -ī as well as native Hindi words, e.g. पुत्री putrī above.

(b) -iyā

बेटा beṭā , son	बिटिया biṭiyā , daughter
बूढ़ा būṛhā , old man	बुढ़िया būṛhiyā , old woman
कुत्ता kuttā , dog	कुतिया kutiya , bitch

Note that long vowels are frequently modified and double consonants shortened before -iyā; also that -iyā feminines may exist alongside -ī feminines. In this case they may have diminutive (affectionate or pejorative) force, but the use made of the forms varies.

(c) -in

लोहार lohār , blacksmith	लोहारिन lohārin , blacksmith's wife
नाई nāī , barber	नाइन nāin , barber's wife
दूल्हा dūlhā , bridegroom	दुल्हिन dulhin , bride <sup>1</sup>
बाघ bāgh , tiger	बाघिन bāghin , tigress
मालिक mālik , master	मालकिन mālikin , mistress

(d) -nī

बाघ bāgh , tiger	बाघनी bāghnī , tigress
हाथी hāthī , elephant	हथनी hathnī , she-elephant <sup>2</sup>
मास्टर māstar , schoolmaster	मास्टरनी māstarnī , schoolmistress

<sup>1</sup> Note short -u-.
Note short -a-.

For -nī the Sanskrit spelling -inī sometimes appears, e.g. in हथिनी hathinī. Note that -nī feminines may exist alongside -in feminines.

(e) -ān

पंडित paṇḍit, pandit पंडिताइन paṇḍitāin, pandit's wife
साहू, साहु sāh, sāhu, merchant सहुआइन sahuāin, merchant's wife<sup>1</sup>

(f) -ānī

नौकर naukar, servant नौकरानी naukrānī, female servant

(g) -ā

छात्र chātr, student छात्रा chātrā, student (f.)

This suffix represents the common -ā ending of Sanskrit feminine nouns, see Lesson I. (A very few Persian or Arabic loanwords also happen to show feminines in -ā).

(h) -trī

अभिनेता abhineta, actor अभिनेत्री abhinetrī, actress

This suffix pairs almost exclusively with -tā of some masculine loanwords from Sanskrit (exemplified by दाता dātā, Lesson I).

(i) -ikā

अध्यापक adhyāpak, teacher अध्यापिका adhyāpikā, schoolmistress
लेखक lekhaḥ, writer लेखिका lekhiḥkā, writer (f.)

This suffix pairs with agentive -ak of Sanskrit loanwords.

(j) -inī

विद्यार्थी vidyārthī, student विद्यार्थिनी vidyārthini student (f.)

This suffix is quite rare in the spoken language (but see (d) above and section 8 following).

<sup>1</sup> Note short -a-.

Words referring to inanimate objects also sometimes occur in pairs; feminine members of such pairs usually denote smaller or more delicate varieties of objects. Some examples are:

घंटा	ghaṇṭā ,	bell; hour	घंटी	ghaṇṭī ,	small bell
थाल	thāl ,	large platter	थाली	thālī ,	platter
रस्सा	rassā ,	rope	रस्सी	rassī ,	rope; string

2. Periphrastic plurals

Periphrastic plurals, formed with the plural noun लोग log 'people', are quite common for nouns denoting members of classes or types of persons.

साधु लोग हर साल यहाँ आ जाते हैं। sāḍhu log har sāl yahān ā jāte haiṁ, Holy men come here every year.

The locutions तुम लोग tum log, आप लोग āp log are very common where the reference of the pronouns is to a plural number of persons and not merely honorific, similarly हम लोग ham log where the reference is to more than two persons.

आप लोगों का कहना ठीक है। āp logon kā kahnā thīk hai, What you people say is correct.

3. Two common usages of the pronoun हम ham

(a) Quite frequently, especially in the eastern part of the Hindi language area, the first personal plural form हम ham is used with singular reference, i.e. as an equivalent of मैं maiṁ. This usage cannot be called 'incorrect', but should perhaps be avoided by foreigners.

(b) हम ham is quite often used by women in masculine plural verb concord, especially where an activity is felt to have a somewhat collective character.

4. Use of adjectives as nouns

This is common.

बेचारी क्या करेगी? becārī kyā karegī? What will the poor woman do?

हमारे जवान देश की रक्षा करेंगे। hamāre javān deś kī rakṣā karenge, Our soldiers will defend the country.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> जवान javān 'young; young man; soldier'.

थानेवालों ने आकर कितनों को पकड़ा! thānevālom ne ākar kitnom ko pakṛā!
What a lot of people the police came and arrested!<sup>1</sup>

5. Masculine nouns in final -iyā: orthography

Nouns like डाकिया ḍākiyā 'postman', पहिया pahiyā 'wheel', etc. show alternative oblique singular and direct plural spellings without -y-, viz. डाकिए ḍākie, पहिए pahie etc., which are often preferred by careful users of the language. (The -y- represents a glide between vowels, whose presence between i and e is less obtrusive than between i and ā.)

6. Concorde implying unexpressed feminine nouns

Such concordes imply a noun of generalised sense, such as बात bāt, बार bār, as being understood, and are common colloquially: e.g.

उसकी एक भी नहीं चलती। uski ek bhī nahīn caltī, Nothing he wants to do is successful.

उसकी आजकल खूब चल रही है। uski ājkal khūb cal rahī hai, He's getting on splendidly these days.<sup>2</sup>

पिछले साल नैनीताल गया था। अबकी कश्मीर जाऊंगा। pichle sāl nainītāl gayā thā. abkī kashmīr jāūngā, Last year I went to Nainital. This time I'm going to Kashmir (on vacation, etc.)

7. Some usages of pronominal adjectives

(a) इतना itnā 'as many, much, as this'. This form, like most pronominal adjectives, functions as pronoun and adverb as well as adjective. Some further examples of its use are:<sup>3</sup>

इतना तो कहा जा सकता है कि... itnā to kahā jā saktā hai ki..., This much, at least, can be said, that...

इतने में मेरी बहन कमरे में आ गई। itne meṁ merī bahn kamre meṁ ā gai, With this, with that, my sister came into the room.

वह अंधेरे से इतना डरती है कि... vah andhere se itnā ḍartī hai ki..., She is so afraid of the dark that...

Note (last example) that इतना itnā may be used adverbially in direct case.

<sup>1</sup> थाना thānā, m., '(small) police station'.

<sup>2</sup> खूब khūb 'splendid(ly), excellent(ly)'.

<sup>3</sup> See also p. 94.

(b) ऐसा aisā 'of this sort'; वैसा vaisā 'of that sort'.

मेने कहा था कि वह फेल हो जाएगा। और ऐसा ही हुआ। māinne kahā thā ki vah fel ho jāegā. aur aisā hī huā, I said he would fail. And that is just what happened.

वह ऐसे बोला कि मुझे गुस्सा आ गया। vah aise bolā ki mujhe gussā ā gayā, He spoke in such a way that I grew angry.

ऐसा आदमी किसी काम के क़ाबिल नहीं है। aisā ādmī kisī kām ke qābil nahīn hai, Such a man is not capable of anything.

वैसे तो वह सच्चा बनता है, लेकिन वह झूठा आदमी है। vaise to vah sacchā bantā hai, lekin vah jhūthā ādmī hai, It's like this: he seems to be a trustworthy person but is not.<sup>1</sup>

वैसे में बोलने आनेवाला नहीं था, लेकिन बोलना पड़ रहा है। vaise māin bolne ānevālā nahīn thā, lekin bolnā pāṛ rahā hai, Well, I didn't come to speak, but (I see) I have to.

मेरी बात बुरी न मानें, मेने वैसे ही कह दी थी। merī bāt burī na māneṁ, māinne vaise hī kah dī thī, Don't take what I said amiss, I said it without thinking, casually.<sup>2</sup>

Note particularly the use of introductory वैसे vaise, वैसे तो vaise to, and वैसे ही vaise hī 'merely, simply; casually'. All these expressions are extremely common in the spoken language.

(c) कम kam 'little (of quantity), few'.

मैं कम हिंदी जानता हूँ। māin kam hindī jāntā hūṁ, I know little Hindi.

वह कम किताबें पढ़ता है। vah kam kitābēṁ pāṛhtā hai, He reads few books.

मैं अब वहाँ कम जाता हूँ। māin ab vahāṁ kam jāntā hūṁ, I go there little now.

(d) थोड़ा thoṛā 'a little; little'.

मुझे थोड़ी हिंदी आती है। mujhe thoṛī hindī ātī hai, I know a little Hindi.

मैं यह थोड़े ही जानता था कि आप यहाँ होंगे। māin yah thoṛe hī jāntā thā ki āp yahāṁ hōṁge, I little knew that you would be here.

<sup>1</sup> बनना bannā, which is often a close equivalent of हो जाना ho jānā, here has the sense 'appear as, make a pretence of being...'; झूठा jhūthā 'false, lying; a liar'.

<sup>2</sup> मानना mānnā 'consider, accept as; believe; obey'.

थोड़ा thoṛā is mainly used adjectivally; as an adverb कम kaṃ is more common.

The compound adjective थोड़ा-बहुत thoṛā-bahut is used in the sense 'a certain amount of'.

मैं थोड़ी-बहुत हिंदी जानता हूँ । māim thoṛī-bahut hindī jāntā hūm, I know a certain amount of Hindi.

8. Some Sanskrit endings used adjectivally in Hindi

The Sanskrit feminine inflexional endings -ā, -inī (see 1(g), (j) above) and -matī, -vatī (with corresponding masculines in -mān, -vān, see pp. 196 f.) are sometimes used adjectivally, chiefly in formal language: e.g.

नागरी प्रचारिणी सभा nāgarī pracārīnī sabhā, Society for the Propagation of Nāgarī (a title)<sup>1</sup>

सुशीला स्त्री susilā strī, a virtuous woman

श्रीमती वर्मा śrīmatī varmā, Mrs. Varmā

दीप्तिमती प्रतिभा dīptimatī pratibhā, brilliant genius

कलावती नर्तिका kalāvātī nartikā, a gifted, artistic, dancer

युवती स्त्री yuvatī strī, young woman<sup>2</sup>

9. Some expressions of place

Names of towns are sometimes used colloquially without postpositions as expressions of place, equivalent to expressions showing the postposition में meṃ: e.g.

जब मैं इलाहाबाद था, तो रोज़ काफी हाउस जाता था । jab māim ilāhābād thā, to roz kufī hāus jātā thā, When I was in Allahabad I used to go everyday to the Coffee House.

उस समय मैं आगरा रहता था । us samay māim āgrā rahtā thā, At that time I was living in Agra.

10. Multiplicatives (contd.)

Some other multiplicatives than those given in Lesson XI are इकहरा ikahrā, 'onefold'; thin

<sup>1</sup> For ४ in the word प्रचारिणी pracārīnī see p. 189.

<sup>2</sup> The corresponding masculine form is युव yuvā 'young; a youth or young man'.

दोहरा, दुहरा dohrā, duhrā, twofold; ample; fat

तेहरा, तिहरा tehrā, tihrā, threefold<sup>1</sup>

चौहरा cauhrā, fourfold

मैं आपसे दोहरा (दुगुना) काम करता हूँ । māim āpse dohrā (dugunā) kāṃ kartā hūm, I do twice as much work as you.

उस कंबल में चौहरी तह लगाना ! us kambal meṃ cauhrī tah lagānā ! Fold that blanket into four!<sup>2</sup>

(a) A few fractional forms in -ā are also found:

पौना paunā,  $\frac{1}{2}$  the amount of सवाया savāyā,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  times the amount of

इचोढ़ा īchoḍhā  $1\frac{1}{4}$  times the amount of उसे पिछले हफ्ते सवाई तनखाह मिली । use picheḥ hafte savāī tankhāḥ milī, Last week he got one and a quarter times his (usual) wage.

<sup>1</sup> The first vowel of this word is usually short [e], sometimes [i].

<sup>2</sup> तह tah, f. 'fold'.

II

FURTHER ASPECTS OF THE GRAMMAR OF VERBS

1. Routine imperfective

In past narration imperfective participles are commonly used without auxiliaries to describe routines of action, i.e. not actions presented as actually occurring, but actions presented as those which would typically occur, in given circumstances.

बूढ़ा शाम को रोज़ बाग में घूमने जाता । būrhā sām ko roz bāg meṁ ghūmne jātā, The old man would go for a walk in the park every evening.

डाईनिंग हाल में खाना मैं पहले भी खाता था, और कई बार उस पाँत में भी खाता था, जिसमें देवा जी और उनका परिवार रहता । dāining hāl meṁ khānā main pahle bhī khātā thā, aur kai bār us pānt meṁ bhī khātā thā, jismē devā jī aur unkā parivār rahatā (Ashk), I had used to eat in the dining hall before that, too, several times in the very row in which Devā Jī and his family would sit (to eat).

2. Use of imperfective participles to denote hypothetical events (contd.)

It was noted in Lesson XX that imperfective participles are used in conditional sentences to denote hypothetical events or events very unlikely to occur. Some illustrations of similar usages in non-conditional sentences are:

काश (कि) मैं वहाँ जा सकता! kāś (ki) main vahān jā saktā! How I wish I could go there!<sup>1</sup>

मैं तुमसे क्यों न ईर्ष्या करता? main tumse kyom na irsyā kartā? Why should I not have envied you?<sup>2</sup>

इतना चाहता हूँ कि वह मुझसे मिलने आता । itnā cāhtā hūm ki vah mujhse milne ātā, I long for him to come to see me (but I fear he will not).

3. Usages of perfective participles

(a) The use of perfective participles with future time reference in conditional sentences has been noted in Lesson XX. It is common elsewhere, usually with an affective value.

<sup>1</sup> काश (कि) kāś (ki) 'would that . . .'. This expression also occurs with subjunctive verbs.

<sup>2</sup> ईर्ष्या irsyā, f. 'envy; jealousy'.

FURTHER ASPECTS OF THE GRAMMAR OF VERBS 171

पानी लाओ! — लाया, साहब! pānī lāo! — lāyā, sāhab! Bring some water!
Very good, sir!<sup>1</sup>

मैं अभी आया । main abhī āyā, I'll be back in a moment.

तो चल दिए? to cal diē? You're off, then?

(b) Note the common use of रहा rahā, rather than a form of होना honā, in affective expressions serving to point out an object in a certain place.

देखिए, वह रहा मंदिर! dekhie, vah rahā mandir! Look, there's a temple!
(over there).<sup>2</sup>

(c) Note the use of हुआ huā in concord with preceding nouns in the adverbial sense 'ago' (i.e. expressing the completion of a period of time).

एक साल हुआ	ek sāl huā,	a year ago
एक हफ्ता हुआ	ek haftā huā,	a week ago
दो हफ्ते हुए	do hafte hue,	two weeks ago

4. Subjunctive usages

(a) Note the very common use of न जाने na jāne, and colloquially, un-negatived जाने jāne, in the sense 'one cannot tell', 'Heaven knows', etc.

न जाने क्यों मैं उसे देख नहीं सकता । na jāne kyom main use dekh nahīn saktā,
For some reason I can't stand the sight of him.

और जाने क्या क्या कहा । aur jāne kyā kyā kahā, Heaven knows what else he said.

गीत विरह का था, पर जाने क्यों मुझे कहण नहीं लगा । gīt virah kā thā, par jāne kyom mujhe karuṇ nahīn lagā (Ashk), The song was one of separation, but for some reason it did not strike me as sad.

(b) The form चाहे cāhe 'one may wish' is used reduplicated, with subjunctive verbs, in the conjunctive sense 'whether . . . or'; also singly with a correlative such as लेकिन lekin, etc.

<sup>1</sup> An alternative expression would be लाता हूँ lātā hūm; this would convey less of the idea that the servant is about to carry out, and complete, the action at the given time.

<sup>2</sup> वह vah is here not the subject of रहा rahā, but is used in a vague demonstrative way similar to that exemplified for यह yah on p. 102; the subject of रहा rahā is मंदिर mandir.

चाहे वह बुरा हो, चाहे अच्छा हो, फिर भी हमारा बेटा ही है। cāhe vah burā ho, cāhe acchā ho, phir bhī hamārā betā hī hai, Whether he be good or bad, he is still our son.

चाहे आप यहाँ रहें, लेकिन मैं नहीं रहूँगा। cāhe āp yahān rahen, lekin main nahīn rahūngā, You can stay if you like, but I shan't.

(c) Perfective subjunctive forms are available to define verbal actions as of possible occurrence, completed. They show perfective participles with subjunctive forms of होना honā as auxiliaries.

तुमने जो कुछ लिखा हो, उसे दिखाना। tumne jo kuch likhā ho, use dikhānā, Show me whatever you've written.

(d) Imperfective and continuous subjunctive forms are also available: e.g. अगर मैं लिखता होऊँ तो मुझे न बुलाना। agar main likhtā hoūn to mujhe na bulānā, If I'm writing don't call me.

अगर वह आ रहा हो तो आप भी आ जाइएगा! agar vah ā rahā ho to āp bhī ā jāiegā! If he's coming (going to come), you come too by all means!

5. Negatived sentences with verb unexpressed

Present tense forms of the verb होना honā are often felt to be superfluous in sentences negatived with नहीं nahīn, and are omitted, especially in informal usage.

कुएँ में पानी नहीं। kueh men pānī nahīn, There's no water in the well.

6. Intensives

Forms which may be described as 'intensives' exist associated with compound verbs and some other composite verbal expressions. They usually stress in some way that an action is in progress or is immediately impending at a particular time. Intensives of intransitive verbs are usually based on perfective participles in adjectival concord with subjects, those of transitive verbs regularly on adverbially used -e forms of perfective participles.

(i) Intensives showing perfective participles in concord

बर्फ पिघली जाती है! barf pighlī jāti hai! The ice is melting! (Something should be done about it.)

उसकी माँ उसके पीछे मरी जाती है। uskī mām uske piche marī jāti hai, His mother works herself to death for him.

(a) Intensives of verbs of motion are quite common, stressing that the action is in progress, e.g. चला जाना calā jānā move (along), go (away)'; भागा जाना bhāgā jānā flee (away)'. They usually have less affective force than other intensives (this applies especially to चला जाना calā jānā.)

(ii) Intensives showing -e forms

मैं आपसे यह कहे देता हूँ कि... main āpse yah kahe detā hūn ki..., I tell you this...

मुझे बचाओ, यह मुझे मार डालता है! mujhe bacāo, yah mujhe māre dālā hai! Save me, this fellow is killing me!

बच्चे का तुतलाना मन को मोह लेता था। bacche kā tutlānā man ko mohe letā thā, The baby's prattling used to be absolutely delightful.<sup>1</sup>

बच्चे का तुतलाना आपके मन को मोह लेगा। bacche kā tutlānā āpke man ko mohe legā, The baby's prattling will absolutely delight you.

(a) Intensives containing the auxiliaries देना denā, लेना lena, and डालना dālānā show imperfective participles of these verbs in the great majority of cases.

(b) Intensives in which the -e form is followed by जाना jānā express very much the same sense as composites of imperfective participle + जाना jānā (see p. 136), but often with a slightly different emphasis which may be characterised in general as 'intensive'. They differ in their range of occurrence from the intensives already noted in this subsection, in that जाना jānā often occurs in non-imperfective forms.

बर्फ पिघले जाती है! barf pighle jāti hai! The ice is melting!<sup>2</sup>

वह सारे दिन रामचरितमानस पढ़े जाता है, करता कुछ नहीं vah sāre din rāmcarit-mānas paṛhe jāti hai, kartā kuch nahīn, He does nothing but read the Rāmcaritmānās all day.

जब तक मुझमें शक्ति है, मैं काम किए जाऊँगा। jab tak mujhmen śakti hai, main kām kie jāūngā, As long as I have the strength I shall press on with the work (actively).

मैं उसे हजार रुपया महीना दिए जाऊँगा। main use hazār rupayā mahinā diē jāūngā, I shall give him a thousand rupees a month (unconditionally, positively).

<sup>1</sup> तुतलाना tutlānā 'babble, lisp'; मोहना mohnā 'enchant, charm'.

<sup>2</sup> An equivalent of the sentence given on p. 172.

(c) Note that verbal expressions showing जाना jānā following an -e form are not necessarily intensives as defined above; their contexts may require that the verb जाना jānā be interpreted in its literal sense 'go': e.g.

उसे क्यों छोड़े जाती है? use kyom chore jāti hai? Why is she going off and leaving him?

7. Syntax of absolutive expressions

(a) Note the frequency of unrelated absolutives in passive constructions (most usually impersonal passive constructions).

मशीन गिर न जाए, इसलिए उसे रस्सियों से कसकर बाँधा गया। mašin gir na jāe, islie use rassiyon se kashkar bāmdhā gayā (Ashk), So that the machine would not fall off it was tied on tightly with ropes (pulled tight and tied on with ropes)<sup>1</sup>

(b) Note that verbs and other parts of sentences often intervene between absolutives and clauses dependent on them.

मुझे यह सुनकर बड़ी खुशी है कि... mujhe yah sunkar barī khushī hai ki..., I'm very glad to hear that...

वह अपने बच्चों से कहकर जाती कि तुम किसान की बातें सुनकर मुझे बताना। vah apne bacchon se kahkar jāti ki tum hisān kī bātēn sunkar mujhe batānā, On leaving she would tell her children to listen to what the farmer said and report it to her.

(c) Note the common collocations जान पड़ना jān parnā 'seem', देख पड़ना dekh parnā 'be visible', सुन पड़ना sun parnā 'be audible' showing stem absolutives.<sup>2</sup>

(मुझे) जान पड़ता है कि... (mujhe) jān parṭā hai ki..., It seems (to me) that...

मुझे कोने में एक साँप देख पड़ा। mujhe kone meṁ ek sāmp dekh parā, I caught sight of a snake in the corner.

(d) Where there is an implication that the action denoted by an absolutive is closely associated with that denoted by a finite verb, stem absolutives (rather than extended absolutives showing -kar, -ke) are common. This is clear in collocations of stem absolutive + finite verb such as ले जाना le

<sup>1</sup> कसना kasnā 'bind, pull tight'.

<sup>2</sup> Equivalents of मालूम होना mālūm honā, दिखाई देना dikhāi denā, and सुनाई देना sunāi denā respectively.

jānā, etc., but note that stem absolutives do not necessarily immediately precede finite verbs of their sentences: e.g.

वह अमर का हाथ पकड़ कमरे में ले गया। vah amar kā hāth pakar kamre meṁ le gayā, Taking Amar by the hand he led him into the room.

8. Variants of inflexional forms

More than one spelling is current for many verb forms. These variant spellings usually involve analogical extensions of the graph y, representing a semi-vocalic glide between vowels, from spellings of forms in whose pronunciation the glide is prominent. Spellings without y are often preferred by careful users of the language. Some representative pairs of spellings of forms of the verb आना ānā are:

आई	āi	आयी	āyi	(influence of आया āyā )
आए	āe (perfective and subjunctive)	आये	āye	(influence of आया āyā )
आई	āim	आयीं	āyim	(influence of आया āyā )
आएगा	āegā	आयेगा	āyegā	(influence of आये āye )

Similar pairs are:

पिए	pie	पिये	piye
सिमो	sio	सियो	siyo
बोलिए	bolie	बोलिये	boliye
चाहिए	cāhie	चाहिये	cāhiye , etc.

A few variant spellings depend on the de-stressing of final or medial syllables of inflexional forms. For example alongside

जाए	jāe	जाये	jāye	also occurs	जाय	jāy
जाएँ	jāem	जायें	jāyem	„	जायँ	jāyam
जाएगा	jāegā	जायेगा	jāyegā	„	जायगा	jāygā , etc.

Third person subjunctive forms of verbs whose stem ends in -ā sometimes show a glide v in both pronunciation and spelling, for example alongside

आए	āe	occurs	आवे	āve
पाए	pāe	„	पावे	pāve
दिखाएँ	dikhāem	„	दिखावें	dikhāvem , etc.

Forms of this last type are relatively frequent in speech, less so in the written language.

9. -ie and -iegā forms (contd.)

These forms, which were discussed for convenience under the heading 'Imperative forms', are, as was stated in that section, very far from being true imperatives in force, their force being equatable much rather with that of the subjunctive forms of modern Hindi. They in fact represent third person singular passive subjunctive, and earlier passive indicative forms of the older language. Their affiliation with subjunctives is clearly seen in the fact that they often occur in questions which cannot be construed as requests, and even in subordinate clauses. Their use emphasises (sometimes with irony) that questions and statements are circumspect or considerate in some way. Sometimes, as in the last example below, their original passive force is quite clear.

(आप) अंडा कैसे खाइएगा? (āp) aṇḍā kaise khāiegā? How would you like your egg?

फिर आप कहाँ जाइएगा? phir āp kahām jāiegā? Where are you going next?

फिर आप चलिआ कहाँ? phir āp caliegā kahām? Where are you going then? (please be so good as to tell me).

अगर आप दिल्ली चलिए (गा), तो मैं भी हो लूँ। agar āp dillī calie(gā), to main bhī ho lūn, If you should go to Delhi, I'd like to go with you.

किताबें न खरीद सकिए (गा), तो लाइब्रेरी में जाकर पढ़िए। kitābēn na kharīd sakie(gā), to lāibrerī meṁ jākar paṛhie, If you can't buy the books, go and study in the library.

जी चाहता था, वही सो रहिए। jī cāhtā thā, vahī so rahie, I longed to lie down and sleep right there.

10. Concord of infinitives

Infinitives of transitive verbs immediately preceding such verbs as सीखना sikhnā, चाहना cāhnā, and शुरू करना surū karnā usually show the same concord as these when they are in construction with ने ne.

उन्होंने हिंदी लिखनी सीखी। unhomne hindī likhnī sikhī, He learned to write Hindi.

उन्होंने किताब बेचनी चाही। unhomne kitāb becnī cāhī, They wanted, tried to sell the book.<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> वे किताब बेचना चाहे ve kitāb becnā cāhe is also possible, चाहना cāhnā not being always used in construction with ने ne.

मैंने किताब पढ़नी शुरू की। mainne kitāb paṛhnī surū kī, I began to read the book.

But in some persons' usage, especially spoken usage, both infinitive and finite verb show -ā. Thus for the last sentence मैंने किताब पढ़ना शुरू किया। mainne kitāb paṛhnā surū kiya is also possible.

III

FURTHER ASPECTS OF THE GRAMMAR OF POSTPOSITIONS, ADVERBS, AND CONJUNCTIONS

1. Postpositional usages

(a) Postpositions do not always occur singly. A particularly common postpositional pair is में से mem se 'from inside, from among'; note also pairs showing final का kā, e.g. पर का par kā 'the . . . on'.

इन किताबों में से आप दो-तीन चुन लें। in kitābōn mem se āp do-tīn cun len, Please pick out two or three of these books.

कुएँ में से पानी निकालने के लिए बाल्टी इस्तेमाल हो सकती है। kueñ mem se pāni nikālne ke lie bālṭī istemāl ho saktī hai, A bucket can be used for drawing water from a well.

गाड़ी पर का सामान उतरवा दो। gārī par kā sāmān utarvā do, Get the luggage on the car unloaded.

(b) The postposition का kā does not occur in first position in postpositional pairs. Note the syntax of such a sentence as

मेरी निगाहें फिर उससे जा मिली। merī nigāheñ phir usse jā milī (Ashk), My eyes once more met hers (literally, 'met her'),<sup>1</sup>

and the difference between the syntax of the following sentence, in which the word कुरसी kursī is repeated, and that of its English translation equivalent:

मेरी कुरसी पर न बैठकर उसकी कुरसी पर बैठिए। merī kursī par na baiṭhkar uskī kursī par baiṭhie, Don't sit in my chair, sit in his.

(c) Constructions involving the postposition का kā can sometimes be confusing, in that between का kā and a noun with which it is in concord other parts of a sentence may intervene.

मकान का ऊपर का कमरा। makān kā ūpar kā kamrā, the room at the top of the house

पिटो के जिंदा रहते, मुझे नगर के उस शोर-शराबे और भीड़-भन्बर का कभी अहसास न हुआ था। pitto ke zindā rahte, mujhe nagar ke us šor-šarābe aur bhīṛ-bhabbhār kā kabhī ahsās na huā thā (Ashk), While Pitto was alive, I had never noticed that din and turmoil of the city.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> निगाह nigāh, f. 'look, glance'.

<sup>2</sup> जिंदा zindā, see p. 7; शोर-शराबा šor-šarābā, भीड़-भन्बर bhīṛ-bhabbhār, see p. 201; अहसास ahsās, m. 'perception, feeling'.

POSTPOSITIONS, ADVERBS, AND CONJUNCTIONS 179

(d) Where more than one oblique case noun is associated with a single postposition this is usually expressed with the last noun only: e.g.

वे अपने दोस्तों और रिश्तेदारों से मिलने आए थे। ve apne dostōn aur riṣṭedārōn se milne āe the, They had come to meet their friends and relatives.

2. Formation of adverbs

Note the common use of the collocation . . . रूप से . . . rūp se, and the use of the suffix -तः -taḥ, in forming adverbs from adjectives in the more formal language; also the Sanskrit inflexional ending -या -yā which occasionally forms adverbs from borrowed feminine nouns in -ā. Certain other Sanskrit inflexional endings are also very occasionally used in the same way.

सामान्य रूप से sāmānya rūp se, in general

विशेष रूप से viśeṣ rūp se, in particular

संभवतः sambhavataḥ, probably, possibly पूर्णतः pūrṇtaḥ, fully, in full

पूर्णतया pūrṇtaya, " " "

कृपया kṛpayā, kindly, of your kindness<sup>1</sup>

3. शायद ही śāyad hī; तक tak; भर bhar

(a) Note the use of शायद ही śāyad hī in the senses 'scarcely; scarcely ever'.

मेरे जीवन में ऐसा शायद ही कभी हुआ हो कि . . . mere jīvan mem aisā śāyad hī kabhī huā ho ki . . . (Premcand), It can scarcely ever have happened in my life that . . .

(b) तक tak is used adverbially in the sense 'even' with preceding direct, not oblique, case nouns.

मेरे पास पैसा तक न रहा। mere pās paisā tak na rahā, I didn't have a pice left.

(c) भर bhar, i.e. the stem of the verb भरना bharnā 'fill', is used in various adverbial expressions with preceding nouns in oblique case.

दिन भर din bhar, all day

हफ्ते भर hafte bhar, all week

पेट भर खाना peṭ bhar khānā, eat one's fill<sup>2</sup>

पल भर pal bhar, (for) just a moment

<sup>1</sup> In making somewhat formal requests

<sup>2</sup> Very occasionally भर bhar is used as a prefix, e.g. भरपेट खाना bharpeṭ khānā, synonymous with the above expression.

4. भी bhī (contd.)

Most of the usages of this enclitic will be found to give little difficulty of interpretation if its inclusive force, complementary to that of restrictive ही hī, and its general translation equivalents 'also', 'even' are borne in mind. Some further examples of the use of भी bhī, in construction with verbs and in some standardised locutions, are given here.

चलिए भी! calie bhī! Come on then, do come on!

उसे रहने भी दो। use rahne bhī do, Do leave that alone, for goodness sake leave that alone.<sup>1</sup>

दफ्तर में काम करते, मित्र-शत्रुओं, अफसरों या चपरसियों से बातें करते हुए भी, अखिं उसको देखती रहती थीं। daftar meṁ kām karte, mītr-śatruoṁ, afsarom yā caprasīyom se bātēn karte hue bhī, āṁkheṁ usko dekhtī rahtī thīn (Ashk), Even when (I was) working in the office, talking to friends and enemies, officers or messengers, I kept seeing her in my mind's eye.<sup>2</sup>

कुछ भी kuch bhī, anything at all

कोई भी koī bhī, anyone at all

अब भी ab bhī, even now

और भी aur bhī, even more

तो भी to bhī, but even so

भी... भी bhī... bhī, both... and

वह बच्चों के लिए किताबें भी लाया और खिलौने भी। vah bacchoṁ ke lie kitābēn bhī lāyā aur khilāune bhī, He brought both books and toys for the children.

5. कहीं kahīm 'somewhere'

Note that कहीं kahīm is not an interrogative, despite its apparent connection with कहाँ kahān. Some common locutions showing कहीं kahīm are given here, and others in section 7 below.

कहीं नहीं kahīm nahīm, nowhere

सब कहीं sab kahīm, everywhere

कहीं भी kahīm bhī, anywhere at all

जहाँ कहीं jahām kahīm, wheresoever

कहीं और kahīm aur, somewhere else

कहीं कहीं kahīm kahīm, in different places

<sup>1</sup> Or 'leave him alone'.

<sup>2</sup> Literally '... (my) eyes kept seeing her'. भी bhī, though expressed only with the second participle, is to be taken with the first also.

6. Affective usages of न na

Affective usages of न na are very common, especially with imperatives, in the locution जो है न jo hai na in informal speech, and in certain reduplicative expressions: e.g.

'बताइए न संगीत जी', उसने फिर आग्रह के साथ कहा। 'batāie na saṅgīt jī', usne phir āgrah ke sāth kahā, 'Please do tell (me), Saṅgīt jī', she repeated eagerly.<sup>1</sup>

वहाँ जो गाड़ी खड़ी है न, वह मेरी है। vahām jo gārī khārī hai na, vah merī hai, You see that car over there? It's mine.<sup>1</sup>

कोई न कोई koī na koī, someone or other

कुछ न कुछ kuch na kuch, something or other

कभी न कभी kabhī na kabhī, at one time or another

कहीं न कहीं kahīm na kahīm, somewhere or other

7. Other affective usages

Many affective usages of interrogative words are similar to English affective usages and give no difficulty, especially those involving कैसा kaisā and कितना kitnā, and many with क्या kyā: e.g.

वे कैसे अच्छे आदमी हैं! ve kaise acche ādmī haiṁ! What a good man he is!

राजपूतों की बीरता का क्या कहना! rājputōṁ kī vīrtā kā kyā kahnā! What stories there are of the Rajputs' heroism!<sup>2</sup>

Others, especially those involving कहाँ kahām, कहीं kahīm, and कब kab, are more difficult. Note कहीं kahīm used with न na in the sense 'lest', and कितना ही... क्यों न kitnā hī... kyōn na 'however much'.

वह कहाँ जगाए जगाए उठता था? vah kahām jagāe jagāe uthtā thā? Would he ever get up, even after being repeatedly awakened (where, in what case, used he to get up)?<sup>3</sup>

यह पुस्तक उससे कहीं अच्छी है। yah pustak usse kahīm acchī hai, This book is far better than that (better to how great an extent).

<sup>1</sup> न na following verb forms has a rising intonation.

<sup>2</sup> कहना kahnā is used as a noun; plural कहने kahne (with के ke) is also possible here.

<sup>3</sup> जगाए जगाए jagāe jagāe here represents (किसी के) जगाए जगाए (kisī ke jagāe jagāe 'on being awakened (by someone)').

चलो यहाँ से, बदमाश कहीं का! calo yahām se, badmāsh kahīm kā! Clear out of here, you villain (villain of how great a degree)!

मुझे डर था कि कहीं सब पुस्तकें गिर न जाएँ। mujhe dār thā ki kahīm sab pustkē gir na jāēn, I was afraid that (it might happen that) all the books would fall.

नहीं तो मैं दिल्ली कब का चला गया होता। nahīm to main dillī kab kā calā gayā hotā, Otherwise I would have gone to Delhi long since (at what time would I have gone? — Long since).

उनके पास कितना ही पैसा क्यों न हो, फिर भी कोई उनका आदर नहीं करता। unke pās kitnā hī paisā kyōn na ho, phir bhī koī unkā ādar nahīm kartā, However much money he may have, no one respects him.<sup>1</sup>

उसे हिंदी तो क्या, बँगला भी आती है। use hindī to kyā, baṅglā bhī ātī hai, He knows Hindi of course, and Bengali too (what of Hindi, he also knows Bengali).

काम शुरू कर रहे हैं? — हाँ, और क्या? kām surū kar rahe hain? — hām, aur kyā? Are you starting work? — Yes, of course!<sup>2</sup>

8. Conjunctions: forms and usages

(a) Alongside और aur 'and' there are the equivalent Sanskrit loanwords तथा tathā and एवं evam<sup>3</sup> in the formal language. Alongside पर par, लेकिन lekin 'but' the Sanskrit loanwords परंतु parantu, किंतु kintu and the Persian loanword मगर magar occur, and alongside या yā 'or' the Sanskrit loanword (अथ)वा (ath)vā occurs. Note also the Persian forms -ओ- -o-, व va, used in expressions of a more or less stereotyped nature, the first very largely in expressions of specifically Urdu character, the second more widely.

दिलोजान से dilojān se, with heart and soul

आबोहवा ābohavā, climate (water and air)

नाम व पता nām va patā, name and address

ये जानवर दिन में व रात में शिकार करते हैं। ye jānvar din meṁ va rāt meṁ śikār karte hain, These animals hunt (both) by day and by night.

<sup>1</sup> कितना ही . . . क्यों न kitnā hī . . . kyōn na is often followed by फिर भी phir bhī, लेकिन lekin, etc.; and the word कितना kitnā may be preceded by concessive चाहे cāhe.

<sup>2</sup> और aur is stressed.

<sup>3</sup> Pronounced with final [m].

(b) The following pairs of conjunctions are common. Note that तो to usually occurs following the first member of these pairs in sentences of neutral style and emphasis.

या . . . या yā . . . yā, either . . . or

न . . . न na . . . na, neither . . . nor

मैं या तो बनारस जाऊँगा, या इलाहाबाद। main yā to banāras jāūngā, yā ilāhābād, I shall go either to Banaras or Allahabad.

मैं न तो बनारस जाऊँगा, न इलाहाबाद। main na to banāras jāūngā, na ilāhābād, I shall go neither to Banaras nor to Allahabad.

मैं न बनारस जाऊँगा, न तो इलाहाबाद। main nā banāras jāūngā, na to ilāhābād, I shall not go to Banaras, nor to Allahabad either.

(c) The form बल्कि balki means 'but, but rather, in addition' and is common after negative clauses. The forms वरन् varan, अपितु apitu are also found.

वह किताब लाया ही नहीं, बल्कि उसने मुझे उसे पढ़ने में मदद दी। vah kitāb lāyā hī nahīm, balki usne mujhe use pāṛhne meṁ madad dī, He not only brought the book but helped me to read it.

(d) The form कि ki, which is really a link of non-specific force between parts of sentences, is often used instead of जब jab 'when' to join clauses when the action described in the second clause is a sudden, fresh development in the context of that described in the first. It is also common for या yā in the locution या नहीं yā nahīm 'or not'.

राधा भारत जानेवाली थी कि बीमार पड़ गई। rādhā bhārat jānevālī thī ki bimār paṛ gāī, Radha was about to go to India when she fell ill.

यह ठीक रास्ता है कि नहीं? yah śhīk rāstā hai ki nahīm? Is this the right road or not?

Its use pleonastically with relative words (usually, but not always, following these) is common colloquially.

वह एक ऐसा आदमी है जो कि बहुत दूर जाएगा। vah ek aīsā ādmī hai jo ki bahut dūr jāegā, He is a man who will go far.

जैसे कि मैं आपसे कह रहा था . . . jaise ki main āpsē kah rahā thā . . ., As I was telling you . . .

The locution न कि na ki has the sense 'and not' in such a sentence as उसने बँगला सीखी थी, न कि हिंदी । usne baṅglā sikhī thī, na ki hindī, He learned Bengali, not Hindi.

(e) As an equivalent of the expression नहीं तो nahīn to 'otherwise' the Arabic loanword वरना varnā is common.

अपना काम देखो, वरना अच्छा न होगा! apnā kām dekho, varnā acchā na hogā!
Do your work properly, or there'll be trouble!

IV

SANDHI

The word sandhi means 'union, junction'. The 'rules of sandhi' describe ways in which vowels and consonants combine or are modified in the formation of various types of Sanskrit words, chiefly compounds and derivatives. Sanskrit loanwords, and new formations in Hindi on Sanskrit words, normally show correct Sanskritic sandhi, and some acquaintance with the main sandhis will help the student in recognizing and using these words.

I. Vowel sandhi

(a)

Skt. *a, ā + a, ā > ā*Skt. *i, ī + i, ī > ī*Skt. u, ū + u, ū > ū

Skt. नियम niyama, rule + अनुसार anusāra, usage : H. नियमानुसार niya-mānusār, according to rule

Skt. हिम hima, snow + आलय ālaya, abode : H. हिमालय himālay, Himalaya

Skt. आत्मा ātmā, self + अभिमान abhimāna, pride : H. आत्माभिमान ātmā-bhimān, self-respect; conceit

Skt. सुधि sudhī, understanding + इन्द्र indra, Indra : Skt. H. सुधीन्द्र, सुधीन्द्र<sup>1</sup> sudhīndra (personal name)

(b)

Skt. *a, ā + i, ī > e*Skt. *a, ā + u, ū > o*Skt. a, ā + r > ar

Skt. गण gaṇa, multitude + ईश īśa, lord : H. गणेश gaṇeś (name of a god; personal name)

Skt. मह mahā, great + ईश īśa, lord : H. महेश mahēś (title of a god; personal name)

<sup>1</sup> For the alternative spellings see p. xxviii. Use of conjuncts in cases such as this in Hindi is common where the nasal precedes dentals or labials, less common where it precedes other plosives.

Skt. ग्राम grāma , village	+ उद्योग udyoga , endeavour	: H. ग्रामोद्योग grāmodyog , village industry
Skt. सीमा sīmā , border	+ उल्लङ्घन ullaṅghana , crossing	: H. सीमोल्लङ्घन sīmollaṅ- ghan , violation of frontier
Skt. महा mahā , great	+ ऋषि ṛṣi , sage	: Skt. H. महर्षि maharṣi , great sage

(c)	Skt. $a, ā + e > ai$
	Skt. $a, ā + o > au$

Skt. सदा sadā , always	+ एव eva , just so	: H. सदैव sadaiṣ , always
-------------------------------	---------------------------	----------------------------------

ai and au are called vrddhi forms of i and ī, u and ū respectively.<sup>1</sup> The corresponding vrddhi form of a is ā, and of ṛ, ār. The occurrence of vrddhi forms in derivative words is noted in Supplement V.

(d)	Skt. $i, ī > y$ before vowels of different quality.
	Skt. $u, ū > v$ before vowels of different quality.

Skt. प्रति prati (distributive prefix)	+ एक eka , one	: H. प्रत्येक pratyek , each
Skt. इति iti , thus	+ आदि ādi , and so on	: Skt. H. इत्यादि ityādi , et cetera
Skt. अनु anu , according to	+ अय aya , going	: H. अवय avay , union

2. Consonant sandhi

(a) Before vowels and voiced consonants other than nasals the voiceless plosives are voiced:

$k > g$
$c > j$
$t > d$
$t > d$
$p > b$

<sup>1</sup> That is, forms produced by the process of vrddhi 'increase'.

Skt. जगत् jagat , world	+ ईश īśa , lord	: H. जगदीश jagdiś (name)
Skt. भगवत् bhagavat , divine; divine being	+ गीता gītā , song	: Skt. H. भगवद्गीता bhagavadgītā , Song of the Lord
Skt. षट् ṣaṭ , six	+ ऋतु ṛtu , season	: Skt. H. षट् ऋतु ṣaṭ ṛtu , the six seasons

(b) Before nasal consonants all plosives become corresponding nasals:

$k, g > ṅ$
$c, j > ñ$
$t, d > n$
$t, d > n$
$p, b > m$

Skt. वाक् vāk , speech	+ मय maya , composed of	: H. वाङ्मय vāṅmay , literature <sup>1</sup>
Skt. उद् ud , up	+ नति nati , bowing	: H. उन्नति unnati , progress

(c) t before voiced j or l becomes j, l respectively.

Skt. सत् sat , existent, good	+ जन jana , person	: H. सज्जन sajjan , good person
Skt. तत् tat , that	+ लीन līna , attached to	: H. तल्लीन tallīn , absorbed in that, engrossed

(d) t and d before voiceless c become c, and combine with following voiceless t as ch.

Skt. सत् sat , being	+ चित् cit , thought + अनन्द ānanda , bliss	: H. सच्चिदानन्द saccidānand , pure being, thought and bliss
Skt. उद् ud , up	+ स्वास svāsa , breath	: H. उच्छ्वास ucchvās , sigh

(e)  $d + h > ddh$

Skt. उद् ud , up	+ हरण harāṇa , carrying	: H. उद्धरण uddharāṇ , extract, citation
-------------------------	--------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------

<sup>1</sup> The word साहित्य sāhitya is much more common.

(f) Final s not preceded by a or ā becomes r before a vowel or voiced consonant.

Skt. दुस् duś , bad	+ देव daiva , fate	: H. दुर्दैव durdain , evil fate
Skt. निस् niś , not, without	+ भय bhaya , fear	: H. निर्भय nirbhay , fearless
Skt. निस् niś , not, without	+ आमिष āmiṣa , meat	: H. निरामिष nirāmiṣ , vegetarian

(g) Before voiceless k, kh, p or ph it becomes ṣ; and before voiceless c, ṭ. Before voiceless t it remains in a few formations (but in Sanskrit the group often becomes ṣṭ).

Skt. निस् niś , not, without	+ फल phala , fruit	: H. निष्फल niṣphal , fruitless
Skt. दुस् duś , bad, difficult	+ कृ kr (> kara ), do	: H. दुष्कर duṣkar , hard to accomplish
Skt. दुस् duś , bad, difficult	+ चिन्ता cintā , thought	: H. दुश्चिन्ता duścintā , wicked thought
Skt. निस् niś , not, without	+ तन्द्रा tandrā , idleness	: H. निस्तन्द्र nistandra , unwearying

(h) Final -as becomes -o before a voiced consonant.

Skt. मनस् manas , mind	+ नीत nīta , led	: H. मनोनीत manonīt , preferred
Skt. अधस् adhas , down	+ मुख mukh , face	: H. अधोमुख adhomukh , facing down

(i) Final -ar or -as before voiceless k, kh, p or ph becomes aḥ; before voiceless c, aś; and before voiceless t, as.

Skt. अन्तर antar , within	+ पुर pura , stronghold	: H. अंतःपुर antahpur , women's quarters
Skt. प्रातर prātar , early	+ काल kāla , time	: H. प्रातःकाल prātaḥkāla , morning
Skt. पुनर् punar , again	+ च् ca , and	: H. पुनश्च punaśca , PS. (postscript)
Skt. अन्तर antar , within	+ तल tala , surface, level	: H. अंतस्तल antastal , heart

Skt. अधस् adhas , down	+ पतन patana , falling	: H. अधःपतन adhahpatan , decline
Skt. अधस् adhas , down	+ तल tala , surface, level	: H. अधस्तल adhastal , lower room, level.

(j) Final m (e.g. in the prefix sam 'together with') before a plosive becomes the corresponding nasal.

संकोच	H. saṅkoc , embarrassment
संजय	H. saṅjay (name)
संदेश	H. sandēś , message
संप्रदाय	H. sampradāy , community

Before other consonants it is pronounced variously, as indicated on p. xxviii, and always written as anusvāra.

संयोग	H. saṅyog , chance
संस्था	H. saṁsthā , organization

(k) Dental n becomes retroflex ṇ under the influence of a preceding retroflex ṣ, ṣ, or r in most cases where a palatal, retroflex or dental consonant (excluding y) does not intervene. This principle accounts for various spellings with ṇ which tend to be overlooked by learners.

(नागरी) प्रचारिणी (सभा) (nāgarī) pracārīṇī (sabhā), Society for the Propagation of Nāgarī

रामायण H. rāmāyaṇ, name of a Sanskrit poem

रमणी Skt. H. ramaṇī, delightful lady

V

FORMATION OF WORDS

Many words, chiefly nouns and adjectives, are formed by prefixation and suffixation. Some are made by modification of the form of roots or stems, or by the use of verb stems as different parts of speech.

1. Prefixation

Words formed by prefixation are mainly Sanskrit loanwords or later formations on Sanskrit models. The sense of the loanwords sometimes differs from their Sanskrit sense. Their pronunciation is very frequently somewhat Sanskritised, with 'inherent' vowels, which would be silent in words of Hindi origin of the same form, tending to be pronounced to a variable degree and with r and ṛ realised as retroflexes. There are a few Persian, Arabic, and Hindi prefixes. The commonest prefixes are:

- a-*, an-, not, without (Skt. and H.)
 अपरिचित aparicit, unacquainted
 अनादर anādar, disrespect
 अनेक aneḥ, different (not one)
 अनदेखत andekkhā, unseen
 अलग alag, separate, different

The form an- is used with Sanskrit words beginning with vowels only, but is quite common with Hindi words beginning with consonants also.

- ati-*, exceedingly (Skt.)
 अतिक्षीण atikṣiṇ, very slight, weak

- adhas-*, down (Skt.)
 अधःपतन adhahpatan, decline

- antar-*, within; internal (Skt.)
 अंतःकरण antahkaraṇ, spirit
 अंतर्राष्ट्रीय antarrāṣṭriy, international<sup>1</sup>
 अतर्देशीय antardeśīy, inland (adj.)

<sup>1</sup> The spelling अंतर्राष्ट्रीय antarrāṣṭriy is also found. (Neither of these spellings shows correct Sanskrit sandhi, which would produce a form antārāṣṭriy, unused in Hindi.)

FORMATION OF WORDS

191

- adhi-*, additional; above (Skt.)
 अधिकार adhikār, authority

- anu-*, according to (Skt.)
 के अनुसार ke anusār, according to अनुवाद anuvād, translation

- apa-*, away, back; down (Skt.)
 अपवाद apaśabd, term of abuse

- abhi-*, towards; particular (Skt.)
 अभियोग abhiyog, accusation

- ava-*, away; down (Skt.)
 भवति avanati, decline

- ā-*, to, towards; up to (Skt.)
 आरक्षा ārakṣā, security
 आगमन āgaman, arrival

- ud-*, upwards (Skt.)
 उत्पादन utpādan, produce
 उद्भव udbhav, origin
 उन्नति unnati, progress

- upa-*, subsidiary (Skt.)
 उपकुलपति upakulpati, vice-chancellor
 उपभाषा upabhāṣā, dialect

- ku-* bad; deficient (Skt. and H.)
 कुपुत्र kuputr, bad son
 कुचाली kucālī, of bad conduct

- dus-*, bad; difficult (Skt.)
 दुश्चिन्ता duścintā, wicked thought
 दुर्दैव durdaiv, ill fate
 दुष्कर duṣkar, hard to accomplish

nir-, without; away (Skt.)

निस्सकोच nissankoc, without constraint

निष्पाप niṣpāp, sinless

निश्चल niṣcal, motionless

निष्कासन niṣkāsan, exile

para-, other (Skt.)

परतंत्र partantra, subjugated pari-, around; abundantly (Skt.)

परिधि paridhi, circle

परिचित paricit, acquainted

परिपूर्ण paripurn, replete punar-, again (Skt.)

पुनर्जागरण punarjāgarāṇ, renaissance pra-, forward; exceedingly (Skt.)

प्रगति pragati, progress

प्रबंध prabandh, arrangement

प्रोत्साहन protsāhan, encouragement

प्रखर prakhar, very hard prati-, against; every; per (Skt.)

के प्रतिकूल ke pratikūl, contrary to प्रतिदिन pratidin, every day

प्रतिशत pratisat, per cent

प्रतीक्षा pratikṣā, expectation; waiting vi-, apart; different, opposite; particular (Skt.)

विलग vilag, disconnected

विदेश videsh, abroad, foreign lands

विमल vimal, without stain, pure

विशुद्ध visuddh, pure, very pure

विनीत vinīt, humble, submissive

sa-, with, possessing (Skt.)

सपरिवार saparivār, with one's family

सहृदयता sahridayatā, good-heartedness, friendliness

sam-, together with; complete(ly) (Skt.)

संस्था samsthā, organisation

संयोग samyog, chance

समाप्त samāpt, finished

संपूर्ण sampūrṇ, complete

sama-, same, equal (Skt.)

समतल samtal, level

समसामयिक samsāmayik, contemporary<sup>1</sup>

saha-, together with (Skt.)

सहकार्यकर्ता sahkāryakartā, colleague

सहानुभूति sahānubhūti, sympathy, fellow-feeling

सहचर्य sahcarya, life together, married life

su-, good; easy (Skt. and H.)

सुपुत्र suputr, good son

सुगम sugam, accessible; easy

सुदौल sudaul, well-built (physically)

sva- one's own (Skt.)

स्वदेश svades, one's own country

स्वभाव svabhāv, nature, temperament

gair-, without; against (Ar.)

गैरहाज़िर gairhāzīr, absent

nā-, without, non- (P.)

नाक़ाबिल nāqābil, incapable

नादान nādān, ignorant

fī, per (Ar.)

फ़ी सदो fī sadī, per cent

be-, without (P.)

बेकार bekār, unemployed; pointless

<sup>1</sup> -ā- in this form is explained on p. 195.

lā-, without (Ar.)

लाजवाब lājavāb, speechless, without an answer

लापरवाही lāparvāhī, carelessness

लापता lāpatā, of unknown whereabouts<sup>1</sup>

2. Suffixation

Words formed by suffixation include both words of Hindi origin and loan-words from Sanskrit, Persian, and Arabic.

(a) Common Hindi suffixes which form nouns and adjectives from verb or nominal stems (sometimes with vowel or consonant modification) are:

Forming nouns:

- āī (f.) पढ़ाई parhāī, reading, study
लंबाई lambāī, length
- āv (m.) घेराव gherāv, encirclement, siege
- āvā (m.) दिखावा dikhāvā, evidence, display
- ān (m. f.) उड़ान urān, flight
- āvāṭ (f.) रुकावट rukāvāṭ, obstacle (cf. रोकना roknā)
- āhaṭ (f.) घबराहट ghabrāhaṭ, confusion
कड़वाहट karvāhaṭ, bitterness
- ī (m. f.) फेरी pherī, circuit, ambit
बोली bolī, speech, language
तेली telī, oil seller
- an (m. f.) सूजन sūjan, swelling
लगन lagaan, affection; desire चलन calan, motion, movement; behaviour
- iyā (m. f.) डाकिया ḍākiyā, postman<sup>2</sup>
डिबिया ḍibiyā, small box<sup>3</sup> (cf. डिब्बा ḍibbā)
लुटिया luṭiyā, small brass pot (cf. लोटा loṭā)
- erā (m.) संपेरा samperā, snake-charmer (cf. सपि sāmp)
- pan (m.) बचपन bacpan, childhood (cf. बच्चा baccā)
लड़कपन larakpan, boyhood (cf. लड़का larhā) सीधापन sīdhāpan, simplicity<sup>3</sup>
- pā (m.) बुढ़ापा būṛhāpā, old age (cf. बूढ़ा būṛhā)

<sup>1</sup> Invariable (since based on the noun एता patā).

<sup>2</sup> See p. 2.

<sup>3</sup> Oblique case सीधेपन sīdhepan; similarly all derivatives of adjectives formed with this suffix.

Forming adjectives:

- akkaṛ भुलकड़ bhulakkaṛ, forgetful (c.f. भूलना bhūlnā)
- āū उपजाऊ upjāū, fertile फिसलाऊ phislāū, slippery
- ī कुचाली kucālī, of bad conduct
- iyā कलकतिया kalkatiyā, belonging to Calcutta<sup>1</sup> (cf. कलकत्ता kalkattā) बढ़िया barhiyā, good, nice
- ilā नशीला naśilā, intoxicating (cf. नशा naśā)
रसीला rasilā, juicy
- erā बहुतेरा bahuterā, many, much, frequent

(b) Common Sanskrit suffixes in loanwords or later formations (other than some already noted) are:

-ak (often agentive)

- लेखक lekhak, writer
- अध्यापक adhyāpak, teacher
- बहुसंख्यक bahusankhyak, numerous

-ik (forms adjectives and agentive nouns from nouns, with vyddhi of root or initial vowel)

- धार्मिक dhārmik, religious (cf. धर्म dharm)
- दैनिक dainik, daily (cf. दिन din)
- औद्योगिक audyogik, industrial (cf. उद्योग udyog)
- सांप्रदायिक sāmpradāyik, communal (cf. संप्रदाय sampradāy)
- प्रादेशिक prādesik, concerning a state (cf. प्रदेश prades)
- सांस्कृतिक sāṃskṛtik, cultural (cf. संस्कृति samskṛti)<sup>2</sup>
- आंशिक āṃshik, partial (cf. अंश aṃś)<sup>2</sup>
- सैनिक sainik, military; soldier (cf. सेना senā)
- (सम)सामयिक (sam)sāmayik, (con)temporary (cf. समय samay)

<sup>1</sup> Unchanged in feminine concord.

<sup>2</sup> Where the vowel a preceding a nasal consonant + a non-plosive consonant is lengthened in derivative words (or in sandhi) it is nasalized, usually with loss of the nasal consonant; but the spelling is with anuvāra not candrabindu. Cf. p. xxviii.

An example of such an a lengthened and nasalized in sandhi is seen in the word अधिकारा adhikāra 'majority, greater part'.

-it (forms past participial adjectives)

सुरक्षित surakṣit, protected, preserved

परिचित paricit, acquainted

क्रोधित krodhit, angry, made angry

-ī (forms nouns and adjectives)

अधिकारी adhikārī, official, person in authority

अभिमानि abhimānī, proud person

सुखी sukhī, happy

-kār (forms agentive nouns)

साहित्यकार sāhityakār, writer, literary man

-tavya (forms verbal nouns)

कर्तव्य kartavya, duty (that which is to be done)

-tva (forms abstract nouns from nouns and adjectives)

पुरुषत्व puruṣatva, manliness

उत्तरदायित्व uttardāyitva, responsibility

-pūrvak (forms adverbs of manner from nouns)

आदरपूर्वक ādarpūrvak, respectfully

-may (forms adjectives of the sense 'consisting of . . .')

मधुमय madhumay, sweet, mellifluous

-mān (forms adjectives from nouns, chiefly, of the sense 'possessed of . . .')

दीप्तिमान् dīptimān, illuminated, brilliant

श्रीमान् śrīmān, sir (in address)<sup>2</sup>

-ya (forms adjectives expressing potentiality from verbal roots; also abstract nouns from nouns or adjectives, with ṛdhi of root or initial vowel)

सह्य sahya, tolerable

प्राप्य prāpya, obtainable, accessible

पांडित्य pāṇḍitya, learning

सौभाग्य saubhāgya, good fortune

धैर्य dhairya, steadfastness

<sup>1</sup> For feminines of these forms see Supplement I, p. 168.

<sup>2</sup> The Sanskrit vocative form श्रीमन् śrīman is also heard in very formal style.

-vān (forms adjectives and nouns from nouns, chiefly, of the sense 'possessed of . . .')

कलावान् kalāvān, artistic

विद्वान् vidvān, learned, a scholar

(c) The commonest Arabic and Persian suffixes are:

-at (in feminine abstract nouns)

तबीयत tabīyat, state of health

-ānā (forms adjectives, normally invariable, and nouns from nouns)

मरदाना marḍānā, male

ज़नाना zanānā, female

रोज़ाना rozānā, daily

राजपुतानी rājputānī, Rajput woman

-ī (forms feminine abstract nouns)

सिफारिश siḥārīṣ, recommendation

गुंजाइश gunjāiṣ, room, space, scope

-ī (forms abstract nouns and adjectives from nouns and adjectives)

दोस्ती dostī, friendship, friendliness

खुशी khushī, happiness

ज़िंदगी zindagī, life

हिंदी hindī, Hindi (language of Hind)

क़ानूनी qānūnī, legal

-dār (forms nouns and adjectives from nouns)

दुकानदार dukāndār, shopkeeper

समझदार samajhdār, intelligent

दाँतदार dāntdār, toothed, clogged

-īn (forms adjectives from nouns)

शौकीन shauqīn, desirous, eager; cultivated

3. Other types of word formation

(a) From Hindi verb stems, by using these as nouns; monosyllabic stems

<sup>1</sup> For feminines of these forms see Supplement I, p. 168. The second example is based on a verbal root and does not show a feminine in -वती -vatī.

with short vowels usually show vowel lengthening or modification. Most verbal nouns of this type are feminine.

मार mār, beating; killing

लूट lūt, looting

समझ samajh, understanding, comprehension

चाल cāl, action, activity; deportment

बाढ़ bāḥ, flood

मेल mel, union; harmony

मेल-जोल mel-jol, association; familiarity

(b) In Sanskrit loanwords; vyddhi derivatives without suffixation.

शैव śaiv, devotee of Śiva

वैष्णव vaiṣṇav, devotee of Viṣṇu<sup>1</sup>

बौद्ध bauddh, devotee of the Buddha

स्मार्त smārta, follower of smṛti doctrine<sup>1</sup>

(c) In Arabic loanwords through Persian; related forms may show a variety of vowel and consonant alternations, e.g. as in

खबर khabar, news : अखबार akhbār, newspaper

तकलीफ taklif, trouble : तकल्लुफ takalluf, formality

असर asar, effect : आसार āsār, signs, portents

These alternations are of little importance in themselves for the student of Hindi. Words derived in this way are best learned individually as they occur.

<sup>1</sup> Words ending in -u or -i show modification of these vowels as well as vyddhi of their root vowel.

VI

COMPOUNDING OF WORDS

Compounding is a very common device in Hindi; instances have already been noted (pp. 63, 90, 185 ff.). Most compounds give little difficulty in interpretation, but the student may find a brief outline of the chief types of compound which occur useful.

1. Co-ordinative compounds

Co-ordinative compounds are those implying a link, ओर aur 'and', or occasionally या yā 'or', between the members of the compound. These may be various parts of speech, and either of Hindi origin words or loanwords. Co-ordinative compounds are usually hyphenated.

बाप-बेटा bāp-beṭā, father and son

बाप-दादा bāp-dādā, forefathers<sup>1</sup>

मित्र-शत्रु mitr-śatru, friends and enemies

छोटे-बड़े choṭe-baṛe, small and great

(a) Second members of some compounds are of identical or similar sense to first members. Such compounds usually have some degree of affective force, however slight.

बाल-बच्चे bāl-bacce, children

भरा-पूरा bharā-pūrā, well-filled, solid, bulky

मुग्ध-चकित mugdh-chakit, fascinated, fond (artless and astonished)

अच्छा-खासा acchā-khāsā, good, fine (cf. P. loanword खासा khāsā 'special')

(b) Verb compounds are for the most part of participial, absolutive or infinitive forms. Some are of stem forms and have the force of nouns.

लोग सड़क में आते-जाते हैं । log saṛak meṁ āte-jāte haiṁ, People come and go in the street.

मैंने यह जान-बूझकर किया । maimne yah jān-būjhkar kiya, I did this on purpose (with knowledge and understanding).<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> In this compound दादा dādā is often inflected as a masculine in final -ā, and not as दिन् din; cf. p. 1.

<sup>2</sup> For the form of the absolutive see p. 90, n. 2 (where verb compounds are referred to as 'verb pairs', to avoid any later confusion with compound verbs).

तुम लोगों का लड़ना-झगड़ना मुझे अच्छा नहीं लगता । tum logon kā laṛnā-jhagarnā mujhe acchā nahīn lagtā, I don't like the way you people fight and quarrel.

रोक-टोक roh-ṭok, checking, interference

मार-काट mār-kāṭ, slaughter

(c) Two special categories of verb compounds are (i) those of perfective participles of verbs of related stem, which emphasise thoroughness of action, and (ii) those of masculine and feminine perfective participles, usually of the same verb, which emphasise reciprocity or intensity of action. These have the force of nouns and are of feminine gender.

दूल्हा देखना क्या है? मेरा देखा-दिखाया है dūlhā dekhnā kyā hai? merā dekhā-dikhāyā hai, What's the point of (going) to see the bridegroom? I've already seen him (and am satisfied).

बने-बनाए जूते banē-banāe jūte, ready-made shoes

मारा-मारी mārū-māri, fight, brawl

(मेरे) देखा-देखी (mere) dekhā-dekhī, (in) imitation (of me)<sup>1</sup>

खींचा-तानी khīncā-tānī, competition; tension

2. Determinative compounds

In these the sense of the first member of the compound defines that of the second in some way.<sup>2</sup> Both words of Hindi origin and loanwords occur; the former sometimes show vowel or consonant modification. Most of these compounds may be unhyphenated, though practice varies. Compounds whose second member is a Hindi verbal form are usually hyphenated.

देवनगरवासी devnagarvāsī, an inhabitant of Devnagar

नदीतट nadītaṭ, river-bank

मनमोहक manmohak, heart-captivating

जी-तोड़ jī-toṛ, soul-destroying

शराब-भरा śarāb-bharā, filled with wickedness, naughtiness

नीलकंठ nīlkaṇṭh, blue jay (blue-throat)

परमप्रिय parampriy, supremely dear

यथासंभव yathāsambhav, as far, much, as possible

<sup>1</sup> With the use here of मेरे mere not in concord cf. the use of के ke in certain postpositional expressions based on feminine nouns, noted on p. 35.

<sup>2</sup> A sub-classification of determinative compounds is made for Sanskrit grammar, but concerns the student of Hindi only marginally, and is therefore not given here.

कठपुतली kathputlī, puppet (wooden doll; cf. काठ kāṭh, m. 'wood')

आँखों-देखा āṁkham-dekhā, seen with one's own eyes

लकड़बग्घा laharbagghā, hyena (cf. बाघ bāgh, m. 'tiger; lion')

घुड़सवार ghursavār, horse-rider (cf. घोड़ा ghoṛā)

भिक्षमंगा bhikhmaṅgā, beggar (cf. भिक्ष bhikkh, f. 'alms'; माँगना māṅgnā, 'request')

3. Possessive compounds

The second member of these is characteristically a noun, and the compounds are adjectives qualifying nouns or pronouns. Though common in Sanskrit they are relatively rare in Hindi, even in the more Sanskritised language; possessives with prefixes as first member are the only type which is at all frequent. Some possessives show a final adjectival suffix. These compounds are normally unhyphenated.

हँसमुख haṁsmukh, cheerful, jolly

प्रगतिशील pragatiśīl, progressive, of progressive character

पूर्णकाम pūrṇkām, of fulfilled desire

निस्तन्द्र nistandra, unwearying<sup>1</sup>

दुमंजिला dumansilā, two-storeyed (cf. मंजिल manzil, f. 'storey')

4. Quasi-compounds

Many compounds exist in informal usage whose second member is rare, or used very figuratively, or meaningless independently. These usually have some degree of affective force. Second members are usually based on rhyming or echoing syllables. Some examples are:

बातचीत bātcīṭ, conversation

भीड़-भाड़ bhīṛ-bhāṛ, crowd, throng

भीड़-भन्बर bhīṛ-bhabbar, crowd, throng

ठीक-ठाक ṭhīk-ṭhāk, fine (answering the question 'how are you?')

शोर-शराबा śor-śarābā, noise and confusion

चाय-बाय cāy-bāy, tea, etc. (tea and something to eat)

गड़बड़-साड़बड़ gaṛbaṛ-saṛbaṛ, confusion

In some cases the first element of the compound is the meaningless one.

(के) आस-पास (ke) ās-pās, near, round about; nearby

<sup>1</sup> See p. 188.

READING PASSAGES

वाणी, जिसे में केवल<sup>1</sup> बारह-तेरह बरस<sup>2</sup> की समझता था, वास्तव में<sup>3</sup> पन्द्रह-सोलह साल की लड़की थी। छोटे कद<sup>4</sup> की पतली,<sup>5</sup> दुबली,<sup>6</sup> बीमार-बीमार-सी! कवि अखतर शेरानी ने जब लिखा था—'मुझे तो कुछ इन्ही बीमार कलियों से<sup>7</sup> मुहब्बत<sup>8</sup> है'—तो शायद उसी जैसी<sup>9</sup> किमी लड़की को 'बीमार कली' की संज्ञा<sup>10</sup> दी होगी। जब पहले दिन में देवनगर आया था, और अपने पिता का आदेश<sup>11</sup> पालने<sup>12</sup> की उत्सुकता<sup>13</sup> में बाणी फुदकती<sup>14</sup> हुई-सी अपनी छोटी बहन के साथ दरवाजे में आ खड़ी हुई थी,<sup>15</sup> तो मैंने उसकी ओर ध्यान<sup>16</sup> भी न दिया था। वही चाय लायी थी, लेकिन उसमें कोई भी ऐसा आकर्षण<sup>17</sup> न था कि देवा जी की बातें सुनते या उन्हें अपनी बातें सुनाते समय मेरा ध्यान उसकी ओर चला जाता। इसलिए यह ठीक ही था कि जब मैं तीरथराम की प्रेयसी<sup>18</sup> की तलाश में देवनगर के घर-घर घूमा तो बाणी की ओर मेरा ध्यान भी नहीं गया। लेकिन उस शाम के बाद वह तन्ही<sup>19</sup> बीमार-सी कली अचानक मेरा ध्यान खींचने लगी। डाईनिंग हाल में खाना में पहले भी खाता था और कई बार उस पात<sup>20</sup> में भी खाता था, जिसमें देवा जी और उनका परिवार रहता<sup>21</sup>। लेकिन उस घटना के बाद दूसरे दिन जब मैं कोपहर का खाना खाने गया तो अचानक मेरी आँखें भगली भेजों की ओर उठ गयीं, जहाँ प्रायः<sup>22</sup> देवा जी आकर बैठते थे। देवा जी नहीं थे, न<sup>23</sup> उनकी पत्नी थीं—शायद वे पहली पात में खाना खा गये थे—लेकिन दूसरे बच्चों में घिरी वाणी बैठी थी। मैंने निगाह<sup>24</sup> उठायी तो मौन<sup>25</sup> रूप से उसे अपनी ओर तकते<sup>26</sup> पाया। नज़र मिलते ही<sup>27</sup> उसने आँखें भुका लीं, लेकिन जब मैंने फिर उसकी ओर देखा तो मेरी निगाहें फिर उससे जा मिलीं<sup>28</sup>।

<sup>1</sup> only

<sup>2</sup> year (m.)

<sup>3</sup> in reality, in fact

<sup>4</sup> stature (m.)

<sup>5</sup> thin

<sup>6</sup> thin, weak

<sup>7</sup> कली kali, f., bud; बीमार कली bimār kali, ailing, frail young thing

<sup>8</sup> love (f.)

<sup>9</sup> See p. 84.

<sup>10</sup> title, appellation; noun (f.)

<sup>11</sup> direction, command (m.)

<sup>12</sup> maintain, bring up; carry out

<sup>13</sup> eagerness (f.)

<sup>14</sup> hop, skip, frolic

<sup>15</sup> came and stood; आ ā, stem absolute

<sup>16</sup> attention (m.)

<sup>17</sup> attraction; attractiveness, charm

<sup>18</sup> beloved (f.)

<sup>19</sup> तन्ही nanhām, t.ny

<sup>20</sup> row (f.); Hindi form corresponding to Skt. loanword पंक्ति pankti.

<sup>21</sup> See p. 170.

<sup>22</sup> usually

<sup>23</sup> nor

<sup>24</sup> glance (f.)

<sup>25</sup> silent; silence (m.)

<sup>26</sup> look, gaze

<sup>27</sup> See p. 144.

<sup>28</sup> See p. 178.

खाना खाने के बाद थाली<sup>1</sup> लेकर जब मैं बाहर निकला तो कुछ इस तरह हुआ<sup>2</sup> कि बाणी और मैं लगभग एक साथ<sup>3</sup> नल<sup>4</sup> पर पहुँचे। मैं थाली रखकर हमाम की टोंटी<sup>5</sup> के नीचे हाथ धोने जा ही रहा था कि बाणी थाली रखकर आ गयी। मैं पीछे हट गया कि वह पहले हाथ धो ले। तभी मेरी नज़र सामने ड्योड़ी<sup>6</sup> की ओर चली गयी। तीरथराम उसी तरह<sup>7</sup> हाथ बगल<sup>8</sup> में दबाये<sup>9</sup> घूम रहा था। उसकी निगाह हमारी ओर थी, पर मुझे देखते ही वह सिर झुकाकर मुड़<sup>10</sup> गया।

बड़े मीठे<sup>11</sup> स्वर<sup>12</sup> में 'थेक यू' कहते हुए बाणी हाथ धोने लगी। साबुन<sup>13</sup> मलते<sup>14</sup> और हाथ धोते हुए उसने अपनी चंचल<sup>15</sup> पर गहरी<sup>16</sup> दृष्टि मुझपर डाली और ज़रा-सा<sup>17</sup> मुस्कराते<sup>18</sup> हुए बोली—'आप उस दिन गाते ही बाहर क्यों चले गये थे?' हाथ धोकर वह पीछे हट गयी और रूमाल<sup>19</sup> से उन्हें पोछने<sup>20</sup> लगी। मैं हाथ धोने लगा। इस बीच<sup>21</sup> लगातार<sup>22</sup> मैं उसके प्रश्न का उत्तर सोचता रहा।

'बताइए न संगीत जी?' उसने फिर आप्रह<sup>23</sup> के साथ कहा।

शाम का वक्त था। नहर<sup>1</sup> पर पहुँचा तो पश्चिम में सूरज डूब<sup>2</sup> रहा था। सड़ी सरे-शाम ही<sup>3</sup> उतर आयी थी और मैं ओवरकोट पहने था। तभी पश्चिम की ओर आँखें उठाते ही

<sup>1</sup> flat metal tray for carrying food (f.)

<sup>2</sup> it so happened that

<sup>3</sup> लगभग एक साथ lagbhag ek sāth, just about together

<sup>4</sup> pipe, conduit (m.)

<sup>5</sup> water-pot with spout (for washing hands); हमाम, हमाम ham(m)ām, m., place for bathing, washing

<sup>6</sup> threshold, doorway (f.)

<sup>7</sup> in the same way (as before)

<sup>8</sup> armpit, side (f.)

<sup>9</sup> press (trans.)

<sup>10</sup> turn, turn away (intr.)

<sup>11</sup> sweet; pleasant

<sup>12</sup> voice (m.)

<sup>13</sup> soap (m.)

<sup>14</sup> rub, rub on (trans.)

<sup>15</sup> mobile, restless

<sup>16</sup> deep; grave

<sup>17</sup> slightly; ज़रा ẓarā (invariable adj.) just, (just) a little

<sup>18</sup> smile

<sup>19</sup> handkerchief (m.)

<sup>20</sup> wipe

<sup>21</sup> in the meantime

<sup>22</sup> continuously

<sup>23</sup> zeal, eagerness (m.); see p. 181

<sup>1</sup> canal (m.)

<sup>2</sup> sink, set

<sup>3</sup> with the fall of evening; an expression of specifically Urdu character.

दिल की धड़कन<sup>4</sup> जैसे थम<sup>5</sup> गयी। कितना अकथ<sup>6</sup>, कितना सुन्दर दृश्य<sup>7</sup> था! दूर, बहुत दूर खजूर<sup>8</sup> के एकाकी<sup>9</sup> पेड़ के पीछे, जो उस निर्जन<sup>10</sup> के सूनेपन<sup>11</sup> को चुनौती<sup>12</sup> देता हुआ-सा खड़ा था, सूरज डूब रहा था। बड़ा-बड़ा और पीला-पीला<sup>13</sup> पेड़ का ऊपर का सिरा<sup>14</sup> ऐसे लग रहा था<sup>15</sup> जैसे उस पीली कुंदनी<sup>16</sup> थाली पर अंकित<sup>17</sup> हो। नहर के पानी पर सूरज का बिम्ब<sup>18</sup>, ऊपर आकाश के हलके<sup>19</sup> ह्वेत<sup>20</sup> बादलों पर उसका रंग,<sup>21</sup> उस रंग से रंजित<sup>22</sup> दूर तक फैली नहर की पटरी<sup>23</sup> और अकेला<sup>24</sup> में... कुछ दूर चलकर बैठ गया और अचानक गाने लगा। वही अपना चिर-परिचित गीत नहीं,<sup>25</sup> सहगल के मधुमय<sup>26</sup> स्वर में सुना<sup>27</sup> वह कृष्ण के प्रेम में पागल<sup>28</sup> गोपी<sup>29</sup> का गीत, जो जरूर ही अल्हड़<sup>30</sup> रही होगी, छोटी उम्र<sup>31</sup> की होगी। गीत विरह<sup>32</sup> का था। पर जाने क्यों मुझे करुण<sup>33</sup> नहीं लगा। मन की उमंग<sup>34</sup> में जैसे<sup>35</sup> उस प्राकृतिक<sup>36</sup> सौन्दर्य और सुनसान<sup>37</sup> को भरता हुआ<sup>38</sup> मैं गा उठा-

<sup>4</sup> beating, thumping (f.)

<sup>5</sup> be checked, stopped

<sup>6</sup> indescribable; cf. Sanskrit अकथ्य akathyā.

<sup>7</sup> sight (m.)

<sup>8</sup> date (palm) (m.f.)

<sup>9</sup> solitary (invariable adj.)

<sup>10</sup> deserted, unpopulated spot (m.); desolate

<sup>11</sup> emptiness (m.)

<sup>12</sup> challenge (f.)

<sup>13</sup> yellow

<sup>14</sup> edge; see Supplement III, p. 178.

<sup>15</sup> seemed

<sup>16</sup> made of fine gold (कुंदन kundan, m.)

<sup>17</sup> drawn, traced

<sup>18</sup> reflection; halo (m.)

<sup>19</sup> light

<sup>20</sup> white; बादल bādal, m., cloud

<sup>21</sup> colour (m.)

<sup>22</sup> coloured

<sup>23</sup> surface (f.) (often of road or path)

<sup>24</sup> alone, single

<sup>25</sup> not that old song of mine; अपना apna depends on में main understood from the previous sentence; चिर-परिचित गीत **civ-paricit gīt*, m., song with which one is long acquainted, long-known song.

<sup>26</sup> sweet (मधु madhu, m., honey); सहगल sahgal, a personal name

<sup>27</sup> non-finite participle, qualifying गीत gīt

<sup>28</sup> mad, crazy

<sup>29</sup> herdgirl; the herdgirls of Braj were enamoured of Krishna (Kṛṣṇ).

<sup>30</sup> gay

<sup>31</sup> age (f.)

<sup>32</sup> separation (of lovers) (m.)

<sup>33</sup> sad, piteous

<sup>34</sup> enthusiasm; zeal; delight (f.)

<sup>35</sup> See p. 84.

<sup>36</sup> natural, belonging to nature (प्रकृति prakṛti); सौन्दर्य saundarya, beauty

<sup>37</sup> emptiness, loneliness, solitude (m.); lonely, deserted

<sup>38</sup> fill, pour in मुनो मुनो रे कृष्ण काला<sup>39</sup>

मुनो मुनो रे कृष्ण काला

तभी कहीं निकट<sup>40</sup> ठहाके<sup>41</sup> की आवाज आयी-मुने<sup>42</sup> में सहसा बज उठने वाली घटियों सरीखी युवा-लड़कियों के ठहाके की आवाज। मैं चौक उठा। पटरी पर बाणी, ब्यासा और मधु न जाने किस बात पर हँसती-हँसती दोहरी होती<sup>43</sup> जा रही थी। साथ उनके अठारह-बीस वर्ष का एक यवक<sup>44</sup> था।

उन्हें गुजरने<sup>45</sup> के लिए राह<sup>46</sup> देने को मैं एक ओर हट गया। पर चारों की टोली<sup>47</sup> मेरे पास आकर रुक गयी।

"दिलजीत, यह है संगीत जी, बड़ा ही अच्छा गाते हैं<sup>48</sup>।" अपनी बड़ी-बड़ी आँखों को फैलाते<sup>49</sup> और शब्दों के साथ भ्रमते हुए बाणी ने अपने साथी<sup>50</sup> यवक को मेरा परिचय दिया और फिर मुझे बोली-"यह है दिलजीत, मेरा भाई, गवर्नमेण्ट कालेज में पढ़ता है, छुट्टियों में<sup>51</sup> आया है।"

यह मान<sup>1</sup> लेने में मुझे कुछ भी संकोच नहीं कि उन चार सहीनों में देवनगर से मुझे बेहद<sup>2</sup> प्यार<sup>3</sup> हो गया था। वहाँ बाणी थी और उसकी सुघ-वकित<sup>4</sup> आँखों में मेरे लिए अपार<sup>5</sup> स्नेह<sup>6</sup> और सहानुभूति<sup>7</sup> थी, या वहाँ देवा जी थे, जो मेरे सतप्त<sup>8</sup> मन की शान्ति<sup>9</sup> प्रदान करते थे,<sup>10</sup> या फिर देवनगर-वासियों<sup>11</sup> में वैसी सहृदयता,<sup>12</sup> स्नेह और प्यार था, जैसा

<sup>39</sup> Oh listen, dark Krishna. रे re, variant of अरे are. The form कृष्ण kṛṣṇa shows a simplification of consonant groups typical of many Sanskrit loanwords, usually older ones.

<sup>40</sup> near, nearby

<sup>41</sup> loud laughter, guffaw (m.)

<sup>42</sup> emptiness, solitude (m.); empty, lonely

<sup>43</sup> दोहरी होती dohri hoti, as a group. See p. 169.

<sup>44</sup> youth, young man (m.)

<sup>45</sup> pass (intr.), pass by

<sup>46</sup> road; way, passage (f.)

<sup>47</sup> group (f.)

<sup>48</sup> he sings very well indeed. For बड़ा barā here see p. 50.

<sup>49</sup> spread; (of eyes) open wide

<sup>50</sup> companion; accompanying (adj.)

<sup>51</sup> for

<sup>1</sup> मानना mānnā, accept, agree; accept as. Cf. p. 158, n. 2.

<sup>2</sup> unlimited; see p. 193.

<sup>3</sup> love, affection (m.)

<sup>4</sup> See p. 199.

<sup>5</sup> limitless

<sup>6</sup> love, affection (m.)

<sup>7</sup> sympathy

<sup>8</sup> heated, tormented

<sup>9</sup> peace (f.)

<sup>10</sup> give, donate (conjunct verb)

<sup>11</sup> inhabitants of Devnagar

<sup>12</sup> friendliness, kindness (m.)

कहीं और देखने में नहीं आता—तहीं, इनमें से कोई बात न थी<sup>13</sup>। वाणी के उस स्नेह और सहानुभूति ने मेरी उस अस्थायी<sup>14</sup> शान्ति को, जो देवनगर के उन पहले दिनों में मुझे प्राप्त हुई थी, एक अजीब-सी<sup>15</sup> बेचैनी<sup>16</sup> में बदल दिया था। देवा जी के लेखों<sup>17</sup> की बड़ी-बड़ी बातें भी मेरे मन के सागर<sup>18</sup> पर तैरती<sup>19</sup> हुई वृत्तहीन<sup>20</sup> कल्पलिनियों<sup>21</sup>—सी बहने लगी थीं। और देवनगर के वासी!—जैसे-जैसे<sup>22</sup> मैं उन्हें जानता गया, मुझे लगता गया कि ऊपर से नजर आनेवाली<sup>23</sup> मुस्कानों<sup>24</sup> और प्रकट<sup>25</sup> सुनायी देनेवाले प्रेम और परस्पर<sup>26</sup> प्रोत्साहन<sup>27</sup> के दावों<sup>28</sup> के नीचे वही ईर्ष्या-द्वेष<sup>29</sup> का विष<sup>30</sup> छिपा हुआ है। लेकिन देवनगर के आस-पास<sup>31</sup> की सुन्दरता,<sup>32</sup> उन देहाती<sup>33</sup> सुबहों और शामों का वह सोने,<sup>34</sup> गुलाब<sup>35</sup> और केसर<sup>36</sup> से धुला हुआ लावण्य,<sup>37</sup> नदी-तट<sup>38</sup> का वह एकांत<sup>39</sup>, करीर<sup>40</sup> की उन ठिगनी<sup>41</sup> भरी-पूरी<sup>42</sup> भाड़ियों<sup>43</sup> के फूलों की वह जलते अंगारों<sup>44</sup>—की-सी लाली<sup>45</sup>—सब मेरे मन

<sup>13</sup> The sense of the sentence in outline is: It was not that Vānī was there . . . or that Devā Jī was there . . . or that the inhabitants of Devnagar showed such warm feeling as was not found elsewhere.

<sup>14</sup> impermanent, short-lived (invariable adj.)

<sup>15</sup> †strange, curious

<sup>16</sup> disquiet (f.)

<sup>17</sup> article, writing (m.)

<sup>18</sup> ocean (m.)

<sup>19</sup> swim, float

<sup>20</sup> *etalkless; हीन hīn, deprived of, without (in compounds); wretched

<sup>21</sup> lotus (f.); see Supplement I, pp. 164 f.; बहना bahna, flow, float

<sup>22</sup> in proportion as

<sup>23</sup> नजर आना †nazar āna, be visible

<sup>24</sup> smile (f.)

<sup>25</sup> clearly, manifestly

<sup>26</sup> See p. 152.

<sup>27</sup> encouragement (m.)

<sup>28</sup> दावा dāvā, m., claim

<sup>29</sup> jealousy (f.) and hatred (m.)

<sup>30</sup> poison (m.)

<sup>31</sup> See p. 201.

<sup>32</sup> beauty (f.)

<sup>33</sup> country (invariable adj.)

<sup>34</sup> gold (m.)

<sup>35</sup> pink; rose (m.)

<sup>36</sup> saffron (m.)

<sup>37</sup> *savour, charm (m.)

<sup>38</sup> bank (m.)

<sup>39</sup> *quiet, privacy (m.)

<sup>40</sup> caper-bush (a thorny shrub) (m.)

<sup>41</sup> dwarfish, stumpy

<sup>42</sup> See p. 199.

<sup>43</sup> bush (f.)

<sup>44</sup> अंगारा angārā, m., spark

<sup>45</sup> redness

को कुछ इस तरह बांधे था कि जब दिमाग<sup>46</sup> कहता,<sup>47</sup> 'मैंने देवनगर आकर गलती<sup>48</sup> की' तो मन वहाँ से जाने के विचार-मात्र<sup>49</sup> से उदास<sup>50</sup> हो जाता।

पित्तो की मौत<sup>1</sup> के बाद शहर की भीड़-भाड़<sup>2</sup> में मेरा दम<sup>3</sup> घुटने<sup>4</sup> लगा था। असल में<sup>5</sup> पित्तो के ज़िन्दा रहते<sup>6</sup> मुझे नगर<sup>7</sup> के उस शोर-शराबे<sup>8</sup> और भीड़-भ्रम<sup>9</sup> का कभी अहसास<sup>9</sup> न हुआ था। उस सारे शोर के ऊपर जैसे पित्तो की प्यारी-प्यारी बातें मेरे कानों<sup>10</sup> में गूँजती रहती थी और वह सारी भीड़ पित्तो की सूरत<sup>11</sup> के आगे<sup>12</sup> एकदम<sup>13</sup> लुप्त<sup>14</sup> हो जाती थी। दफ्तर में काम करते, मित्र-शत्रुओं, अफसरों<sup>15</sup> या चपरसियों<sup>16</sup> से बातें करते हुए भी आँखें उसको देखती रहती थीं। दो-चार बच्चे हो जाते<sup>17</sup> तो सम्भव है कि नोन,<sup>18</sup> तेल, लकड़ी और कपड़े की यथार्थता<sup>19</sup> विवाह<sup>20</sup> के उन शुरू के वर्षों की व्यामोहावस्था<sup>21</sup> को भंग कर देती,<sup>22</sup> लेकिन तीन वर्षों के उन तीन पल<sup>23</sup> बनकर बीत जानेवाले दिनों के सहचर<sup>24</sup> के बाद, जब वह मीठी आवाज और वह मन-मोहक<sup>25</sup> सूरत मौत के हाथों<sup>26</sup>

<sup>46</sup> brain (m.)

<sup>47</sup> See p. 170.

<sup>48</sup> †mistake, error (f.)

<sup>49</sup> at the very thought of going; मात्र **mātr* (suffixed adv.), only

<sup>50</sup> dejected

<sup>1</sup> †death (f.)

<sup>2</sup> See p. 201.

<sup>3</sup> breath (m.)

<sup>4</sup> be choked

<sup>5</sup> †in reality

<sup>6</sup> See p. 178.

<sup>7</sup> city (m.)

<sup>8</sup> See p. 201.

<sup>9</sup> †perception, feeling (m.)

<sup>10</sup> कान kān, m., ear

<sup>11</sup> †form, face (f.)

<sup>12</sup> in front of, out in front of; beyond

<sup>13</sup> completely, simply; at once

<sup>14</sup> *vanished

<sup>15</sup> officer, official (m.)

<sup>16</sup> office messenger (m.)

<sup>17</sup> Unrealized condition; see p. 124.

<sup>18</sup> salt (m.); नमक namak, m., is a commoner word.

<sup>19</sup> reality (m.); 'the realities of daily life' here

<sup>20</sup> marriage (m.)

<sup>21</sup> *carefree, delighted state; = vi + ā + moh (m.), fascination, infatuation + avasthā (f.), position, state

<sup>22</sup> भंग करना bhaṅg karnā, break; conjunct verb, with dependent auxiliary देना denā

<sup>23</sup> पल pal, m., moment; बनना banā, be made; become

<sup>24</sup> married life (m.); after the companionship of those three years (those three years' days) which had passed by like three seconds. उन un qualifies दिनों dinon.

<sup>25</sup> See p. 200.

<sup>26</sup> at the hands of, at the onslaught of death; adverbial oblique

धीरे<sup>27</sup> और विकृत<sup>28</sup> होकर चली गयी, तो लगा कि जैसे<sup>29</sup> शहर का शोर मेरे कानों के पदों<sup>30</sup> फाड़ रहा है और भीड़ मेरा गला<sup>31</sup> घोंटे<sup>32</sup> दे रही है। देवनगर के उन वीरानों<sup>33</sup> का वह मौन मुझे इतना अच्छा लगता कि कभी-कभी जो<sup>34</sup> चाहता उसी में विलीन<sup>35</sup> हो जाऊँ, बूल<sup>36</sup> जाऊँ, शरीर<sup>37</sup> को छोड़कर उसके कण-कण<sup>38</sup> में समा<sup>39</sup> जाऊँ।

<sup>27</sup> *frail, slight

<sup>28</sup> *spoiled, damaged

<sup>29</sup> लगा कि जैसे lagā hi jaise, it seemed that

<sup>30</sup> पर्दा pardā, m., curtain; कान का पर्दा kān kā pardā, eardrum

<sup>31</sup> throat (m.)

<sup>32</sup> घोंटना ghomtnā, choke, throttle; see pp. 172 f.

<sup>33</sup> वीराना vīrānā, m., deserted place

<sup>34</sup> life, spirit (m.)

<sup>35</sup> immersed, absorbed

<sup>36</sup> he dissolved

<sup>37</sup> body (m.)

<sup>38</sup> *fragment, particle, drop (m.); see p. 139; उसके uske refers back to मौन maun.

<sup>39</sup> समाना samānā, be contained, absorbed; कण-कण में समा जाना kaṇ-kaṇ meṁ samā jānā, pervade thoroughly, pervade every atom of

COMPOSITION PASSAGES

I

A certain man had two sons. One day one son said to his father, 'Father, please give me my share<sup>1</sup> of<sup>2</sup> your wealth<sup>3</sup>.' His father gave him his share. After this he went off to a distant land. In that country, he wasted<sup>4</sup> all his father's money,<sup>5</sup> and quickly became poor. At that time he was living in the house of an inhabitant<sup>6</sup> of that country. He began to work in that man's fields, because he had no money. After some time he thought,<sup>7</sup> 'I shall return<sup>8</sup> to my country, and go to my father, and tell him how greatly I have sinned.<sup>9</sup> And he came back<sup>10</sup> to his country. His father saw him from far off, and was very happy.<sup>11</sup> He had waited for him a long time.<sup>12</sup> The servants gave him new clothes to wear, and a fat calf<sup>13</sup> was killed.<sup>14</sup> But his brother was very angry.<sup>15</sup> 'What's going on here?'<sup>16</sup> he said. His father answered that his brother had just<sup>17</sup> returned, and that<sup>18</sup> he ought to be happy.

<sup>1</sup> हिस्सा hissā, m., भाग bhāg, m., part

<sup>2</sup> में से meṁ se

<sup>3</sup> धन dhan, m., दौलत ḍaulat, f., wealth, riches

<sup>4</sup> उड़ाना urānā, literally 'cause to fly'

<sup>5</sup> पैसे paiss, m.pl.

<sup>6</sup> निवासी nivāsī, m.

<sup>7</sup> सोचना socnā (used with ने ne)

<sup>8</sup> Subjunctive possible; the idea is a proposition in the first instance.

<sup>9</sup> मैंने कैसा पाप किया है mainne kaisā pāp kiya hai

<sup>10</sup> लौट आना lauṭ ānā

<sup>11</sup> हुए hue, not थे the, describing the sudden, new development.

<sup>12</sup> Continuous past (emphasizing duration of the period).

<sup>13</sup> मोटा बछड़ा moṭā bachṛā, m.

<sup>14</sup> जबह करना jabah karnā, slaughter (conjunct verb). The word जबह jabah is often pronounced and written with ṣ in first syllable.

<sup>15</sup> बिगड़ना bigarnā, be spoiled; be upset; perfective required here.

<sup>16</sup> यह क्या हो रहा है? yah kyā ho rahā hai? For यह yah here see p. 102.

<sup>17</sup> Distributive अभी-अभी abhi-abhi possible (the emphasis being less on the exact time of the return than on the fact that it has taken place during the immediately preceding period).

<sup>18</sup> Since direct speech reportage will be used here, the words 'and that' need not be represented.

II

Allahabad is about<sup>1</sup> 500 miles from Delhi,<sup>2</sup> and<sup>3</sup> the train journey<sup>4</sup> usually takes about twelve hours. My train was an express bound for Calcutta, and it left at 7.20 a.m. At that time it was quite cool.<sup>5</sup> Later on, however, especially<sup>6</sup> in the afternoon, it grew very hot<sup>7</sup> and dusty in the carriage.<sup>8</sup> I became very tired<sup>9</sup> and began to feel very thirsty, and dozed off<sup>10</sup> several times. Apart from myself there was only one other passenger<sup>11</sup> in the compartment,<sup>12</sup> a Muslim<sup>13</sup> of about forty-five.<sup>14</sup> But I didn't have much conversation<sup>15</sup> with him because he was reading a book most of the time.<sup>16</sup> I could see<sup>17</sup> that the book was written in Urdu. There seemed to be quite a difference<sup>18</sup> between<sup>19</sup> the countryside near Allahabad<sup>20</sup> and that in the west. The monsoon had begun, but round Delhi the fields were

<sup>1</sup> करीब qarib, लगभग lagbhag.

<sup>2</sup> Say '500 miles distant from Delhi'.

<sup>3</sup> Note that long English sentences are frequently best broken up into shorter sentences in Hindi, especially in simple style. The word और aur can be omitted here and a new sentence begun.

<sup>4</sup> Say 'going by train (रेल rel, f., ट्रेन tren, f.) usually takes . . .'

<sup>5</sup> Use the noun ठंड thand, f., 'coolness', not the adj. ठंडा thandā.

<sup>6</sup> खासकर khasakar, विशेषकर viseshkar

<sup>7</sup> Use गरमी लगना garmi lagna, be hot

<sup>8</sup> धूल dhul, f., dust; use धूल भरना dhul bharna, be dusty (of an enclosed place which can be filled with dust). For 'carriage' use गाड़ी gari, f.

<sup>9</sup> Use थकना thakna.

<sup>10</sup> ऊँचना umghna, doze; for 'doze off' use with लगना lagna.

<sup>11</sup> यात्री yatri, m.

<sup>12</sup> हिन्दी hibbā, m.

<sup>13</sup> मुसलमान musalmān, m.

<sup>14</sup> Say 'of about 45 years'.

<sup>15</sup> बातचीत bātcit, f., conversation; मेरी उससे ज्यादा बातचीत न हो सकी meri usse zyaddā bātcit na ho saki. Construction with होना hona is better than with करना karna; use of सकना sakna underlines the fact that the person wished to have some conversation.

<sup>16</sup> ज्यादातर zyādātar

<sup>17</sup> मैंने देखा mainne dekhā. English 'I could see' does not really stress ability to see in this context, and use of सकना sakna is unnecessary.

<sup>18</sup> फर्क farq, m.; काफी फर्क मालूम हुआ kāfi farq mālum huā

<sup>19</sup> मैं main

<sup>20</sup> इलाहाबाद के पास का देहात ilāhābād ke pās kā dehāt

still<sup>21</sup> rather brown<sup>22</sup> and dry.<sup>23</sup> Here<sup>24</sup> in the east, however, everything was green,<sup>25</sup> and I could see that water was lying<sup>26</sup> in the rice-fields.<sup>27</sup>

III

At last<sup>1</sup> we reached Allahabad, and the train stopped<sup>2</sup> in the station just about right on time. A porter<sup>3</sup> came into the compartment and asked me how much luggage I had, and a moment later<sup>4</sup> I stepped out on to the platform.<sup>5</sup> On the platform there was a great crowd of people who<sup>6</sup> had come to meet<sup>7</sup> their friends and relatives.<sup>8</sup> I tried to pick out<sup>9</sup> my friend's brother somewhere in the crowd, but I had never met him and besides, it was getting dark,<sup>10</sup> so I hardly expected<sup>11</sup> to find him easily. I thought that he would perhaps recognise me from my photograph. And so it turned out;<sup>12</sup> in just a few seconds<sup>13</sup> a man who very much resembled my

<sup>21</sup> अभी भी abhi bhi

<sup>22</sup> भूरा bhūrā

<sup>23</sup> सूखा sukhā

<sup>24</sup> इधर idhar, literally 'hither, out here'. (Note also उधर udhar 'thither' and किधर kidhar 'whither'.)

<sup>25</sup> Say 'greenness (हरियाली hariyālī, f.) was everywhere'.

<sup>26</sup> भरा हुआ bharā huā

<sup>27</sup> धान dhān, m., paddy

<sup>1</sup> आखिर (में) ākhir (mē)

<sup>2</sup> आ रुकी ā ruki, i.e. 'came in and stopped'.

<sup>3</sup> कुली guli, m.

<sup>4</sup> एक पल बाद ek pal bād. See p. 35.

<sup>5</sup> प्लेटफार्म pleṣfārm, m.

<sup>6</sup> Say 'on the platform there was a large crowd (भीड़ bhīr, f.). These people had come . . .'

<sup>7</sup> Use of लेना lena, i.e. '(meet and) take away with them', is possible here.

<sup>8</sup> रिश्तेदार riṣtedār, m.

<sup>9</sup> ढूँढ़ लेना dhūṇṇh lenā. ढूँढ़ना dhūṇṇhna often means 'search out', i.e. 'look for and find', rather than simply 'look for'.

<sup>10</sup> The particle भी bhi can be included in the translation, viz. 'darkness too was drawing on'. Hindi favours the marking of ideas which are parallel or 'additional' in a sentence by the use of भी bhi.

<sup>11</sup> मुझे कम आशा थी कि . . . mujhe kam āśā thī ki . . .

<sup>12</sup> ऐसा ही हुआ aisā hī huā

<sup>13</sup> क्षण kṣaṇ, m.

friend came up to me and greeted me<sup>14</sup> with folded hands.<sup>15</sup> He had had no trouble<sup>16</sup> at all in recognising me since I was the only European who had got off the train.<sup>17</sup>

IV

When Premnāth and I came out of the station I saw that in front of the station at one side there were ten or fifteen cycle rickshaws<sup>1</sup> standing, and a few cars also at the other side. I had not seen cycle rickshaws before. As soon as the rickshaw-wallahs saw us several of them began to run<sup>2</sup> towards us, shouting out 'Rickshaw, sir!'<sup>3</sup> But Premnāth had a car, so<sup>4</sup> we did not need them on this occasion. I followed<sup>5</sup> him over to the car, and he got my porter to put my luggage on the back seat.<sup>6</sup> I did not know how much to tip<sup>7</sup> the porter, but Premnāth solved<sup>8</sup> my difficulty;<sup>9</sup> he gave him four annas for each big case.<sup>10</sup> Four annas are 25 naye paise. I expect<sup>11</sup> that if I had been alone the porter would have asked<sup>12</sup> me for very much more<sup>13</sup> money.

<sup>14</sup> नमस्ते किया namaste hiya

<sup>15</sup> हाथ जोड़कर hāth jor kar, literally 'having joined his hands'

<sup>16</sup> दिक्कत diqqat, f.

<sup>17</sup> Say 'among those getting down from the train I was a single (एकेला akelā) European'.

<sup>1</sup> साइकिल रिक्शा sāhīl rikṣā, m.

<sup>2</sup> दौड़ पड़ना daur pāṇā

<sup>3</sup> The commonest equivalent to the vocative 'sir' is probably the expression बाबू जी bābū jī, though the word साहब sāhab is also very common. The word बाबू bābū, which is often used in the sense 'clerk, government servant', means properly 'educated or distinguished person', and of course has this connotation in the expression बाबू जी bābū jī.

<sup>4</sup> इसलिए islie

<sup>5</sup> ... के पीछे-पीछे चलना ... ke piche-piche calnd

<sup>6</sup> सीट sīt, f.

<sup>7</sup> पैसे देना paise denā

<sup>8</sup> दूर करना dūr karnā

<sup>9</sup> Say 'this difficulty of mine': मेरी यह मुश्किल merī yah muṣkil

<sup>10</sup> बक्सा bakṣā, m.

<sup>11</sup> मुझे लगता है muṛhe lagatā hai

<sup>12</sup> माँगना māṅgnā (with से se)

<sup>13</sup> कहीं अधिक kahīn adhik

V

Premnāth was a lawyer, and lived in a bungalow<sup>1</sup> in the Allahabad Civil Lines<sup>2</sup> about a mile and a half away from the station. The Civil Lines is a suburb of straight, wide (cauṛā) streets and large houses. We reached Premnāth's bungalow in just a few minutes, and he stopped<sup>3</sup> the car beside the front door. An old family<sup>4</sup> servant took<sup>5</sup> my luggage out of the car. Premnāth and I went into his office. His table was piled high<sup>6</sup> with law<sup>7</sup> books. We talked for a little while about his younger brother, who was studying medicine<sup>8</sup> in England. Then his son came into the room, and Premnāth introduced him to me. I did not meet<sup>9</sup> Premnāth's wife that evening. I was not at all hungry,<sup>10</sup> but very thirsty, and so I was very glad when a servant brought us some tea and biscuits.<sup>11</sup> After a little while I said good-night<sup>12</sup> to Premnāth, and went<sup>13</sup> out on to the verandah,<sup>14</sup> where the servant had put a charpoy<sup>15</sup> for me. I lay down and very shortly fell asleep.<sup>16</sup>

<sup>1</sup> कोठी koṭhī, f.

<sup>2</sup> इलाहाबाद की सिविल लाइन्स ilāhābād kī sivil lāins

<sup>3</sup> खड़ा करना kharā karnā

<sup>4</sup> परिवार parivār, m.

<sup>5</sup> उतारना utārṇā, set down, take down

<sup>6</sup> Use लदना ladnā.

<sup>7</sup> कानून qānūn, m.

<sup>8</sup> डाक्टररी पढ़ना ḍaktarī (f.) pāṛhnā

<sup>9</sup> Use of सकना saknā with मिलना milnā here would underline the fact that the narrator had been expecting or hoping to meet Premnāth's wife also.

<sup>10</sup> मुझे ज़रा भी भूख नहीं थी muṛhe zarā bhī bhūkh nahīn thī; use of लगना lagnā in this negated expression is not necessary, though possible. For ज़रा zarā see p. 203, n. 17.

<sup>11</sup> बिस्कुट biskut, m.

<sup>12</sup> आज्ञा लेना ājñā (f.) lenā. आज्ञा ājñā 'command, order' has the sense 'leave to go' in this expression and the complementary आज्ञा देना ājñā denā 'allow to go'.

<sup>13</sup> Use आना ānā (the centre of interest now being the verandah).

<sup>14</sup> बरामदा barāmdā, m. For 'on to' use में meṁ.

<sup>15</sup> Use चारपाई बिछा रखना čarpāī (f.) bichā rakhnā, literally 'spread a charpoy (with bedding) and place it'.

<sup>16</sup> नींद आना nīnd (f.) ānā (ko), fall asleep

VI

Here in Allahabad the humidity<sup>1</sup> was much greater than in Delhi.<sup>2</sup> For this reason I wasn't able to sleep terribly well, although the charpoy was very comfortable. The next morning<sup>3</sup> I was up very early,<sup>4</sup> but not as early as Premnāth and his family.<sup>5</sup> It was cooler, but the humidity was just the same,<sup>6</sup> and the sky was completely covered<sup>7</sup> with heavy<sup>8</sup> black clouds.<sup>9</sup> I went into the bathroom<sup>10</sup> and washed<sup>11</sup> in<sup>12</sup> cold water. Then I felt much better.<sup>13</sup> I found Premnāth in his office reading the paper. He took two papers, one English and one Hindi. We talked about the news<sup>14</sup> for a while, and I asked him many questions about life in Allahabad. Then the servant brought in breakfast—tea, toast, and a fried<sup>15</sup> egg for me. I drank<sup>16</sup> several cups of tea.

VII

Premnāth's son went out into the road and called a rickshaw-wallah who brought his rickshaw up to the front of the house.<sup>1</sup> The two of us loaded my luggage on to the rickshaw and got in,<sup>2</sup> and I said good-bye to Premnāth

<sup>1</sup> नमी namī, f.

<sup>2</sup> Say 'was much greater than Delhi'. See p. 178, paragraph (b).

<sup>3</sup> दूसरे दिन dūsrē dīn

<sup>4</sup> जल्दी jaldī

<sup>5</sup> प्रेम्नाथ . . . से (की तरह) जल्दी नहीं premnāth . . . se (kī tarah) jaldī nahīn

<sup>6</sup> वैसा ही vaisā hī

<sup>7</sup> ढकना dhaknā, be covered; cover

<sup>8</sup> घना ghanā, thick, dense

<sup>9</sup> बादल bādal, m.

<sup>10</sup> गुस्लखाना guslkhānā, m.

<sup>11</sup> नहाना nahānā

<sup>12</sup> से se

<sup>13</sup> Use तबीयत खुश होना tabiyat (f.) khush honā.

<sup>14</sup> नए समाचार nae samācār, m.pl.

<sup>15</sup> फ्राइड frāīd

<sup>16</sup> Concord with चाय chāy.

<sup>1</sup> रिक्शा मकान के सामने लाकर खड़ा कर दिया rikshā mahān ke sāmne lākar khayā kar diyā, literally 'brought it and stopped it in front of the house' and thanked<sup>3</sup> him very much for the kindness which he had shown me.<sup>4</sup> We set off for the University. It took about fifteen minutes to get there. On the way<sup>5</sup> we passed<sup>6</sup> the Nehru family's house, called Ānand Bhavan; it was<sup>7</sup> a very imposing (sāndār) house with a pleasant garden.<sup>8</sup> Then a few minutes later we entered the University area,<sup>9</sup> on one side of which was Amarnāth Jhā Hostel. I had come to live in<sup>10</sup> Allahabad for<sup>11</sup> six months, so that I could improve<sup>12</sup> my Hindi. At the same time<sup>13</sup> I planned<sup>14</sup> to attend Hindi classes<sup>15</sup> in the University. We entered the hostel, and went up<sup>16</sup> to the Warden's house.

<sup>2</sup> बैठना baiṭhnā

<sup>3</sup> धन्यवाद देना dhanyavād denā (ho)

<sup>4</sup> अपने सत्कार के लिए apne sathār ke lie. सत्कार sathār is here used in the sense 'kindness received by a guest'.

<sup>5</sup> रास्ते में rāste meṁ

<sup>6</sup> के पास से गुजरना ke pās se guzarnā

<sup>7</sup> As well as था thā, है hai is possible here; the state of affairs still obtains.

<sup>8</sup> सुहावना बगीचा suhāvanā bagīcā, m.

<sup>9</sup> क्षेत्र kṣētr, m.

<sup>10</sup> The postposition may be omitted.

<sup>11</sup> के लिए ke lie

<sup>12</sup> सुधारना sudhārnā

<sup>13</sup> साथ ही sāth hī, 'together with this'

<sup>14</sup> मेरा विचार . . . ने का था merā vicār . . . ne kā thā

<sup>15</sup> Use कक्षाओं में बैठना kakṣāoṁ meṁ baiṭhnā. कक्षा kakṣā, f., class

<sup>16</sup> पहुँचना pahunchnā

KEY TO EXERCISES

1

This is a table. The book is on the table. There is a pen on the table. There are two chairs in the room. What is this? This is a jar. Is there water in the jar? No, but there is water in the well. The books are on the table. Are the books on the tables? There is one chair here. There are two chairs there. Is this a chair? No, this isn't a chair, it's a table. The boys are in Agra, but the girls are in Calcutta. There are three men here. Where are the women? There are books on the tables.

■

यह क्या है? यह पुस्तक है। पुस्तकें यहाँ हैं। पुस्तकें वहाँ हैं। पत्र कहाँ है? यहाँ दो लड़कों हैं। मेज़ कमरे में है। बड़ा मेज़ पर है, और बड़े में पानी है। वह क्या है? वह मेज़ है। चिड़िया पिंजरे में है। पिंजरे में तीन चिड़ियाँ हैं। मकान में तीन कमरे हैं। एक कमरे में मेज़ और कुर्सियाँ हैं। अखबार मेज़ों पर है।

■

He<sup>1</sup> isn't here, but his<sup>1</sup> younger sisters are here. He isn't at home. Two small children are standing at the door. This water is very dirty. There are five books in the black box. Are the books in this black box? In that country there are many cities and villages. Sitā is in the fifth class. The Red Fort is in Delhi. These are the books belonging to those little girls. The walls of those buildings are high. The rajah's palace is in this city. It is very beautiful.

4

किताब<sup>2</sup> उस मेज़ पर है। कपड़े इस सندوق में हैं। किताबें उन मेज़ों पर हैं। कपड़े इन सندوقों में हैं। वे यहाँ हैं। वह कहाँ है? वह कहाँ है? सीता उसकी छोटी बहन है। उसकी किताब मेज़ पर है। उसकी किताबें उस कमरे में हैं। उनके कपड़े साफ़ और सफ़ेद हैं। वह क्या है? वह सड़क है। उसमें चार बड़ी किताबें हैं। ये किताबें उसकी हैं। उस छोटे गाँव में दो मंदिर हैं। कलकत्ता बड़ा शहर है।

<sup>1</sup> Also 'she', 'her' Alternative translations depending on points of grammar already explained are not given in the Key (nor, usually, in the Lessons).

<sup>2</sup> Also पुस्तक pustak. Alternative translations depending on the existence of common lexical equivalents (see p. xi) are not given in the Key.

KEY TO EXERCISES

217

5

My son is now in Delhi. My son's house is very large. Your books are on that large table. He is my elder brother. Hullo, how are you? How are you, Sitā? Is everything all right? Yes, everything's all right. Mr. Prasad is here, he's sitting in that room. Our city is small. Their brothers aren't here. Is this book yours? No, it's not mine, it's my father's.

6

सीता इस लड़के की बहन है। इन लड़कों की बहनें स्कूल में हैं। तुम्हारी माँ कहाँ है? आपकी पत्नी कौसी है? यह काम ठीक नहीं है। वह किताब मेरी है। सब किताबें मेरी हैं। ये सब किताबें मेरे माता-पिता की हैं। हम उनके कमरे में बैठे हैं। आप कैसे हैं, प्रसाद जी? मैं ठीक हूँ। भारत में बहुत गाँव हैं। दिल्ली भारत की राजधानी है।

7

How are you? I'm well. We are English. Our language is English. His sisters were in Agra yesterday. I was there yesterday. Will it rain today? No, it won't rain today. I am writing a letter. He speaks English to me. The leaves of that tree are green. Trees' leaves are green. I don't know Hindi. They used to speak English to us in India. He's sitting in my chair. We are going to India the day after tomorrow. Well, I'm going (now). The boy is singing a song. Why are you learning Hindi?

8

मेरे दोस्त का भाई कल यहाँ था। उनकी बहनें कमरे में नहीं थीं। क्या बे दफ़्तर में है? जी नहीं, घर पर होंगे। वे भारतीय विद्यार्थियों से हमेशा हिंदी बोलते हैं, लेकिन मुझसे नहीं बोलते। हम भारत की राजधानी में रहते हैं। मैं हिंदी सीख रहा हूँ। मैं उसकी पुस्तकें नहीं पढ़ता। गरमियों में दिन लंबे होते हैं। सिमेटें भारत में महँगी नहीं होती। डाकिया कब आता है? लड़कियाँ उस कमरे में सोती थीं। हम एक बहुत अच्छी पुस्तक पढ़ रहे हैं।

9

I've just arrived from Delhi. What will you say to his brother? She'll be on her way (here). Perhaps I'll write the letter tomorrow. The boy is standing in the courtyard. What am I to say to him tomorrow? The students went to Delhi, and also to Bombay. Come on, let's have some coffee in the restaurant. I shall give the boy just two rupees. I shall not give him even one rupee. How long did you stay in India? The money is lying on the table. In the cold season the weather is good. Everyone went into the house.

10

मैं दूध नहीं पिऊँगा। मैं उसका पत्र पढ़ूँ? मैं क्या कहूँ? मैं उससे पूछूँगा। उसके कागज़<sup>1</sup> मेज़ पर पड़े हैं। वह कल पहुँचा होगा। वह आपको पत्र देंगे। मैं कल सारा दिन घर पर ही रहा। मैं बरसात में यहाँ आया। वह मुझसे हिंदी बोला।

11

The paper is underneath the books. The window is behind you. She is sitting outside. I arrived here before him. Formerly I used to live in a village. I shall ask him about this. How far is Delhi from Agra? Shall we go in ten minutes' time? A girl was standing at the window. At that time I was reading a book. I want to learn Hindi by next year. At the right-hand side of the road there's a big building. These days food isn't cheap. I slept inside the house last night.

12

मैं उसके साथ आया। यह मेरे साथ आया। वह हमारे लिए यह काम कर रहे हैं। मैं कल तक दिल्ली में उसके लिए ठहरा। मेरे भाई मकान के सामने खड़े हैं। पहले मैं दिल्ली में रहता था। दिल्ली हमारे शहर के काफ़ी पास है। आपका गाँव भी पास है। मैं कल से यहाँ हूँ। आप हिंदी बहुत जल्दी सीख रहे हैं। मैं रेल से जाऊँगा और कार से लौटूँगा। मैं हवाई जहाज़ से लंदन जाना चाहता हूँ।

13

I shall write him a letter after I have eaten. What will you do in India (after you get to India)? He put all the things in the cupboard and went out of the room. Rāmādhīn, go to the bazaar and get (bring) four mangoes. He went out, with the book (taking the book). Excuse me, is this the Delhi train? Please speak slowly!

14

आप हिंदुस्तान जाकर हिंदी जल्दी सीख लेंगे। वह यह किताब हिंदुस्तान से ले आया। मैं हवाई जहाज़ से बंबई होकर गया। यह काम अभी कीजिए। इस कुर्सी पर बैठिए। मुझे और दीजिए!

<sup>1</sup> Note also the compound noun कागज़-पत्र kāgar-patr, common for 'papers' in this sense, and the equivalent form कागज़ात kāgazāt. The latter shows an Arabic plural inflexional ending which is common in Persian and Arabic loanwords in Urdu, though rarely used in Hindi.

15

Is anyone there? I shan't say anything about that. Eight or nine men arrived with him. Several books were lying under the table. A few other books were on the table. There's no chair in my room. Whom do these books belong to (which different persons)? Whom will you speak to about this? The book I am reading is on the table. The man I was watching has just gone out. The room I shall work in is very comfortable. How long have you been in this country, and how long will you stay here? Why don't you speak Hindi?

16

मैं किसी गाँव में रहूँगा। यहाँ कोई हिंदी नहीं जानता। मैं उससे उसके बारे में कुछ पूछूँगा। कई आदमी कल यहाँ आए। कुछ लोग हर साल वहाँ जाते हैं। ये आदमी कौन हैं? आप ये किताबें किसे देंगे? जो आदमी कल यहाँ आए थे, वे मेरे दोस्त हैं। मैं जिस कुर्सी पर बैठा हूँ, वह काफ़ी मजबूत है। जिस लड़के की पुस्तक मेज़ पर है, वह मेरा बेटा है। वे किस शहर में रहते हैं? क्या आपकी तबीयत कल ठीक नहीं थी? सुनिए, आप राधा जी की बहन हैं?

17

He doesn't recognise me. I shall write those letters. I shall give you the books tomorrow. I'm going home on Friday. Do you know them? On that day I was reading a book. What do you mean by that? Do you have any paper? Please give me some. I have a friend in Calcutta. How many walls does that room have? I haven't any books.

18

हमें एक पत्र लिखिए। मैं कल आपसे इसके बारे में कुछ कहूँगा। मेरा दोस्त अगले हफ़्ते इंग्लैंड लौटेगा। मुझे उसके बारे में बहुत खुशी है। मुझे आशा है कि आप भारतवर्ष जाएँगे। किसान घोड़े को दूँद रहा है। कमरे में कब जाएँगे? वह पेड़ के पास खड़ा था। आपके बच्चे हैं? मेरे दो बेटे और एक बेटी है। मेरा गाँव आगरे के काफ़ी पास है। क्या आपके पास हिंदी की किताबें हैं?

19

He speaks Hindi to his sister. Do you like your room? He and his wife go there every day. My own books are all Hindi ones. He is going back to his own country today. Work starts at eight o'clock. I'm starting work now. Let's stop work now. You will obtain some knowledge of Hindi from this book. Nowadays annas are not used, but village people still count in annas. Is Indra mentioned in the Rgveda? Please return my book by tomorrow. I wait for him here every day but usually he doesn't arrive on time.

20

वह अपनी किताबें उस मेज पर हमेशा रखते हैं। मैं आपको अपनी किताब दूंगा। मैं आपकी किताब वापस करूंगा। वह कल सदन गया था, क्योंकि उसका भाई भारत से आ रहा था। मुझे और मेरी पत्नी को आशा है कि आप अपने घर पहुँचकर जिंदी लिखेंगे। आप किस महीने में पैदा हुए? आपके पास भ्राम हैं? जी नहीं, खत्म हैं। मैं आपकी किताब कल खत्म करूंगा। दरवाजा क्यों बंद है? मैं कल आपको बुँव रहा था। वह कल खाना हुआ। मैं उनको खाना करूँगा। क्या आपका देश बहुत अनाज पैदा करता है?

21

I've got 75 nae paise. Twelve annas make 75 nae paise. Three quarters of the world consists of ocean. 250. 531. 2,222. 304,837. 34,165,307. I do twice as much work as he. She is in the sixth class. Next year she'll be in the seventh class. (Entire) maunds of grain were ruined. It's a quarter to four. No, its ten to four by my watch. The train arrives at three minutes past six. There's a lecture at 8.30 this evening. I'm going home on June 23rd. This incident occurred on October 24th 1929.

22

मैं एक आध महीने से हिंदी सीख रहा हूँ। डेढ़ सौ। सात सौ चीवन। नौ हजार आठ सौ छिहत्तर। एक करोड़ तिरपन लाख अठहत्तर हजार चार सौ बानवे। इक्यानवे लाख बत्तीस हजार चार सौ चवालीस। वह मुझसे दुगुना काम करता है। हजारों लोग अगले महीने यहाँ आएँगे। मैं साढ़े तीन बजे पहुँचा। अब सात बजकर पच्चीस मिनट हुए हैं। मैं आठ बजने से बीस मिनट पहले जा रहा हूँ। साढ़े पाँच बजे आइए। कल धाम को साढ़े आठ बजे आइए। मेरा बेटा पहली अप्रैल को पैदा हुआ। हम बुधवार को काम शुरू करेंगे।

23

I saw him yesterday. He was reading a book. He had brought it from the library. He read the book last week. I ate at eleven o'clock. Do you understand? (f. pl.) He found me in my office. I spoke Hindi to him. He taught him Hindi.<sup>1</sup> He taught him. I told him the cause of the quarrel. He appeared at the door of my house yesterday evening.

<sup>1</sup> Note the concord of the verb in this sentence with two objects. Concord in constructions involving ने ne is with an indefinite object if one is expressed or understood (any further object form being an indirect object).

24

क्या आपने वे पत्र लिखे? हमने उस दूकान से कई चीजें खरीदीं। फिर हम उन्हें घर ले आए। मेने शाम के पाँच बजे काम खत्म किया। आदमियों ने सड़क मेज पर रखे। गाँव के लोगों ने सारा दिन खेतों में काम किया। शाम तक वे मनों अनाज गाँव में ले आए थे। वे मेरा यहाँ इंतजार करते थे<sup>1</sup>। तस्वीर में कई दिलचस्प चीजें दिखाई दे रही हैं। वे अपना सब सामान ले गए।

25

I need a new hat. What do you want? I want five air letters. They needed some water. He will need your help. What does that boy want? You should have read these books. My brother should have read them too. I ought to write him a letter. They ought to finish their work. You'll have to speak Hindi to the people of this village.

26

मुझे दो कमीजें चाहिए। राधा को कान्ता की पुस्तकों की जरूरत थी। आपको भारत जाना चाहिए। मुझे हिंदी बोलनी चाहिए। आपको हिंदी सीखनी चाहिए थी। मुझे कुछ अखबार खरीदने हैं। मुझे ग्यारह बजे के करीब जाना पड़ेगा। मुझे ग्यारह बजे के करीब जाना पड़ेगा। मुझे ग्यारह बजे जाना पड़ा। मुझे रोब बाजार जाना पड़ता था। मुझे उसे फोन करना है। मुझे दस रुपए की जरूरत होगी।

27

Please come whenever you wish. Please stay here as long as you wish. I stayed there as long as I wanted to. I studied Hindi until I went to India. Please send me a telegram as soon as you reach Allahabad. There weren't as many people here today as there were yesterday. Wherever you go you ought to try to speak the language of the people.

28

जब आप आए, तब मैं घर पर नहीं था। उसने जो कहा, मैं उसे नहीं समझा। मैं जब तक भारत न जाऊँ, तब तक हिंदी पढ़ूँगा। जैसे ही मैंने उसे देखा, वैसे ही मैंने उसे पहचाना। आपके पास जितनी हिंदी की पुस्तकें हैं, उतनी ही मेरे पास अंग्रेजी की पुस्तकें हैं। वह जो कुछ कहता है, उसे कोजिए। हमने जिन आदमियों को कल यहाँ देखा था, वे इस गाँव में नहीं रहते।

<sup>1</sup> This is the most natural word order (although यहाँ yahām might well follow इंतजार intazār); components of possessive phrases, such as मेरा इंतजार merā intazār in this sentence, are very frequently separated by adverbs, adverbial phrases or conjunctions. Other examples will be found in later Lessons.

29

Please come whenever you can. I stayed as long as I could. I am very sorry that I couldn't see (meet) you yesterday. Apart from Hindi we could have learned several other Indian languages in India. Have you had tea? That Hindi dictionary is hard to get hold of. When can we meet? This cloth is very similar to that.

30

मैं हिंदी बहुत आसानी से नहीं लिख सकता। मैं जब भी लिखता हूँ, भूलें करता हूँ। जब मैं वहाँ पहुँचा, तब वह जा चुका था। जैसे ही उसका पत्र मुझे मिला, वैसे ही मैंने उसका उत्तर दिया। जो कोई इसके बारे में सूचना दे सकेगा, उसे पुरस्कार मिलेगा। आपको उस दूकान में हिंदी की पुस्तकें मिल सकती हैं।

31

Hindi is easier than Tamil. Hindi is an easier language than Tamil. Is city life more interesting than village life? Please write at least three pages on this subject. More people speak Hindi than any other Indian language. India is one of the world's most interesting countries. He knows a great deal about India. I told him that he would have to do considerably more work than that. He asked me if cloth was obtainable in that street of the bazaar. Did you tell him that I won't be able to come tomorrow? I told him to finish the work by tomorrow.

32

गंगा यमुना से लंबी है। बंबई आजकल भारत का सबसे बड़ा शहर है। मालूम होता है कि आप उससे ज्यादा काम करते हैं। आपको वहाँ कई भारतीय विद्यार्थी मिलेंगे। मुझे अधिक पुस्तकें चाहिए। यह पुस्तकालय बहुत अधिक छोटा है। उसने अपने मित्रों से कहा कि मैं खा चुका हूँ। उसने अपने मित्रों से कहा कि वे शाम के सवा छे बजे उसके मकान पर आएँ। जैसे ही आपका पत्र मिला, वैसे ही मैंने उनको बताया कि आप दिल्ली आ रहे हैं।

33

As soon as the train left I spread out my bedding on the lower seat. Then I changed my clothes and lay down. Get someone to load the things on that donkey. They burst out laughing on reading the essay he had had printed in the paper. Please explain to him that he should always finish his work on time. I'll ask him here and introduce him to you. Put your boy in a good school. I want to show you round London. You can have good clothes made in that shop.

34

मैं इलाहाबाद में गाड़ी से उतर गया। सामान पीछे से उतारें। आपने जो लिखा है, मुझे दिखाइए<sup>1</sup>। तुम क्या कर बैठे हो! कुरसी तोड़ डाली! आपने बहुत हिंदी सीख ली। आपको कितने मित्राई? हम अपने बपड़े धोबी से धुलाते हैं। गाड़ी यहाँ नहीं रुकती। गाड़ी अभी छूटी है। मैं आपसे रोज हिंदी में कुछ वाक्य लिखवाता हूँ।

35

My books were sent on a month later.<sup>2</sup> I couldn't contain myself. I don't remember. In the street the noise of vehicles could be heard. The existence of this movement in favour of Hindi is natural. Even if you speak the truth other people will slander you. They forced him to speak the truth. Are you going out now? In this picture you see an ox-cart. Farmers usually take their produce to market on carts like this.

36

कहा जा सकता है कि हिंदी एक दिन भारत की राष्ट्रभाषा के रूप में स्वीकार कर ली जाएगी। भारत, जहाँ हिंदी और दूसरी भाषाएँ भी बोली जाती हैं, एक बहुत विलक्षण देश है। आपने जो कहा था, वह मैंने सावधानी से याद रखा। जब मैंने उसे देखा, तब उसका चेहरा मुझे याद आया। आपको हिंदी की कई कविताएँ याद करनी चाहिए। उनकी पुस्तकों की इन दिनों<sup>3</sup> प्रशंसा हो रही है। मैंने कल नौ बजे काम शुरू किया। मैं कल आपका इंतजार नहीं करूँगा। सब बोलना आदमी का फर्ज है। बोलने का अभ्यास करने से आप हमारी भाषा सीख लेंगे। शत्रु ने किले में प्रवेश करने का प्रयत्न किया। वह अपने दोस्त से मिलने के लिए स्टेशन गया था। वह आराम करने को लेट गया।

37

Please come if you can. If there is a phone call for me please say that I'll ring back. If I had met him that day I would have recognised him. When you reach Delhi I'll introduce you to several of my friends. As soon as the farmers' crops ripen they cut them. Although the train left on time it arrived five minutes late. Since he had no work to do at the time he took the letter out of his pocket and started to read it again. He will look after my work today so that I can show you round Delhi.

<sup>1</sup> Correlative वह vah not expressed; see p. 86.

<sup>2</sup> Concord with the noun हिंदी hindi understood, see p. 220, n.

<sup>3</sup> See p. 35.

<sup>4</sup> Note the position of कई kai, following the possessive.

<sup>5</sup> For the word order here see p. 221, n.

38

अगर वह मुझे लिखे तो मैं उसकी चिट्ठी का जवाब जरूर दूंगा। अगर वह आने से पहले मुझे लिखता, तो मैं उससे स्टेशन पर मिलता। उससे पूछिए कि यह ठीक रास्ता है या नहीं। अगर मैं उससे मिलता तो मैं उस विषय के बारे में उसका विचार जरूर पूछता। जब आप जाने के लिए तैयार हों, तो मुझसे कहिए। अगरचे मैंने बहुत ज्यादा कोशिश की, फिर भी मैं आपकी भाषा न सीख सका। मैं मई में दिल्ली से चला गया, क्योंकि मौसम उस समय बहुत गरम हो रहा था। जब से आप दिल्ली चले गए, तब से मैं आपसे नहीं मिला।

39

I want you to show him that letter. I wanted to help him. He may possibly come tomorrow. He'll probably come tomorrow. It's very fitting that you should be able to speak an Indian language before going to India. It took me half an hour to get there. How long will it take you to get back? Less, if I go directly. It seems as if you are making progress in writing Hindi. I'm thirsty. He began to feel hungry, not having eaten anything since morning. He got sunstroke through staying out in the sun all day.

40

मैं भारत की संस्कृति का अध्ययन करना चाहता हूँ। मैं चाहता हूँ कि मेरा बेटा भारतीय संस्कृति का अध्ययन करे। क्या आप चाहते हैं कि मैं उसे वह पत्र दिखाऊँ? मैं उससे कहूँ कि वह आपको एक पत्र लिखे? आपको बुनियादी हिंदी पढ़ना और लिखना सीखने में संभवतः कम से कम एक महीना लगेगा। फरवरी में पिघलने लगी। हमें ठंड लग रही है। जब तक उसका पिता न लौट आया, तब तक उसकी माता ने उसे न जाने दिया।

41

It went on raining for two days. We went on studying Hindi until we went to India. Keep studying Hindi! As the days get longer the nights get shorter. When I'm in northern India I make it a habit to speak Hindi.

42

मैं रोज़ आठ बजे तक बिस्तर पर पड़ा रहता हूँ। उस समय राजपूत राजाओं में सड़ाई होती रहती थी। हम हिंदी में बोलने लगे, और घंटे के खतम होने तक हिंदी में बोलते रहे। आप हर एक दिन दस नए शब्द सीखा कीजिए। मैं हर किसी से यह सवाल पूछता जाता हूँ। इसका क्या जवाब है?

43

Each of you please make a habit of learning ten new words daily. Each Rajput killed several enemy soldiers. People come to Allahabad from far off to bathe in the Ganges. You understand Hindi, do you? The train did leave on time, but it arrived five minutes late. Even if you learn only ten words a day you'll make progress. I have never eaten a meal in that restaurant. As soon as I saw (you) I recognised you. As soon as he sat down we started asking him various questions.

44

आपने छुट्टी में क्या किया? आप कल विश्वविद्यालय में किन किन लोगों से मिले? आपको शहर के चारों ओर के देहात में छोटे छोटे गाँव मिलेंगे, जो देखने लायक हैं। वह अक्सर धीरे धीरे बोलता था, लेकिन तब भी मैं कभी कभी नहीं समझता था। धीरे धीरे बोलिए, नहीं तो मैं नहीं समझूँगा। अगर आप हिंदी सीखना चाहें, तो आपको हिंदी ही बोलनी चाहिए। उसी दिन मेरे पिता जो दिल्ली से आ गए। उसकी माँग सुनते ही वे हँस पड़े। गाड़ी के छूटते ही मैं अपना अखबार पढ़ने लगा।

45

He has written several rather long stories. Many people bathe in the river every day. I know a little Hindi. His legs were as if rooted to the spot by fear. Apart from him there was no one else there. Without working no one can hope to progress. Out of shyness he usually doesn't speak Hindi.

46

उसकी लंबी-सी दाढ़ी है। बहुत-से बड़े लोग उस इमारत में काम करते हैं। मेरे अलावा वहाँ कोई और नहीं था। बिना कोट पहने बाहर न जाइए।

47

We shall take you ourselves to meet (to introduce you to) our friends. Tongawallah, how much will you take me to the station for? What is the name of that tree with the red flowers? There were always wars going on between the rajahs.

48

उसने यह काम आप किया, बिना किसी की सहायता के। पैदल चलनेवालों को सड़क यहाँ पार करनी पड़ती है। नीचे के कमरे छोटे होने पर भी ऊपरवाले कमरों से आरामदेह हैं। मैं बाहर जानेवाला हूँ। मुझे पाँच पंद्रह पैसेवाले टिकट दीजिए।

49

From Banaras trains can be seen crossing the Ganges bridge. A tree which had been cut down was lying on the ground in front of the house.

The girl came to me in tears. I am afraid to say this. When I met him yesterday he was wearing a kurtā and pājāmā. But today he'll probably be wearing European clothes. I never saw him arrive at the office late. How long is it since you came to India? It's a long time since we met. Looking at me sharply he said, 'I'm sending you there for that very reason.'<sup>1</sup> He went out of the room with the book in his hand.

50

मैंने एक गाय को चरते हुए देखा था। औरतें काम करते हुए गा रही थीं। एक साधु सिर नीचा किए मंदिर के दरवाजे के सामने बैठा था। बूढ़ा आदमी खड़ा हो गया और हाथ में लाठी लिए गाँव की ओर चला गया। मुझे हिंदी पढ़ते एक महीना हो गया है। उसे काम खत्म किए दो दिन हो गए हैं।

<sup>1</sup> For इसीलिए isilihe (rather than उसीलिए usilihe, उसी कारण से usī kāraṇ se, etc.) see p. 22.

FAIR VERSIONS OF COMPOSITION PASSAGES

I

किसी आदमी के दो बेटे थे। एक दिन एक बेटे ने अपने पिता से कहा "पिता जी, अपने धन में से मेरा हिस्सा मुझे दीजिए"। उसके पिता ने उसे उसका हिस्सा दे दिया। इसके बाद वह किसी दूर देश को चला गया। उस देश में उसने अपने पिता के सब पैसे उड़ा दिए और जल्दी ही गरीब हो गया। उस समय वह उस देश के एक निवासी के मकान में रहता था। वह उस आदमी के खेतों में काम करने लगा, क्योंकि उसके पास पैसे नहीं थे। कुछ समय के बाद उसने सोचा, मैं अपने देश लौट जाऊँ, और अपने पिता जी के पास जाकर यह बता दूँ कि मैंने कैसा पाप किया है। और वह अपने देश लौट आया। दूर ही से उसके पिता जी ने उसे देखा और बहुत खुश हुआ। वह बहुत दिनों से उसका इन्तजार कर रहा था। नौकरों ने उसे नए कपड़े पहनने के लिए दिए, और एक मोटा बछड़ा जब्त किया गया। लेकिन उसका भाई बहुत बिगड़ा। उसने कहा 'यह क्या हो रहा है?'। उसके पिता ने उत्तर दिया कि तुम्हारा भाई अभी-अभी लौटा है, तुम्हें खुश होना चाहिए।

II

इलाहाबाद दिल्ली से लगभग पाँच सौ मील दूर है। रेल से जाने में अक्सर बारह घंटे लगते हैं। मेरी ट्रेन कलकत्ते जानेवाली एक एक्सप्रेस ट्रेन थी। ट्रेन सात बजकर बीस मिनट पर छूटी। उस वक्त काफ़ी ठंड थी। लेकिन बाद में, खासकर दोपहर के बाद, गाड़ी में बहुत गरमी लगने लगी, और धूल भी भरने लगी। मैं बहुत थक गया, और मुझे बहुत प्यास लगने लगी। कई बार मैं ऊँघने भी लगा। मेरे अलावा डिब्बे में सिर्फ़ एक और यात्री था। वह करीब पঁतालीस साल का एक मुसलमान था। मेरी तो उससे ज्यादा बातचीत न हो सकी, क्योंकि वह ज्यादातर किताब पढ़ रहा था। मैंने देखा कि किताब उर्दू की थी। इलाहाबाद के पास के देहात और पश्चिम के देहात में काफ़ी फ़र्क़ मालूम होता था। बरसात शुरू हो गई थी, लेकिन दिल्ली के आस-पास खेत अभी भी भूरे-से और सूखे थे। लेकिन इधर पूर्व में हर ओर हरियाली थी, और मैंने देखा कि धान के खेतों में पानी भरा हुआ है।

III

अखिर हम इलाहाबाद पहुँचे, और गाड़ी करीब-करीब ठीक समय पर स्टेशन पर आ रुकी। एक कुली ने डिब्बे में आकर मुझसे पूछा कि आपके पास कितना सामान है। एक पल बाद मैं प्लेटफ़ॉर्म पर उतर आया। प्लेटफ़ॉर्म पर बड़ी भीड़ थी। ये लोग अपने मित्रों और रिश्तेदारों को लेने आए थे। मैंने भीड़ में कहीं अपने मित्र के भाई को ढूँढ़ लेने की कोशिश की। लेकिन मैं उनसे कभी मिला नहीं था। इसके अलावा अँधेरा भी हो चला था। इसलिए मुझे कम आशा थी कि मैं उन्हें आसानी से ढूँढ़ सकूँगा। मैंने सोचा कि वह शायद मेरी तस्वीर से मुझे पहचान लें। और ऐसा ही हुआ। कुछ ही क्षणों में एक आदमी जो मेरे मित्र से बहुत मिलता-जुलता था मेरे पास आया और हाथ जोड़कर नमस्ते किया। मुझे पहचानने में उसे कोई भी दिक्कत नहीं हुई क्योंकि गाड़ी से उतरनेवालों में मैं ही एक अकेला यूरोपीय था।

IV

जब प्रेमनाथ और मैं दोनों स्टेशन के बाहर निकले, तो मैंने देखा कि स्टेशन के सामने एक तरफ दस-पंद्रह साइकिल रिक्शे खड़े हैं। दूसरी तरफ कुछ कारें भी थीं। मैंने पहले साइकिल रिक्शे नहीं देखे थे। जैसे ही रिक्शेवालों ने हमें देखा, कई 'रिक्शा, बाबू जी' चिल्लाते हुए हमारी ओर दौड़ पड़े। लेकिन प्रेमनाथ के पास गाड़ी थी, इसलिए इस बार हमें उनकी जरूरत नहीं थी। मैं उनके पीछे-पीछे कार की ओर चला, और उन्होंने कुली से मेरा सामान पीछे की सीट पर रखवाया। मुझे पता नहीं था कि कुली को कितने पैसे देने चाहिए। लेकिन प्रेमनाथ ने मेरी यह भूलिखल दूर कर दी। उन्होंने उसे दूर बड़े बक्से के लिए चार आने दिए। चार आने पच्चीस नए पैसे होते हैं। मुझे लगता है कि यदि मैं अकेला होता, तो कुली ने मुझसे कहीं अधिक पैसे मांगे होते।

V

प्रेमनाथ बकील थे। वह स्टेशन से करीब डेढ़ मील दूर इलाहाबाद की सिविल लाइन्स में एक कोठी में रहते थे। सिविल लाइन्स सीधी, चौड़ी सड़कों और बड़े बड़े मकानों वाला एक मुहल्ला है। हम कुछ ही मिनटों में प्रेमनाथ की कोठी पर पहुँच गए। उन्होंने सामने के दरवाजे के पास कार खड़ी कर दी। परिवार के एक बड़े नौकर ने मेरा सामान कार से उतारा। प्रेमनाथ और मैं दोनों उनके दफ्तर में गए। उनकी मेज कानून की किताबों से लदी हुई थी। हमने थोड़ी देर तक उनके छोटे भाई के बारे में, जो इंग्लैंड में डाक्टरी पढ़ रहा था, बातें कीं। तब उनका बेटा कमरे में आया। प्रेमनाथ ने उसका मुँहसे परिचय कराया। मैं उस शाम को प्रेमनाथ की पत्नी से नहीं मिला। मुझे जरा भी भूख नहीं थी, लेकिन प्यास बहुत लगी थी, इसलिए जब नौकर चाय और बिस्कुट ले आया, तो मुझे बहुत खुशी हुई। थोड़ी देर बाद मैंने प्रेमनाथ से आज्ञा ली और बाहर बरामदे में आया जहाँ नौकर ने मेरे लिए एक चारपाई बिछा रखी थी। मैं लेट गया और थोड़ी ही देर में मुझे नींद आ गई।

VI

इधर इलाहाबाद में नमी दिल्ली से बहुत ज्यादा थी। मैं इसलिए बहुत अच्छी तरह सो नहीं सका, हालाँकि चारपाई बहुत आरामदेह थी। दूसरे दिन मैं बहुत जल्दी उठा, लेकिन प्रेमनाथ और उनके परिवार से जल्दी नहीं। ठंड ज्यादा हो गई थी। लेकिन नमी वैसी ही थी, और आकाश धने काले बादलों से बिलकुल ढका हुआ था। गुस्लखाने में जाकर मैं ठंडे पानी से नहाया। तबीयत फिर खुश हो गई। मैंने प्रेमनाथ को दफ्तर में अखबार पढ़ते हुए पाया। वह दो अखबार लेते थे, एक अंग्रेजी का और एक हिंदी का। हमने कुछ देर तक नए समाचारों के बारे में बातें कीं, और मैंने उनसे इलाहाबाद के जीवन के बारे में बहुत-से प्रश्न पूछे। इसके बाद नौकर नाश्ता ले आया—चाय, टोस्ट, और मेरे लिए एक फ्राइड अंडा। मैंने कई प्याले चाय पी।

VII

प्रेमनाथ के बेटे ने सड़क पर जाकर रिक्शेवाले को बुलाया। रिक्शेवाले ने अपना रिक्शा कोठी के सामने लाकर खड़ा कर दिया। हम दोनों मेरा सामान रिक्शे में लादकर बैठ गए। मैंने प्रेमनाथ से बिदा ली, और अपने सत्कार के लिए उन्हें बहुत धन्यवाद दिया। हम यूनिवर्सिटी की ओर चल पड़े। वहाँ पहुँचने में करीब पंद्रह मिनट लगे। रास्ते में हम नेहरू परिवार के मकान के पास से गुजरे, जिसका नाम 'आनन्द भवन' है। यह एक बहुत शानदार और सुहावना बगीचावाला मकान है। कुछ मिनट बाद हमने यूनिवर्सिटी के क्षेत्र में प्रवेश किया, जिसके एक ओर अमरनाथ भा हास्टल है। मैं छै महीने के लिए इलाहाबाद रहने आया था ताकि मैं अपनी हिंदी सुधार सकूँ। साथ ही मेरा विचार यूनिवर्सिटी में हिंदी की कक्षाओं में बैठने का था। हम हास्टल में प्रवेश करके बार्डन के मकान पर पहुँचे।

APPENDIX

SOME RECENT WORKS ON ASPECTS OF HINDI GRAMMAR

- Gaeffke, P., Untersuchungen zur Syntax des Hindi (The Hague, 1967).
- Hacker, P., 'Zur Funktion einiger Hilfsverben im modernen Hindi', Akademie der Wiss. u. der Lit.: Abh. der geistes- u. sozialwissenschaftl. Kl., 1958 (4) (Mainz/Wiesbaden, 1958). (Available as a separate monograph.)
- Hook, P. E., The Compound Verb in Hindi, University of Michigan Center for South and Southeast Asian Studies, 1974.
- Kachru, Y., An Introduction to Hindi Syntax (Urbana, 1967). With extensive bibliography of books and articles.)
- Kelkar, A. R., Studies in Hindi-Urdu, I. Introduction and word phonology, Deccan College Postgraduate and Research Institute (Poona, 1968).
- Lienhard, S., Tempusgebrauch und Aktionsartenbildung in der modernen Hindi, Stockholm Oriental Studies, 1 (Stockholm, 1961).
- Miltner, V., Theory of Hindi syntax: descriptive, generative, transformational (The Hague, 1970).

VOCABULARIES

HINDI-ENGLISH

Order of characters is as given on pp. xxii f.; note that vowels to which anusvāra, candrabindu or following visarga are attached precede the same vowels written without any of these signs.

References are to discussions of particular grammatical points in Lessons I-XXVI and in Supplements I-III.

अंग्रेज aṅgrez , m.f., Englishman, Englishwoman	अनन्य ananya , unique XVI
अंग्रेजी aṅgrezī , adj. and f., English; the English language	अनाज anāj , m., grain
अंडा aṇḍā , m., egg	अपना apnā , one's own X
अंत ant , m., end	अपितु apitu , but rather 183
के अंदर ke andar , inside	अप्रैल aprail , m., April
अंधा andhā , blind	अफसोस afsos , m., regret
अंधेरा aṇḍherā , m. and adj., darkness; dark.	अब ab , now
अक्सर aksar , usually [प्रकसर]	अभी abhi , now V
अखबार akhbār , m., newspaper 198	अभ्यास abhyās , m., practice; अभ्यास करना (का) abhyās karnā (kā) , to practise
अगर agar , if XX	अमल amal , m., act, action; अमल करना amal karnā , to act, to take action
अगरचे agarce , although XX	अमीर amīr , rich
अगला aglā , next VI	अरे are , oh! etc.
अचानक acānak , suddenly	अलमारी almārī , f., cupboard
अच्छा acchā , good; adv., well; interj., all right, I see, etc. अच्छी तरह (से) acchī tarah (se) , well VI	के अलावा ke alāwā , apart from XXIV
अत्याचार atyācār , m., excess, harsh action	अवसर avasar , m., opportunity; occasion
अथवा athvā , or 182	असंतुष्ट asantuṣṭ , dissatisfied
अधिक adhik , more, many, much, etc. XVI	असुविधा asuvidhā , f., inconvenience
अध्ययन adhyayan , m., study; अध्ययन करना (का) adhyayan karnā (kā) , to study	आँख āṁkh , f., eye
अध्यापक adhyāpak , m., teacher 164	आँगन āṅgan , m., courtyard
	आंदोलन āndolan , m., movement (social, political) आक्रमण ākramaṇ , m., attack; आक्रमण करना (पर) ākramaṇ karnā

(par), to attack
 आग āg, f., fire
 आगरा āgrā, m., Agra I
 आज āj, today
 आजकल ājkal, nowadays
 आठ āth eight
 आदमी ādmi, m., man
 आधा ādha, half; a half XI
 आधुनिक ādhunik, modern XVI
 आना ānā, m., an anna
 आना ānā, to come XVII
 आप āp, you; he, she, t' ey; oneself
 III XXV 165
 आपस āpas, 'group' XXV
 आपसी āpsī, mutual, reciprocal
 XXV
 आबादी ābādī, f., population
 आबोहवा ābohavā, f., climate 182
 आम ām, ordinary; आम तौर पर/से ām taur par/se, in general, usually
 आम ām, m., mango
 आरंभ ārambh, m., beginning; आरंभ करना ārambh karnā, to begin (trans.) X
 आराम ārām, m., rest, comfort; आराम करना ārām karnā, to rest
 आरामदेह ārāmdēh, comfortable
 आवश्यक āvaiyak, necessary XXI
 आवश्यकता āvaiyaktā, f., necessity
 XIII
 आवाज āvāz, f., voice
 आशा āsā, f., hope IX
 आसान āsān, easy, simple
 आसानी āsānī, f., ease VI
 आहिस्ता āhistā, आहिस्ते āhiste, adv., slowly
 इंतजाम intazām, m., arrangement, arrangements
 इंतजार करना (का) intazār karnā (kā),

to wait (for) X
 इंद्र indra, m., Indra
 इकहरा ikahrā, thin 168
 इतना itnā, as many, as much as this
 XVI 166
 इतवार itvār, m., Sunday XI
 इतिहास itihās, m., history
 इनकार inkār, m., refusal; इनकार करना (से) inkār karnā (se), to refuse (to) XIX
 इमारत imārat, f., building
 इलाहाबाद ilāhābād, m., Allahabad
 इसलिए islie, for this reason XX
 इस्तेमाल istemāl, m., use; इस्तेमाल करना istemāl karnā, to use X
 उगना ugnā, to grow (intr.)
 उचित ucit, appropriate XXI
 उच्च ucc, high XVI
 उठना uṭhnā, to rise, to get up XVII
 उठाना uṭhānā, to raise
 उतरना utarnā, to descend, to get down
 उतारना utārnā, to take down; to take off
 उत्तर uttar, m., north
 उत्तर uttar, m., answer; पत्र का उत्तर देना patr kā uttar denā, to answer a letter
 उद्देश्य uddeśya, m., aim, intention
 उपयुक्त upayukt, suitable
 उल्लेख ullekh, m., mention; उल्लेख होता (का) ullekh honā (kā), to be mentioned ऊँचा ūncā, high
 ऊँट ūmt, m., camel
 के ऊपर ke ūpar, above, on top of ऋग्वेद ṛgved, m., Rigveda

एक ek, one; a, an I XI
 एवं evam, and 182
 ऐसा aisā, of this sort 167
 ओढ़ना oṛhnā, to wrap round, to wrap about one
 ओर or, f., direction, side; की ओर kī or, towards, to; की ओर देखना kī or dekhnā, to look at, to watch और aur, and
 और aur (stressed), extra, additional; adv., additionally VIII
 XVI
 औरत aurat, f., woman
 कटना kaṭnā, to be cut; to be cut off
 कदाचित् kadācit, perhaps कनिष्ठ kaniṣṭh, younger, youngest
 XVI
 कपड़ा kaprā, m., cloth; pl. clothes
 कब kab, when? IV 181-2
 कभी kabhī, sometimes; at some time
 XXIII
 कम kam, little (of quantity), few; adv., little; कम से कम kam se kam, at least 167
 कमरा kamrā, m., room
 कमाना kamānā, to earn XVIII
 कमी kamī, f., want, shortage, deficiency
 कमीज qamīz, f., shirt
 करना karnā, to do V VII X XII
 XXII
 कराना karānā, to cause to be done
 XVIII
 के करीब ke qarīb, about, approximately करोड़ karor, ten million XI

कल kal, yesterday, tomorrow
 कलकत्ता kalkattā, m., Calcutta I कलम qalam, f.m., pen
 कवि kavi, m., poet
 कविता kavitā, f., poem
 कष्ट kaṣṭ, m., difficulty, inconvenience
 कहना kahnā, to say, to tell IV XII
 XVI
 कहलाना kahlānā, to be called XVIII
 कहाँ kahān, where? I 181
 कहानी kahānī, f., story, short story
 कहाँ kahin, somewhere 180, 181-2
 का kā, of II IX 178
 कागज़ kāgaz, m., paper
 काटना kāṭnā, to cut; to harvest; to bite (of animals)
 कान kān, m., ear
 कान्ता kāntā, f., Kāntā (girl's name)
 कापी kāpī, f., exercise book
 काफ़ी kāfī, f., coffee [कौफ़ी kaufī] काफ़ी kāfī, adv., quite, fairly; adj., a fair amount of काम kām, m., work; काम देखना (का) kām dekhnā (kā), see to, attend to (one's work, etc.)
 कार kār, f., car
 कारण kāraṇ, m., cause; के कारण ke kāraṇ, because of XX
 काला kālā, black
 किन्तु hintu, but 182
 कि ki, conj., that XVI XXII 183
 184
 कितना kitnā, how much? how many?
 कितने दिन kitne din, how long?
 कितना ही...क्यों न kitnā hī... kyon na, however much 181-2
 किताब kitāb, f., book
 किनारा kinārā, m., bank, edge
 क़िला qilā, m., fort

किशती kiṣṭī, f., (small) boat
 किसान kiṣān, m., farmer
 कुआँ kuāṁ, m., well I कुछ kuch, something, some; कुछ समय
kuch samay, for some time VIII
 कुत्ता kullā, m., dog 163
 कुमारी kumārī, f., 'Miss' III
 कुरता kurtā, m., collarless shirt
 कुर्सी kursī, f., chair
 कूदना kūdnā, to leap, to jump
 कृपया kṛpayā, kindly 179
 कैसा kaisā, what sort of? आप कैसे हैं?
ap kaise haiṁ? how are you? III

VI

कैसे kaise, how?
 को ko, obl. case marker II V VI IX
 XI XIII XV XVIII XIX
 कोई koī, someone, some VIII
 कोट koṭ, m., coat
 कोश koṣ, m., dictionary
 कोशिश koṣiṣ, f., attempt; कोशिश
 करना (की) koṣiṣ karnā (kī), to try
 (to) कौन kaun, who? which? कौन-सा
kaun-sā, which one? VIII XXIV
 क्या kyā, what? I VIII 181-2
 क्यों kyon, why? IV 181-2
 क्योंकि kyonki, because, since XX
 क्लास klās, f.m., class (school)
 क्षण kṣaṇ, m., moment, instant

खड़ा kharā, standing XXVI खत्म khatm, m., end; खत्म करना khatm karnā, to finish (trans.) X
 खबर khabar, f., news, information
 खराब kharāb, bad; spoiled
 खरीदना kharīdnā, to buy
 खाना khānā, to eat; m., food; खाना
 खाना khānā khānā, to have a meal
 खिंचना khiṁcnā, to be drawn, pulled

खिड़की khirkī, f., window
 खिलना khilnā, to bloom
 खिलाना khilānā, to cause to play
 खिलाना khilānā, to feed XVIII
 खिलाना khilānā, to cause to bloom
 खींचना khiṁcnā, to pull
 खुद khud, oneself XXV
 खुलना khulnā, to open (intr.)
 खुशी khuśī, f., happiness, pleasure

IX

खेत khet, m., field
 खोना khonā, to lose
 खोलना kholnā, to open (tr.)

गंगा gaṅgā, f., River Ganges
 गधा gadā, m., donkey, ass
 गरम garm, hot; warm
 गरमियाँ garmiyāṁ, f. pl., hot season
 गरीब garīb, poor
 गली galī, f., narrow street, alley
 गाँव gāṁv, m., village
 गाड़ी gārī, f., vehicle
 गाना gānā, to sing; m., a song
 गाय gāy, f., cow
 गिनना ginnā, to count
 गिरना girnā, to fall
 गिलास gilās, m., glass (for drinking)
 गुरुवार guruvar, Thursday XI
 गुंजना gūmjnā, to resound
 गेंद geṛd, f., ball

घंटा ghaṇṭā, m., an hour; a bell 165
 घंटी ghaṇṭī, f., a small bell 165
 घटना ghaṭnā, f., incident, happening
 घड़ा gharā, m., pot, jar
 घड़ी gharī, f., watch; मेरी घड़ी में merī
gharī meṁ, by my watch घबराना ghabrānā, to be perturbed;
 to make anxious XVIII

घर ghar, m., house, home; घर पर
ghar par, at home
 घास ghās, f., grass
 घिरना ghirnā, to be surrounded घुमाना ghumānā, to convey about; to turn (tr.)
 घुसना ghusnā, to creep, to slink
 घूमना ghūmnā, to wander, to turn
 घेरना ghernā, to surround
 घोड़ा ghoṛā, m., horse

चतुर्थ caturth, fourth XI
 चम्मच cammac, m., spoon
 चरना carṇā, to graze
 चलना calnā, to go, to move; चला जाना calā jānā, to move along, to go away XVII 173
 चाचा cācā, m., paternal uncle I
 चादर cādar, f., shawl; sheet
 चाबी cābī, f., key
 चाय cāy, f., tea
 चार cār, four; के चारों ओर/तरफ़ ke cārom or/taṛaf, on all four sides of,
 all around चारा cārā, m., recourse, course of action
 चारा cārā, m., fodder
 चाहना cāhnā, to wish VI XXI XXII
 171 176

चाहिए cāhie, is wished, is necessary
 XIII
 चिट्ठी ciṭṭhī, f., letter
 चिड़िया ciṛiyā, f., bird
 चित्र citr, m., picture
 चिल्लाना cillānā, to cry out, to shout
 चीज cīz, f., thing
 चुकना cuknā, to finish (intr.) XV
 चुप cup, silent
 चुँकि cūmki, because, since XX
 चेहरा cehrā, m., face, features

चोट coṭ, f., blow, knock
 चोर cor, m., thief चौकना caumknā, to start, to be startled
 चौथा cauthā, fourth
 चौहरा cauhrā, fourfold 169

छक्का chakkā, m., squad, detachment
 छठा chaṭhā, sixth
 छड़ी charī, f., stick, cane
 छत chat, f., roof
 छपना chapnā, to be printed
 छह, छः, छै chah, chaḥ, chai, six छात्र chātr, m., student; छात्रा chātrā,
 f. 164
 छापना chāpnā, to print
 छिपाना chipānā, to hide (trans.)
 छीलना chīlnā, to scrape, to pare छुट्टी chutti, f., holiday, leave, vacation
 छुड़ाना churānā, to cause to leave
 छुटना chūṭnā, to leave (intr.)
 छूना chūnā, to touch V
 छोटा choṭā, small; छोटा भाई choṭā bhāī, m., younger brother; छोटी
 बहन choṭī bahn, f., younger sister
 छोड़ना choṛnā, to leave, to abandon

ज़ख्मी zakhmī, wounded
 जगह jagah, f., place
 जगाना jagānā, to waken (tr.)
 जपना japnā, to repeat mechanically
 (a god's name, an incantation) जब jab, (at the time) when; जब भी jab bhī, whenever; जब से jab se, since (the time when); जब तक
jab tak, as long as XIV 183
 जमीन zamin, f., land
 जमीनदार zamindār, m., zamindar,

- landlord
जय jay, f., victory; ... की जय हो ki jay ho, long live ...
जरूर zarūr, certainly, by all means
जरूरत zarūrat, f., necessity XIII
जरूरी zarūrī, necessary XXI
जलना jalnā, to burn (intr.)
जलवायु jalvāyu, m., climate
जलाना jalānā, to burn (tr.)
जल्द jald, f., haste, speed; जल्द (से) jald (se), quickly; soon
जल्दी jaldī, f., haste, speed; जल्दी (से) jaldī (se), quickly; soon
जवाब javāb, m., answer; चिट्ठी का जवाब देना ciṭṭhī kā javāb denā, to answer a letter
जहाँ jahām, (the place) where; जहाँ भी jahām bhī, wherever XIV
जहाज jahāz, m., ship
जागना jāgnā, to be awake
जानना jānnā, to know; जान पड़ना jān paṛnā, to seem 174
जाना jānā, to go IV V XVII XIX XXII
जायदाद  jāyādād, f., estate (land)
जिंदा zindā, alive II
जितना jitnā, as many as, as much as; however many, much XIV
ज़िला zila, m., administrative district
जिससे jisse, so that XX
जी jī, m., soul, spirit; honorific particle III
जीना jīnā, to live, to be alive V
जीवन jīvan, m., life
जेब jeb, f., pocket
जो jo, the one who, which; जो कोई jo koī, whoever, whichever; जो कुछ jo kuch, whatever VIII XIV
जैसा jaisā, of such a sort as; that which XIV XXV
- जैसे jaise, as if; जैसे ही jaise hī, as soon as XIV XXI
ज्ञान jñān, m., knowledge
ज्यादा zyādā, more; many; much, etc. XVI
ज्यादातर zyādātar, most (of); most commonly, very much XVI
ज्येष्ठ jyēṣṭh, older, eldest XVI
ज्यो-ज्यों . . . त्यों-त्यों jyom-jyom . . . tyom-tyom, in proportion as . . . so ज्योही jyomhī, as soon as XX
- झगड़ना jhagarnā, to quarrel
झगड़ा jhagrā, m., quarrel
झुकाना jhukānā, to lower झुमना jhūmnā, to sway
- टिकट tikaṭ, m.f., stamp
टूटना ṭūṭnā, to break (intr.)
टोपी ṭopī, f., hat
- ठंड ṭhaṇḍ, f., cold; a cold
ठंडा ṭhaṇḍā, cold; cool
ठहरना ṭhaharnā, to remain, to stay, to wait
ठीक ṭhik, correct, all right, fine; ठीक वक्त पर ṭhik vagt par, at the correct time, punctually
- डर ḍar, m., fear
डरना ḍarnā, to fear
डाक ḍāk, f., post, postal service
डाकखाना ḍākkhānā, m., post office
डाकघर ḍākghar, m., post office
डाकिया ḍākiyā, m., postman 166
डाक्टर ḍakṭar, m., doctor
डालना ḍālānā, to throw down, to pour XVII
डिबिया ḍibiyā, f., small box I डेढ़ ḍeṛh, one and a half; one and a

- half times XI
इधोड़ा ḍyordhā, one and a half times the amount of 169
- ढाई ḍhāī, two and a half; two and a half times XI
ढूँढ़ना ḍhūṛṇhā, to look for, to search out
- तक tak, up to; as far as; until, by VI XIV 179
तकलीफ taklīf, f., difficulty, inconvenience
तथा tathā, and 182
तथापि tathāpi, nevertheless XX
तब tab, then XIV
तबीयत tabiyat, f., state of health; disposition; तबीयत ठीक होना tabiyat ṭhik honā, to be well
तभी tabhī, at that (particular) time XXIII
- तमिल tamil, m., Tamil
तरकारी tarkārī, f., curry
तरक्की taraqqī, f., progress
तरफ taraf, f., direction, side; की तरफ kī taraf, towards; to (see page 50) VI
तरह tarah, f., way, manner; इस तरह (से) is tarah (se), in this way VI
तलाश talāś, f., search; तलाश करना talāś karnā, to look for X
तस्वीर tasvīr, f., picture
तांगा tāngā, m., tonga
ताकि tāki, so that XX
ताज़ा tāzā, fresh
तार tār, m., wire; telegram
तारीख tārīkh, f., date XI
ताला tālā, m., lock
तालाब tālāb, m., tank
तीखा tīkhā, sharp, piercing
- तीन tīn, three
तीसरा tīsra, third
टुड़ाना ṭuṛānā, to break, to cause to be broken; to get change for (money)
तुम tum, you III 165
तू tū, you III
तृतीय tṛtīy, third XI
तेल tel, m., oil
तेहरा tehrā, threefold 169
तैयार taiyār, ready XIX
तैयारियाँ taiyārīyān, f.pl., preparations; तैयारियाँ करना (की) taiyārīyān karnā (ki), to prepare (for)
तो to, conj., then; but, etc. XX XXIII
तोड़ना ṭorṇā, to break (tr.)
- थोड़ा thorā, a little; थोड़ा-सा thorā-sā, a little XXIV 167-8
- दक्षिण dakṣiṇ, south
दफा daṣṭā, f., time, occasion I
दफ्तर daftār, m., office
दबना dabnā, to be pressed down, restrained; दबे पाँव dabe pāvu, stealthily
दरवाज़ा darvāzā, m., door; दरवाज़े पर darvāze par, at the door
दर्जी darzī, m., tailor
दर्द dard, m., pain
दस das, ten
दाढ़ी dāṛhī, f., beard
दाता dātā, m., a giver I
दादा dādā, m., paternal grandfather I
दान dān, m., donation; दान देना dān denā, to donate XIX
दाहिना dāhinā, right (hand); के दाहिनी (दाई) तरफ ke dāhinī (dāī) taraf

- taraf*, on the right-hand side of VI
 दिखना dikhna, to be visible
 दिखलाना dikhlanā, to show XVIII
 दिखवाना dikhvānā, to cause to be shown (by) XVIII
 दिखाई देना dikhāi denā, to be visible XII
 दिखाना dikhānā, to show XVIII
 दिन din, day; दिन भर din bhar, all day; दिनबदिन dinbadin, day by day; दिनो-दिन dinom-din, day by day VI XXII XXIII 179
 दिल dil, m., heart
 दिलचस्प dilcasp, interesting
 दिलाना dilānā, to cause to be given
 दिल्ली dillī, f., Delhi
 दीखना dikhna, to be visible
 दीवार dīvār, f., wall
 दुख dukh, m., grief
 दुनिया duniyā, f., world I
 दुपट्टा dupaṭṭā, m., shawl
 दूकान dukān, f., shop [दुकान dukān]
 दूध dūdh, m., milk
 दूर dūr, f. and adj., distance; distant; कितनी दूर kitnī dūr, how far?
 दूसरा dūsarā, second; other; दूसरी बार dūsarī bār, f., a second time, again
 दूल्हा dūlhā, m., bridegroom 163
 देखना dekhna, to see; देख पड़ना dekh parnā, to be visible 174
 देना denā, to give V VII XII XVII XXI
 देर der, f., delay, lapse of time; पाँच मिनट देर से आना pānc minaṭ der se ānā, to come five minutes late
 देवता devtā, m., deity I
 देश deś, m., country
 देशद्रोही deśdrohī, m., traitor
 देहात dehāt, m., country(side)
- दो do, two
 दोनों donorh, both II
 दोस्त dost, m., friend
 दोहरा doharā, twofold; fat 169
 दौड़ना daurnā, to run
 द्वितीय dvitīy second XI
 धन्यवाद dhanyavād, thank you VII
 धीरे dhire, slowly (often reduplicated)
 धुलना dhulnā, to be washed
 धुलवाना dhulvānā, to cause to be washed (by) XVIII
 धुलाना dhulānā, to cause to be washed XVIII
 धूप dhūp, f., sun's heat or light
 धोना dhonā, to wash
 धोबी dhobī, m., washerman
- न na, not V VII XIV 171 181 183
 नज़र nazar, f., sight; glance
 नदी nadī, f., river
 नमस्कार namaskār, m., 'greetings'
 नमस्ते namaste, m., 'greetings'
 नया nayā, new
 नहाना nahānā, to bathe XII
 नहीं nahīm, no, not; नहीं तो nahīm to, otherwise III IV V XXIII 184
 नाक nāk, f., nose
 नाचना nācnā, to dance
 नाम nām, m., name
 नाला nālā, m., stream
 नाश्ता nāśtā, m., breakfast, first light meal of the day
 निकलना nikalnā, to emerge XVII
 निकालना nikālānā, to eject; to take out, to extract; to drive out
 निरपराध niraparādh, innocent, not guilty निर्णय nirṇay, m., decision (between

- alternatives)
 निश्चय niścay, m., decision (resolve)
 नींद nīnd, f., sleep
 नीचा nīcā, low; नीचा करना nīcā karnā, to lower; के नीचे ke nīce, below, underneath
 नीला nīlā, blue; dark blue or green
 ने ne, ppn. XII
 नोट not, m., note (money)
 नौ nau, nine
- पंक्ति pankti, f., line, row
 पकड़ना pakaṛnā, to seize पकना paknā, to ripen
 पड़ना parnā, to fall; to be found; पड़ा parā, lying, placed flat IV XIII XVII
 पड़ोसी parosī, m., neighbour
 पढ़ना parhnā, to read; to study XII
 पढ़ाना parhānā, to teach
 पता patā, m., track, trace; address; मुझे पता नहीं (है) mujhe patā nahīm (hai), I don't know, I have no idea
 पति pati, m., husband
 पत्ता pattā, m., leaf
 पत्थर patthar, m., stone
 पत्नी patnī, f., wife
 पत्र patr, m., letter
 पन्ना pannā, m., page
 परंतु parantu, but 182
 परंपरा paramparā, f., tradition
 पर par, on; पर का par kā, (the one) on VI 178
 परलोक parlok, m., the other world; परलोक सिधारना parlok sidhārnā, to depart for the next world
 परसो parsoṁ, the day before yesterday, the day after tomorrow
- परस्पर paraspar, mutual(ly), reciprocal(ly) XXV
 परिचय paricay, m., acquaintance परेशान (से) parēśān (se), troubled (by)
 पश्चिम paścim, m., west
 पसंद आना (को) pasand ānā (ko), to be pleasing (to) पहचानना pahcānnā, to recognize पहनना pahnnā, to put on (clothes); पहन रखना pahn rakhnā, to have on, to be wearing XVII XXVI
 पहर pahr, m., 'a watch of the day or night' XI
 पहला pahlā, first
 के/से पहले ke/se pahle, before (time) VI
 पहाड़ pahār, m., mountain, hill
 पहुँचना pahunchnā, to arrive XVII
 पाँच pānc, five; पाँचवाँ pāncvān, fifth पाँव pānv, m., foot, leg
 पाजामा pājāmā, m., light cotton trousers
 पाना pānā, to get, to obtain; to find XVII XXI
 पानी pānī, m., water
 पार करना pār karnā, to cross (trans.)
 के पास ke pās, beside; near; in the possession of VI IX
 पिंजरा pinjra, m., cage
 पिघलना pihlnā, to melt (intr.)
 पिछला pichlā, last
 पिटना piṭnā, to be beaten
 पिता pitā, m., father I
 पिलाना pilānā, to give to drink XVIII
 के पीछे ke piche, behind; पीछे से piche se, from behind
 पीटना piṭna, to beat
 पीना pīnā, to drink V VII
 पुत्र putr, m., son

पुरस्कार puraskār, m., reward
 पुल pul, m., bridge
 पुलिस polis, f., police
 पुस्तक pustak, f., book
 पुस्तकालय pustakālay, m., library
 पूछना pūchnā, to ask, to inquire IV
 XII XVI
 पूर्णतः pūrṇataḥ, fully 179
 पूर्णतया pūrṇatayā, fully 179
 पूर्व pūrv, m., east
 पूर्वज pūrvaj, m., ancestor
 पेंसिल pemsil, f., pencil
 पेड़ per, m., tree पैदल paidal, on foot; पैदल चलनेवाला paidal calnevalā, a pedestrian पैदा paidā, born, produced; पैदा करना paidā karnā, to produce; to give birth to X
 पैदावार paidāvār, f., produce पैसा paisā, m., pice; money (often pl.)
 पौन paun, three-quarters of XI पौना paunā, three-quarters the amount of 169
 पौने paune, less a quarter XI
 प्यार pyār, m., love VI
 प्याला pyālā, m., cup
 प्यास pyās, f., thirst
 प्रकार prakār, m., type, kind; सब
 प्रकार से sab prakār se, in every way
 प्रगति pragati, f., progress
 प्रतीक्षा करना (की) pratīkṣā karnā (kī),
 to wait (for) X
 प्रथम pratham, first XI
 प्रयत्न prayatn, m., attempt; प्रयत्न करना (का) prayatn karnā (kā), to try (to)
 प्रयोग prayog, m., use; प्रयोग करना
 (का) prayog karnā (kā), to use
 प्रवेश praveś, m., entry, entrance;

प्रवेश करना (में) praveś karnā (mē),
 to enter
 प्रशंसा praśamsā, f., praise; प्रशंसा करना (की) praśamsā karnā (kī), to praise X
 प्रश्न praśn, m., question
 प्रसन्नता prasannatā, f., pleasure IX
 प्रस्ताव prastāv, m., suggestion
 प्रस्तुत prastut, ready, prepared XIX प्राप्त prāpt, obtained; प्राप्त करना prāpt karnā, to obtain X
 प्रिय priy, dear, beloved XVI
 प्रेम prem, m., love, affection

फटना phaṭnā, to tear (intr.)
 फर्ज farz, m., duty
 फर्श farś, m., floor
 फसल fasl, f., crop
 फाड़ना phāṛnā, to tear (tr.)
 फिर phir, again, then, next; फिर भी phir bhi, nevertheless XX
 फूटना phūṭnā, to burst (intr.)
 फूल phul, m., flower
 फेल होना fel honā, to fail (an examination)
 फोड़ना phoṛnā, to burst (trans.)
 फोन fon, m., telephone; मैं उसे फोन
 करूँगा maim use fon karūṅgā, I shall phone him; मेरा फोन आया merā fon āyā, someone telephoned me

बंद band, closed
 बंदर bandar, m., monkey 163
 बँधना bandhnā, to be tied, to be bound
 बंबई bambai, f., Bombay
 के बगैर ke bagair, without XXIV
 बचना bacnā, to be safe, saved
 बचाना bacānā, to save, to rescue

बच्चा baccā, m., child; baby
 के बजाय ke bajāy, instead of XXIV
 बजे baje, o'clock X
 बड़ा barā, large
 बढ़ना baṛhnā, to advance; to rise
 बढ़िया baṛhiyā, good, nice II
 बतलाना batlānā, to relate, to inform
 XVIII
 बताना (को) batānā (ko), to tell, to inform (one) XVII
 बदतर badtar, worse XVI
 बदलना badalnā, to change XVIII
 बधाई badhāi, f., congratulations
 बनना bannā, to be made; to become 167
 बनाना banānā, to make, to construct बनारस banāras, m., Banaras
 बरस baras, m., year
 बरसात barsāt, f., rainy season
 बर्फ barf, f., ice; snow
 बलिष्ठ balisṭh, strong, sturdy XVI
 बल्कि balki, but rather 183
 बल्ला ballā, m., pole
 बहन bahn, f., sister
 बहुत bahut, adj. and adv., much, many; very; बहुत दिनों से bahut dinon se, for (i.e. since) a long time; बहुत-सा bahut-sā, much XVI
 XXIV
 बाँधना bāndhnā, to tie, to bind
 बाँकी bāqī, remaining, left over बाज़ार bāzār, m., bazaar; बाज़ार जाना bāzār jānā, to go to the bazaar, to go shopping
 बात bāt, f., thing said; matter, concern; बात करना (से), बातें करना
 (से) bāt(m) karnā (se), to talk
 (to) 166
 के बाद ke bād, after; बाद में bād mē, afterwards VI

बाध्य bādhyā, compelled; बाध्य करना (पर, के लिए) bādhyā karnā (par, ke lie), to compel (to) बायाँ bāyām, left (hand); के बाईं तरफ ke bāim taraf, on the left hand side of II VI
 बार bār, f., time, occasion; एक बार ek bār, once 166
 बारिश bāriś, f., rain; बारिश होना *bāriś
 honā*, to rain
 के बारे में ke बारे mē, concerning के बावजूद ke bāvajūd, in spite of के/से बाहर ke/se bāhar, outside VI
 बिकना biknā, to be sold
 बिखरना bikharnā, to be scattered
 बिखेरना bikhernā, to scatter
 बिछाना bichānā, to spread (trans.)
 बिठाना bīṭhānā, to give a seat XVII
 बिताना bitānā, to spend (time)
 बिदा करना bidā karnā, to dispatch;
 to see off X
 बिदा होना bidā honā, to depart
 के बिना ke binā, without XXIV
 बिल bil, m., bill (account)
 बिल्कुल bilkul, completely, quite बिस्तर bistar, m., bedding
 बीतना bītnā, to pass by (of time)
 बीसी bīsī, f., a score XI
 बुधवार budhvār, m., Wednesday XI
 बुनियादी buniyādī, basic; elementary
 बुरा burā, bad, wicked
 बुराई burāi, f., badness, wickedness;
 बुराई करना (की) burāi karnā (kī),
 to slander
 बुलाना bulānā, to call, to summon;
 to invite
 बूढ़ा būṛhā, old (of persons); m., old man
 बृहस्पतिवार bṛhaspativār, m., Thursday XI

बेचना becnā, to sell
 बेचारा becārā, adj. helpless, 'poor'
 बेज़ार bezār, displeased, bored
 बेटा beṭā, m., son
 बेटी beṭī, f., daughter
 बेफ़िक्री befikrī, f., carefreeness
 बेवकूफ़ bevaqūf, stupid
 बेवकूफी bevaqūfī, f., stupidity
 बेहतर behtar, better XVI
 बेहतरीन behtarīn, best, choice XVI
 बैठना baiṭhnā, to sit; बैठा baiṭhā, seated, sitting IV XVII
 बैल bail, m., ox, bullock
 बोलना bolnā, to speak, to talk IV
 XII

भरना bharnā, to be filled; to fill
 XVIII 179

भाई bhāī, m., brother
 भाग bhāg, m., part
 भागना bhāgnā, to run away, to flee
 भारत bhārat, m., India
 भारतवर्ष bhāratvarṣ, m., India
 भारतीय bhārtīy, adj. and m.f., Indian

भालू bhālū, m., bear
 भाषण bhāṣaṇ, m., speech, lecture
 भाषा bhāṣā, f., language
 भिखारी bhikhārī, m., beggar
 भिगोना bhigonā, to make wet XVIII
 भी bhī, emphatic enclitic V 180
 भीगना bhīgnā, to be wet
 भीगा bhīgā, wet
 भूख bhūkh, f., hunger
 भूल bhūl, f., error
 भूलना bhūlnā, to forget XII
 भेजना bhejnā, to send

मंगलवार maṅgalvār, m., Tuesday XI
 मन्त्र mantra, m., incantation

मन्त्री mantrī, m., secretary, minister
 मंदिर mandir, m., temple
 मकान makān, m., house
 मगर magar, but 182
 मच्छड़दानी macchayḍānī, f., mosquito
 net
 मजबूत mazbūt, strong (of objects)
 मजबूर majbūr, compelled; मजबूर करना (पर) majbūr karnā (par), to compel (to)
 मज़ाक़ mazāq, m., joke; मज़ाक़ करना mazāq karnā, to joke
 मत mat, negative particle VII
 मतलब mallab, m., intention, purpose मदद madad, f., help; मदद देना (को) madad denā (ko), to help मन man, m., a maund (= 40 seers)
 मन man, m., mind; heart
 मना manā (invariable), forbidden मनुष्य manuṣya, m., man, human being मरना marnā, to die
 मशीन mašīn, f., machine
 महंगा mahanīgā, expensive
 महल mahl, m., palace
 महीना mahinā, m., month VI
 माँ māṁ, f., mother
 माँग māṁg, f., request
 माता mātā, f., mother; माता-पिता mātā-pitā, m.pl., parents
 मादा mādā, female (adj.) II
 मानों māṁm, as if मारना mārnā, to beat; to kill
 के मारे ke māre, because of XXV
 माल māl, m., goods, belongings
 मालूम mālūm, known; मुझे मालूम
 है mujhe mālūm hai, I know; मुझे मालूम होता है mujhe mālūm hotā hai, it seems to me IX
 मिठाई miṭhāī, f., sweet

मित्र mitr, m., friend
 मिनट minat, m., minute
 मिर्च mirch, f., pepper; chilli
 मिलना milnā, to accrue; to be available; to meet; to resemble; मिलाना (से) milānā (se), to bring together; to introduce (to), to cause to meet (with) XV मिस्त्री mistrī, m., mechanic, (skilled) workman
 मुनासिब munāsib, appropriate XXI
 मुल्ज़िम mulzim, m., accused person
 मुलाक़ात mulāqāt, f., meeting, encounter; मुलाक़ात होना (से) mulāqāt honā (se), to meet मुश्किल muškīl, f. and adj., difficulty; difficult; मुश्किल से *muškīl
 se*, with difficulty VI
 मुसकराना muskarānā, to smile XII
 मुसकराहट muskarāhaṭ, f., a smile
 मुहल्ला muhallā, m., suburb
 में meṁ, in; में से meṁ se, from among
 VI XI 178
 मेज़ mez, f., table
 मेला melā, m., festival, fair; माघ मेला māgh melā, bathing festival held at Allahabad in the month of Māgh
 मेहनत mehnat, f., labour, effort
 मेहरबानी mehrbānī, f., kindness VII
 मैं main, I
 मैला mailā, dirty
 मोटर moṭar, f., car
 मोल लेना mol lenā, to buy
 मौसम mausam, m., season, weather
 यदि yadi, if XX
 यद्यपि yadyapi, although XX
 यमुना yamunā, f., River Jumna
 यह yah, this II III 171

यहाँ yahāṁ, here
 यहीं yahīṁ, at this (particular) place
 XXIII
 या yā, or 182 183
 याद yād, f., memory XIX
 यूनिवर्सिटी yūnīvarsīṭī, f., university
 यूरोपीय yūropīy, adj. and m.f., European
 योजना yojanā, f., scheme, plan;
 पंचवर्षीय योजना pañcvarṣīy yojanā,
 five-year plan

रखना rakhnā, to put, to place; to keep XVII XXI
 रचना racnā, to create, to produce रवाना करना ravānā karnā, to dispatch; to see off X
 रवाना होना ravānā honā, to depart X
 रविवार ravivār, m., Sunday XI
 रस्सा rassā, m., rope
 रस्सी rassī, f., rope; string 165
 रहना rahnā, to stay, to remain, to live XXII 171
 राजधानी rājdhānī, f., capital
 राजपूत rājput, m. and adj., Rajput
 राजा rājā, m., rajah I
 रात rāt, f., night VI
 राधा rādhā, f., Rādhā (girl's name)
 रामचरितमानस rāmcariṭmānas, m., name of a work by Tulsīdās
 राष्ट्र rāṣṭra, m., state, nation राष्ट्रभाषा rāṣṭrabhāṣā, f., national language
 रास्ता rāstā, m., road, street
 रिक्शा rikṣā, m., rickshaw
 रुकना ruknā, to stop (intr.)
 रुपया rupayā, m., rupee; money
 (usually pl.)
 रुलाना ruḷānā, to make weep
 रूप rūp, m., form; के रूप में ke rūp meṁ,

- as, in the capacity of; ... रूप से
... रूप से, adv. marker 179
रोकना roknā, to stop, to check
रोज roz, m., day; adv., daily
रोटी roṭī, f., bread (chapatti)
रोना ronā, to cry, to weep XII रेल rel, f., railway train; रेल से rel se, by train
रेस्तरेंट restarant, m., restaurant
- लंदन landan, m., London
लंबा lambā, long; tall
लकड़ी lakṛī, f., wood
लगना lagnā, to be applied, attached, etc.; to begin XXI
लजाना lajānā, to be ashamed
XVIII
लड़का laṛkā, m., boy
लड़की laṛkī, f., girl
लड़ना laṛnā, to fight; to quarrel
लड़ाई laṛāī, f., war
लता latā, f., creeper
लदना ladnā, to be laden लदवाना ladvānā, to cause to be loaded (by) XVIII
लदाना ladānā, to cause to be laden
XVIII
लाइब्रेरी lāibrerī, f., library
लाख lākh, one hundred thousand XI
लाठी lāṭhī, f., staff
लादना lādānā, to load
लाना lānā, to bring XII
लायक lāyaq, suitable (for, के ke);
देखने लायक dekhne lāyaq, worth seeing लाल lāl, red
के लिए ke lie, for XIX
लिखना likhnā, to write
लिटाना liṭānā, to put lying down
XVIII
- लिवाना livānā, to cause to be taken,
brought लुटना luṭnā, to be looted लू lū, f., a hot dusty wind which blows in north India in May and June; लू लगना (को) lū lagnā (ko), to get sunstroke
लूटना lūṭnā, to loot
ले आना le ānā, to bring VII XII
ले चलना le chalnā, to take away VII
ले जाना le jānā, to take away VII
XII
लेकिन lekin, but XX 171 182
लेख lekh, m., essay, article
लेटना leṭnā, to lie down
लेना lenā, to take V VII XVII लोग log, m. pl., people; सब लोग sab log, everyone 165
लौटना lauṭnā, to return
- वकील vakīl, m., lawyer
वक्त vaqt, m., time वजह vajah, f., reason; इस वजह से for this reason XX
वरन varan, but rather 183
वरना varnā, otherwise 184
वर्ष vars, m., year
वह vah, that II III 171
वहाँ vahān, there
वहीं vahīn, at that (particular) place XXIII
वा vā, or 182
वाक्य vākya, m., sentence
वापस करना vāpas karnā, to give back X
-वाला -vālā XXV
विचार vicār, m., thought; opinion
विजय vijay, f., victory, triumph
विदेशी videśī, m.f. and adj., foreigner; foreign

- विद्यार्थी vidyārthī, m., student 164
विशेष viśeṣ, particular; विशेष रूप से viśeṣ rūp se, in particular 179 विश्वविद्यालय viśvavidyālay, m., university
विश्वास viśvās, m., faith, confidence;
विश्वास करना (पर) viśvās karnā
(par), to believe, to believe to be true
विषय viśay, m., subject, matter, topic
वैसा vaisā, of that sort वैसे vaise, adv., well (introductory);
वैसे ही vaise hī, merely, casually 167
ब्यस्त gyast, busy
- शकल śakl, f., face, features; form
शत्रु śatru, m., enemy
शनिवार śanivār, m., Saturday XI
शब्द śabd, m., word
शहर śahr, m., city, town
शाम śām, f., evening, late afternoon
VI XI
शायद śāyad, perhaps; शायद ही śāyad
hī, scarcely ever V XXI 171
शुक्रवार śukravār, m., Friday XI
शुक्रिया śukriyā, thank you VII
शुरू करना śurū karnā, to begin (trans.) X 176
शेर śer, m., tiger; lion
शोर śor, m., noise
श्री śrī, m., 'Mr.' III
श्रीमती śrīmatī, f., 'Mrs.' III
श्रेष्ठ śreṣṭh, very good, best XVI
- सङ्घटन saḍyantra, m., plot
- संकोच saṅkoc, m., shyness, embarrassment
- संतुष्ट santuṣṭ, satisfied
संदूक sandūq, m., box
संबंध sambandh, m., connection, relationship
संभव sambhav, possible, probable
XXI
संभवतः sambhavataḥ, probably, possibly XXI 179
संयोग saṁyog, m., chance; संयोग से
saṁyog se, by chance
संस्कृति saṁskṛti, f., culture
सकना saknā, to be able to ... XV
सच sac, m., truth
सड़क sarak, f., street, road
सफल saphal, successful
सफ़ेद safed, white
सब sab, all; सब किताबें sab kitābēn, all the books
सभ्यता sabhyatā, f., civilization
समझना samajhnā, to understand
XII
समझाना samjhnānā, to explain
समय samay, m., time; उस समय us
samay, at that time समाचार samācār, m. (sg. and pl.), news; समाचारपत्र samācārpatr, m., newspaper
समाप्त samāpt, finished; समाप्त करना samāpt karnā, to finish (trans.)
समुद्र samudr, m., sea, ocean
समेटना sameṭnā, to collect together
(tr.)
सरीखा sarikhā, like XXIV
सर्दियाँ sardiyān, f. pl., cold season
सर्वश्रेष्ठ sarvśreṣṭh, foremost, supreme
XVI
सवा savā, plus a quarter; one and a quarter times XI
सवाया savāyā, one and a quarter times the amount of 169

सवारी savāri, f., passenger; vehicle; fare
 सवाल savāl, m., question
 सबेरा saverā, m., morning VI
 सस्ता sastā, cheap
 सहनशील sahnshīl, tolerant
 सहसा sahsā, suddenly
 सहस्र sahasra, a thousand XI
 सहायता sahāyātā, f., help
 सा sā, 'similar to' XXIV
 साड़ी sāṛī, f., sari
 साढ़े sāṛhe, plus a half XI
 सात sāt, seven के साथ ke sāth, together with साधु sādhu, m., holy man
 साफ़ sāf, clean; clear
 के सामने ke sāmne, in front of
 सामान sāmān, m., belongings, goods, things
 सारा sārā, entire, all; सारा दिन sārā din, all day
 साल sāl, m., year VI
 सावधान sāvdhān, careful
 सावधानी sāvdhānī, f., care; सावधानी से sāvdhānī se, carefully
 सिखलाना sikhlanā, to teach XVIII
 सिखाना sikhānā, to teach
 सिग्रेट sigret, f.m., cigarette
 सिपाही sipāhī, m., soldier
 सिमटना simatnā, to contract
 सिर sir, m., head
 सिर्फ sirf, only
 के सिवा(य) ke sivā(y), except for XXIV
 सिसकना sisaknā, to sob
 सीखना sikhnā, to learn 176
 सीट sīt, f., seat; नीचे की सीट nīche ki sīt, lower seat
 सीता sītā, f., Sītā (girl's name)
 सीधा sīdhā, direct, straight VI

सीना sīnā, to sew V
 सुंदर sundar, beautiful
 सुनना sunnā, to hear; सुन पड़ना sun pādnā, to be audible 174
 सुनाई देना sunāi denā, to be audible XII
 सुनाना sunānā, to tell, to relate
 सुनिए sunie, excuse me! (in attracting attention)
 सुबह subah, f., morning VI XI
 सुलाना sulānā, to put to sleep, to rock to sleep
 सुश्री suśrī, f., 'Miss' III
 सुस्ताना sustānā, to rest XVIII
 सूचना sūcnā, f., information
 सूरज sūraj, m., sun
 सूरत sūrat, f., face, form
 से se, from; by, with; to; than IV VI XVI XVIII
 सेर ser, m., a seer (approx. 1 kg.)
 सेवा sevā, f., service
 सैकड़ saikṛā, an amount of a hundred, a century XI
 सोचना socnā, to think
 सोना sonā, to sleep V XII
 सोमवार somvār, m., Monday XI
 स्कूल skūl, m., school; स्कूल में skūl meṁ, at school
 स्टेशन stēṣan, m., station
 स्त्री strī, f., woman
 स्थिति sthiti, f., position I
 स्नान snān, m., bathing; स्नान करना snān karnā, to bathe
 स्याही syāhī, f., ink
 स्वयं svayam, oneself XXV
 स्वाभाविक svābhāvīk, natural स्वीकार svikār, m., acceptance; स्वीकार करना svikār karnā, to accept

हँसना hanṣnā, to laugh; to smile XII
 हजार hazār, a thousand XI
 हटना haṭnā, to move away, to withdraw
 हफ्ता haftā, m., week VI
 हम ham, we 165
 हमेशा hamēśā, always
 हर har, each, every; हर (एक) दिन har (ek) din, every day; हर कोई har koī, everyone; हर जगह har jagah, everywhere
 हरा harā, green
 हवा havā, f., air, wind I
 हवाई जहाज havāi jahāz, m., aeroplane
 हवाई पत्र havāi patr, m., air letter
 हाँ hān, yes III

हाथ hāth, m., hand
 हाथी hāthī, m., elephant 163
 हाल hāl, m., state, condition
 हालाँकि hālānki, although XX
 हिंदी hindī, f., Hindi
 हिंदुस्तान hindustān, m., India
 हिंदू hindū, m. and adj., Hindu
 हिरण hiran, m., deer
 हिस्सा hissā, m., part
 ही hī, emphatic enclitic V XXIII
 है hai, are है hai, is
 हुआ huā, became; adv., ago IV XXVI 171
 होकर hokar, 'having been'; via VII
 होना honā, to be, to become IV V XIII

ENGLISH-HINDI

a, an, एक ek
 abandon, to, छोड़ना choṛnā
 able to, to be, सकना saknā about, (approximately) के करीब ke qarīb; (concerning) के बारे में ke bāre meṁ above, के ऊपर ke ūpar accept, to, स्वीकार करना svikār karnā; to accept (a statement, etc.) मानना mānnā accompany, to, हो लेना ho lenā
 accrue, to, मिलना milnā accused person, मुल्ज़िम mulzim, m.
 acquaintance, परिचय paricay, m.
 act, to, भ्रमल करना amal karnā
 additional, और aur
 address, पता patā, m.

advance, to, बढ़ना barhnā
 aeroplane, हवाई जहाज havāi jahāz, m.
 affection, प्रेम prem, m.
 after, के बाद ke bād
 afternoon, दो पहर के बाद do pahar ke bād (adv.); late afternoon, शाम śām, f.
 again, फिर phir
 ago, हुआ huā
 Agra, आगरा āgrā, m.
 aim (intention), उद्देश्य uddeśya, m.
 air, हवा havā, f.; air-letter, हवाई पत्र havāi patr, m.
 all, सब sab; (entire) सारा sārā; all the books, सब किताबें sab kitābēn;
 all around (sthg.), चारों ओर (के)

- cārom* or (ke); all right (= I see), अच्छा acchā
Allahabad, इलाहाबाद ilāhābād, m.
alley, गली galī, f.
allow, to, -ने देना -ne denā
although, अगरचे agarce; यद्यपि yadyapi always, हमेशा hameśā
am, हूँ hūm
ancestor, पूर्वज pūrvaj, m.
and, और aur; etc. (p. 182)
anna, आना ānā, m.
answer, जवाब javāb, m.; to answer
(a person), जवाब देना (को) javāb denā (ko); (a letter), जवाब देना
(का) javāb denā (kā)
apart from, के अलावा ke alāwā
appropriate, उचित ucit; मुनासिब munāsib
approximately, (के) करीब (ke) garib;
(के) लगभग (ke) lagbhag
April, अप्रैल april, m.
are, हैं haih
arrangement(s), इंतजाम intazām, m.
arrive, to, पहुँचना pahunchnā article (essay), लेख lekh, m.
as, (in the capacity of) के रूप में ke rūp meih; as if, जैसे jaise
ask, to (= inquire), पूछना pūchnā ass, गधा gadhā, m.
attack, आक्रमण ākraman, m.; to attack, आक्रमण करना (पर) ākraman karnā (par)
attempt, प्रयत्न prayatn, m.; to attempt, प्रयत्न करना (का) *prayatn
karnā (kā)*
audible, to be, सुनाई देना sunāi denā available, to be, मिलना milnā; प्राप्त होना prāpt honā
awake, to be, जागना jāgnā
baby, बच्चा baccā, m.
bad, खराब kharāb; (wicked) बुरा
burā
badness (wickedness), बुराई burāi, f.
ball, गेंद gethā, f.
Banaras, बनारस banāras, m.
bank, किनारा kindārā, m.
basic, बुनियादी buniyādī bathe, to, नहाना nahānā; स्नान करना
snān karnā
bazaar, बाज़ार bāzār, m.
bear, भालू bhālū, m.
beard, दाढ़ी dārhī, f.
beat, to मारना mārnā; पीटना piṭnā
beautiful, सुंदर sundar
because, चूँकि cūhki; क्योंकि kyonki;
because of (impelled by) के मारे
ke mārē
become, to, होना honā; बनना bannā
bedding, बिस्तर bistar, m.
before, (time) के/से पहले ke/se pahle;
(time and place) के/से आगे ke/se āge
beggar, भिखारी bhikhārī, m.
begin, to, शुरू करना śurū karnā;
आरंभ करना ārambh karnā beginning, शुरुआत śuruāt, f.; आरंभ
ārambh, m.
behind, के पीछे ke pīche; from behind, पीछे से pīche se believe (= put faith in), to, विश्वास करना (पर) viśvās karnā (par)
belongings, सामान sāmān, m.
below, के नीचे ke nīche
beside, के पास ke pās
best, बेहतरीन behtarīn; श्रेष्ठ śreṣṭh better, बेहतर behtar
bicycle, साइकिल sāikil, f.
bill (account), बिल bil, m.
bind, to, बाँधना bāndhnā

- bird, चिड़िया chiriyā, f.
bite (of animals), to, काटना kāṭnā
black, काला kālā
blind, अंधा andhā
bloom, to, खिलना khilnā
blow, चोट coṭ, f.
blue; dark blue or green, नीला
nīlā
boat (small), किस्ती kiṣṭī, f.
Bombay, बंबई bambai, f.
book, किताब kitāb, f., पुस्तक pustak, f.
bored, बेचर bezār
born, to be, पैदा होना paidā honā
box, संदूक sandūk, m.
boy, लड़का laṛkā, m.
bread (chapatti), रोटी roṭī, f.
break, to, टूटना ṭūṭnā (intr.); तोड़ना
torṇā (tr.)
'breakfast', नाश्ता nāśtā, m.
bridge, पुल pul, m.
bring, to, ले आना le ānā; लाना lānā broken, to cause to be, तुड़ाना ṭuṛānā
brother, भाई bhāī, m.
building, इमारत imārat, f.
bullock, बैल bail, m.
burn, to, जलना jalnā (intr.); जलाना
jalānā (tr.)
burst, to, फूटना phūṭnā (intr.), फोड़ना
phoṛnā (tr.)
busy, व्यस्त vyast
but, पर par; लेकिन lekin; etc. (p.
182); but rather, बल्कि balki buy, to, खरीदना kharīdnā; मोल लेना
mol lenā
by, (means or agency) से se; (by a future time) तक tak
cage, पिंजरा pinjra, m.
Calcutta, कलकत्ता kalkattā, m.
call (summon), to, बुलाना bulānā
camel, ऊँट ūrṭh, m.
cane, छड़ी charī, f.
capital, राजधानी rājdhānī, f.
car, मोटर moṭar, f.; कार kār, f.; गाड़ी
gāṛī, f.
care, सावधानी sāvdhānī, f.; carefully, सावधानी से sāvdhānī se
carefreeness, बेफ़िक्री befikrī, f.
careful, सावधान sāvdhān
casually, वैसे ही vaise hi cause, कारण kāraṇ, m.
certain, a, कोई koī
certainly, जरूर zarūr; अवश्य avaśya
chair, कुर्सी kursī, f.
chance, संयोग saṃyog, m.; by chance संयोग से saṃyog se change, to, बदलना badalnā
cheap, सस्ता sastā
child, बच्चा baccā, m.
chilli, मिर्च mīrch, f.
cigarette, सिग्रेट sigret, f.m.
city, शहर śahr, m.
civilization, सभ्यता sabhyatā, f.
class (school), क्लास klās, f.m. clean, साफ़ sāf
clear, साफ़ sāf climate, आबोहवा ābohavā, f. (p. 182); जलवायु jalvāyu, m.
closed, बंद band
cloth, कपड़ा kapṛā, m.
clothes, कपड़े kapṛe, m.pl.
coat, कोट koṭ, m.
coffee, काफ़ी kāfī, f.
cold, ठंडा ṭhāṇḍā; (cold temperature) ठंड ṭhāṇḍ, f.; a cold, ठंड ṭhāṇḍ, f.; cold season, सर्दियाँ
sardiyān, f.pl.
come, to, आना ānā
comfort, आराम ārām, m.
comfortable, आरामदेह ārāmdeh compel, to, मजबूर करना (पर, के लिए) majbūr karnā (par, ke lie); बाध्य करना (पर, के लिए) bādhyā karnā (par, ke lie) completely, बिल्कुल bilkul concerning, के बारे में ke bāre meṁ condition (state), हाल hāl, m.

 confidence, विश्वास viśvās, m.
 congratulations, बधाई badhāi, f.
 connection, संबंध sambandh, m.
 consider (as), to, मानना mānnā
 construct, to, बनाना banānā cool, ठंडा ṭhaṇḍā (q.v.)
 correct, ठीक ṭhik
 count, to, गिनना ginnā
 country, देश deś, m.
 course of action, चारा cārā, m.
 courtyard, आँगन āṅgan, m.
 cow, गाय gāy, f.
 create, to, रचना racnā
 creep, to, घुसना ghusnā
 creeper, लता latā, f.
 crop, फसल fasl, f.
 cross, to (tr.), पार करना pār karnā
 crowd, भीड़ bhīr, f.
 cry, to, रोना ronā
 culture, संस्कृति saṁskṛti, f.
 cup, प्याला pyālā, m.
 cupboard, अलमारी almārī, f.
 curry, तरकारी tarkārī, f.
 cut, to be, कटना kaṭnā
 cut, to, काटना kāṭnā
 daily, रोज roz
 dance, to, नाचना nācnā
 dark, अँधेरा aṁdherā
 darkness, अँधेरा aṁdherā, m.
 date, तारीख tārīkh, f.
 daughter, बेटी betī, f.
 day, दिन din, m.; रोज roz, m.; all day, दिन भर din bhar; day after tomorrow, परसों parson; day before yesterday, परसों parson

 dear (beloved), प्रिय priy; dearest, प्रियतम priyatam decision, (resolve) निश्चय niścay, m.; (between alternatives) निर्णय nirṇay, m.
 deer, हिरण hiran, m.
 delay, देर der, f.
 Delhi, दिल्ली dillī, f.
 depart, to, बिदा होना bidā honā; रवाना होना raṁānā honā
 descend, to, उतरना utarnā detachment (group), छक्का chakkā, m.
 dictionary, कोश koś, m.
 die, to, मरना marnā
 difficult, मुश्किल muškīl; कठिन kaṭhin
 difficulty, मुश्किल muškīl, f.; (trouble) तकलीफ taklīf, f., कष्ट kaṣṭ, m.
 direct, सीधा sīdhā
 direction, तरफ taraf; f.; ओर or, f.
 dirty, मैला maīlā
 dispatch, to, बिदा करना bidā karnā; रवाना करना raṁānā karnā dissatisfied, असंतुष्ट asantust distance, दूर dūr, f.; दूरी dūri, f.
 distant, दूर dūr
 district (administrative), जिला zīlā, m.
 do, to, करना karnā
 doctor, डाक्टर ḍāktar, m.
 dog, कुत्ता kuttā, m.
 donkey, गधा gadā, m.
 door, दरवाजा darvāzā, m.; at the door, दरवाजे पर darvāze par
 drink, to, पीना pīnā

drive around (tr.), to, घुमाना ghu-mānā duty, फर्ज farz, m.
 each, हर har
 ear, कान kān, m.
 earn, to, कमाना kamānā
 ease, आसानी āsānī, f.; easily, आसानी से āsānī se east, पूर्व pūrv, m.
 easy, आसान āsān
 eat, to, खाना khānā
 edge, किनारा kinārā, m.
 egg, अंडा aṇḍā, m.
 eight, आठ āṭh
 either . . . or, या . . . या yā . . . yā eject, to, निकालना nikālṇā elementary, बुनियादी buniyādī; प्रारंभिक prārambhik elephant, हाथी hāthī, m.
 embarrassment, संकोच saṁkoc, m.
 emerge, to, निकलना nikalnā empty, खाली khālī
 end, अंत ant, m.
 enemy, शत्रु śatru, m.f.
 English, अंग्रेजी aṁgrezī; English language, अंग्रेजी aṁgrezī, f.; Englishman, Englishwoman, अंग्रेज aṁgrez, m.f.
 entire, सारा sārā
 entrance, प्रवेश praveś, m.
 entry, प्रवेश praveś, m.; to enter, प्रवेश करना (में) praveś karnā (meṁ) error, भूल bhūl, f.
 estate (land), जायदाद jāyḍād, f.
 European, यूरोपीय yūropīy, adj. and m.f.
 evening, शाम śām, f.
 every, हर har; every day, हर (एक) दिन har (ek) din; everyone, सब

लोग sab log, m.pl., हर कोई har koī, sg.; everywhere, हर जगह har jagah except for के सिवा (य) ke sivā (y)
 excess (harsh action), अत्याचार atyācār, m.
 excuse me, (in attracting attention) सुनिए sunie exercise book, कापी kāpī, f.
 expensive, महंगा mahamgā
 explain, to, समझाना saṁjhnā
 extra, और aur
 extract, to, निकालना nikālṇā
 eye, आँख āṁkh, f.
 face (features), चेहरा cehrā, m.; शकल śakl, f.
 fail (an examination), to, फेल होना fel honā
 fair, मेला melā, m.
 faith, विश्वास viśvās, m.
 fall, to, पड़ना paṛnā; गिरना girnā
 far as, as, तक tak
 farmer, किसान kisān, m.
 father, पिता pītā, m.
 fear, डर ḍar, m.
 fear, to, डरना ḍarnā
 features, चेहरा cehrā, m.; शकल śakl, f.
 feed, to, खिलाना khilānā
 festival, मेला melā, m.
 few, कम kam; थोड़ा thoḍā; a few, कुछ kuch, एक आध ek ādh field, खेत khet, m.
 fight, to, लड़ना laṛnā
 fill, to, भरना bharnā
 filled, to be, भरना bharnā find, to (= succeed in meeting), पाना pānā
 fine, O.K., ठीक ṭhik

- finish, to, खत्म करना khatm karnā;
समाप्त करना samāpt karnā; चुकना cuknā (intr., p. 89)
fire, आग āg, f.
five, पाँच pāñc
floor, फर्श farś, m.
flower, फूल phūl, m.
fodder, चारा cārā, m.
food, खाना khānā, m.
foot, पाँव pāñv, m.; on foot, पैदल
paidal
for, के लिए ke lie forbidden, मना manā (invariable)
foreign, विदेशी videśī foreigner, विदेशी videśī, m.f.
foremost (supreme), सर्वश्रेष्ठ sarvśreṣṭh
forget, to, भूलना bhūlnā
form, रूप rūp, m.; शकल śakl, f.
fort, किला qilā, m.
found, to be, पड़ना paṛnā; मिलना
milnā
four, चार cār
free (available), खाली khālī; फ्री frī
fresh, ताज़ा tāzā
Friday, शुक्रवार śukravār, m.
friend, दोस्त dost, m.; मित्र mitr, m.
from, से se front of, in, के सामने ke sāmne; (out in front of) के आगे ke āge
fully, पूर्णतः pūrṇtaḥ
Ganges, गंगा gaṅgā, f.
get up, to, उठना uṭhnā
girl, लड़की larkī, f.
give back, to, वापस करना *vāpas
karnā*; लौटाना lauṭānā
glance, नज़र nazar, f.; दृष्टि dṛṣṭi, f.
glass (drinking), गिलास gilās, m.
go, to, जाना jānā; (move) चलना
calnā; to go away, चला जाना calā jānā
good, अच्छा acchā goods माल māl, m.; (belongings, luggage) सामान sāmān, m.
grain, अनाज anāj, m.
grass, घास ghas, f.
graze, to, चरना carṇā
green, हरा harā
'greetings', नमस्ते namaste; नमस्कार
namaskār
grief, दुख dukh, m.
grow, to (intr.), उगना ugnā
half, आधा ādhā, adj. and m.
hand, हाथ hāth, m.
happening, घटना ghaṭnā, f.
happiness, खुशी khushi, f.; प्रसन्नता
prasannatā, f.
harvest, to, काटना kāṭnā
hat, टोपी ṭopī, f.
he, वह vah
head, सिर sir, m.
health (state of), तबीयत tabiyat, f.
hear, to, सुनना sunnā
heart, दिल dil, m.; मन man, m.
help, मदद madad, f.; सहायता sahāyātā, f.
help, to, मदद देना (को) madad denā (ko), etc.
here, यहाँ yahāñ
hide, to (tr.), छिपाना chipānā high, ऊँचा ūñcā
hill, पहाड़ pahār, m.
Hindi, हिंदी hindī, f.
Hindu, हिंदू hindū, m.
history, इतिहास itihās, m.
holiday, छुट्टी chuffī, f.
holy man, साधु sādhu, m.
home, घर ghar, m.; at home, घर पर
ghar par

- hope, आशा āsā, f.
horse, घोड़ा ghoṛā, m.
hot, गरम garm; hot season, गरमियाँ
garmiyāñ, f.pl.
hour, घंटा ghaṇṭā, m.
house, मकान makān, m.; घर ghar, m.
how? (adv.) कैसे kaise; (adj.) कैसा
kaisā; how far? कितनी दूर kitnī dūr; how long? कितने दिन kitne din, कब तक kab tak; how many?
कितना kitnā
however much, जितना jitnā; जितना भी jitnā bhi; कितना ही... क्यों न
kitnā hi... kyon na
hunger, भूख bhūkh, f.
hungry, to be, भूख लगना (को) bhūkh lagnā (ko)
husband, पति patī, m.
I, मैं māñ
ice, बर्फ barf, f.
if, अगर agar; यदि yadi
ill, बीमार bīmār
in, में meñ
incantation, मंत्र mantra, m.
incident, घटना ghaṭnā, f.
inconvenience, असुविधा asuvidhā, f.
India, भारत bhārat, m.; भारतवर्ष
bhāratvarṣ, m.; हिंदुस्तान hindustāñ,
m.
Indian, adj. and m.f., भारतीय
bhārtīy
Indra, इंद्र indra, m.
inform, to, बताना batānā
information, खबर khabar, f.; सूचना
sūcnā, f.
inhabitant, रहनेवाला rahnevālā, m.; निवासी nivāsī, m.
ink, स्याही syāhī, f.
innocent, निरपराध niraparādh inquire, to, पूछना pūchnā
inside, के अंदर ke andar
instead of, के बजाय ke bajāy intention, मतलब matlab, m.; उद्देश्य
uddeśya, m.
interesting, दिलचस्प dilcasp
into, में meñ
introduce, to, मिलाना (से) milānā (se) invite, to, बुलाना bulānā is, है hai
it, वह vah
jar, घड़ा gharā, m.
joke, मजाक mazāq, m.; to joke,
मजाक करना mazāq karnā
Jumna (Yamuna) यमुना yamunā, f.
jump, to, कूदना kūdnā
just as, जैसे jaise
keep, to, रखना rakhnā
key, चाबी cābī, f.
kill, to, मारना mārnā
kind (type), तरह tarah; प्रकार prakār,
m.
know, to, जानना jānnā; पता होना
(को) patā honā (ko); see known knowledge, ज्ञान jñāñ, m.
known, मालूम mālūm; I know, मुझे मालूम है mujhe mālūm hai; it seems to me, मुझे मालूम होता है mujhe mālūm hotā hai
labour, मेहनत mehnat, f.
lack, कमी kamī, f.
laden, to be, लदना ladnā
land, ज़मीन zamīñ, f.
language, भाषा bhāṣā, f.
large, बड़ा baṛā
last, पिछला pichlā

late, देर से der se (adv.)
 laugh, to, हँसना hansnā
 lawyer, वकील vakīl, m.
 leaf, पत्ता pañā, m.
 leap, to, कूदना kūdnā
 learn, to, सीखना sikhnā least, at, कम से कम kam se kam leave, छुट्टी chuffī, f.
 leave, to, छूटना chūtnā (intr.); छोड़ना chorṇā (tr.)
 lecture, भाषण bhāṣaṇ, m.
 left (hand) बायाँ bāyāṁ; on the left-hand side of, के बाईं तरफ़ ke bāīṁ taraf leg, पाँव pāṁv, m.
 lest, कहीं . . . न kahīṁ . . . na
 letter, चिट्ठी ciṭṭhī, f.; पत्र patr, m.
 library, लाइब्रेरी lāibrerī, f.; पुस्तकालय pustakālay, m.
 lie down, to, लेटना leṭnā
 life, जीवन jīvaṇ, m.
 line (row), पंक्ति pañkti, f.
 lion, शेर śer, m.
 little (of quantity), थोड़ा thorā; कम kam
 little, a, थोड़ा thorā
 live, to, जीना jīnā; (reside, stay) रहना rahnā load, to, लादना lādnā
 lock, ताला tālā, m.
 London, लंदन landan, m.
 long, लंबा lambā
 long as, as, जब तक jab tak
 long live, जय हो (की) jay ho (kī) look, to, देखना dekhnā; to look at, की ओर देखना kī or dekhnā; to look for, ढूँढ़ना dhūṁṛhnā; तलाश करना talāś karnā (p. 58) loot, to, लूटना lūtnā
 lose, to, खोना khonā

love, प्रेम prem, m.
 low, नीचा nīcā
 lower, to, नीचा करना nīcā karnā; झुकाना jhukānā
 luggage, सामान sāmān, m.
 lying (flat), पड़ा paṛā
 machine, मशीन mašin, f.
 make, to, बनाना banānā
 man, आदमी ādmi, m.; (human being; mankind) मनुष्य manuṣya, m.
 manage, to, पाना pānā (pp. 104, 134)
 mango, आम ām, m.
 many, बहुत bahut; ज्यादा zyādā; अधिक adhik
 maund (weight), मन man, m.
 meal, खाना khānā, m.
 meaning, मतलब matlab, m.; अर्थ arth, m.
 mechanic, मिस्त्री mistrī, m.
 meet, to, मिलना milnā (se or ko); see next meeting, मुलाकात mulāqāt; to meet, मुलाकात होना (से) mulāqāt honā (se) melt, to (intr.), पिघलना piḥalnā memory, याद yād, f.
 mentioned, to be, उल्लेख होना (का) ullekh honā (kā)
 merely (casually), वैसे ही vaise hī
 milk, दूध dūdh, m.
 mind (and heart), मन man, m.
 minute, मिनट minat, m.
 modern, आधुनिक ādhunīk
 moment, क्षण kṣaṇ, m.
 Monday, सोमवार somvār, m.
 money, पैसा paīsā (sg. or pl.)
 monkey, बंदर bandar, m.
 monsoon, बरसात barsāt, f.
 month, महीना mahīnā, m.

more, ज्यादा zyādā; अधिक adhik morning, सबेरा saverā, m.; सुबह subah, f.
 mosquito net, मच्छड़दानी macchar-dānī, f.
 mostly ज्यादातर zyāddatar
 mother, माता, माँ mātā, māṁ, f.
 mountain, पहाड़ pahār, m.
 move, to, चलना calnā; to move along, चला जाना calā jānā; to move back, हटना haṭnā (intr.)
 movement (social, political), आंदोलन āndolan, m.
 much, बहुत bahut; ज्यादा zyādā; अधिक adhik mutual, आपसी āpsī; परस्पर paraspar
 name, नाम nām, m.
 national language, राष्ट्रभाषा rāṣṭra-bhāṣā, f.
 natural, स्वाभाविक svābhāvīk
 near, के पास ke pās
 necessary, जरूरी zarūrī; आवश्यक āvāśyak; is necessary, चाहिए cāhīe need, जरूरत zarūrat, f.
 neighbour, पड़ोसी paṛosī, f.
 neither . . . nor, न . . . न na . . . na
 never, कभी नहीं kabhī nahīṁ
 new, नया nayā
 news, समाचार samācār, m. (sg. and pl.); खबर khābar, f.
 newspaper, अखबार akhbār, m.
 next, अगला aglā
 nice (good), बढ़िया baṛhiyā
 night, रात rāt, f.
 nine, नौ nau
 no, नहीं nahīṁ
 noise, शोर śor, m.
 north, उत्तर uttar, m.

nose, नाक nāk, f.
 not, नहीं nahīṁ; न na; मत mat
 note (money), नोट not, m.
 now, अब ab
 nowadays, आजकल ājkal
 obey (a command, etc.), to, मानना mānnā obtain, to, पाना pānā; प्राप्त करना prāpt karnā occasion, बार bār, f.; (opportunity) अवसर avasār, m.
 ocean, समुद्र samudr, m.
 o'clock, बजे baje; at nine o'clock, नौ बजे nau baje
 of, का kā
 office, दफ़्तर daftar, m.
 oh! अरे are
 oil, तेल tel, m.
 old (of persons), बूढ़ा būṛhā
 on, पर par
 once, एक बार ek bār
 one, एक ek; one and a half, डेढ़ deṛh; one and a quarter, सवा savā (invariable) oneself, आप ap; खुद khud; स्वयं svayam only, सिर्फ sirf; केवल keval open, to, खुलना khulnā (intr.); खोलना kholnā (tr.)
 opinion, विचार vicār, m.; खयाल khayāl, m.
 opportunity, अवसर avasār, m.
 or, या yā
 ordinary, आम ām
 other, दूसरा dūsarā
 otherwise, नहीं तो nahīṁ to outside, के/से बाहर ke/se bāhar own, one's, अपना apnā
 ox, बैल bail, m.

page, पन्ना pannā, m.
 pain, दर्द dard, m.
 palace, महल mahā, m.
 paper, कागज kāgaz, m.
 pare, to, छीलना chilnā
 parents, माता-पिता mātā-pitā, m. pl.
 part, भाग bhāg, m.; हिस्सा hissā, m.
 pass by (time), to, बीतना bītnā
 passenger, सवारी savārī, f.
 pedestrian, पैदल चलनेवाला paidal calnevālā, m.
 pen, कलम qalam, f. m.
 pencil, पेंसिल pensil, f.
 people, लोग log, m. pl.
 pepper, मिर्च mirc, f.
 perhaps, शायद šayad; कदाचित् kadācit
 photograph, तस्वीर tasvīr, f.; फोटो foto, f.
 pice, पैसा paisā, m.
 picture, तस्वीर tasvīr, f.; चित्र citr, m.
 piercing, तीखा tikhā
 place, जगह jagah, f.
 place, to, रखना rakhnā
 plan (scheme), योजना yojnā, f.
 pleasing, to be, पसंद आना (को) pasand ānā (ko) pleasure, खुशी khushī, f.; प्रसन्नता prasannatā, f.
 plot, षड्यन्त्र śadyantra, m.; साजिश sāziś, f.
 pocket, जेब jeb, f.
 poem, कविता kavitā, f.
 poet, कवि kavi, m.
 pole, बल्ला ballā, m.
 police, पुलिस pulis, f.
 poor, गरीब garīb
 population, आबादी ābādī, f.
 possibly, संभवतः sambhavataḥ
 post (mail), डाक ḍāk, f.; post office, डाकघर ḍākghar, m., डाकखाना ḍāk- khānā, m.; postman, डाकिया dākiyā, m.

 pot, घड़ा ghaṛā, m.
 pour, to, डालना ḍālṇā
 practice, अभ्यास abhyās, m.; to practise, अभ्यास करना (का) abhyās karnā (kā) praise, to, प्रशंसा करना (की) praśamsā karnā (kī) preparations, तैयारियाँ taiyāriyāḥ; to prepare (for), तैयारियाँ करना (की) taiyāriyāḥ karnā (kī) prepared, प्रस्तुत prastut
 print, to, छापना chāpnā printed, to be, छपना chāpnā
 probably, संभवतः sambhavataḥ produce पैदावार paidāvār, f.
 produce, to, पैदा करना paidā karnā
 progress, तरक्की taraqqī, f.; प्रगति pragati, f.
 proportion: in proportion as . . . so, ज्यों-ज्यों . . . त्यों-त्यों jyom-jyom . . . tyom-tyom
 pull, to, खींचना khīncnā
 punctually, ठीक वक्त पर thik vaqt par put, to, रखना rakhnā
 put on (clothes), to, पहनना pahnnā; to have on, to be wearing, पहन रखना pahn rakhnā, पहने होना pahne honā quarrel, झगड़ा jhagrā, m.
 quarrel, to, झगड़ना jhagarnā; लड़ना laṛnā
 quarter, a, चौथाई cauthāī, f.
 question, सबाल savāl, m.; प्रश्न praśn, m.
 quickly, जल्दी (से) jaldī (se)
 quite, (absolutely) बिल्कुल bilkul; (to a large extent) काफ़ी kāfī rain, बारिश bārīś, f.; to rain, बारिश होना bārīś honā; rainy season, बरसात barsāt, f.

 raise, to, उठाना uṭhānā
 rajah, राजा rājā, m.
 read, to, पढ़ना parhnā
 ready, तैयार taiyār; प्रस्तुत prastut
 recognise, to, पहचानना pahcānnā
 red, लाल lāl
 refusal, इनकार inkār, m.; to refuse, इनकार करना (से) inkār karnā (se) regret, अफ़सोस afsos, m.
 relationship, संबंध sambandh, m.
 remain, to, रहना rahnā; (stay) ठहरना ṭhaharnā
 remaining, बाकी bāqī
 remember, to, याद रखना yād rakhnā; etc. (see pp. 118-9)
 repeat (a god's name, etc.), to, जपना japnā request, माँग māṅg, f.
 rescue, to, बचाना bacānā resemble, to, मिलना (से) milnā (se) resident, रहनेवाला rahnevālā resound, to, गूँजना gūmjnā rest, आराम ārām, m.
 restaurant, रेस्टोरेंट restarent, m.
 return, to, लौटना lauṭnā (intr.)
 reward, पुरस्कार puraskār, m.
 rich, अमीर amir
 rickshaw, रिक्शा riksā, m.
 right (hand), दाहिना dāhinā; on the right hand side of, के दाहिनी (बाईं) तरफ़ ke dāhinī (dāim) taraf Rigveda, ऋग्वेद ṛgved, m.
 ripen, to, पकना paknā
 rise, to, उठना uṭhnā; (advance) बढ़ना baṛhnā river, नदी nadī, f.
 road, सड़क ṣaṛak, f.; रास्ता rasta, m.

roof, छत chat, f.
 room, कमरा kamrā, m.
 rope, रस्सी rassī, f.; रस्सा rassā, m. run, to, दौड़ना daṛnā; to run away, भागना bhāgnā
 rupee, रुपया rupayā, m.
 safe, to be, बचना bacnā
 sari, साड़ी sārī, f.
 satisfied, संतुष्ट santust
 Saturday, शनिवार śanivār, m.
 save, to, बचाना bacānā
 saved, to be, बचना bacnā say, to, कहना (से) kahnā (se) scarcely ever, शायद ही šayad hī school, स्कूल skūl, m.; at school, स्कूल में skūl meṁ score, बीसी bisī, f.
 scrape, to, छीलना chilnā
 sea, समुद्र samudr, m.
 season, मौसम mausam, m.
 seat, सीट sīṭ, f.; lower seat, नीचे की सीट nīce kī sīṭ seat, to, बिठाना bīṭhānā (see p. 108) seated, बैठा baiṭhā
 second, दूसरा dūsarā
 secretary (minister), मंत्री mantrī, m.
 see, to, देखना dekhnā; to see off, बिदा करना bidā karnā, रवाना करना ruvānā karnā; to see to (attend to), देखना dekhnā seem, to, मालूम होना mālūm honā (p. 51), जान पड़ना jān parnā seer (weight), सेर ser, m.
 seize, to, पकड़ना pakarnā
 sell, to, बेचना becnā
 send, to, भेजना bhejnā sentence, वाक्य vākya, m.
 service, सेवा sevā, f.
 seven, सात sāt

sharp, तीखा tikhā
 shawl, दुपट्टा dupaṭṭā, m.; चादर cādar, f.
 she, वह vah
 sheet, चादर cādar, f.
 ship, जहाज jahāz, m.
 shirt, कमीज qamīz, f.; collarless shirt, कुरता kurtā, m.
 shop, दूकान dūkān, f.
 shopping, to go, बाज़ार जाना bāzār jānā
 shortage, कमी kamī, f.
 shout, to, चिल्लाना cillānā
 show, to, दिखाना dikhānā
 shyness, संकोच sankoc, m.
 side (direction), तरफ taraf, f.
 sight, नज़र nazar, f.; दृष्टि dr̥ṣṭi, f.
 silent, चुप cup
 since, (of time) जब से jah se, conj.; से se, ppn.; (because) चूँकि cūnki, क्योंकि kyonki sing, to, गाना gānā
 sister, बहन bahn, f.
 sit, to, बैठना baiṭhnā
 sitting, बैठा baiṭhā
 six, छह, छः, छै chah, chah, chai slander, to, बुराई करना (की) burāi karnā (kī)
 sleep, नींद nīnd, f.
 sleep, to, सोना sonā
 slink, to, घुसना ghusnā
 slowly, ग्राहिस्ता āhistā, ग्राहिस्ते āhiste; धीरे dhīre: often reduplicated small, छोटा choṭā
 smile, मुसकराहट muskarāhaṭ, f.
 smile, to, मुसकराना muskarānā; हँसना hamsnā
 snow, बर्फ barf, f.
 so that, जिससे jisse; ताकि tāki
 sob, to, सिसकना sisaknā

soldier, सिपाही sipāhī, m.; जवान javān, m. (p. 165) someone, some (particular thing or person), कोई koi something, some (indefinite), कुछ kuch sometimes, कभी kabhi (often reduplicated) somewhere, कहीं kahīn
 son, बेटा beṭā, m.
 song, गाना gānā, m.
 soon, जल्दी (से) jaldī (se); as soon as, जैसे ही jaise hī, ज्योंही jyōnhi (see also pp. 144-5) south, दक्खिन dakkhin, m.; दक्षिण dakṣiṇ, m.
 speak, to, बोलना (से) bolnā (se)
 speech (lecture), भाषण bhāṣaṇ, m.
 speed, जल्दी jaldī, f.
 spend (time), to, बिताना bitānā
 spite of, in, के बावजूद ke bāvajūd spoiled, खराब kharāb
 spoon, चम्मच cammac, m.
 spread, to, बिछाना bichānā
 squad, छक्का chakkā, m.
 staff (stave), लाठी lāṭhī, f.
 stamp (postage), टिकट ṭikat, m.f.
 standing, खड़ा kharā
 startled, to be, चौंकना caunknā
 state, (condition) हाल hāl, m.; (nation) राष्ट्र rāṣṭra, m.
 station, स्टेशन stēṣan, m.
 stay, to, रहना rahnā; ठहरना ṭhaharnā
 stealthily, दबे पाँव dabe pāmv stick (cane), छड़ी charī, f.
 stone, पत्थर patthar, m.
 stop, to, रुकना rukṇā (intr.); रोकना roknā (tr.)
 story, कहानी kahānī, f.
 straight, सीधा sīdhā

stream, नाला nālā, m.
 street, रास्ता rāstā, m.; सड़क ṣarak, f.
 string, रस्सी rassī, f.
 strong (objects), मजबूत mazbūt
 student, विद्यार्थी vidyārthī, छात्र chātr, m.; छात्रा chātrā, विद्यार्थिनी vidyārthini, f.
 study, अध्ययन adhyayan, m.; to study, पढ़ना parhnā, अध्ययन करना (का) adhyayan karnā (kā)
 stupid, बेवकूफ bevaqūf
 stupidity, बेवकूफी bevaqūfī, f.
 subject, विषय viṣay, m.
 suburb, मुहल्ला muhallā, m.
 successful, सफल saphal
 such, (of this sort) ऐसा aisā; (of that sort) वैसा vaisā
 suddenly, अचानक acānak; सहसा sahsā
 suggestion, प्रस्ताव prastāv, m.
 suitable, उपयुक्त upayukt; suitable for, के लायक ke lāyaq; worth seeing, देखने लायक dekhne lāyaq sun, सूरज sūraj, m.; sun's heat or light, धूप dhūp, f.
 Sunday, रविवार ravivār, m.; इतवार itvār, m.
 suppressed, to be, दबना dabnā surround, to, घेरना ghernā
 sway, to, झुमना jhūmnā
 sweet, मिठाई miṭhāi, f.
 table, मेज mez, f.
 tailor, दर्जी darzī, m.
 take, to, लेना lenā; to take away, ले जाना le jānā; to take off, take down, उतारना utārṇā talk to, बोलना bolnā (se), बात (बातें) करना (से) bāt(ēn) karnā (se) tall, लंबा lambā
 Tamil, तमिल lamil, m.

tank (reservoir, etc.), तालाब tālāb, m.
 tea, चाय cāy, f.
 teach, to, पढ़ाना parhānā; सिखाना sikhānā
 teacher, अध्यापक adhyāpak, m.
 tear, to, फटना phaṭnā (intr.); फाड़ना phāṛnā (tr.)
 telegram, तार tār, m.
 telephone, फोन fon, m.; to telephone, फोन करना (को) fon karnā (ko); someone telephoned me, मेरा फोन आया merā fon āyā tell, to, कहना (से) kahnā (se); (relate) सुनाना (को) sunānā (ko) temple, मंदिर mandir, m.
 ten, दस das
 than, से se (p. 92)
 that (pron. and adj.) वह vah; as many/much as that, उतना utnā; of that sort, वैसा vaisā; (conj.) कि ki
 then (= next) फिर phir
 there, वहाँ vahān
 they, वे ve
 thief, चोर cor, m.
 thing (matter), बात bāt, f.
 thing, चीज़ ciṣ, f.
 think, to, सोचना sochnā
 third, a, तिहाई tihāi, f.
 thirst, प्यास pyās, f.
 thirsty, to be, प्यास लगना (को) pyās lagnā (ko)
 this, यह yah; as many/as much as this, इतना itnā; of this sort, ऐसा aisā thought, विचार vicār, m.; खयाल khayāl, m.
 three, तीन tin; three-quarters of, पौन paun

throw down, to, डालना dālā
 Thursday, बुधस्पतिवार byhaspativār, गुरुवार guruvar, m.
 tie, to, बाँधना bāndhnā tied, to be, बाँधना bāndhnā
 tiger, शेर śer, m.
 time, समय samay, m.; वक्त vaqt, m.; (occasion) बार bār, f., दफ़ा dafā,
 f.; at that time, उस समय us samay;
 for a long time, बहुत दिनों से bahut
dinon se; for some time, कुछ समय kuch samay
 to, को ko; से se; की तरफ ki taraf; के पास ke pās
 today, आज āj
 tolerant, सहनशील sahnshīl
 tomorrow, कल kal
 tonga, तांगा tāngā, m.
 topic, विषय viśay, m.; बात bāt, f.
 towards, की तरफ ki taraf; की ओर ki or town, शहर śahr, m.
 trace, पता patā, m.
 tradition, परंपरा paramparā, f.
 train, रेल rel, f.; by train, रेल से rel se traitor, देशद्रोही deśdrohī, m.
 tree, पेड़ peṛ, m.
 troubled, परेशान pareśān
 trousers (cotton) पाजामा pājāmā, m.
 truth, सच sac, m.
 try, to, कोशिश करना (की) kośiś
karnā (kī)
 Tuesday, मंगलवार maṅgalvār, m.
 two, दो do; two and a half, ढाई dhāi type, प्रकार prakār, m.

underneath, के नीचे ke nice understand, to, समझना samajhnā university, यूनिवर्सिटी yūnivārsitī;
 विश्वविद्यालय viśvavidyālay

until, जब तक . . . न jab tak . . . na up to, तक tak
 use, to, इस्तेमाल करना istemāl karnā
 (p. 58); प्रयोग करना (का) prayog
karnā (kā)
 usually, अक्सर aksar; प्रायः prāyaḥ; ज्यादातर zyādātar; आम तौर पर/से ām taur par/se

vacation, छुट्टी chutti, f.
 vehicle, गाड़ी gāṛī, f.; सवारी savārī, f.
 very, बहुत bahut
 via, होकर hokar
 victory, विजय viṣay, f.
 village, गाँव gāmv, m.
 villager, गाँववाला gāmvvālā, m.
 visible, to be, दिखाई देना dikhāi denā;
 दीखना dikhnā; दिखना dikhnā
 voice, आवाज़ āvāz, f.

wait, to, ठहरना thaharnā; to wait for, इंतज़ार करना (का) intazār karnā (kā); प्रतीक्षा करना (की) pratīkṣā karnā (kī) waken, to, जागना jāgnā (intr.); जगाना jagānā (tr.)
 wall, दीवार divār, f.
 wander, to, घूमना ghūmnā
 war, लड़ाई larāi, f.
 warm, गरम garm
 wash, to, धोना dhonā
 washerman, धोबी dhoḍī, m.
 watch, to, की ओर देखना ki or dekhnā
 watch, घड़ी ghaṛī, f.; by my watch, मेरी घड़ी में merī ghaṛī meṁ
 water, पानी pānī, m.
 way (manner), तरह tarah, f.; प्रकार
prakār, m.; in every way, सब प्रकार से sab prakār se
 we, हम ham

wear, to, पहने होना pahne honā; to give to wear, पहनाना (को) pahnānā (ko)
 weather, मौसम mausam, m.
 Wednesday, बुधवार budhvār, m.
 week, हफ़्ता haftā, m.
 well, कुआँ kuān, m.
 well, adv. अच्छा acchā; अच्छी तरह
 (से) acchī tarah (se); (all right)
 ठीक thik; to be well, तबीयत ठीक होना tabiyat thik honā
 west, पश्चिम paścim, m.
 wet, भीगा bhīgā
 what? क्या kyā; what sort of? कैसा kaisā
 when? कब kab
 whenever, जब भी jab bhī
 where? कहाँ kahān
 wherever, जहाँ भी jahān bhī
 whether . . . or, चाहे . . . चाहे cāhe
 . . . cāhe
 which (particular thing or person)?
 कौन kaun
 white, सफ़ेद safed who, (interrogative) कौन kaun; the one who, जो jo
 whoever, जो कोई jo koī
 why? क्यों kyon
 wickedness, बुराई burāi, f.
 wife, पत्नी patnī, f.
 wind, हवा havā, f.

window, खिड़की khirkī, f.
 wire, तार tār, m.
 wish, to, चाहना cāhnā
 with (together with), के साथ ke sāth withdraw, to, हटना haṭnā
 without, के बिना ke binā; के बग़ैर ke
bagair
 woman, स्त्री strī, f.; औरत aurat, f.
 wood, लकड़ी lakṛī, f.
 word, शब्द śabd, m.
 work, काम kām, m.
 workman (skilled), मिस्त्री mistrī, m.
 world, दुनिया duniyā, f.; संसार samsār,
 m.; the next world, परलोक
parlok, m.
 worse, बदतर badtar
 wounded, ज़ख्मी zakhmī
 wrap, to, ओढ़ना oṛhnā
 write, to, लिखना likhnā year, बरस baras, m.; साल sāl, m.; वर्ष varṣ, m.
 yes, हाँ hām
 yesterday, कल kal
 you, आप āp; तुम tum; तू tū younger, छोटा choṭā; younger brother, छोटा भाई choṭā bhāī, m.; younger sister, छोटी बहन choṭī
bahn, f.

zamindar, ज़मीनदार zamindār, m.